County escapes heaviest storms

By Brian Sanders

On Tuesday, 25 years to the day after a tornado leveled Andover, a huge chunk of the Midwest — including Jackson County — was getting ready in case another major tornado should tear its way through the region that night.

None did, however, although the storm system that covered most of Kansas did produce a minor tornado in the southern part of the state and hailstones as big as grapefruit northwest of Marysville, it was reported. Jackson County, for the most part, escaped from Tuesday's storms unscathed.

"Last night, we had that storm warning in the southwest part of the county," Jackson County Sheriff Tim Morse said this morning. "But that storm cell just kind of petered out before it got too far into the county. We didn't get any reports of hail or wind damage. We mainly just had rain."

The Holton area received anywhere from two to three inches of rain, with more reported in some parts of the county where Morse said it had gone over the roads. Locations where water covered the roads included Q4 Road just north of the Holton city limits, 250th and M roads, 118th and I roads, 106th Road west of I Road, 326th and N roads and 98th Road between V and V4 roads.

Sections of Kansas Highways 16 and 116 that have been prone to flooding in the past were subject to water over the road, Morse said, with K-16 flooding over at Y Road and K-116 flooding over at Z Road. The Kansas Department of Transportation reported this morning that K-116 between Larkinburg and Arrington was closed due to flooding.

David Yennerell (left) and Rudy Foster, working for LeGrand Construction of Kansas City, Mo., worked on Tuesday morning to replace some external lighting at the Holton Sonic Drive-In, where a week and a half of renovations inside and out were wrapping up on Tuesday. The restaurant — which features new ordering stations, as shown in the photo above — was expected to reopen today.

Renovations at Holton's Sonic Drive-In complete

By Brian Sanders

On Tuesday morning, Shannon Smith was overseeing a flurry of finishing touches on renovations at Holton's Sonic Drive-In restaurant.

"They're confident they'll have it done," said Smith, regional director of operations for Sonic Drive-Ins in the Topeka and Kansas City area.

Although Holton's Sonic "ran into a few snags" this morning, as Smith put it, and was still working on clearing them up, the plan remained in place to be open again sometime today, serving hamburgers and chili dogs to hungry customers after being closed for a week and a half.

The reason for closing the restaurant temporarily was the renovation, with Smith noting that it was the first time he had closed a restaurant for a remodel.

"We've always done it while we were still open," Smith said. "But this store is on such a small lot that we just decided to shut it down and do it all at one time."

Smith oversees 21 Sonic restaurants in northeastern Kansas, and the restaurants in Holton and Wamego were, so far, the only two of those restaurants that had not yet been remodeled.

"This store was supposed to be done a while back, but we kept holding off and holding off," he said. "We were slated to do the new menus in June, but we thought, let's just go ahead and get it done."

The new menu is "probably the biggest thing" about the remodel, Smith said, but customers who visit the restaurant will find much more than a new menu. Holton's restaurant now has a video "confirmation board," which will allow customers to check the content and pricing of their orders before the food is prepared.

Inside the store, there's a new computer system at work which Smith said will eventually be able to accommodate personalized mobile phone "apps" that will enable customers to place orders before they arrive at the restaurant.

The building itself has been given a new brick surface and a new restroom at the rear of the building "for customers only," Smith said. There will also be new, energy-efficient exterior lighting that he said will make the restaurant "look like Royals Stadium."

Current manager Jesse McKinney will continue as the Holton store's general manager, but Smith said that Jackson Heights alumna Jaime Meyer Hudson will serve as a "go-between" supervisor for Holton and other restaurants in the area. Other than that, he added, store operations are expected to remain the same, including operating hours.

Holton's Sonic Drive-In is located at 107 Arizona Avenue along U.S. Highway 75. For more information, call the restaurant at 364-2428.

RV board approves meal price increase, accepts tech grants

By Ali Holcomb

Meal prices at Royal Valley schools will increase slightly next school year in order for the district to be in compliance with federal regulations.

During the USD 337 Board of Education meeting Monday evening, the board agreed to increase lunch prices 10 cents and breakfast prices 5 cents at all grade levels.

Next school year, the new breakfast prices will be $1.55 (elementary), $1.60 (middle/high schools) and $2.15 (adults — this did not change).

Lunch prices next year will be $2.25 (elementary), $2.40 (middle/high schools) and $3.55 (adults).

To meet paid lunch equity obligations from the United States Department of Agriculture, the district is required to raise lunch prices by 10 cents next year, it was reported.

If the district did not raise its prices, it would lose subsidy funding from the government, it was noted.

Also during the meeting, the board formally accepted two $5,000 CenturyLink grants for the district, one for the high school and one for the middle school.

At the high school, the grant will be used to purchase little-Bits robotics and accessories to be used in Teri Griffiths' classes, which are part of the audiovisual career pathway.

The other grant will be used to purchase four GoPro cameras and accessories, as well as registration and hotel accommodations for four staff members to attend the International Society for Technology in Education conference in Denver this summer.

Those attending the conference will include Joe Baumchen, Brenda Haaney, Mark Haefke and Susan Pfrang.

A representative from CenturyLink presented the grants to district staff members on Thursday, April 21.

Commissioners discuss concerns with tax lid bill with Rep. Hutchins

By Ali Holcomb

The Jackson County Commissioners continue to be concerned with a proposed "tax lid" bill as Kansas lawmakers return to work at Topeka on Wednesday.

The commissioners and Jackson County Clerk Kathy Mick were able to express some fears associated with that proposed bill to 61st District Representative Becky Hutchins, who visited with the commissioners at their meeting on Monday afternoon.

In March, the Kansas Senate approved a bill with a 24-16 vote to accelerate a cap on city and county property tax increases. The bill would move up the implementation date of the tax lid from 2018 to 2017.

The lid, which originally passed last session, would require a public vote to approve any property tax increase above the "rate of inflation" or "Consumer Price Index."

Rep. Hutchins said she doesn't serve on any of the committees that are focused on the tax lid bill and doesn't know too many specifics on the progress of the bill, so far.

"The old bill had a lot of things wrong with it," Hutchins said. "They have a group from the Kansas Association of Counties and the Kansas Association of Realtors that are trying to duke it out, to create some kind of framework that they can all live with."

Jackson County Clerk Kathy Mick recently attended a statewide county clerk meeting

"Quite frankly, we have bigger fish to fry right now than this bill, like balancing the budget."

- Rep. Becky Hutchins

where the bill and its ramifications were discussed.

Mick said it would be impossible to meet the election and budgetary deadlines set by the state if the bill were to be passed and take effect.

"At that meeting, as far as county clerks are concerned, we would rather not have this current bill pass, and just deal with it next year," Mick said.

Hutchins said she's also in favor of putting the tax lid bill off until next session.

"Quite frankly, we have bigger fish to fry right now than this bill, like balancing the budget," Hutchins said.

Mick said if the county would try to get a property tax question on an August ballot, the county would have to move its budgetary process up by two months.

"We'd have to make the budgets without an audit and without knowing what the values were going to be," she said. "We normally do budgets halfway through the year, and we know what's coming."

Hutchins said that a tax lid bill hasn't been presented on the House floor yet.

Besides moving the start-up date for the tax lid bill from 2018 to 2017, the Senate bill also would remove numerous exemptions from the original amendment, it was reported, such as allowing local governments not to have a public vote when additional funds are needed for infrastructure and federal or state mandates.

Hutchins said that since the bill has passed the Senate already, it is "conferenceable," which means it can be rolled into another bill.

The commissioners said they are concerned that the tax lid bill could be bundled into a budget bill with several other proposed laws and passed by lawmakers who are concerned with passing the budget by any means.

"The county's CPI last year was $117,000, and we have a budget of $12 million," Mick said. "Jackson County is proud to say that we are not in debt, but if this goes into effect, they would be crazy if they didn't go into debt next year for machinery and everything else."

Commissioner Rob Ladner said that, with the tax lid bill, the county would have to have an election to buy equipment or to raise wages for county employees.

"No one is going to vote yes to raise taxes," Mick said. "It'll take three elections or so for people to realize that they don't have any more rock on their road or that a different service got cut."

The commissioners said that they wanted Hutchins to be aware of all the ramifications that come with the proposed tax lid bill before the session resumes.

Fenceline Going “off grid” with your goats

By Jody G. Holthaus
Meadowlark Extension
District Agent

Livestock-Natural Resources

I've run all over the countryside looking for cherry trees! Not every place that sells fruit trees has cherry trees. I was able to find some, pay the hefty price and get it planted.

One day I happened across a mail order garden catalog. They always seem to come to you when you're needed a shot of spring. I noticed some "really cheap" cherry trees for a third of the price I had paid. They were the correct variety, semi-dwarf and one and a half to three feet tall. So I ordered one.

When the shipment came, I almost didn't see the cherry tree. It was maybe six inches tall from tip to root, all new meaning to semi-dwarf! I've complained to the company; we'll see what happens. So don't be tempted - buy locally!

I've had some people comment about the "Goats Off Grid" project I'm working on. I've now gathered all the needed supplies. Wireless fencer, check, solar generator, check, water barrel and apparatus, check, and last but not least the goats, check and check. The next step is to set up the wireless fencer, mark the boundaries with flags and start training the goats.

Think about the wide variety in foodstuffs consumed by people around the world. What people in one region consider a delicacy is considered garbage by people in another region, and all humans are the same species!

Now, think about the many species of animals that graze rangelands. Each species (and often individual animals) has very different dietary habits and preferences that are molded from their environment, their genetics and their social interactions.

In general, animals consume foods that they are physiologically adapted to digest and that meet their nutritional requirements. These inherent dietary differences result in animals being classified into three major groups: grazers, browsers and intermediate feeders.

The diets of animals are strongly influenced by 1) social interactions with mother, peers and people; 2) feedback from nutrients and toxins in plants; and 3) interactions with their physical environment including location of water and predators.

Grazers, including cattle and horses, primarily consume grasses and have digestive systems capable of handling large quantities of forages with relatively low nutritional quality. The sheer size of the mouth of these herbivores limits their ability to select individual parts (leaves, twigs) of plants.

The large rumen of cattle and the active cecum of horses are well suited to consuming large quantities of low-quality, fibrous forage like dormant grasses. They obtain the nutrients they need by consuming a large quantity of low-quality forage.

Browsers focus their forage selection on the leaves, flowers and twigs of woody species. They typically have a smaller, more pointed mouth than grazers. The narrow muzzle and other dental adaptations of browsers help them select individual plant parts of higher nutritional quality.

In general, the diet of browsing animals is higher in crude protein and more digestible than the diet of grazing animals. Many browse plants, however, contain secondary compounds or toxins that limit their intake by herbivores. Browsers have developed several physiological characteristics that help them either metabolize or avoid exposure to these compounds.

For example, many species of browsing herbivores have a large liver in relation to their body size, which aids in metabolism of harmful plant toxins. Some browsers are equipped with salivary glands that bind tannins, an anti-quality compound found in some browse plants.

Intermediate feeders have adaptations of both grazers and browsers. They typically possess a narrow muzzle and a large rumen relative to body mass, which allows them to graze selectively and still tolerate substantial fiber in their diet.

Sheep are intermediate feeders that possess a relatively small mouth allowing them to graze relatively close to the ground and to strip leaves or flowers from stems.

The diet of intermediate feeders generally is dominated by forbs, although they will readily consume grasses when grass plants are succulent or when other forage has limited availability.

Remember that animals consume foods that they are physiologically adapted to digest and that meet their nutritional requirements. However, the ability to digest foods and the nutritional requirements of individual animals can vary greatly depending on their age, body condition, gender and reproductive status.

Holton High School alumnus Kennedy White (center), along with business partners Connor England (left) and Mark Feuerborn, have advanced to the final round of the Network of International Business Schools (NIBS) International Business Plan Competition, it was reported.

HHS alum Kennedy, team in final round of international business competition

A trio of Washburn University students led by a 2012 graduate of Holton High School has advanced to the final round of the Network of International Business Schools (NIBS) International Business Plan Competition, it was reported.

Washburn business majors Kennedy White of Holton and Connor England of Topeka, along with communications major Mark Feuerborn of Overland Park, entered the competition with the idea and a business plan for D18, a service that helps restaurants, manufacturers and hotels save money by identifying tax exemption opportunities within their utility charges.

In addition to identifying tax exemption opportunities, D18 also works on behalf of its clients to obtain tax refunds and to plan for future energy and tax savings.

"It all started with a passion to help small businesses create more value for themselves," said White. "That passion has evolved D18 into an influence that has, and will continue to, provide efficiency and positive change."

D18 grew in 2016 with the additions of England and Feuerborn. England and White worked on the specifics of the business plan, while Feuerborn was invaluable in creating the firm's pitch video, it was reported.

The goal of the NIBS competition is to stimulate global entrepreneurship among students. The final round will take place as a Skype conference on Thursday, May 19 at Avans University of Applied Sciences, located in Breda, Netherlands. The Washburn trio is one of three teams competing in the final round; the other two represent Finland and Ireland.

Each team will present their business plan and pitch video and participate in a live question and answer session with a panel of judges. The winning team will be awarded a championship trophy and 1,000 Euros.

Fifteen teams submitted business plans for the qualifying round of the competition, held in March. The United States entered four teams, while Canada and Belgium each entered two and one team each came from China, Croatia, Finland, Germany, Hungary, Ireland and the Netherlands, it was reported.

Kansas gas average just below $2

At $1.97 per gallon, the average price of gasoline in Kansas remained just below $2 per gallon on Friday, but prices in some major metropolitan locations marched above that mark over the weekend, according to AAA Kansas.

The statewide average on Friday was 15 percent less than a year ago, while many of the locations monitored by AAA have not had a change in average over the past week. Kansas remained at the same spot in state averages in the nation at number 12.

Topeka was the lowest average of the metro areas holding at $1.88. In other areas, Pittsburg had the lowest average with $1.81 per gallon, actually dropping 2 cents on the week, until an average of $1.77 was reported at Dighton, followed by Parsons, Paxico and Galena.

The national average price for gas stayed above $2, at $2.13 per gallon on Monday, indicating a rise of 2 cents from last week. On the same date last year, the national average was $2.50 per gallon.

Rankings and price averages for Kansas and surrounding states included:

- Oklahoma: 5th, up from 7th last week at $1.93.
- Missouri: 8th, rank unchanged from last week at $1.94.
- Kansas: 12th, rank unchanged from last week at $1.97.
- Colorado: 21st, rank unchanged from last week at $2.09.
- Nebraska: 24th, rank unchanged from last week at $2.10.

Prescription drug collection scheduled for this Saturday

Law enforcement officers at locations across northeastern Kansas and the rest of the state will be collecting unused leftover medications for safe disposal on Saturday, Kansas Attorney General Derek Schmidt said Monday.

The collection events are part of a nationwide effort to safely dispose of leftover medications to prevent accidental or intentional misuse. Since the program began in 2010, more than 38 tons of unwanted medications have been collected and destroyed in Kansas alone.

"Unused medications are dangerous for kids, pets and the environment," Schmidt said. "Getting these leftover medicines out of the medicine cabinets keeps them from falling into the wrong hands and makes our communities safer."

Medications will be accepted at drop-off sites across the state from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday. To find a location, visit www.ag.ks.gov

The National Drug Take-Back Day is coordinated by the federal Drug Enforcement Administration, which collects and safely destroys the medications.

Medicines that languish in home cabinets are highly susceptible to diversion, misuse and abuse. Rates of prescription drug abuse in the U.S. are increasing, as are the number of accidental poisonings and overdoses due to these drugs.

Studies show a majority of abused prescription drugs are obtained from family and friends, including from the home medicine cabinet. In addition, Americans are now advised that traditional methods for disposing of unused medicines — flushing them down the toilet or throwing them in the trash — pose potential safety and health hazards and should be avoided.

Although neither the Holton Police Department nor the Jackson County Sheriff's Office is participating in this year's collection event, some area collection sites available to those who wish to dispose of unused prescription drugs include:

- Silver Lake City Hall, 218 W. Railroad St., Silver Lake.
- Sabetha Police Department, 805 Main St., Sabetha.
- Nemaha County Sheriff's Office, 212 N. Sixth St., Seneca.
- Brown County Sheriff's Office, 709 Utah St., Hiawatha.
- CVS Pharmacy, 400 S. 10th St., Atchison.
- Soldier Township Fire District, 600 N.W. 46th St., Topeka.
- Topeka Police Department, 320 S. Kansas Ave., Topeka.
- Mission Township Fire Department, 3101 S.W. Urish Road, Topeka.

How “super delegates” vote may change national politics forever

It seems long ago that Mitt Romney went on TV to say “If we Republicans choose Donald Trump as our nominee, the prospects for a safe and prosperous future are greatly diminished.”

In that March 3 speech, Romney advanced a plan to deprive Trump of the votes he needs to win the Republican presidential nomination without a convention fight in July, according to The New York Times newspaper.

Romney proposed that the candidate in the best position to beat Trump in each state should run unimpeded by other contenders.

After losing in New York, Senator Ted Cruz and Gov. John Kasich seemed ready to embrace this idea.

Late Sunday, they announced that Cruz would run hard in Indiana’s May 3 primary, and Kasich, though he was favored in suburbs surrounding Indianapolis, would stand down in that state.

Kasich, in turn, would focus on beating Trump in New Mexico and Oregon, unimpeded by Cruz.

But within hours, according to the Times, they backed away, as Cruz’s campaign quietly told supporters not to engage in “tactical voting,” and Kasich said that although he wouldn’t hold rallies, he’d still attend a fundraiser and meetings with Republican leaders in Indiana.

So it goes, the Times wrote, as Republican leaders grapple with the prospect of Trump, with his “Make America Great Again” agenda, becoming the party’s standard-bearer.

Some of the party leaders are still far from uncomfortable with that idea and who the party’s “super delegates” will be told to vote for still is not clear.

“Super delegates” are those party delegates from each state who are not bound to vote for any presidential candidate, regardless of which candidate won the most primary votes in their state.

Why is the National Republican Party not embracing the party’s leading candidate? Because the party leaders know that Trump marches to the beat of his own drum; not theirs, and they can’t control him. Neither can the party’s biggest election contributors. They can’t own him with their financial influence.

Like it or not, Trump has singlehandedly set the tone and direction of this presidential race. A big contingent of U.S. voters are loving the fact that candidate Trump is faring well in the primaries, in spite of the party leaders’ outwardly visible dislike of him.

A growing swath of the party leadership, however, now seem to be starting to embrace Trump, according to the Times. And Trump reportedly calls Reince Priebus, the Republican National Committee chairman, regularly to chat about the election. Yes, the election that Trump says is “rigged” by the “establishment” that Priebus leads.

Democrats, the Times wrote, would be foolish to gloat about the G.O.P. mess. The Democratic Party has also been caught by surprise by the anger of middle-class voters it thought it could rely on, could control, could influence, even while failing to move meaningful legislation on college affordability, gun control, the minimum wage and better care for veterans.

Trump, and Bernie Sanders, too, may be the maverick presidential candidates to the National Republican and Democratic Party leaders, but their straight-talk about the economy, the loss of good manufacturing jobs overseas and the negative economic impact of Wall Street’s big money politics has caught hold of the U.S. voters’ attention and interest.

If “super delegates” blindly follow their party leaders’ voting wishes this time around, it will further signal that as far as the national parties are concerned, the votes of U.S. voters don’t matter and that’s the wrong message to send.

LETTER: Federal subsidies prop up renewable energy resources

Dear editor,

Fans of the renewable energy industry like to boast that the costs of solar and wind power are dropping.

What they never mention is where most of those “savings” are coming from -- American taxpayers.

Just listen to President Obama’s most recent State of the Union address: “Wind power is now cheaper than dirtier, conventional power [and] solar is saving Americans tens of millions of dollars a year.”

The American Wind Energy Association claims, “wind energy is one of the most affordable forms of electricity today.”

And the Solar Energy Industries Association proudly notes that “the cost to install solar has dropped by more than 73 percent.”

But these stats only show one side of the ledger. According to the U.S. Energy Information Administration, federal subsidies -- including direct expenditures, tax breaks, and research and development -- for solar power totaled $5.3 billion in 2013, the most recent year of data.

Wind power pocketed $5.9 billion. Combined, renewable largesse grew nearly 40 percent between 2010 and 2013.

Now that Congress has renewed the Production Tax Credit for wind energy, taxpayers will be on the hook for supporting re-newables for years to come.

Renewable energy defenders point out that fossil-fuel producers are also subsidized by the federal government. But those subsidies are minuscule compared to wind and solar.

In fact, the government now subsidizes solar 345 times more than coal, natural gas, and oil. Wind is subsidized more than 52 times more than the more conventional fossil fuels.

And that’s just at the federal level. State and local governments provide lots of tax breaks and other economic support for renewables.

Researchers at North Carolina State University track 40 different state and local clean energy programs. The Center identified 1,261 rebate provisions, 84 property tax incentives, 52 sales tax incentives, 42 personal tax credits, and 9 tax deductions. In addition, the Center found 49 laws requiring electricity companies to incorporate renewable energy.

On top of that, ratepayers may be forced to pay more for their electricity.

Such tax breaks, subsidies and mandates mask the true cost of renewable energy. Economists at Utah State University confirmed this last year, writing, “Because federal and state subsidies are intrinsic to the success of wind energy, calculations that do not include subsidies return a cost of wind energy that is artificially low.”

The existence of this vast subsidy system prompts an important question: Could wind and solar survive on their own?

Warren Buffet doesn’t think so: “[O]n wind energy, we get a tax credit if we build a lot of wind farms. That’s the only reason to build them. They don’t make sense without the tax credit.”

Proponents counter that the wind and solar industries create jobs. According to the Solar Foundation, the number of solar jobs in the United States reached 208,000 in 2015. The American Wind Energy Association claims its industry employs 73,000 people.

But those figures pale in comparison to oil and gas employment, which supports 9.8 million jobs. And that figure doesn’t account for all the fossil-fuel positions that wind and solar have eliminated because electricity generators are forced to switch from fossil fuels to renewables.

Before wind and solar advocates boast about how affordable their preferred energy sources have become, they need to factor in the massive taxpayer largesse propping up the renewable industry. After accounting for both sides of the ledger, anyone can see that renewables cost far more than they save.

INSIGHT

By John Schlageck
Kansas Farm Bureau

“Goodbye, sweet girl — it’s time to go,” I said looking into those eyes that showed love, devotion and friendship. My eyes and those of my son, Ben, overflowed with tears.

We were taking our beloved Sheltie, Lorna Doone, to the vet. This was her last ride.

Weak and failing, she couldn’t jump into the SUV anymore. Gone were the days when that graceful blur of brown, black and white fur bounded into the back seat with ease. On this day, I gently placed her in the seat next to my son.

Lorna Doone loved to ride in cars. She’d bark and bark when we asked, “Do you want to go for a ride?”

Once in the car I’d quickly roll down the window so she could stick her head out and take in the fast flowing air.

My family enjoyed 17 wonderful years with Dooney. She retrieved tennis balls, Frisbees, hedge apples — about anything round she could fit into her mouth. Our sweet girl never knew when to stop fetching and only when we ceased throwing would this wonderful game end.

When the small walnuts dropped from our giant walnut trees, Lorna heard them hit the ground, smelled them out and brought these little marble-sized nuts to us. She expected us to play fetch with them.

She loved to chase squirrels in our yard and kept these little rodents running for their lives. As they scolded her from high above in the trees, she barked her disapproval of them trespassing in her domain.

Lorna smiled all the time. We referred to her as the happiest dog in the world. When she wagged her tail her whole rear end moved.

Our Sheltie served as a constant companion throughout my son’s childhood. Having arrived in our household a full year before Ben, she always tried to dominate her younger sibling even when he grew to be a teenager and towered above her.

Dooney bossed Ben and growled at him whenever she believed he interfered with her playful activities.

She assumed the role of scout that trotted out front when the boys explored the woods surrounding our house. Like a horse, she pulled the small wagon filled with Ben’s toys.

Lorna also barked incessantly when it was time for her to eat. With a built-in clock that rivaled any Rolex, she knew to the minute when it was time to eat. She also stood next to the utility room where her feast awaited.

Guard dog? Without a doubt. Nothing wandered into our yard and evaded the notice of Miss Doone. She patrolled day and night with razor-sharp eyes. Even when she slept, her super-sonic ears missed nothing. They pointed straight up as did her tail that curled to the right. Her look said, “Enter at your own risk.”

How do these four-legged fur balls burrow so deep in our hearts?

It hurts when they go. But when you ask yourself, “Would I give up having known them to make the pain go away?”

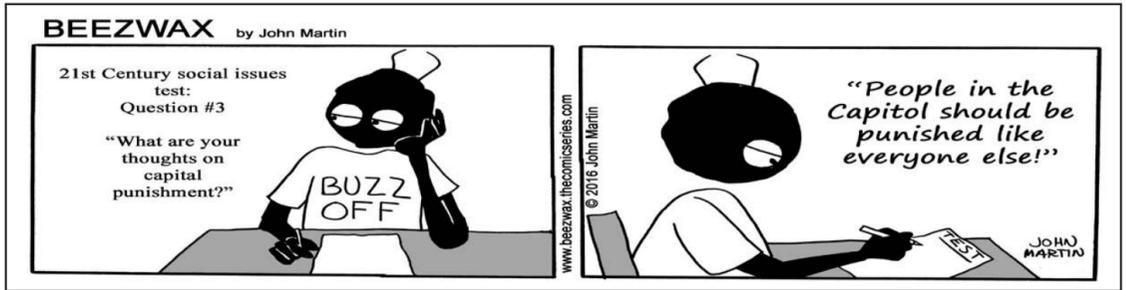

The answer remains, of course, “no.”

A dog like Lorna Doone only comes around once in a lifetime. That said, Miss Bea, our new Sheltie, appears to be a worthy companion. Just like her predecessor, she tears up the leaves and yard ensuring her territory remains off limits to squirrels and other rodents.

Bea also announces the arrival of friends, family, UPS delivery and anything else who ventures near her home. While she’s a bit stand-offish at times, she’s still a happy girl and we’re happy to have her in our lives.

As for Lorna Doone, her memory lingers in our minds. Who knows, maybe one day we’ll see her again, listen to the thump, thump, thump of her tail and look into that smiling, happy face.

Denison Bible Church

By Esther L. Hall

The April 24 service at Denison Bible Church began with Pastor Tom singing from the pulpit. There was lots of heads nodding and toe tapping while he sang.

Pastor Tom's message was titled "The Three? Levels of Wisdom?!" Are you wise? If so, what kind of wisdom do you have and what level are you at?

Wisdom and knowledge are related, but they are not synonymous. You can have knowledge but have no wisdom. But when you have wisdom, you are wise. Wisdom is a practical knowledge that is useful.

There are actually five levels of wisdom rather than three. What level fits you? Level one is the "pitiful" level. People who are too smart for their own good. They are the people who know the gospel but don't put that knowledge to good use. They are the unsaved.

Level two is the "potential" level. People who are saved but still let the world influence them. They don't have any ambition to grow in their faith. They don't even bother to seek the Lord but let the world dictate how they should live their lives.

Level three is the "powerful" level - the spiritual level. Those who are saved under the influence of the Holy Spirit. It's the person who is saved and lives every day doing whatever God requires of them. They have the patience to deal with "baby" Christians, the "pitiful" people and the people with "potential."

The fourth level of wisdom is the "problem-causing" one (the devil himself.) He's continuously looking for people who won't submit to God.

Satan is always scheming. Lying comes natural to him, and he causes us to doubt God. When we're not submitting to God, Satan will move in and take over our lives. We must wear the "armor of God" so that we can stand against Satan and his demons.

Level five is the "praise-worthy" one - God Himself. If we lack wisdom, then we should be asking God to give us wisdom. He is the only one who is all wisdom and is always wise. In order for us to get wisdom, it is essential that we come to Jesus. We are to grow to a level of maturity so that we can judge what is wise and what is not. It is our responsibility to grow in Christ, and when we do, wisdom will be evident in our lives.

Knowledge learns of God while wisdom loves Him. Are you willing to gain the wisdom that God can give you to fight off the demons of this world and gain the full potential that God wants you to be?

Potawatomi UMC

By Ilene Dick

On April 24, the beauty of spring was very evident as congregants drove to Potawatomi United Methodist Church with the sun shining, the green grass and early flowers in view.

Pastor Howard opened the service with scripture and prayers, followed by sharing joys and concerns.

Prayer requests were made for Martha Roush fighting bronchitis; Anne Bowser with laryngitis; and Vivian Moore, whose grandson was killed in a wreck.

Marjean Shenk was acolyte. Judy Thoman was liturgist, reading from 2 Corinthians 3:18.

Hymns were "It Is Well With My Soul," "Stand Up, Stand Up For Jesus" and "Blessed Assurance." Music was provided by Ilene Dick and Ann W.

Offertory ushers were Keith Bell and Jim Shenk.

Pastor Howard shared the word of God from I Kings 8:1, 6, 10-11, 22-30, 43-44. His sermon title was "Dedication To The Lord."

David always wanted to build a temple for the Lord. He gathered the best material he could find so one day his son could build the temple.

Solomon's temple was beautiful and the center of Jewish religion. Solomon knew the temple was nothing without the arc of the covenant. The place of worship is not important without God. I John 5:4.

All over the world, there are places that keep people from coming to worship. God is the creator of all and desires all to worship through His blood of the covenant. God keeps His promise, as found in Solomon's prayer to the Lord in I Kings 8:54-61.

Next Sunday's sermon will be "The Difference It Makes That Jesus Ascended Back To Heaven."

Judy Thoman attended the dance recital of her granddaughter, Shayne Dorris, at Hoyt Baptist Church on Friday evening, April 22.

On Thursday evening, Jim and Marjean Shenk visited Marjean's sister and brother-in-law, who recently had heart surgery. After a visit, they went on to Highland to view the art show of their grandson, Sam.

Ronald and I met Jim Dick at Washburn Tech at noon on Thursday, April 19, and took him out to eat at McFarland's for an early birthday dinner. We enjoyed a good visit before returning home.

Jim and Marjean Shenk attended Grandparents' Day at Rossville Elementary School with McKenzie Shenk.

New Life Church of the Nazarene

By Janice Kneisley

More Bibles have been purchased than any other book in the history of the world. Yet as popular as it is, the Bible is too often misunderstood and mistreated.

In his series "Breath," Pastor Kevin Kneisley of New Life Church of the Nazarene talked on the breath of God - the Bible. Pastor Kneisley taught the congregation about the power and priority the Bible should have in their lives this past Sunday.

2 Timothy 3:16 says, "The Bible is the very breath of God."

"Right now you're hearing the breath of me. My breath is moving over my vocal cords. My vocal cords are vibrating. But we have the breath of God in the Bible. His word is written down! The breath of God has been recorded! All we have to do is breathe it in. The Bible is literally God's breath," said

Kneisley.

He continued with saying all Scripture is God breathed and used for teaching-what we should do right, rebuking-what is not right, correcting-how to do what's right in all situations and training in righteousness.

"And that is who we are, New Life Church of the Nazarene, a Bible-teaching, Bible-believing church. It's that simple; we worship the God of the Word."

But through the years, Kneisley said, the Bible has also become the most dissected and maligned book of all time.

"You need to allow the Bible to study you. You see, the Bible is not a textbook. The Bible is not something we worship. The Bible is the Word of God. The Bible was written by 40 different authors over the course of 1,500 years, on different continents, and the miraculous, supernatural thing about it is it all tells the same story. The Word of God.

God cannot lie. There is not a lie in God's word," Kneisley said.

In closing, Pastor Kneisley challenged the church to spend 11 minutes each day for the next 30 days reading and journaling the Bible, all the while asking God how to apply his lesson to their lives.

He said to think of the Bible as a love letter from God, telling us how to live every aspect of our lives, for it has the potential to transform everything.

In children's church, children learned about how the tongue is such a small part of the body but it can cause great damage. Manna House, a free supper for those in need of a hot meal will be Wednesday, April 27, at the Hutchins Building on the downtown Holton Square. Serving times are 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. Tickets can be obtained from area churches, businesses and the Jackson County Food Pantry.

Following two, 1-run losses on Monday...

HHS softball packing lunch for JW

By Brian Sanders

One run was all it took. After getting swept by Perry-Lecompton in one-run losses on the Kaws' home turf, Coach John Deitrich and the Holton High School Lady Cats softball team were lamenting that fact, particularly after coming off a fine showing at the Shawnee Mission tournament, where the Cats finished 3-1, compared to the 1-3 finish in 2015.

"We saw some quality pitching and made some adjustments that worked for us," Deitrich said after the weekend tournament. "We had a couple of tough innings defensively, but we played well enough to win. We had some dazzling plays by our youngsters."

But in the first game on Monday, the Cats fell to Perry-Lecompton by a 6-5 score in extra innings, and in the nightcap, the score was 2-1 in favor of the Kaws.

"We had a chance in both games. We just couldn't push through when we needed to," Deitrich said of Monday's games. "We ran out of outs in the second game and didn't make adjustments early enough. But in the first game, I thought we had as good a chance as any."

The first game saw some good hitting on the part of the Cats, with Lauryn Moore picking up a double and Sarah Bond, Casi Van Ausdall, Mackenzie Moore and Sarah Lierz getting two hits each. Bond and Mackenzie Moore also picked up a stolen base each, it was noted.

On the mound, Bond got some good run support by her team, who brought a 5-3 lead into the seventh inning. But the tide turned when the Kaws were able to post a two-run homer in the bottom of the seventh, following that up with one more run in the eighth to hand Bond the loss.

In the second game, the Cats were first to get on the board with an RBI single from Annalys Phillips, scoring Van Ausdall. Unfortunately, they were unable to score any more runs, and the Kaws posted one run each in the second and sixth innings to get the win.

Deitrich also remarked upon the team's play at the weekend tournament, where they opened last Thursday with a 15-10 loss to Olathe North. The Lady Cats started strong with three runs in the first inning, but the senior-dominated Eagles — who had some "good pop at the dish," he noted — posted four homers before the Cats could mount a comeback.

"We went into the bottom of the sixth with an 8-7 lead, but let down a little bit defensively, giving up eight runs on six hits and two errors with two outs," he said. "To our credit, we did push across a couple of runs in the top of the seventh, but we just ran out of outs."

Holton bounced back to beat Shawnee Mission East 11-4, opening that game with four early runs. That was not an easy win, Deitrich said, since Quinn Holaday, as pitcher, was hampered by several early errors. Still, he said, he was pleased by the pitching.

"The pitching from game one to game two worked both ends of the spectrum, with Olathe North throwing their ace who won a game in last year's 6A state tournament versus something with a little less pace," Deitrich said. "We took some time and adjusted, but you could really see we were challenged by the change in tempo."

After the first inning, the Lady Cats were able to steadily build on their 4-1 lead "to make sure we kept a safe lead and earn the win," Deitrich said.

The Cats came back the following Saturday with two wins, starting with a 7-2 victory over Shawnee Mission North where the team "started slowly and was able to press across a single run in the second inning," Deitrich said. The fourth inning saw the Cats explode for six runs, sealing the deal early.

Panthers drop two to NC

Wamego to visit Panthers Thursday

By David Powls

The Royal Valley Panthers came up short in both games of a varsity baseball doubleheader Monday vs. Nemaha Central at the Hoyt diamond.

The Panthers lost the first game by the score of 11-5 and in the nightcap, the Panthers lost in a closer game, 7-4.

"Nemaha Central is a good ball team," RV coach Scott Ternes said afterwards. "They came hitting out of the gate and we were not just not able to keep up with their pace."

Royal Valley (6-6 overall) and (3-3 in the Big Seven League) are scheduled to host Wamego on Thursday.

In game one vs. Nemaha Central Monday, Royal Valley actually led 3-1 after the first and second innings.

Nemaha Central (now 11-1) stormed back in the third inning, picking up three runs — two on two-run home run by K. Niehuus.

The Thunder then added two runs in the fourth, one in the fifth and two apiece in the sixth and seventh innings while the Panthers could only score two more runs in the bottom of the seventh and final inning to bring about the 11-5 score.

The Panthers had five hits in the game — a double by Derrick Barger, a double and single by Garrett Shultz that resulted in 3 RBI and singles by Noah Hart and Brooks McClane.

Derek Linn was the starting pitcher for the Panthers. He went 3.2 innings with 12 first-pitch strikes and six strikeouts.

Barger pitched 3.1 innings in relief for the Panthers. He had 11 first-pitch strikes and four strikeouts.

Nemaha Central had 12 hits and four errors in the game while Royal Valley had five hits and two errors.

Haslinkamp was the starting pitcher for Nemaha Central. He pitched five innings, striking out six batters.

In game two Monday, Royal Valley took a 1-0 first-inning lead and added two more runs in the second. After that, the team could only manage to score one more run in the fifth.

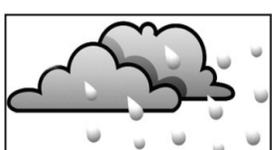

Meanwhile, the Thunder scored two runs in the second and one run apiece in each of the next five innings to secure the 7-4 victory.

Hart pitched the complete game for Royal Valley, logging 20 first-pitch strikes and six strikeouts.

For Nemaha Central, K. Niehuus started the game and pitched four innings, striking out six batters. Sudbeck pitched three innings in relief and also struck out six batters.

The Thunder had 10 hits in the game and no errors while the Panthers had six hits and two errors.

Barger, Fenske and McClane all hit doubles for Royal Valley. Hart added two singles and Lux another.

Rainy weather forces several more scheduling changes

Uncooperative weather has forced many spring sporting events to be cancelled or rescheduled in recent days.

The following is a list of cancelled events and scheduled make-up dates available at press time:

* Jackson Heights track at Silver Lake scheduled for Tuesday was cancelled and will not be rescheduled, it was reported.

* Holton's JV softball and baseball games against Perry-Lecompton were postponed Tuesday and have yet to be rescheduled.

* Royal Valley's track quad meet scheduled for Tuesday was cancelled, it was reported.

* The JV baseball games between Royal Valley and Nemaha Central on Tuesday were postponed, and a make-up date has yet to be determined.

* Royal Valley varsity and JV softball games against Nemaha Central have been rescheduled for Thursday, April 28, at Hoyt. The games will begin at 4:30 p.m.

* The varsity baseball match-up between Royal Valley and Wamego postponed at the start of the season has been rescheduled for Thursday, April 28, starting at 4:30 p.m. at Hoyt.

* Varsity and JV softball games between Royal Valley and Holton will now be played Friday, May 6, in Hoyt, with a 4:30 p.m. start time.

* Royal Valley varsity softball games against Hiawatha postponed recently have been rescheduled for Monday, May 9, at Hiawatha.

* Holton and Royal Valley varsity baseball games were postponed on April 18 and JV games were postponed on April 19. Rescheduled dates are still being determined.

RV varsity, HHS JV compete at Cool Springs

By Ali Holcomb

Golfers from Vermillion and Onaga dominated the greens on Monday during an invitational at Cool Springs Golf Course in Onaga that also featured golfers from Holton and Royal Valley.

Vermillion, the host team, won the 18-hole tournament with its first team posting a four-man score of 348.

Onaga's team was second with a score of 361, followed by Holton's JV team in third with 394. Royal Valley's four-man team took seventh, shooting a combined score of 482.

The top golfer for the day was Onaga's Tyler Fleming, who shot a 79 on the course.

Holton's Kaden Brandt had the best score for the JV team, shooting a 95 and earning 11th place, followed closely by JV teammate Ethan Deegan's 96.

Corey Humpert continues to led the RV team each meet.

Humpert shot a 104 on Monday.

Team scores:
1. Vermillion (1) 348, 2. Onaga 361, 3. Holton JV 394, 4. Sabetha JV 398, 5. Washington County 413, 6. Vermillion (2) 442, 7. Royal Valley 482.

Individual scores:
Holton JV: Kaden Brandt 95, Ethan Deegan 96, Dylan Aeschliman 99, Bryson Patch 104, Ryan Taylor 104 and Tyler Price 141.

Royal Valley: Corey Humpert 104, Max Hennis 125, Anna Johnson 120, Charlotte Rooks 133 and DJ Kester 152.

The Wildcats head to Spring Creek Golf Course in Seneca on Monday for a Big Seven League quad. The quad begins at 4:30 p.m.

RV's golf team will next compete in another Big Seven League quad at Lake Perry on Monday. The team tees off at 4:30 p.m.

HHS Wildcat baseball at KC's Community Park tourney this week

Holton's varsity baseball team dropped both games of a doubleheader to Jeff West on Thursday.

The Wildcats lost the first game by the score of 10-4 and the second game 3-2.

In game one, Jeff West took an early 3-1 lead after one inning and stretched it to 7-1 after two innings. Jeff West got its last three runs in the third inning. Meanwhile, Holton added one run in the third and one in the fourth.

Austin Hess was the starting pitcher for Holton. He pitched three innings, striking out two batters. He also allowed 10 runs on seven hits, four walks and one hit batsman.

Brady Forrester pitched four innings in relief for Holton. He struck out two batters, walked five and gave up no runs and no hits.

Wildcat Parker Zeller batted 2 for 3 with a walk and Brady Mulroy batted 1 for 3 with a double.

In game two, Jeff West took a 2-0 lead after the first inning and went on to hold Holton scoreless for six innings. Holton then scored two runs in the seventh inning while Jeff West scored one to bring about the 3-2 score.

Wildcat Justin Rieschick pitched the complete seven-inning game. He struck out 10 batters, walked one, hit one batter with a pitch and gave up four hits.

Rieschick also went 1 for 3 batting in the game with a double. Aaron Bain batted 1 for 3 as did Forrester.

Holton (4-6 overall) played a doubleheader against Perry-Lecompton on Monday, April 25. No scores were available at press-time.

Holton is scheduled to compete at the Butch Foster Classic tournament at the Kansas City T-Bones Community America Park on April 28-30.

On May 5, the varsity Wildcats are scheduled to host Riverside.

"We started to see their pitcher better and were able to pressure them into some mistakes that led to Lady Cat runs," Deitrich said of the Indians. "We hit the ball well in this game, using the whole diamond and applying pressure on the base paths."

The Lady Cats closed out tournament play with a 15-8 win over

Leavenworth, but the game didn't get off to the best of starts for Holton, he said.

"We started early, posting three, but gave up five in the first with three errors and three walks," Deitrich said. "We had to bounce back or they were going to finish strong."

Eventually, the Lady Cats got better with the bats the second and third times through the lineup, he noted.

"We had some great swings, and our younger kids began to see the ball better," Deitrich added.

The Lady Cats, now at 4-2 in Big Seven League play and 7-5 overall, will next travel to Jefferson West High School on Thursday to take on the Tigers (8-0 league, 9-3 overall), and Deitrich noted that with the Tigers having the best league record, the Lady Cats will need to be ready.

"We're going to have to pack a lunch for that one," Deitrich said of Thursday's doubleheader, set to begin at 4:30 p.m. in Meriden. "But our girls are still hitting better, and we're still improving on a few positions."

Gardener's Corner

Beyond the garden: Eating wild things

By Sandra M. Siebert

Slowly I am working my way through the garden chores... digging weeds out of the paths, taking down tomato cages and bean trellises from last year, and preparing the soil for planting this year's crops.

Straight green rows of young pea seedlings hug their own trellis, flanked by little spinaches, carrots, radishes and onions. The cabbages have been replanted, after the original froze to death a couple of days after planting. With last week's rain, everything looks much happier.

Slender leek seedlings march down the row. Bumblebees work tirelessly at the blueberry blossoms. Even the strawberries have been in bloom for a couple of weeks now. The asparagus popped up early, around mid-March. I had expected to be harvesting lots and lots of asparagus by now, as early as it started, but it has not yet hit that rampant phase of production. Still, we can add asparagus to the menu every couple of days now.

Whenever I look at all the progress of nature, I get a sense that I've fallen behind schedule. The truth is, however, that it's still April - only now time to start planting beans and getting the tomato bed ready.

While the only cultivated vegetable we've harvested so far has been asparagus, other garden plants have graced our meals these last few weeks. We are taking advantage of the wild foods growing rampantly around us. I am not exactly sure I can count the stinging nettles as "wild," since I intentionally transplanted them within the garden boundaries. Nettles, which lose their sting when cooked or dried, possess great nutrition for our bodies. The stinging nettle probably is the most nutritious wild food you can find.

Not only do nettles provide the human body with great nutrition, they are an excellent source of nutrition for other plants. Add nettles to the compost heap or cut them down and use them as green mulch for vegetable and fruit plants. As they decompose, they'll add lots of good things to the soil or compost.

Spring is the time to eat your nettles, as they can get tougher and develop "crystals" that can aggravate the kidneys when more mature. Cook them well... we like to stew them in broth and add to our curries and other dishes as we would any other green. Dry them to use later as a tea, or to add to cooked dishes when fresh nettles are not available. Wear gloves when cutting nettles to avoid the sting.

We've also added dandelion greens to many of our meals, cooking them with the nettles.

These bitter greens benefit the digestive system, and contain many nutrients. The dandelions now have all shot out their brilliant yellow flowers and are sending fluffy seeds flying, making their leaves more biting. If you are a staunch soul, go ahead and eat these bitter greens. It will cause no harm.

But we've moved on to eating the flowers.

We occasionally add dandelion flowers to our meals, to get a bit of yellow in our diets. "Eating the rainbow," that is getting some of all the food colors in your diet every day provides a diverse set of important nutrients. It's better to eat a little of every color than to eat lots of one or two colors.

The importance of diversity pops up everywhere, from our diets, to the garden, to ecosystems, to human cultures. So dandelion flowers give us some yellow diversity. The roots also make a fine vegetable, but are best dug in the fall after a couple of frosts.

The garden now contains quite a diverse group of wild plants, or just plants gone wild. Little cilantro and dill seedlings "gone wild" crowd into the paths and growing areas, where last year's crops dropped seed. Anise hyssop crowds against the fence, surrounding the strawberry bed, begging to be dug up and moved to a new home. We love tea made with the leaves of anise hyssop, but they're threatening to move into the strawberry patch.

Another truly wild food that I am eyeing for harvest soon is the young lamb's quarters, also known as wild spinach. The tender leaves of this plant are reminiscent of the flavor of the common garden spinach, to which is related. Lamb's quarters will add green nutrition to our meals long before the spinach and kale I planted this spring are ready for harvest. Like the other wild foods, lamb's quarters are a powerhouse of nutrients, containing more vitamins and minerals than many of our cultivated foods.

And now I come to cleavers, that sprawling little plant that likes to cling to your clothes. Cleavers might not be quite the nutritional treasure that the other three wild plants I've mentioned are, but it does have plenty. Just chop the tender plants into your dishes, lightly cooking them or eating them fresh. Last night as a friend harvested some of my nettles, I chatted with her and wandered nearby, discovering a lovely crop of cleavers, which I harvested.

Many other wild foods grow just outside your back door, hide among your vegetables, lurk among the grass. I find it energizing to eat these "weeds" and take in all of that robust energy. How can they not be good for me?

On a side note, before eating anything wild be certain you have correctly identified it. An incorrect identification at best tastes bad, at worst can be quite toxic.

What is the dawn phenomenon?

By Cindy Williams
Meadowlark Extension
District Agent
Food & Nutrition, FNP

What is the dawn phenomenon? No, it's not a new movie or music group, but for those with diabetes, it's a frustrating problem.

This event is an abnormally high blood glucose reading first thing in the morning. It is not related to food consumed the night before.

Hormones that cause glucose production are released during the night or early morning hours. It is similar to an internal alarm clock to get the body ready for daytime activity.

For those with type 2 diabetes, they may not have enough insulin to counter the glucose activity. This caused an abnormal rise in blood glucose between 4 a.m. and 8 a.m.

So what can be done? One option is to use a bloodglucose-lowering drug to fight insulin resistance and hormonal imbalance.

A second option is to lose weight. This can help hormonal disturbances, increase insulin sensitivity and lower blood glucose levels. Adding physical activity can improve the body's response to insulin.

Finally, a small snack before bedtime, less than 20 grams of carbohydrate, can help reduce the dawn phenomenon.

Always consult a physician for best treatment for your diabetes.

Ag Week: Cattle prices reach new lows

By Matt Hines

Cattle futures continued under heavy pressure last week with limit down trade on Monday and triple digit losses on Friday pushing prices into new lows. Cash feedlot trade collapsed, going $5-$6 lower compared to the week previous. Prices peeled back as the week progressed as well.

At midweek in Nebraska, a few traded at $125 to $127 live and $208 on a dressed basis. By the end of the week, though, prices were down to $125 to $127 live and $196 to $203 on a dressed basis. Some of these sales were for May deliveries, but spot sales were still lower also.

National Feeder and Stocker Cattle Summary
Week Ending April 22

Receipts: 201,100 this week, 339,800 last week, 211,600 last year.

Compared to last week, steers and heifers traded mostly $5-$10 lower with some major auction barns reporting as much as $12 to $15 lower. Monday's limit losses in the cattle complex at the CME really set the tone for the week, and it was a big hole to dig out of. Such extreme losses early for live cattle contracts especially were hard to figure after three weeks of active midweek fat trade (at steady to higher money) and the fact that boxed beef cutouts moved about $10 higher just last week.

Cattle futures took losses pretty much all week, managing to stay just either side of steady a couple days, but for the most part, the losses were severe. Order buyers were also watching a tremendous gain rally early in the week, and a volatile corn market never has a positive impact on cash feeder-cattle trade.

After the close on Friday, the cattle on feed report was neutral and the cold storage report was friendly. Cattle on feed as of April 1 were at 10,853,000 head, just shy of the pre-report estimate and 101 percent vs. a year ago.

Cattle on feed, April 1: report totals 101 percent, average guess 101 percent.

March placements: report totals 105 percent, average guess 107.5 percent.

March marketings: report totals 107 percent, average guess 106.5 percent.

Placements by weight class (expressed as a percent of previous year): Less than 600 pounds, 96 percent; 600-699 pounds, 100 percent; 700-799 pounds, 110 percent; more than 800 pounds, 107 percent.

March cold storage: Total poultry in freezers versus a year ago up 6 percent; total red meat in freezers versus a year ago down 6 percent; total beef in freezers versus a year ago down 3 percent at 466.99 million pounds vs. 491.5 expected; total pork in freezers versus a year ago down 9 percent at 614.15 million pounds vs. 613.5 expected.

For the week, Friday, April 15, to Friday, April 22, April live cattle were down $6.75, June was down $7.52, April feeders were down $7.12, May was down $8.10, August was down $9.52, May lean hogs were up $1.30 and June was up $1.20. Boxed Beef, Choice was down $4.82 at $220.31 and Select was down $5.04 at $210.69. Pork Carcass Cutout was up $.50 at $79.76.

Cattle slaughter from Friday was estimated at 112,000 head, up 16,000 from the week previous and up 8,000 compared to a year ago. Weekly totals were estimated at 587,000 head, up 39,000 compared to the week previous and compared to a year ago.

Hog slaughter from Friday was estimated at 421,000 head, down 4,000 from the week previous but up 10,000 from a year ago. Weekly totals were at 2,241,000 head, up 44,000 from the week previous and up 76,000 from a year ago.

We opened this week mixed but finally found some solid ground pushing live cattle $1 or more higher. Deferred feeders took a little bit longer to grab hold of the rally but finally did by late morning. The April contract was down hard on Monday, though closing the gap between the cash feeder index and the nearby contract that expires this Thursday.

Livestock Futures Settlements

Monday, April 25

• April live cattle up $.82 at $125.55, June up $1.95 at $116.60.

• April feeder cattle down $1.92 at $150.57, May up $.80 at $143.25, August up $1.15 at $143.25.

• May lean hogs down $.77 at $74.92, June down $.37 at $78.45.

In the grains, the reversal lower that began on Thursday continued with sharply lower futures on Friday. Soybeans continue to be the volatile leader pulling back 50 or more cents from their highs, yet still able to finish the week higher. Private estimates are rolling out calling the Argentine soybean crop three to five million metric tons lower now due to the heavy rains from the past few weeks.

Forecasts for this week, though, push that wet weather out of Argentina and into the dry areas of Brazil, helping their second corn crop. Volatility will continue this spring and summer. Spec margins for all grains have been raised by the CME more than 16 percent and expanded price limits will be raised next Monday.

For the week, Friday, April 15, to Friday, April 22, May corn was down $.06%, December was down $.07%, May soybeans were up $.31, November was up $.16%, May KC wheat was up $.04, July was up $.05%, May Chicago wheat was up $.07%, July was up $.06%.

Export inspections for the week ending April 21 were all at or above expectations. Corn shipments continue to be strong at 44.8 million bushels (MBU). Year-to-date shipments stand at 906.3 MBU with USDA's estimate for this marketing year at 1,650 MBU. The pace to hit that final number is shipments of 39.14 MBU per week until the end of August.

Soybean shipments remain low yet steady at 10.3 MBU. Only five percent of the total was shipped to China, and any additional business to China from now through August is seen as a bonus with Brazil and Argentina now feeding the giant.

Grain sorghum shipments totaled 6.5 MBU with year-to-date at 259.9 MBU vs. 256

MBU last year. USDA has the final estimate at 325 MBU compared to last year's 353 MBU. Wheat shipments totaled 14.9 MBU with year-to-date at 662.2 MBU vs. last year at this time at 763.1 MBU.

Grains started the week out a little slow with prices mixed overnight. After the open, though, corn actually pulled soybeans on Monday and then off to the races! Soybeans shot up $.30 with corn up $.12 by midday and pulled back into the day's range by the close. There is still not much new fundamental news as the funds continue to liquidate short positions, driving futures higher.

Grain Futures Settlements

Monday, April 25

• May corn up $.05% at $3.77, N/C December up $.06% at $3.87%.

• May soybeans up $.12% at $9.99%, N/C November up $.14% at $9.97%.

• May KC wheat up $.00% at $4.62%, N/C July up $.00% at $4.73%.

• May Chicago wheat up $.04% at $4.71%, N/C July up $.03% at $4.77%.

For Monday's Crop Progress and Conditions report, some feel that USDA missed some planting progress a week ago and are looking for a big jump this week. Corn planting progress came in at the low end of expectations at 30 percent, still ahead of the five-year average, though, at 16 percent.

Soybeans planted came in at expectations at three percent, while spring wheat jumped up to 42 percent, compared to 28 percent on the five-year average. Winter wheat conditions did improve but only by two percent to now 59 percent good to excellent but still well ahead of a year ago at 42 percent.

Rains moved through northeastern Kansas and the northern plains over the week-end with another system starting Tuesday over the northern plains that moves into most of the Midwest by Wednesday or Thursday that pushes heavy rains over the central plains and most of the Midwest. The six-to-10-day maps continue with above normal precipitation for most the U.S. and below normal temps for the Plains and Corn Belt.

May corn was able to poke through the $4 barrier last week before the reversal lower. Support is at the $3.70 area with resistance up at $4.02. May soybeans took out the high from last July at $10.34 and found support in the $9.75 to $9.80 area.

KC wheat contracts were pulled up for new highs this year but now find themselves back to within a dime of the contract lows. Chicago wheat futures pushed above highs from the past December and are now back within $.20 of the contract lows last month.

Mayetta Methodist

By Shirley Stauffer

The fifth Sunday of Easter, April 24, was a beautiful morning. Services at Mayetta Methodist Church began with Cody Smith ringing the bell and Cory Smith and friend, Victor, lighting the candles. Pastor Howard asked for prayers for the family of his cousin, who was killed in an automobile accident this past week.

Call to worship was from Romans 8:14-16. Hymns sung were "It Is Well With My Soul," "Stand Up, Stand Up for Jesus" and "Blessed Assurance." The special song by the congregation was "Amazing Grace." Shirley Stauffer read the Living Word of God from 2 Corinthians 3:18. Jonathan Wimer and David Oakley were the ushers for the offerings.

Pastor Howard shared the message of "Our Faith Family" with the children. His message was titled "Dedication To The Lord" based on 1 Kings 8:1-6, 10-11, 22-30 and 44-43. Services closed with the circle of friendship.

Kaylee Miller was honored by the Wichita State Shockers on Sunday for being in the top 10 percent of her class.

Rose and Shirley Stauffer attended a baby shower in honor of Laura (Mrs. Adam) Stauffer on Sunday, April 17.

Bud and Shirley Stauffer attended the wedding dinner and reception in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Chance Hug on Saturday evening.

June and Floyd Schlotter recently joined Gene and Brenda Hallauer, Virgil and Anna Jo Hallauer and Allen and Donna Hallauer and friend Debbie in Holton for lunch. What a joy it is to get together and to know how thankful we are for our family.

Karen Burns had lunch in Topeka on Saturday, April 16, with her daughter, Becky Neely, and Becky's children, Cordell, Aaron and Kacie. On Saturday afternoon, Karen attended a bridal shower for her granddaughter, Leanna Just, at the Auburn U.M.C.

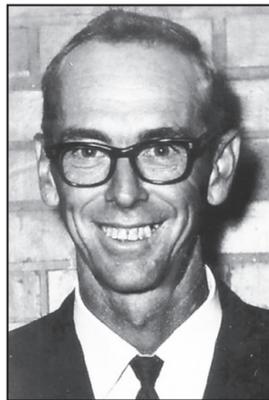

Kathleen Ramirez and Darrell Brown of Topeka helped their parents, June and Floyd Schlotter, with some yard work on Saturday. After lunch, they took in several garage sales and the library book sale in Holton.

Floyd and June Schlotter met with Ted and Elaine Hubach and Diana Keith on Tuesday in Mayetta for lunch. We always miss the ones who can't join us.

Bud and Shirley Stauffer attended the last two games of soccer for this season in Topeka last week. Their granddaughters, Aidan and Brenna, played. On Thursday evening, they visited in the Darrell and Mary Morgan home at Denison.

We wish to thank Kenny Jordan for filling in for Pastor Howard the Sunday of April 17. We always enjoy having Kenny and his wife with us.

Card Showers

Rey Morford

Rey Morford of Saint Marys will celebrate his 90th birthday on Thursday, May 5.

Cards will reach him in care of his daughter, Diana Dolezilek, at 615 Nebraska Ave., Holton, KS 66436.

Dorothy Porter

Dorothy Porter of Holton will celebrate her 95th birthday on Wednesday, May 4.

Cards may be sent to her at 100 New York Ave., Holton, KS 66436.

Thank You

The family of Evelyn Wagoner acknowledges with deep appreciation your kind expressions of sympathy. The memorials, cards, food and support of the great community where mother was so lucky to be a part of for 50 plus years. To all the neighbors in her neighborhood you are the best. The many friends, church family, and the circle who made her reception so beautiful we are so thankful. Our gratitude to the wonderful caring staff at Mercer Funeral Home. Thank you everyone from our hearts.

Chase ends with arrest

A six-mile chase through rural Jackson County east of Holton resulted in the arrest of a Horton woman on Tuesday, Jackson County Sheriff Tim Morse reported.

Stella Marie Mahkuk, 34, is being held at the Jackson County Detention Center on charges of felony fleeing and eluding, interference with law enforcement and "multiple traffic offenses" following Tuesday's chase, which reportedly began about four miles east of Holton that afternoon.

According to Morse, a deputy had been running radar near the intersection of Kansas Highway 116 and V Road when a west-bound 2003 Chevrolet Cavalier was reportedly clocked over the speed limit. The deputy was able to stop the Cavalier at the junction of K-116 and Kansas Highway 16, Morse said.

But shortly after the deputy got out of his vehicle to approach the driver, she reportedly sped off, heading south on K-16. Morse said the pursuit continued south to 210th Road, then back north to 214th Road.

Deputies were able to stop the Cavalier again by deploying three sets of "stop sticks," which flattened the vehicle's tires about half a mile east of Q Road on 214th, Morse said. The vehicle then came to a stop about half a mile east of U.S. Highway 75 on 214th, where Mahkuk was placed under arrest and then taken into custody.

Morse said bond on Mahkuk is pending at the present time.

Storm...

In Holton, Police Chief Gale Gakle said there were "some localized areas where the water got a little bit deep," but for the most part, floodwaters dissipated when the rain stopped.

The National Weather Service issued a statement on Monday warning that most of Kansas was in an area that had potential for "life-threatening, strong tornadoes" as well as damaging winds and large hail. Flooding was also likely with Tuesday's storm system, NWS officials stated.

The storm began to form in central Kansas shortly after 2:30 p.m., causing thunderstorm warnings to pop up along a line stretching from Concordia to Pittsburg. NWS noted that a tornado had been spotted near Bushong in northern Lyon County at about 3:25 p.m. and that another one had been spotted south of Manhattan in west central Wabaunsee County about 20 minutes later.

The board agreed to pay for the trip expenses for McAlister and Brenda Hainey, sponsors. Rooks will hold a fund-raiser to cover her expenses, it was reported.

* Received a legislative update from Rundle.

* Reviewed the plans for the RVHS commencement with Jim Holloman, RVHS principal. A total of 55 students are expected to graduate on Sunday, May 15.

* Learned that during the kindergarten roundup event, 64 kindergarten students enrolled in the district for next year. This is an increase from the past few years where kindergarten enrollment numbers have been in the 50s.

* Received a district health insurance update from Rundle. Renewal rate changes for next year will not be available to the board until the end of May or in early June, Rundle said.

* Accepted the quote of $2,940.12 from Claymore Tile to purchase new carpet tile for the agriculture lab room at RVHS.

The carpet will be installed by district employees.

* Discussed an offer from Mike Jewell to sell to the district land for the parking lot located to the east of the RV bus barn at a cost of $21,500.

The district currently rents the parking lot, which is located on Main Street in Mayetta, from Jewell for $175 a month.

During the board's last meeting, members discussed making the purchase out of next year's budget, and Rundle reported that pushing the closing date to July would not be a problem for Jewell.

storm came through early Tuesday morning, causing minor damages in some parts of the area, including downed tree limbs. At about 6:40 a.m., NWS issued a severe thunderstorm warning for northeastern Jackson and Brown counties that lasted for about an hour.

Morse said some trees in northern Jackson County were knocked over by Tuesday's early morning storm and were moved from rural roadways by county road and bridge personnel. Gakle added that in Holton, there were some intersections that flooded temporarily but cleared once the rain stopped.

More rain thunderstorms were expected to move through the Jackson County area this morning and afternoon, and more rain is forecast to move into the area late Friday and early Saturday. See the local weather forecast on Page 2 of today's Recorder for more information.

The board members were in agreement with the purchase, and Rundle said the purchase will be included as part of official action items on the agenda for the board's next meeting.

* Accepted coach resignations from Nathan McAlister as a middle school basketball coach and Joe Baumchen as the high school volleyball coach.

* Met in executive session for 15 minutes to discuss non-elected personnel with Rundle, Pfrang and Noah Slay, elementary school principal.

Back in open session, the board approved all other classified employee contracts not previously acted upon and agreed to hire Deb Cochran as food service staff at the middle school in Mayetta.

The board also agreed to hire Andrew Gower as a math teacher at the middle school and Tammy Swaim as an elementary school secretary. A coaching contract was also offered to Gary Armstrong for high school volleyball.

* Adjourned the meeting. All board members were present.
