

Roy family's 4-H tradition spans more than 80 years

By Brian Sanders

For more than eight decades, Rodney Roy of Hoyt and his family have supported and participated in 4-H activities, both in Roy's native Illinois and here in Jackson County, where Roy, wife Vicki and their two children relocated in the mid-1980s.

But it's the Roy family's 4-H work in Jackson County that has led to Rodney and Vicki Roy being chosen to lead this year's Jackson County Fair Parade, set to take off around Holton's Town Square at 6 p.m. this Wednesday, as grand marshals.

It's an honor that the Roys initially believed they didn't deserve, Rodney said, because he and his family are "transplants." But the fact that the Roy family has been given such a welcome into the Jackson County community, Vicki added, serves as a testament to the people of the county.

"We were honored that they thought about us, truly honored," Vicki said. "There are other people who would deserve it as much, because they do more. But we're honored that they would ask us. We certainly believe in the fair, we believe in 4-H and we will continue to support it. We still enjoy it."

The Roy family tradition of supporting 4-H began in the late 1930s and early 1940s when Rodney's grandparents, Nate and Clara Feicke started the 3-F 4-H club in the central Illinois community of Heyworth, where their daughter, Francis — Rodney's mother — showed Horned Herefords.

At the same time in the Heyworth area, Everett and Emma Roy supported their sons — including Rodney's father, Edward — in raising and showing Poland China hogs, achieving success at open shows near their home and at the Illinois State Fair.

"My grandfather (Nate Feicke) was in charge of the livestock side, and my grandmother on the other side (Emma Roy) taught the girls sewing," Rodney said. "Back in those days, we met at people's houses. We didn't meet at the community center or the church or the town hall or the grange... That's quite different from what it is today."

His 4-H experiences began in McClain County in Illinois, at the age of 10.

"Back then, you couldn't start in 4-H until you were 10 years old," he said. "That would have been 1959."

In the 1960s, Rodney and his two siblings were successfully showing Angus cattle, Suffolk and Southdown sheep and Yorkshire hogs in their hometown, Winnebago, in northern Illinois. Rodney also participated in 4-H and FFA judging teams that experienced varying degrees of success.

Meanwhile, Vicki was growing up in the north central Illinois community of Rockford, but did not participate in FFA.

"I was born and raised in town," she said.

She and Rodney met on a blind date arranged by mutual friends in the area.

"Our friends didn't end up getting married," Vicki said. "But we did!"

Soon after their marriage in 1968 came two children, Mickie and Joseph, who followed in their father's footsteps by showing Southdown and Cheviot sheep and Angus cross steers with the Winnebago Wide Awakes 4-H club. During this time, Rodney encouraged the kids to take their own responsibility for their 4-H projects, both in terms of labor and finance.

Holton mill levy for 2019 proposed

■ Hearing on next year's budget slated for start of Aug. 6 meeting

A three-mill increase in the Holton city budget for 2019 has been proposed by the Holton City Commission, which will hold a public hearing on the proposed budget at 7 p.m. Monday, Aug. 6, prior to the commission's next regular meeting.

The mill levy increase includes a mill for the Beck-Bookman Library, which had been receiving a five-mill special levy from the city. That levy was increased to six mills at the city commission's July 2 meeting, it was reported.

Based on a 1.99-percent increase in the city's assessed valuation from 2017 to 2018, a mill is expected to generate $21,345 for the city in the coming year for a proposed budget authority of $11,885,520.

One mill raised $20,929 in the previous year, it was reported.

The 2019 levy — up from the 2018 levy of 57.732 mills — is proposed to generate $1,296,703 in local taxes on an assessed valuation of $21,345,712, while the 2018 levy generated $1,208,295 on an assessed valuation of $20,929,211 — a local tax increase of $88,408 with an assessed valuation increase of $416,501, it was reported.

In comparison, from the year before, the 2018 levy generated $70,378 more in local taxes than the 2017 levy of 58.132 mills which generated $1,137,917 in local taxes based on an assessed valuation of $19,556,913, it was reported.

For the owner of a home in Holton with an average assessed value of $86,000, the annual increase in the tax bill on the 12 horses removed from farm near Hoyt

By Ali Holcomb

A dozen horses — some found to be without access to adequate water — were removed from a farm near Hoyt recently, according to Jackson County Sheriff Tim Morse.

Last Monday, July 16, a local veterinarian and members of the Jackson County Sheriff's Office visited a property located near T and 134th Roads, where they found that some of the horses were living in poor conditions.

Three stallions and a gelding were found being held in stalls that were "like dog runs," Morse said.

"They didn't have adequate water, and the heat index was about 101 degrees that day,"

Morse said. "We decided to impound those animals based on medical consultation, as well as eight other horses that weren't thriving very well for a variety of reasons."

Morse said that the sheriff's office has received multiple complaints for more than a year about poor conditions on the property.

According to Morse, law enforcement and an area veterinarian have visited the property "several times" to check on the horses, but the veterinarians found no cause to remove the animals.

"We've tried to work with the

Ladner, Kathrens seeking commission post

By Ali Holcomb

Two Republicans — incumbent Rob Ladner of Holton and Ed Kathrens of Circleville — are seeking the first district seat on the Jackson County Commission. The Aug. 7 primary election will determine the winner of this position as no other candidates are seeking this seat.

Kathrens, 61, held this position on the commission from 2011-2014 and, as a Democrat, lost to Ladner, 62, in the 2014 election, 866 votes to 825 votes.

The District One commission represents the Cedar, Garfield, Grant, Jefferson, Netawaka, Soldier and Whiting townships, as well as the cities of Circleville, Denison, Mayetta, Netawaka, Soldier and Whiting, it was reported.

Ed Kathrens

A lifelong resident of Jackson County, Kathrens graduated from Jackson Heights High School and has been self-employed in the conservation field for 39 years. He served four years in the U.S. Navy as an equipment operator for the Seabees.

Kathrens was a school board member for Jackson Heights USD 335 for six years in addition to his four years serving as county commissioner. He and his wife, Barb, have five children.

"I would like to see our tax dollars put to better use," Kathrens said of his motivation to seek the position. "If elected,

I would like to bring the wasteful spending of tax dollars to a halt."

Kathrens said his background in business will help him serve as county commissioner.

"I have been self-employed for nearly 40 years, so I know how and where to spend. We need to take care of the county's needs and lay off all the wants," he said. "I'm honest, hard-working and I care about the future of Jackson County."

Rob Ladner

Ladner, who has lived in Jackson County for 16 years, is completing his first four-year term on the commission.

He graduated from Kansas State University with a degree in natural resource management in 1979. He worked for the Kansas Department of Wildlife and Parks for 36 years as a game warden and retired as a captain working in the Region 2 office in Topeka.

"I am running for re-election to continue the progress we have made in the last four years," Ladner said. "We have 118 county employees that serve our citizens every day that deserve our support. I want to continue to maintain a balanced budget and do what is best for Jackson County."

If re-elected, Ladner said he would like to continue chip-and-seal work on 254th Road from Circleville to Kansas Highway 62.

"I believe there should be a decent road for students and families to travel to and from Jackson Heights schools. This would also help as an improved roadway for ambulance and other emergencies services," he said. "We are currently working on 254th Road from T to W Roads, and chip-and-seal starts next year. This will help those residences in Whiting and Straight Creek Townships with an improved roadway to Jackson Heights as well. We also need to look at a route from Denison to Mayetta."

Ladner said that the commissioners and road and bridge department staff are looking at "replacing aging vehicles and equipment."

"We have a great staff in our road and bridge department, and they must have equipment that functions properly and safely to do the job," he said. "Frequent and costly repair work does not save the county money."

Ladner said the current commissioners are in the beginning stages of bringing back the Neighborhood Revitalization program in order to provide tax incentives for private and commercial development.

They also hope to renew the county's .4 percent retailer's sales tax.

"This tax runs on a seven-year cycle, and it is needed to accomplish road projects in our county," he said. "Our nine cities also receive benefit from this sales tax."

Ladner said he would like to see a community building at Banner Creek Reservoir.

"Friends of Banner Creek is raising monies, and with local support, hopefully this will happen with minimal county dollars," he said.

Ladner said that in addition to his four years on the commission, his career working for the state has given him the experience and training to work with personnel, budgets, purchasing and inventories.

"I believe my experience with law enforcement and emergency management at the state level has helped me maintain a positive relationship with our sheriff and sheriff's office staff, emergency management staff and other first responders," he said.

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Presented by
Kanza Mental Health & Guidance Center

Ryan Smalley, LMLP

DEALING WITH A NERVOUS STOMACH

A "nervous stomach" is a condition with symptoms (nausea, bloating) that mimic those of gastrointestinal conditions (such as irritable bowel syndrome, Crohn's disease, ulcerative colitis, or gastroenteritis), but is caused by emotion. As nerve endings in the stomach respond to stress hormones from the brain as part of the "fight-or-flight" response, the stomach receives a signal to slow down so that blood can be diverted to the heart, lungs, and muscles. The stress that triggers a feeling of "butterflies" in the stomach or even the urge to vomit may be caused by financial problems, an upcoming event, relationship problems, the death of a loved one, or moving. Sessions with a therapist can help a person with a nervous stomach better cope with stress.

P.S. While people often refer to irritable bowel syndrome (IBS) as a nervous stomach, a person can have a nervous stomach without having IBS, the symptoms of which occur consistently for at least 3 months and often improve with dietary and lifestyle changes.

Given how closely the gut and brain interact, it's not hard to understand why you might feel nauseated or feel intestinal pain during times of stress. Studies show that patients who tried psychologically based approaches had greater improvement in their digestive symptoms compared with patients who received only conventional medical treatment. We offer a wide array of services that includes mental rehabilitation services for children, youth, and adults. Please call our office to schedule an appointment.

Week of July 22-28, 2013

The birthday of Joe Tinker, a Major League Baseball Hall of Famer, will be celebrated Saturday, July 27, in Tinker's birthplace of Muscotah, it has been reported. The day's activities include an on-the-spot painting of a historical baseball mural, a vintage baseball game and decorating the "world's largest baseball," a converted water tower tank dedicated to Tinker.

This summer, thanks to the combined efforts of Marvin Keehn and Joe Schneider, a triathlon will take place at Banner Creek Reservoir, it has been reported. According to Schneider, this idea has been in the works since the LifeCare Fitness Center was located on Fifth Street in Holton.

Questions To Ask Your Financial Advisor

You should always be able to ask as many questions as you'd like when working with your financial advisor. So, before you have your annual review, think carefully about what you'd like to ask. Here are a few suggestions:

Shannon Wright

• Are my goals still realistic? When you first began working with your financial advisor, you may well have articulated a number of financial goals. For example, you might have said that you wanted to pay for most of your children's college educations or that you wanted to travel for two months each year during your retirement. In fact, you could have many different goals for which you're saving and investing. When you meet with your financial advisor, you'll certainly want to ask if you're still on track toward meeting these goals. If you are, you can continue with the financial strategies you've been following; but if you aren't, you may need to adjust them.

• Am I taking on too much – or too little – risk? The financial markets always fluctuate, and these movements will affect the value of your investment portfolio. If you watch the markets closely every day and track their impact on your investments, you may find yourself fretting considerably over your investments' value and wondering if you are taking on too much investment risk for your comfort level. Conversely, if you think that during an extended period of market gains your own portfolio appears to be lagging, you might feel that you should be investing more aggressively, which entails greater risk. In any case, it's important that you know your own risk tolerance and use it as a guideline for making investment choices – so it's definitely an issue to discuss with your financial advisor.

• How will changes in my life affect my investment strategy? Your life is not static. Over time, you may experience any number of major events, such as marriage, children, new jobs and so on. When you meet with your financial advisor, you will want to discuss these types of changes, because they can affect your long-term goals and, consequently, your investment decisions.

• How are external forces affecting my investment portfolio? Generally speaking, you will want to create an investment strategy that's based on your goals, risk tolerance and time horizon. And, as mentioned above, you may need to adjust your strategy based on changes in your life. But should you also make changes based on outside forces, such as interest rate movements, political events, new legislation or news affecting industries in which you have invested substantially? Try not to make long-term investment decisions based on short-term news. Yet, talk with your financial advisor to make sure your investment portfolio is not out of alignment with relevant external factors.

By making these and other inquiries, you can help yourself stay informed on our overall investment picture and what moves, if any, you should make to keep advancing toward your goals. A financial advisor is there to provide you with valuable expertise – so take full advantage of it.

IRS scams reported

The Jackson County Sheriff's Office continues to receive complaints from citizens about an ongoing IRS scam, according to Jackson County Sheriff Tim Morse.

The scammer who calls will typically state to the victim an immediate need to pay uncollected taxes and may threaten to have the sheriff arrest the victim if they don't pay them, Morse said.

"There are a variety of similar scams that try to create hysteria for the victim. Scammers may state they are from a law enforcement agency and that the victim or a family member is in danger of being arrested on a warrant," Morse said. "These are all scams and are an attempt to bully people out of their money. IRS scammers like to demand immediate payment via a debit card or a money wire transfer."

Morse said callers will "spoof" their phone calls to make it appear on people's caller I.D. as if it is coming from a legitimate source.

"The IRS will not call you demanding immediate payment and will send you a bill by mail and allow you to appeal the amount owed if desired," Morse said. "The IRS will never provide you with a specified method of payment for the amount owed. Don't be surprised if they have information about you to make them appear legitimate."

People who receive a scam call, are advised not to provide the caller with any information and to hang up.

"Many of these calls originate from foreign countries, and it is nearly impossible for victims to ever retrieve their money," he said.

County fairs bring us all together

It's Jackson County Fair Week! While the 2018 4-H horse show and 4-H dog show, and some other fair activities, are already in the books, the bulk of the fair activities take place this week.

Few of our community events bring us all together better than the county fair. From cooking and baking to sewing and woodworking to livestock and poultry, there's something for everyone to show interest in and support at our county fairs.

Sixty to seventy years ago and more, the county fairs in Kansas were just as important then as they are today. Times and dates were set aside from the busy agricultural summer work days and everyone got together to celebrate the blessings of good harvest, good family and friends and good community.

In those pre-tractor days, the summer harvests at each farm were neighborhood events with all the families pitching in to help each other. Stationary threshing machines and stationary balers were taken farm to farm. The work with horses was hard, the food shared was great and you really got to know your neighbors very well.

Though times have changed and the farm work has evolved with modern machinery and computers, the importance of getting together with your neighbors is still an important part of the fabric of our Kansas heritage. We celebrate that heritage at the county fairs! See you there!

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear editor,
Hello from the chicken coup. It's been a long time. Freedom of speech doesn't guarantee job security or good political standing.

I read through The Holton Recorder story about the candidates for jobs in Washington D.C.

I didn't read where any wanted the health care you get if you got a job in D.C. to be the same as the citizens that would be voting for them.

I didn't read where any wanted the job to have term limits like the president's job.

I didn't read any solution for people being here illegally, or a solution to improve the process to become legal.

I didn't read anything about shopping local, keeping America, Kansas, Holton, dollars here where you live.

I didn't read anything about tax reduction, 28 percent income tax, spend all your money 9 percent, property tax 10 percent give or take, gas or luxury items common core math says 50 percent of household income goes out for taxes.

I couldn't read if they were for a nation with capitalism, communism, socialism or fascism.

I didn't read how we can get back to family, instead of schools and daycares raising generations of kids.

I thought it was interesting that most of the candidates, during their working careers, have received their income from taxpayers.

It's looking like a step up to go to D.C. is be there, do nothing for four years or more and then get healthcare and pension for life. I didn't read anything to change that.

I hope that all you that can vote do.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear editor,
These are certainly exciting, and too often, perilous times in which we live. Breaking news is a constant thing. Every once in a while there is good news, like the soccer team being found and rescued in Thailand. That was great!

Much of the news, of course, is about President Donald Trump, and news about the Donald is usually controversial. There are two reasons for this. Number one, President Trump is an atypical president, just like he was an atypical politician. Archie Bunker has come to the White House!

Like Archie, Donald is a senior who is set in his ways and very outspoken. There is no nuance with Trump. He just gets with it. That's a big reason why he was elected. Lots of people liked what he was saying, and his high energy combative style convinced them that he would do what he said.

Number two, Trump is swimming upstream (without fear) against a tidal wave of resistance. Too much of this country has either went far left or is headed there, and since some moderators are never-Trumpers, they also are on the same wrong side.

There is a very weird mob of radicals, Democrats, liberals, globalists, Republican elites, socialists, various fringe groups, communists and etc. led of course by the mainstream media, which is overwhelmingly anti-Trump.

With the MSM, Trump is never right. When Trump called the North Korean leader "Rocket Man," he was wrong, and when Trump talked nice about the same guy, Trump was wrong again. Whatever.

Trump is going to be Trump.

Thankfully, he is not all tweet and no action. He has already had an impact on the Supreme Court, and he's not through.

The Supreme Court is important, but most cases never get there. Most cases go no further than the federal courts, whose judges also serve for life. Trump is having great success appointing Constitution-focused judges despite Democrat obstruction.

The Trump administration is rolling back many economy-killing regulations. Trump is definitely business-friendly - he understands that a robust economy is key to a great America.

To that point, I am concerned that Trump is taking on too much at one time. Tariffs can turn into trade wars. We definitely have to deal with China, but maybe not as strict with Canada and Mexico. The U.K. and Europe have to be dealt with, too. Trump is determined to get rid of, or greatly improve, bad trade deals. There could be short-term pain.

Trump inherited decades-old problems with illegal immigration and North Korea. In both cases, success will likely be slow, maybe not at all, with North Korea.

Communists are not to be trusted. If it was only North Korea to deal with, it could be done, but China and Russia both border North Korea. They don't want a democracy next door.

Trump rightly withdrew the U.S. from the Paris Agreement, which would have cost us $3 trillion, cost millions of jobs, destroyed our coal industry and would have resulted in minimal change in the climate by the year 2100.

All international agreements have high expectations for us, and low expectations for everybody else. Much of the world is

Duck boat accident: Another lesson of bad judgement

By Glenn Mollette
I've thought about taking a Duck boat ride and I'm glad I passed.

Thirty-one people including 29 passengers had boarded the Duck boat ride vehicle for a joy ride on Table Rock Lake outside Branson, Mo., last week.

It became the last ride that 17 of the passengers would ever make.

Torrential weather turned the lake into a rollercoaster ride that became more than the Duck boat could handle.

Media clips have shown the stress the World War II type amphibious vehicle and people were under. The raging lake overtook them sending many of them to their watery graves.

We are filled with horror, grief and have wailed about how such a tragedy happened?

Where was the precaution? Where were the lifejackets? Why do these stupid boats have canopies on them? Mostly we have asked in bewilderment, "Why were they out in that perilous storm?"

Where was the sound mind of management? Where were the instincts of the driver? And, what about the commonsense of the people to have delayed their ride until better weather?

Tourist attractions every summer are under pressure to make as much as they can while they can.

Kids go back to school in August and so do the family dollars. Management pushes employees to do all they can, as each day's receipts are vital to the yearly budget.

On the same token, tourists crowd places like Branson. Vacationers are there usually a short time and crowd venues that offer rides and shows.

State agencies cannot be everywhere and monitor every activity but the Branson Duck incident cries out for better surveillance and stricter rules at such places and such providers of entertainment.

No one in Missouri wants to step up and claim they were in charge of the oversight of this vehicle.

The U.S. Coast Guard has said that it sets limited parameters on the vessel such as requiring a certificate of inspection and authorizing routes but after that has little involvement with them.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration regulates their travel on the road but hasn't had much to say in regards to this latest disaster or banning them from the highways.

Hindsight is always better and I doubt if too many people will board Duck boat rides the rest of this summer. Yet, over and again tourist type attractions have the ability to end in disaster.

About 20 years ago, the Duck boat named the Miss Majestic sunk to the bottom of a Lake Hamilton in Hot Springs, Ark., killing 13 people.

In 2015, five students were killed in a Duck boat collision with a bus in Seattle. There have been two incidents in Philadelphia and one in Boston were 28-year-old Allison War-muth was fatally run over by a Duck boat in April 2016.

Vacationers have to make commonsense calls.

Someone has to stop and ask, "Is this ride safe?" Or consider that, "Maybe the weather conditions are not conducive to duck riding, zip lining or parasailing over the ocean today."

Every day somewhere, someone will be hurt doing something trying to have fun. People will be killed driving cars and riding airplanes. This is one of the reasons we have laws and rules in regards to trains, planes and automobiles. They can be very dangerous when not used with good judgment.

The tragic accident involving the Duck boat ride in Branson was another tragic lesson in serious bad judgment.

INSIGHT: Wheat foods provide fiber in our diets

By John Schlageck

While the 2018 wheat harvest remains fresh in the minds of Kansans, it's worth remembering civilization has been directly linked to the cultivation of grain.

When primitive man first learned he could grow wheat during the summer, store it for winter food and use the leftover wheat to plant in the spring, he realized he could settle in one place.

Villages and towns followed as man no longer needed to follow game and forage for food. Anthropologists speculate that primitive man probably first chewed the raw wheat kernel before he learned to pound it into flour and mix it with water to make porridge.

About 10,000 years B.C., man first started eating a crude form of flat bread baked with flour and water. Since that early beginning, wheat has become known as the staff of life. It has remained a staple in our diets in this country and around the world.

During this year when the Kansas wheat crop will be one of the smallest on record, it seems only fitting to take a closer look at this healthy food source.

For many, our day begins with a slice or two of bread made from wheat. Some people continue to eat wheat in snacks or some other form, throughout the day.

Still, most Americans rarely eat more than four or five servings of bread, cereal, rice and pasta foods each day. The daily recommended intake is six to 11 servings according to U.S. dietary guidelines.

Today's well-informed consumer continues to understand the importance of increasing the consumption of whole grains. The convenience and nutrition of wheat makes it a natural for our fast-paced society. Wheat snacks come in an endless variety bound to please nearly every palate.

Wheat consists mainly of complex carbohydrates that provide a source of time-released energy. The nutrition community recommends 45-65 percent of our daily calories come from carbohydrates.

Nutritionists also advise eating no more than 20-35 percent of our calories from fats and approximately 10-35 percent of our calories from protein.

Wheat foods provide fiber in our diets. Fiber is the carbohydrate in food that humans cannot digest. Fiber acts as a broom and sweeps out the digestive tract.

Eating fiber regularly helps with fewer incidences of colon cancer and some types of heart diseases. Sufficient amounts of fiber in our diet have been related to better control of diabetes and an overall healthy colon, according to nutritionists.

Research also suggests eating wheat bran may help prevent breast cancer.

Wheat foods are good sources of fiber as are fruits and vegetables. The American Dietetic Association recommends eating 20-35 grams of fiber daily. Americans usually consume only about 12 grams.

Kansans use hard red winter wheat in yeast breads and hard rolls. This state also produces the best flours in the world.

Commissioners...

Ladner said he has "no hidden agenda" for seeking office. "I believe to be a successful commissioner you must be committed to the job and participate in your community. I have also been working the last four years to build relationships with our schools, city and community leaders," he said. "We need to work together with our local partners. I am a taxpayer like you, and we commissioners need to spend monies wisely and conserve when possible while still providing the necessary services which our public expects and demands." Ladner said Jackson County has no debt, and for the last four years, the commission has maintained a balanced budget, and "we pay as we go."

"I have been successful in having four months of chip-and-seal road projects approved for district one since I have been in office. My opponent has not," he said. "District one comprises 50 percent of the county, and we deserve our fair share of .4 percent sale tax monies be spent in our district. I will continue to fight for these projects. I am the only Republican candidate who has not changed political parties for this election."

In addition to serving on the commission, Ladner has served as a board member for NEK Community Action Program (four years), NEK Multi-County Health Department (four years), Friends of Banner Creek and volunteered for Quilts of Valor (four years), Jackson County Sheriff's Office Day Camp (four-plus years) and the Jackson County Conservation District Agriculture and Water Science Day (three years).

He and his wife, Sherri, have six children, nine grandchildren, two dogs and three cats.

city's side will be about $30, or $2.50 per month, in 2019, it was reported. For the owner of a home valued at $100,000, the annual difference rises to about $35. The commission has made efforts to keep the mill levy below the rate of inflation in the past decade, noting that the city's mill levy has increased at an annual compounded growth rate of 0.98 percent since 2011 while inflation has increased 1.67 percent.
As a result, the proposed 2019 mill levy is about 3.5 mills lower than it could have been. Overland Park auditor Mike Peroo told commissioners at their July 16 meeting.
A copy of the proposed 2019 budget appears on Page 9 of today's Holton Recorder.

Thank You
The family of Eldon O. Burke would like to express their sincerest gratitude for the excellent, loving care that he received during his stay at Medicalodges this last year and a half. Every employee there, in all departments, treated him with genuine concern and with the utmost respect, while meeting his needs in a timely manner. He was always treated like a family member rather than a business commodity. We were truly blessed when we made the decision to place him in Medicalodges Jackson County!
Thank you from all the Burke family!

Modern Worship
This Saturday, July 28th: 7 - 8 PM
Worship service to be held At: the Annex
(the old Soldier Methodist Church- In Soldier, KS)
This Saturday night Kick off Holy Week right!!! Join us for an awesome hour of modern praise and worship. This isn't a church service, It's just a bunch of people getting together to give God praise, as one community of faith, as one body of Christ. We don't care what church you go to or if you don't currently go to church, come over and join us. Old or Young, worship is for all ages. We offer communion if you want, and we usually have what we call the "5 Minute Message" (always encouraging!) but we don't take up an offering or anything like that. This is truly just a bunch of people that want to worship and find encouragement in each other and give their heart to God in worship. If you love Jesus, then come worship with us. It may well be the best hour of your week!

“Stay Strong, Stay Healthy” program set

By Nancy C. Nelson
Meadowlark Extension
District Agent

The Kansas State Research and Extension “Stay Strong, Stay Healthy” program gets people moving. Our bodies are made for activity, but modern conveniences allow us to be increasingly inactive. Physical inactivity can place our health at risk for many chronic diseases.

The class will meet for one-hour sessions, twice a week for eight weeks at the Jackson County Courthouse meeting room, located on the first floor, in Holton. The class will be on Tuesday and Thursday, 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. beginning Aug. 14.

Pre-registration is required. Class size is limited. Registration forms and information available at the Meadowlark Extension District-Holton office, 114 W. 5th St., Holton, KS 66436, telephone (785) 364-4125.

This eight-week program is based on simple, strength-building exercises that will improve balance and flexibility. Building strength promotes quality of life and independence, especially for adults over age 60, which is the target audience of this program.

These exercises are easy to learn, safe and effective. All of the equipment is provided. The program is offered at minimal cost, $20, and starts at different times of the year, depending on location. Classes have been held in Delia, Ozawie, Seneca and Grantville.

“Stay Strong, Stay Healthy” originated at Tufts University and was initially designed for women. The University of Missouri adapted it for men and women. K-State Research & Extension is using the University of Missouri Extension adapted program.

Buck's Grove Church

By Betty Bernitter

July 22, 2018 was a beautiful cool morning to worship at Buck's Grove United Methodist Church.

Theresa Rieschick provided the recorded music as Mary Ringle lighted the altar candles.

Lay Pastor Charlotte Milroy welcomed all and led the call to Worship, opening prayer and Psalter, Psalm 89. Pastor Charlotte read scripture 2 Samuel 7:1-14a and Ephesians 2:11-12.

With Theresa's help, the congregation sang hymns: "Morning Has Broken," "Lift Up Your Heads, Ye Mighty Gates" and "Blessed Assurance."

Theresa and Wayne Rieschick's special was "A Special Grocery List" read by Theresa.

Gospel reading was Mark 6:30-34, 53-56. Pastor Charlotte chose "Compassion" for the title of her sermon. To say that Jesus means compassion is to say that He knows what we need before we ask.

We, on the other hand often are so distracted by the cares and concerns of life here that we cannot begin to fathom that we need a Good Shepherd now. We need Jesus to save us from ourselves. We need Jesus to save us from those that would lead us astray like a bunch of lost sheep. We need Jesus to do more for us than what we hope or imagine that He ought to do in any given situation.

Let us take Jesus and His disciples as our models in learning and teaching, in growing closer to Christ, in seeing Him and His way more clearly and thereby loving Him more dearly and following Him more closely.

The offertory prayer was recited as Leroy Rieschick and Wayne Rieschick collected the offerings.

The service closed by singing, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

Next Sunday being fifth Sunday, Circleville UMC is invited to brunch at 9:15 with service at 10 a.m. at Buck's Grove.

Mayetta Methodist Church

By Shirley Stauffer

Church services at Mayetta Methodist Church on July 22, the ninth Sunday after Pentecost, began with Pastor Howard reading from Psalms 103, followed by prayer. It was great to have Pastor Howard back in the pulpit after his vacation.

Announcements included that the church will be collecting school supplies the next two weeks for Tools for School. Please bring school supplies to church no later than Aug. 5 so they can get them delivered to Holton. The quarterly board meeting has been re-scheduled for 11:45 a.m. on Aug. 5.

Concerns were expressed for the ones involved in the Branson boat tragedy. Karen asked for continued prayers for her niece.

Bud Stauffer was our acolyte and Randy Rickel rang the bell. Karen Burns read the Living Word of God from 1 Peter 5:7. Hymns sung Sunday were "Blessed Assurance," "Just As I Am, Without One Plea" and "My Faith Looks Up To Thee." The special was "Open My Eyes That I May See." Randy Rickel took up the offering.

Pastor Howard shared the Word of God from 1 Kings 17:8-16 and his sermon was titled "Emptying The Vessels." We closed with prayer and the circle of friendship.

Karen Burns shared that she had a lunch and a wonderful visit on Tuesday, July 17, with family in Topeka. Those present were her sister-in-law, Janice Brenner of Hot Springs, Ark., her nieces, Virginia Stambaugh and Mona Ridley, and her sister, Elva Shepherd of Topeka.

Bud and Shirley Stauffer attended the Circleville Class of 1956 summer picnic in Holton on Saturday.

Lisa, Kevin and Karsen Smith and Mary Anderson went to Valley Falls on Friday night for supper at Stewart's Old Store Smokehouse Restaurant. They enjoyed the meal and time together.

Mary Anderson was in Topeka on Monday to attend the monthly meeting of the 21 Book Club held at Perkins Restaurant.

Sharon Gabriel went to Lawrence Saturday afternoon to the Lawrence Arts Center to attend the summer theater camp play. Her granddaughter, Gabriel Spray, played Maid Marian in "The Trials Of Robin Hood."

June Schlodder and her daughter, Kathy Ramirez, attended the Holton Community Theatre production of "Annie" on Sunday afternoon, July 15. A very talented cast of young people made it very enjoyable.

93rd Jackson County Fair now under way

By Brian Sanders
It's fair time in Jackson County!

Final preparations are being made for the 93rd-annual Jackson County Fair, the bulk of which will be held this week at the Northeast Kansas Heritage Complex south of Holton.

As always, the fair will feature a vast array of exhibits from the county's 4-H youth organizations, ranging from livestock to foods to wood-working to clothing to rocketry. There's also the fair parade, which will be led by longtime fair supporters Rodney and Vicki Roy as grand marshals (see related story).

The only difference at this year's fair is that there won't be a carnival, it was reported. The Jackson County Fair Board was unable to secure an amusement firm at a reasonable price for the week of the fair, but there will be a Jackson County Fall Carnival at the Heritage Complex for three nights starting Thursday, Aug. 16.

Evening programs and events have been scheduled to fill the hole left by the lack of a fair carnival, it has been reported.

Some of the fair's events, such as the horse and dog shows, have already been held, and photos and results from those shows — along with other upcoming shows at this year's fair — will be documented in The Holton Recorder's annual fair section, to be published following the conclusion of this year's fair.

The remainder of this year's fair schedule, subject to change, is as follows:

■ Monday, July 23: 4-H meat goat and sheep show, 5 p.m.; 4-H food auction, 6 p.m.; Farm Bureau Kiddie Tractor Pull, 7 p.m.; and Farm Bureau annual business meeting, 9 p.m.

■ Tuesday, July 24: 4-H swine show, 8:30 a.m.; Ambassador spin-the-wheel (barn), 11 a.m.; Holton Recorder photos of champion exhibits, 3 p.m.; bucket calf conference judging, 3 p.m.; 4-H bucket calf and beef show, 5 p.m.; and livestock intent to sell deadline, 10 p.m.

■ Wednesday, July 25: rabbits judged, 8 a.m.; dairy goats and dairy cattle judged, 9 a.m.; Animals On Parade and pet show, 10 a.m.; Ambassador spin-the-wheel (barn), 11 a.m.; Barnyard Olympics with 4-H Ambassadors, 2 p.m.; fair parade, 6 p.m.; adult round robin showmanship, 8 p.m.; and 4-H Style Revue and presentation of building awards, 8:30 p.m., followed by karaoke with Daren and Randy.

■ Thursday, July 26: Ambassador spin-the-wheel (barn), 8:30 a.m.; livestock judging contest, 9 a.m.; 4-H round robin showmanship, 12:30 p.m.; set-up for livestock sale, 2 p.m.; check out livestock going home, 2:30 p.m.; 4-H and open class exhibit check-out from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m.; and livestock sale (hogs, sheep, goats and beef), 6 p.m.

■ Friday, July 27: clean-up, 9 a.m. (all clubs must be present).

For more information, call Jackson County's Meadowlark District Extension office at 364-4125.

BCBS accepting applications for "Healthy Habits for Life" grants

Applications are now available at bcbsks.com/hhfl so school nurses, teachers and administrators may apply for a "Healthy Habits for Life" grant to help their students reduce their cardiovascular risk, increase their physical activity or learn healthy eating habits, it has been reported.

The Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kansas Foundation is making up to $150,000 in Healthy Habits for Life grants available for school-based programs delivered during 2019. The deadline to submit an application is Oct. 5.

Since its creation in 2006, the "Healthy Habits for Life" grant program has awarded more than $1.32 million through nearly 1,400 grants. School personnel have used past grant dollars for a wide array of programs focused on instilling life-long habits. Some grantees have invested in equipment for physical education classes, nutritional and wellness curriculum or pedometers for walking programs. Others have built gardens, organized health fairs or given students opportunities to taste healthy new foods.

"Kansas children are so lucky to have teachers and administrators who care about more than just their academic success, but also about their overall health and well-being," said Marlou Wegener, chief operating officer of the BCBSKS Foundation. "School is where children spend the vast majority of their time, so our schools are an ideal place for children to learn those healthy habits that will last them a lifetime.

Wegener encourages school nurses, physical education, health and family and consumer science teachers, athletics directors, principals and other school administrators to visit bcbsks.com/hhfl for a program overview, application and tip sheet. Only one application per school will be accepted, so Wegener also encourages teachers and administrators to collaborate.

"School personnel are on the front line in the on-going campaign to end childhood obesity in Kansas, and the BCBSKS Foundation is proud to support their efforts by providing financial assistance for programs that will make a difference," Wegener said. "What a powerful message students will receive when they see several of their teachers working together on a program to benefit all of them."

"Healthy Habits for Life" grants are available in the service area of the BCBSKS Foundation which includes all Kansas counties except Johnson and Wyandotte. The maximum grant amount is $1,000 and grants are limited to one per school.

Applications must be post-marked or received electronically no later than Oct. 5 with the funds distributed in mid-December. Grant recipients may use the funds for programs offered during the 2019 calendar year. A grant application and additional information is available at bcbsks.com/hhfl.

property owners to improve the situation but there hasn't been enough cooperation, in our opinion," Morse said. "We're a small, rural county, and we don't have an animal control department, and we don't have animal codes. As a law enforcement agency, we investigate criminal complaints. Cruelty to animals is a crime, but we have to have probable cause and follow the advice of veterinarians."

The 12 horses have been impounded and are receiving medical treatment.

"They are being fed well, and reports will be forwarded on to County Attorney Shawna Miller, and she'll determine how to proceed with charges," Morse said. "The courts will have to determine the outcome of the horses." Depending on a court decision, the horses could be returned to the owner or sold.

The impounded horses are being cared for on other ranches throughout the county at this time.

"This is not a cheap remedy," Morse said. "Horses consume a lot of water and food throughout the day."

Morse said that the remaining 35 horses on the property are being monitored daily.

"We don't want to see any animal neglected," Morse said. "We've been involved with this situation for some time, but we can only follow procedures and the advice of veterinarians. It's a very unfortunate situation, and we only want what's in the best interest of the animals."

Immanuel Lutheran Church

By Esther L. Ideker

The ninth Sunday after Pentecost worship service at Immanuel Lutheran Church on July 22 opened with the hymn, "God Himself is Present."

Divine Service 1 was followed with Psalm 23 spoken responsively. Elder Travis Amon read the Old Testament Lesson from Jeremiah Chapter 23 and the Epistle Lesson from Ephesians Chapter 2.

Pastor Michael VanVelzer read the Holy Gospel from Mark 6:30-44. The sermon hymn was "Now Thank We All Our God."

The theme of Pastor VanVelzer's message was "The Lord Jesus Shepherds His Church on Earth by the Ministry of the Gospel." The Lord rebukes and removes "the shepherds who destroy and scatter the sheep."

He gathers the flock, brings them back to the fold and sets "shepherds over them who will care for them." He raises up the Son of David, the great Good Shepherd, to reign as king and deal wisely.

He is "our righteousness," in whom we dwell securely. Not only does He teach us many things, but taking the bread, He blesses and breaks and gives it to the disciples "to set before the people."

He abundantly provides for His Church on earth so that everyone is fed and fully satisfied in body and soul. He preaches peace to you who were far off. And "by the blood of Christ," He brings you near. Though you were separated from Christ by your sin, "having no hope and with God in the world," now "you are fellow citizens with the saints and members of the household of God," "were sealed with the promised Holy Spirit for life and salvation." The Lord is the one who provides. Start the week with Jesus.

The offering ushers were Topher Dohl and Travis Amon. The offertory piece was "Simple Gifts."

In the prayers of the church, remembered were those who are ill or recovering that God would grant them healing, peace and wholeness. For the gift of divine peace and pardon, with all our heart and with all our minds; for the Holy Christian Church, here and scattered throughout the world, and for the proclamation of the Gospel and the calling of all to faith; for this nation, for our cities and communities, and for the common welfare of us all; for reasonable weather and for the fruitfulness of the earth; for those who labor and for all who travel; for those in need, for the hungry and homeless, for the widowed and the orphaned and for all those in prison; and for all our needs of body and soul.

The congregation joined in the prayer our Lord taught us, The Lord's Prayer. Following the Benediction, the service closed with the hymn, "All Hail The Power Of Jesus' Name."

A quarterly congregational business meeting was held following the service chaired by Doug Amon. Pastor VanVelzer led Bible Class with a study from the book of Matthew.

Work is progressing on the handicap ramp at Immanuel and other improvements as Immanuel looks to observing their 125th year of grace in October.

Cecil K's Hometown Market wins Huck Boyd grocery award

I'm gonna open a grocery store" were the famous beginning words from Chad Bontrager, part owner of Cecil K's Hometown Market in Holton.

Less than 10 months later, the store is open and thriving. One step at a time, Chad and his cousin, Carly Whorton (part-owner and store manager of Cecil K's), learn and grow in the rural grocery industry and the community they call their hometown.

Carly and Chad are hard-working and thoughtful people, and when you put them both together, they complement each other so well that those around know there is no stopping their ideas and drive.

Carly and Chad recently received the Huck Boyd Leader of the Year Rural Grocery Award at this year's Rural Grocery Summit, which was held on June 25-26 in Manhattan.

The Huck Boyd National Institute for Rural Development is a public/private partnership between Kansas State University and the Huck Boyd Foundation.

The mission of the institute is to help rural people help themselves. They do leadership development, rural outreach and a weekly radio program called "Kansas Profiles," which Carly was on for Cecil K's earlier this year.

The Rural Grocery Initiative holds the annual Rural Grocery Summit to offer the latest info on rural grocery stores, including business practices, healthy living, networking, etc.

Because they believe the loss of a rural grocery store threatens the health of local citizens and the very existence of that community, Kansas State University and a broad range of partners are working to assist rural communities and their grocery stores.

Rodney and Vicki Roy...

"When they were about 14," Rodney said, "I would have them go to the Farmers Home Administration and borrow the money for their livestock project. I said, 'Dad's not going to finance the project this year.' They did that for five years running. They made the money and they paid back their loans."

That experience, the Roys said, led to the kids winning several showmanship trophies during their 4-H years, including wins at fairs in northern Illinois and at the Wisconsin State Fair.

In 1987, the Roy family pulled up stakes and relocated to Jackson County after Rodney got a job transfer to the former Quaker Oats plant — now Smuckers — in north Topeka. It didn't take long for the family to notice differences in the community between their former home and their new one.

"It was so different. The first thing I thought of was how much friendlier people are here — much more outgoing and hospitable," Vicki said. "I was also shocked by all of the guns in the gun racks!"

"You would not see that in Illinois," Rodney added.

Joseph continued to show sheep and cattle as a new member of the Hoyt Livewires 4-H club, and he and Mickie also participated in the American Royal Livestock show and the Kansas Junior Livestock show in Wichita.

Rodney also helped out local 4-H'ers by raising sheep and selling them to 4-H club members to raise as fair projects, as well as providing pointers on how to get them ready for the county fair.

"Getting the animals ready for the fair... it was just a drastic difference from what it was back in Illinois. But we've become accustomed to it," Rodney said.

In 1990, Mickie married Mike Schultz, and the next generation of the Roy family — Gabe, Megan and Garrett, all members of the Hoyt Livewires — continued the family 4-H tradition, showing sheep and cattle at the Jackson County Fair. Roy and Mickie also worked together to offer tips on raising and showing animals to new 4-H club members.

Then, in 2005, Rodney began eight years of service on the Jackson County Fair Board, and in 2008, he was elected board treasurer, a position he would hold for the rest of his time on the board. It was during that time that the board decided to seek a new, expandable home for the fair, as it had outgrown its location at the intersection of U.S. Highway 75 and Kansas Highway 16 in Holton.

"It was quite a process to get from in-town to out-of-town," he said. "People don't understand some of the things we had to go through in order to achieve that... It was quite an undertaking, to say the least."

In recent months, the fair board sold off the last parcel of the old fairgrounds in Holton and, as Rodney proudly noted, the Jackson County Fair Association is debt-free and ready to raise more money to make more improvements at the Northeast Kansas Heritage Complex.

Meanwhile, as the next generation of the Roy family is coming into the picture, and Gage Schultz — Mickie and Mike's last child before Mike's tragic death in a traffic accident during the week of the 2016 fair — is preparing to show crossbred sheep in his first 4-H fair with family members on hand to lend support.

"It's been wonderful for our kids," Vicki said of the fair. "They've learned so much. The grandkids have learned a lot of responsibility."

It's a kind of responsibility, she said, that translates into success in other areas of life.

"There's no better learning opportunity than to be in 4-H," she said. "It teaches the kids so much. I worked in human resources, and one of the things that we kind of looked at would be whether someone was a 4-H'er or an Eagle Scout — people with those kinds of backgrounds would have a good work ethic. It teaches a wonderful work ethic."

This year, Rodney and Vicki Roy celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary — and, as Vicki joked, they didn't go to a fair. But they still plan to support their children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren as they continue a family tradition of excellence in 4-H.

"The interesting thing from my standpoint — and I'm not a 4-H'er — this goes back to his grandparents, his parents, him, his siblings, our kids, our grandkids, and now we're getting great-grandkids," Vicki said. "Who knows whether they'll be involved in 4-H or not? But it's just been wonderful, and we're grateful for the opportunities and the friends we've all made here."
