Websites offer voter assistance

The following information is the fifth in a series about Kansas voting laws and procedures. A general election is scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 6.

The deadline to register to vote in the upcoming general election is Oct. 16, and several websites have been set up in Kansas to help residents register online to vote in the election, check and change their registration and apply for an advance ballot, if they want to.

www.Voteks.org
 At www.Voteks.org, Kansas residents are guided through the process of registering to vote either by printing off a paper application or by registering online through the website. The site also outlines a resident's eligibility to vote.

The website, which is operated by the Kansas Secretary of State's Office, explains the voting process for residents and guides voters how to vote in person, by mail and overseas as a citizen or military personnel. Paper applications for an advance ballot by mail can be printed off this website, also.

Voter rights and responsibilities are explained, and additional information about the voting process is available here.

The website directs registered voters to myvoteinfo.org.

www.Voteks.org to view their current voter registration information and polling place.

Once a voter enters their name, birthdate and county on this site, they can access a variety of information, including their voting history in previous elections, as well as a list of state offices and districts that represent the specific area where the voter lives.

www.KSvotes.org
 At www.KSvotes.org, Kansas residents can register to vote, check their registration and apply for a ballot to be sent to them by mail.

Residents can first verify their current voter registration status on the website by entering their name, date of birth, zip code, email address and phone number.

Free State Oils opens in Holton

By Brian Sanders
 The aim of a new Holton store is to educate area consumers on the benefits of health products made from an extract of the marijuana plant — they won't get consumers "high," they can be used to treat a variety of ailments, and they're completely legal.

Joy Neely, who opened Free State Oils earlier this month at 112 W. Fifth St. on the north side of Holton's Town Square, said that her business aims not only to sell products that contain cannabidiol (CBD), an extract of the cannabis sativa plant, but also to make sure people make well-informed decisions about CBD oil products for people and pets.

"Our main objective is to educate people about CBD, what it is and how it can help you," said Neely, who owns and distributes the Lawrence-based Free State Oils company.

CBD is one of many compounds in the cannabis plant that are known as cannabinoids, but it is different from tetrahydrocannabinol, or THC, known as the compound in marijuana that produces a "high." But as Neely points out, CBD is completely different from THC and has no psychoactive effects.

According to Neely, CBD products such as the tinctures, balms and "gummies" that Free State Oils sells can be used to treat epilepsy, arthritis, anxiety, gastrointestinal ailments and neurodegenerative diseases such as multiple sclerosis and Huntington's disease.

However, she said, research on CBD is still in its early stages, and the products she sells should not be considered a "cure" for such ailments. But she continues to be an advocate of CBD because "we know how well it works and we're giving science time to catch up to us."

And while the research into CBD is still in its infancy, some doctors in northeastern Kansas have given referrals to Free State Oils, which Neely said has its products in a number of area pharmacies, in addition to storefronts in Holton, Lawrence, Topeka and Overland Park.

Christmas Store prep under way

By Ali Holcomb

Applications are now available for families, senior citizens and adults with disabilities who need an extra boost this Christmas through the Jackson County Ministerial Alliance Christmas Store.

The annual event will be held on Friday, Dec. 14, at the First Baptist Church, 404 Juniper Dr. in Holton, and each qualified family and individual will receive a free bag of essential items, a box of food and free gifts or gift cards, according to Jennifer Ingels, event organizer.

Last year, volunteers served 149 households with 294 children and 75 seniors and disabled adults, Ingels said.

Applications for the store are available at the First Baptist Church, the Holton Post Office, the Jackson County Health Department, the Jackson County Senior Citizens Center, the YWCA, the Crisis Pregnancy Center, the JCMA Food Pantry, NEK-CAP and in each school district.

Applications in Spanish are also available, and Ingels said people can contact her to request an application by mail or email.

Ingels can be reached by calling 785-851-1011 or emailing her at jherringj@hotmail.com.

Completed applications must be returned by Friday, Nov. 16, to the church or to Ingels at the post office.

Residents filling out a family application must also attach a copy of a proof of income eligibility, such as a current Women Infants and Children receipt or a current free or reduced school lunch form.

Seniors 65 and older and disabled adults seeking assistance will also need to complete a similar application, Ingels said. Besides a copy of their photo ID, individuals must also submit proof of income eligibility, such as Food Stamp verification, a bank statement or a Social Security monthly statement.

Each senior and disabled adult will receive a food basket, an essentials bag and a $50 gift card of their choice to a local retailer, gas station or restaurant.

Purple Heart Profile Cooney earned medal during Okinawa battle

Editor's note: This is the 99th in a series of stories about past and present Jackson County residents who earned the Purple Heart Medal, which is awarded to military personnel wounded or killed in the line of duty.

The names of those profiled in these stories are among those placed on a special monument for Purple Heart Medal recipients now standing in Holton's Linscott Park, although there are some soldiers whose names may be added to the monument at a later date. The story of one of those soldiers follows below.

One of the fiercest battles in the final days of World War II was the Battle of Okinawa, in which Allied forces were planning to use a Japanese air base as a key stepping stone toward a land invasion of Japan.

Jackson County native Willis Cooney, serving as a Tech 5 in the U.S. Army's 7th Division of the 32nd Infantry, was with his troops on Okinawa when, two weeks into the fighting, he received shrapnel wounds in his right shoulder and lung, earning his Purple Heart Medal but eventually losing a lung, according to a family member.

Born Nov. 16, 1915, in Mayetta to Thomas J. and Mary A. Brown Cooney, Willis Edmond Cooney lived his entire life in Jackson County with the exception of his military service. He was inducted into the Army on Jan. 28, 1942, at Fort Leavenworth and trained as a switchboard operator and a rifleman.

Nominations for HOF due

By Brian Sanders
 Nominations for the 14th round of Holton/Jackson County Chamber of Commerce Hall of Fame inductees are due by noon on Friday, Chamber administrative assistant Ashlee York said.

"We have four or five new nominations for this year, which is kind of average," said York, who noted that the Chamber has a total of "about 40 to 45" nominations on hand from previous years to choose from for the 2019 honorees, who will

More than 50 northeast Kansans, representing non-profits, cities, libraries, businesses and other organizations, participated in a grant writing workshop last Friday at the community room in the Jackson County Courthouse. The event was sponsored by the Meadowlark Extension District, and Nancy Daniels (shown at the podium), community vitality specialist at K-State Research and Extension, was the featured speaker.

Sac and Fox to receive grant

The Sac and Fox Nation of Missouri in Kansas and Nebraska will receive $805,563 in public safety grants from the U.S. Department of Justice, U.S. Attorney Stephen McAllister said Wednesday, Sept. 19.
 The tribe, headquartered in Reserve, will receive funding from the Justice Department's Office of Violence Against Women. The money is part of $113 million in grants the department announced recently to improve public safety, serve victims of crime, combat violence against women and support youth programs in American Indian and Alaska Native communities.

 "Our office is working with tribal governments to protect women in Indian Country from domestic violence, sexual assault and other crimes," McAllister said.
 Nationwide, 133 tribal governments and designees received grants, it was reported.

Change is good, but sometimes bittersweet

By Cindy S. Williams
 Meadowlark Extension District Agent, Family and Consumer Sciences
 As I sit here writing this news column, this is the end of an era. What I am I talking about... well, starting on Monday, Sept. 24, the Meadowlark Extension District Office at Oskaloosa will be moving out of the Courthouse and into our new location at 100 East Washington in Oskaloosa. I would add that our emails and phone numbers will remain the same. The only thing that is changing is where we are physically located.

While the thought of moving to a new location is exciting, it also is a little bittersweet, as we have been going through old files and reflecting on the many, many programs, events and activities that have occurred while being located in the Courthouse.
 I came to Jefferson County in 1985, and at that time, we didn't even have computers. In fact, I didn't have computers in college - now that's old! At that time, we used to hand-write out all our newsletters and news columns. I am still apologizing to our office professional, who was Betty Barnes at that time, for reading and making sense of all those scribbles!
 While we are on the subject of Betty, one story I remember from our son, Derek, who was young enough to be in a car seat at that time. As we were driving by the Courthouse he said, "Look mom there's Betty's house" as he pointed at the courthouse! Yes, at times it may have seemed like we, as employees, "lived" at the office. It has been and will remain a "special" time and place for our office to be located.

 What is more special is the many, many families, volunteers and youth that I have had the pleasure to work with over the past 33 years. Thinking back, what has been more special is getting to know people on a personal level, along with their families, children and often extended family members through various extension connections.
 It has been wonderful for them to come in our office and share their "joys" and, yes, some "sorrows" within their families, children or even in their communities. We hope that will still continue at our "new" location. Nothing is changing other than where we will physically be housed.
 So please, stop by our "new" office and stay in touch! Yes, some change is good and some can be bittersweet, but we still are here to serve the Meadowlark District in the same way that we always have. With this change comes more space and visibility to better serve all of you!

 We will look forward to see you all soon and I guess I need to get busy and finish packing up more files. Our new office will be located at the corner of Highway 59 and 16, where the doctor's office was located.
 We would also like to thank everyone for their understanding and patience as we transition to our new location. We will be in the process of moving the week of Sept. 24 through Sept. 28 and closed to the public on Sept. 27 and Sept. 28. We will be open again on Monday, Oct. 1.
 So it may be the end of an era, but the beginning of a "new" time with many exciting extension programs and events to come! See you all soon!

Kansas is failing its foster children

Our state government should be judged by the way it values and takes care of the most needy of its citizens. If we were to grade our state government today on how it supports foster children, it would get an F.

Last year, it was reported that at least 70 of the 7,000 foster kids in Kansas were missing.

Later, the number of missing foster kids in Kansas was reported to be 80. Now as recently as April, that number was reported as 68.

This should be unacceptable to all Kansans. At the recent Republican Party gathering in Holton, Rep. Randy Garber, a member of a special task force on the foster care system, was urged to do more.

Kids are removed from the home of their birth parents by state officials if it is determined that the birth parents can't safely take care of them, and for other valid reasons. What then should be the consequence for a state government that cannot keep track of the state's foster children?

The state of Kansas, by vote of the Legislature, privatized its foster care system several years ago, in 1997, as a way to save money, entering contracts with private for-profit agencies, but that does not relieve the state government of its ultimate responsibility for these kids.

Kansans must place the blame squarely where it belongs. State government leaders have failed these foster kids and the privatization of the state's foster care system has failed the entire state.

As expected, privatization has made this difficult social services program worse and more expensive.

The state was better off when a state department was directly in charge of the entire foster care system. The only thing privatization has done to this program is make it difficult to determine just exactly where the problems began because there's been little or no accountability and there is so much fault to go around!

The Kansas Department for Children and Families (DCF) is the name of the agency in charge of the state's foster program. And even the DCF seems to be facing little consequence for the missing 68 foster children.

Private foster care "contractors" are hired by the DCF to provide the temporary homes needed for these foster kids. The state's two regional contractors provided the information about the missing foster children during a legislative oversight panel hearing in October of last year. At that time, it was reported, DCF officials were unaware of the magnitude of the problem!

KVC Kansas, which serves the eastern part of the state, admitted it was missing about 38 foster children back in October 2017, and the other non-profit - Saint Francis Community Services, which handles the western part of the state - reported that 36 foster children were missing from its system.

Sadly, the number of unaccounted for (some runaway) foster children in Kansas fits within national averages.

Officials with DCF say they are hopeful that the State Legislature will approve an increase of more than $16 million in federal and state funds over the next years.

Gov. Jeff Colyer says DCF needs more funds to hire a second full-time investigator and additional funds to address the shortage of emergency placement options so foster kids don't have to continue to be lodged overnight sometimes at offices of the state's two contractors.

In April, Sen. Laura Kelly, who is also a member of the special task force on foster care, and a candidate for governor, said, "There's really been no movement in the right direction."

I am urging all newspapers across the state to keep the pressure on our elected officials. All Kansas citizens should do the same.

Foster children sleeping in offices is a very visible indication of a system in crisis. Foster children missing and unaccounted for is a very visible sign of neglect on the part of our state government. David Powls

Netawaka Turkey Trot member campaign announced

After a lot of discussion, a six-person "marketing team" at the Netawaka Family & Fitness Center came up with a special offer they feel will prove hard to refuse. The team's goal is to add 100 new members by Thanksgiving.

A new-member campaign allows new members to sign up for a year for just "A Dollar A Day."

But this special $365 per year offer will be good only until Thanksgiving.

That's why they're calling it the "Netawaka Turkey Trot," it was reported.

The 30,000 sq. ft. center has seen steady growth and now has 772 members. Adding 100 more, the marketing team says, would cover the cost of adding more instructors, while maintaining low rates for current members.

The non-profit facility includes an 8,000 sq. ft. heated pool, a full-size basketball/volleyball court bordered by walking lane, a fully equipped weight room, a turf room with batting cages and kick boxing, clean lockers, private showers, exercise classes, individual instruction and a fully-equipped kids' zone. Plus, these new members can pay monthly on an auto-pay basis, meaning their credit card will be billed monthly.

"This beautiful facility has truly changed my life," says Terry Craig of Holton. "I've lost weight and am getting around much better. But what means even more to me is all the wonderful new friends I've met there. It's given me a new family."

"We use the walking lanes almost every day, and look forward to visiting with other members," Mike and Shirley Coyle of Netawaka said. "This center is bringing back the togetherness we used to have in this small town. We're now meeting nice people from other communities who are drawn to this amazing facility that's second to none."

For Charles McKee of Wetmore, the center brings back early memories.

"During winters when I was a boy, I couldn't wait for the pond to freeze over so I could ice skate. I never dreamed then I'd be swimming in winter in an 8,000 sq. ft. heated pool!"

"I had an injury that required surgery and the therapy by the instructors at the center helped me greatly," McKee said. "We love the visiting, too. Small town folks always seem to have stories to share."

Janet and Joe Summers of Fairfield visit three times a week for the fitness classes and the pool.

"It's well worth the drive," says Janet. "It gives us something to do and some place to go. All the equipment is top of the line, and the staff is very friendly and always helpful."

"We love the social interaction with other members, including playing cards," says Martha Coder of Effingham. "For my husband and me, it's been life-changing."

The NFC marketing team is sharing comments like these to attract new members with its "Dollar a Day" campaign. The director, Scott Steffes, says the facility is becoming a "community family and fitness center."

So much so, in fact, that the original name, "Netawaka Fitness Center" is being updated to "Netawaka Family & Fitness Center," it was reported.

"Truly, it's bringing people from the surrounding community together," Steffes said. "It's so much more than just a fitness center. It serves people of all ages. It's a family place where young people can gather and have some good, clean exercise instead of sitting in front of a TV or fiddling with their phones with nothing better to do. And our fitness equipment and instructors can help adults stay in shape."

"What's particularly rewarding," he said, "is what the center offers retirees. Not just for the exercise, but for the bonding and conversation. They meet new friends...have coffee, play cards, learn new skills, share crafts and more."

AGRICULTURE WEEK: Cash feedlot trade steady

By Matt Hines

Cash feedlot trade this past week was mostly steady with the week previous at $111 live and $175 dressed. Friday's cattle on feed report was bearish yet again with the largest on feed for Sept. 1 since the data series began in 1996.

Cattle on feed were 106 percent vs. a year ago and above expectations with placements at 107 percent vs. 104 percent from the pre-report guesses. Hogs remain supported by the African swine fever outbreak, still spreading in China, and flooding on the East Coast, which reduced hog slaughter this past week and overall product movement.

Compared to last week, steers sold $1 to $6 higher. Heifers sold mostly steady to $3 higher nationwide, with the exception of the North Central region, selling $4 to $6 higher. Feeder supply was moderate at locations that had sales this week as the fall run will be upon us shortly and most all auctions will go to weekly sales in the coming months.

Long strings of yearlings are still making their way to market in the Northern Plains as grass has been abundant, and producers had been content to watch their inventory increase in value in recent times. Ranchers were welcomed with open arms and the full strength of the market. Buyers were willing to bid up to meet their procurement needs and get pens filled ahead of the corn harvest coming.

For the week, Friday, Sept. 14 to Friday, Sept. 21, October live cattle were down $.72, December was up $.40, September feeder cattle were down $.47, October was down $.80, October lean hogs were up $.407 and December was up $.75.

Cattle slaughter for the week was estimated at 657,000 head, up 5,000 from the week previous and up 19,000 compared to last year. Year-to-date slaughter is up 2.7 percent with beef production up 3 percent.

Hog slaughter for the week was estimated at 2,341,000 head, up 26,000 from the week previous but down 155,000 compared to last year. Year-to-date slaughter is up 2.4 percent while pork production is only up 2 percent.

Livestock Futures Settlements

Monday, Sept. 24
 • October live cattle down $.90 at $112.17, December down $1.45 at $117.

• September feeder cattle down $.50 at $156.45, October down $1.77 at $156.30, January down $1.17 at $153.67.

• October lean hogs up $.70 at $61.00, December down $.42 at $56.97.

October live cattle have been holding a long term higher trend since mid-May. We have had no follow through from the limit higher move back on Sept. 14, with resistance at $114 and support at $111.

Feeders are showing the same bearish flag pattern as fats. October has resistance up near $160 with support down at $151. October lean hogs continue to build strength, testing resistance just shy of $62 with support at $58.

All grains bounced off either new recent or new contract lows last week and finished the week higher. There were some large wheat export trades last week, and importers are having quality issues with the wheat coming of Russia currently.

Fall harvest delays were prevalent across the upper Midwest last week, allowing both futures and even corn basis to firm. Export sales for both corn and soybeans were strong this past week. U.S. soybeans continue to move into South America to be crushed for meal or even reshipped directly to China.

For the week, Friday, Sept. 14 to Friday, Sept. 21, December corn was up $.05½, March was up $.05½, November soybeans were up $.16¾, January was up $.17, December Kansas City wheat was up $.09, March was up $.11¾, December Chicago wheat was up $.10¾, March was up $.10½, December Minneapolis wheat was up $.10¼ and December soybean meal was up $.20 per ton.

Export inspections for the week ending Sept. 20 were again strong for corn but still light for soybeans, wheat and grain sorghum. Corn totaled 49.7 million bushels (MBU), soybeans 25.5 MBU, wheat 15.0 MBU and grain sorghum only 124,000 bushels shipped to Mexico. China may not be importing soybeans directly from the U.S. or grain sorghum, but they did purchase 5.7 MBU of corn and 1.8 MBU of wheat this past week.

Crop progress on Monday showed 72 percent of the nation's corn mature, compared to 53 percent average, and 16 percent harvested, compared to 11 percent. Soybean harvest is 14 percent complete, compared to 8 percent average. Grain sorghum harvest is slightly behind now at 30 percent complete and winter wheat planting is ahead at 28 percent.

Grain Futures Settlements

Monday, Sept. 24
 • December corn up $.03¾ at $3.60½, March up $.03¾ at $3.72½.

• November soybeans down $.06¼ at $8.41, January down $.06 at $8.55¼.

• December Kansas City wheat up $.03¾ at $5.29, March up $.03¾ at $5.52½.

• December Chicago wheat up $.05¼ at $5.27, March up $.04¾ at $5.45½.

• December Minneapolis wheat up $.01¾ at $5.84¼, December soybean meal down $1.40 per ton at $307.50.

Rains continue this week for the eastern third of the U.S. The latest six-to-10-day outlook shows above normal moisture for all except the East Coast. Temperatures are forecasted above normal for the southern half of the U.S. but well below normal and freezing temps in the Northern Plains and Northern Corn Belt.

December corn is off its recent contract low at $3.42½ with the first line of resistance at $3.70. November soybeans are also off from the contract low at $8.12¼ last week but still under pressure with a massive U.S. crop and the Chinese trade war ongoing.

December Kansas City wheat is back to test the recent high from earlier this month with the next line of resistance up at $5.50 and good support at $5. December Chicago wheat looks similar on the charts with support at $4.95 and resistance up at $5.40. December soybean meal is rangebound this past month from $301.60 to $320.50, yet still holding a long-term lower trend.

INSIGHT: Never look a gift horse in the mouth

By John Schlageck

Throughout most of the Sunflower State in recent weeks, fall crops wait for combines to begin harvest. Abundant rainfall during the last week of August and the first 10 days of September stopped any attempts to cut dry-land corn.

Water stands in low places in fields and ditches throughout much of western Kansas. Country roads sport ruts from the late summer rains.

While no Kansas farmer or rancher would ever turn down moisture of any kind, this delay means most of the fall corn, milo and soybeans may be all ready to harvest at the same time.

This in turn could lead to a busy, hectic 2018 harvest with all farmers scrambling to harvest their grain before the weather turns to winter.

"By this time, we'd normally be in the fields harvesting dry-land corn," says Ryan Reed, Gray County. "But I can't bring myself to complain about the rain we've received. When it's wet, it's always better than the alternative."

Reed farms with his brother in Gray, Haskell and Kiowa counties. The brothers represent the fourth generation to farm in southwest Kansas.

While they once farmed a third milo, wheat and summer fallow rotation, the last few years, they've flexed their dry-land and irrigated acres based on economics and moisture conditions. During the last 20 years, the family farm continues to transition from irrigated to dry-land farming.

Like so many southwestern Kansas farmers, the Reeds have been suffering from lack of moisture, and in some cases severe drought, since 2005. That said, they really appreciate this turn of weather fortunes. They'll find a way to work around the moisture and prepare to go full-tilt boogie when fields dry out.

Still, with so much of the cropland saturated, wheat drilling season may also be delayed or shoehorned in during fall grain harvest. The Reeds normally shoot for the first week of October to begin wheat drilling. This year Ryan can only hope to find time to plant his wheat.

"Each fall we try to harvest all our crops and plant our wheat by Thanksgiving," he says. "That's always our goal, but this year it'll be a mad dash to finish by the end of November."

Expectations on the Reed farm remain high once the fall grain harvest kicks into high gear. Stands look outstanding. They've managed to control aggressive weed pressure brought on by the abundant rain. Now all they need is dry weather to combine the corn, milo and beans.

"We're cleaning our bins like we intend to fill them up," Ryan says. "Grain storage will be at a premium once the machines begin to roll."

Fortunately, the Reeds maintain a massive storage facility on their farm. Unless it's a bin buster beyond their expectations, they should have adequate room in their bins.

Like their neighbors and farmers across Kansas will tell you, the Reeds "never look a gift horse in the mouth." This late summer's rain trotted across much of the Sunflower State and crop producers are finding ways to work around the wet spots while dreaming about newly planted wheat with plenty of subsoil moisture to propel it into 2019.

They're mighty thankful.

Netawaka UMC

By Mary E. Edwards
 Sunday, Sept. 23 was a beautiful, quiet morning as the Netawaka United Methodist Church congregation gathered to share in God's love. Doris Oxandale was greeter, acolyte and offering usher. Worship leader Marilyn Banaka gave the welcome and announcements. Joys and concerns were shared.

Pastor Young Won shared that Sunday through Tuesday is Korean Thanksgiving, so he and So-Jin will be calling relatives to exchange greetings. Marcia Robertson reported that both Arnold and Jeanette are feeling lots better. Michael Robertson is now 10 years old. Happy birthday to him, as well as Glenn Oxandale, who will celebrate his 91st birthday next week! Frederika Mullins told about her five-year-old granddaughter remembering Bible school in a good way.

Prayers go out for the families of Gaylen Bohnenkemper and Donna (Daily) Jewell Simpson, who died last week.

Hymns were "Lord, I Lift Your Name On High," "Take Time To Be Holy," "Cares Chorus" and "More Like You."

Pastor Young Won led the congregation saying the congregational prayer, silent prayer and the Lord's Prayer. The scripture lesson, read by Marilyn, was Mark 9:33-37, who is the greatest? The sermon was "To Live Like Jesus."

To a small child, church and Sunday school activities are a combination of good, fun things and hard, boring things such as sitting quietly, listening to the teacher and preacher, being humble and not showing off or bragging about some newly acquired toy.

Being humble is hard for adults, too. We know that to live like Jesus, we must be kind, friendly, serve God and our neighbors, be humble and renew our hearts daily.

When Jesus overheard the disciples arguing about who is the greatest, he called them together and told them "If anyone wants to be first, he must be the very last, and the servant of all." Then He called a little child to stand among them.

Taking the child in His arms, Jesus said, "Whoever welcomes one of these children in my name welcomes me; and whoever welcomes me does not welcome me but the One who sent me."

Jesus humbled himself by coming to earth in human form, serving others and giving His life for us. Let us practice being humble.

Jackson County Republican Party Chairman Rick Wright (center, at podium) addressed the crowd at the recent Republican candidate forum, held at Penny's on the west side of the Square. About 60 people attended the forum.

Immanuel Lutheran Church

By Esther L. Ideker
 The worship service at Immanuel Lutheran Church on the 18th Sunday after Pentecost, Sept. 23, opened with the hymn "God Himself Is Present." Divine Service I was followed with Psalm 54 read responsively.

Elder Travis Amon read the Old Testament lesson from Jeremiah chapter 11 and epistle reading from James chapter 3. Pastor Michael Van Velzer read the Holy Gospel from Mark 9:30-37. The sermon hymn was "O, Holy Spirit Enter In."

The sermon title was "Our Father Cares For His Children With The Gospel Of His Son." The sinful heart is filled with "bitter jealousy and selfish ambition" (James 3:14), which causes hostility, quarrels and conflicts, even among those who fellow members of the Body of Christ. This should not be so! Rather, God "opposes the proud" with His law, in order to humble them unto repentance; He "gives grace to the humble" in order to exalt them by His gospel of forgiveness (James 4:6-10).

This true "wisdom from above" is found in the gentleness, mercy and peace of our Lord, Jesus Christ, who humbled Himself and sacrificed Himself for the salvation of sinners (James 3:17). He was "like a gentle lamb led to the slaughter," committing Himself to God, His Father, "who judges righteously, who tests the heart and the mind" (Jeremiah 11:19-20). Therefore, "after three days," His Father exalted Him by raising Him from the dead (Mark 9:31).

In Holy Baptism, He takes disciples of all ages into His arms like little children. In receiving Him through repentance and faith in His forgiveness of sins, they receive from His Father a share in the glory of His cross and resurrection (Mark 9:36-37).

The congregation professed The Apostles' Creed. In the prayers of the church, the gift of divine peace and pardon was implored; for all servants of the church, that they given the grace to humble themselves before the Lord; for our synod president, our circuit visitor, for Congress, for our president and our justices that God make them true servants and give them courage and integrity; for the homebound, the lonely, the anxious and those facing surgery; and for those in the harvest fields for safety. The congregation joined in The Lord's Prayer.

The offertory piece was "Seek Ye First The Kingdom Of God." The offering ushers were Travis Amon and Tex Manuel II. Following the benediction, the service closed with the hymn "Lord Dismiss Us With Thy Blessing."

Serving Sunday were Travis Amon, elder; Rylan Amon, acolyte; Joyce Peterson, organist; and Deanna McAllister and Jackie Amon on the altar team.

Letter To The Editor

Dear editor,

Sheriff Tim Morse is smart, brave and kind, and Jackson County citizens are fortunate to have him as their sheriff.

My concern is that he recently attended a significant meeting in Washington, D.C. and he spent his own money to attend.

This valuable meeting is work-related and the county is obligated to pay Sheriff Morse's expenses.

Buck's Grove/Circleville United Methodist

By Sue Wichman
 The Buck's Grove and Circleville United Methodist Churches met for a joint service in Circleville on Sunday, Sept. 23. It was a privilege to have the Topeka District Superintendent, the Rev. Kay Scarbrough, present for the service. A bountiful brunch, provided by the host church, preceded the service.

Pianist Leesa Harshaw played "Heavenly Sunlight," "Sunshine In My Soul" and "He Keeps Me Singing" for a lively prelude. Verlin Wichman lighted the altar candles.

Following the announcements, lay pastor Charlotte Milroy led the call to worship and the opening prayer.

Mary Jo Fernkopf read the scripture lesson, James 3:13-18.

The congregational hymns were "Come Christians, Join To Sing," "Lord, I Want To Be A Christian" and "Close To Thee." Dawn Duryea served as song leader and Leesa provided the accompaniment.

The Rev. Kay Scarbrough delivered the message, which was based on Psalm 1. A tree must be firmly rooted and have a source of water in order to flourish and bear fruit. Christians can be fruitful by being strong and remaining true to their faith.

The Rev. Scarbrough, assisted by Charlotte Milroy, administered the Sacrament of Holy Baptism to Dixie Mannell. Dixie and Milton Snyder were then received as members of the church.

Ginger Johnson provided an impromptu special, playing "When The Roll Is Called Up Yonder" on her harmonica.

Leesa played "There's Something About That Name" as Allen Fernkopf and Verlin Wichman received the offering.

The service closed with the hymn "Blest Be The Tie That Binds."

Friday's game at Holton

By Michael Powls
The Royal Valley Panthers (now 1-3 overall and 1-2 in league) traveled to Wamego (now 3-1 overall) to take on the Red Raiders last Friday night in varsity football action. The Red Raiders defeated the Panthers in this game, 45-6.

"Wamego was very athletic and presented some challenges of trying to tackle them in space. They had a few dynamic players that made that very tough," said Royal Valley head coach Jake Lott. "Offensively, we committed too many turnovers and couldn't convert some early drives into points and couldn't put any pressure on Wamego."

Coach Lott said the Panthers continue to work each week to improve their team. "We are continuing to work on consistency, limiting turnovers and stopping big plays," Lott said "If we continue to get better in these categories, then we can play some good football in the coming weeks."

The Panthers will be back in action this Friday on the road at league and district opponent Holton (2-1) at 7 p.m.

Lady Wildcat golfers win Jeff West Open

By Brian Sanders
The Holton High School varsity girls golf team's second trip to the Village Greens Golf Course this season on Monday ended with another team victory for the Lady Wildcats as well as another win for senior golfer Sarah Holaday.

"I'm pretty sure that was the best 18-hole team score we have ever had," Coach Dennis Tegethoff said of his team's performance. "I am pretty proud of those girls."

At the 2018 Jefferson West Open, held Monday morning at the golf course near Meriden, the Lady Cats' team score of 385 beat Kansas City-Piper by two strokes to take the team victory, and Holaday edged Piper's Brooklynn Lamberd by a single stroke for the best individual score on the links.

"Sarah birdied on that last hole to end up winning," coach Tegethoff said. "She has played great all year."

Two other Lady Cat golfers medaled at Monday's meet, it was reported. Senior Taylor Stevens shot a 91 for a fourth-place finish, while senior Faith Holaday shot 99 for a 12th-place finish and senior Abigail Hundley shot 110.

"Those three are getting a little more consistent, and that's going to be key for us," Tegethoff said.

Holton's junior varsity golfers will pay their own visit to the Village Greens on Thursday, while the varsity team will prepare for a Monday afternoon, Oct. 1, visit to Western Hills Golf Course in Topeka, followed by a visit to Falcon Lakes in Basehor on Thursday, Oct. 4. The Lady Cats will participate in regional golf on Monday, Oct. 8 at Holton Country Club.

JH Lady Cobras beat ACCHS, Horton

Saturday tourney is at Valley Falls

By Brian Sanders
Jackson Heights High School's Lady Cobra varsity volleyball team overcame a slow start to sweep its matches in a triangular last night against Northeast Kansas League foes Atchison County and Horton at Effingham.

The Lady Cobras improved their NEK League record to 5-5 and their overall record for the season to 13-7 with the sweep, which Head Coach Denise Visovsky said was "a big accomplishment."

The opening match against ACCHS saw the Lady Cobras struggling to get started, with the Lady Tigers taking a 15-7 lead at one point in the first set of the match.

"We just kept on fighting back at it, and we got the win at the end of that first set," coach Visovsky said of her team's 25-21 win in the first half of the contest. "I was really proud that we could stay with them and not give up."

The Lady Cobras took control of the host team in the second set of the match, taking down the Lady Tigers 25-22 for the win. Visovsky credited the work of sophomore Sarah Marshall and freshman McKenzie McMahon in the midfield to drive the team to victory.

"They were able to help us get through that match," Visovsky said. "They had some good touches on the ball, and we were able to block well with them in those two sets."

Royal Valley's volleyball domination in the Big Seven League continued last night in a triangular at Perry-Lecompton that also included Hiawatha.

The Lady Panthers defeated Hiawatha first last night in straight sets, 25-16 and 25-8.

RV had to fight harder in the second match against Perry, winning 25-16 and 28-26.

Lady Wildcats climb to 21-7 record overall

By Ali Holcomb

The Lady Wildcat varsity volleyball team split matches against Jefferson West in Big Seven League action yesterday in Meriden.

Holton is now 6-4 in league play and 21-7 overall while Jeff West has a 4-6 record in the league.

The Lady Tigers took the first match in straight sets, 25-22 and 25-20, but the Wildcats rallied in the second match, winning 25-22 and 25-18.

Last Saturday, the Wildcats took first place in a 10-team tournament in Wamego.

"In the championship game against Circle (last weekend), the first set was back and forth, but we were just unstoppable in the second set," said Holton head coach Janelle Noel. "We played well as a team all day, but also at different times we had different people shine."

Noel said that her varsity players are working well together. "Regan Baum played well all day during the tournament as did Tabor Barta. They just connect really well as a setter/hitter duo," Noel said. "Against St. Marys, Cailin Parks was on, and Savanna Booth had a great day all around picking up almost every hit or tip that came at her. Olivia Yingst also made some huge defensive plays. Blocking and hitting were on all around by our hitters. It was just a great day for all."

The Lady Wildcats have a weekend off and will travel to Hoyt on Tuesday, Oct. 2, to compete in a triangular against Royal Valley and Perry-Lecompton. Games begin at 5 p.m.

Lady Cobras sweep ACCHS, Horton

In the nightcap, the Lady Cobras took down Horton's Lady Chargers in two sets, although the team got off to another slow start in taking the first set 26-24.

"Horton has improved a lot from the first time we saw them at the beginning of the season," she said. "But we've got to find a way to come out of the gate faster."

Heights, as Visosky put it, was able to "take care of business" in the second set against Horton, winning 25-13. She credited junior Kylie Dohl, sophomore Amaya Marlatt and seniors Karley Dieckmann and Sydney Raborn with good offensive and defensive work in chalking up the win for the Lady Cobras.

"I've been trying to tell these girls that we've got to play our game and not play down to our competition," she said. "We don't want to drag it out as long as possible. We just want to go ahead and get it done, and we did that in the second set."

Visosky said Dohl's "consistent" work on both sides of the game has made her a leader for the team so far this season.

"We've relied on her when it comes down to crunch time," Visosky said of Dohl. "She's definitely leading our team in everything... She carries the load quite a bit for us. When we need something done, she makes it happen."

The big surprise for the team so far this year, Visosky added, has been McMahon, who has been "stepping up" quite well for a freshman player.

"She's done a great job of stepping into a leadership role and giving us some good quality hits, kills and blocks at the net," Visosky said of McMahon.

This Saturday, the Lady Cobra teams will be busy with tournaments. The varsity team will head to Valley Falls for an eight-team tourney that will also include NEK league foes Maur Hill-Mount Academy, McLouth, Oskaloosa and Valley Falls, as well as Axtell, Centralia and Maranatha Christian Academy.

That same day, the junior varsity team will participate in a five-team JV tournament at Winchester with Jefferson County North, McLouth, Oskaloosa and Washington County.

McCluskey joins Banner Creek as new veterinarian

By Ali Holcomb
Sabetha native Taylor McCluskey is a new veterinarian at Banner Creek Animal Hospital in Holton, working alongside Dr. Dan Degenhardt. A graduate of Sabetha High School, McCluskey attended Kansas State University College of Veterinary Medicine and graduated last May.

While attending Kansas State for her undergraduate degree, McCluskey worked in the Kansas State University diagnostics laboratory in the virology lab.

"My duties consisted of running testing on samples submitted to the lab for important viral diseases in veterinary medicine," McCluskey said.

Her first day at Banner Creek Animal Hospital was Aug. 2.

"I enjoyed growing up and living in a small community and knew that I wanted to end up somewhere similar following graduation," McCluskey said.

"I also loved that it was close to home so I would have family close by. I am also a recipient of the Veterinary Training Program for Rural Kansas scholarship, in which I agreed to work in a rural community for a minimum of four years in which large animal medicine is a vital part of the community."

McCluskey has two dogs of her own that are "spoiled beyond words."

"Most of my free time is spent with them on walks, at the dog park or just hanging out in the backyard," she said. "I'm a sports lover, and I enjoy cheering on the KSU Cats any chance I get. I'm excited to be a part of the Holton community and continue to meet all of the great people and their pets."

To schedule an appointment with McCluskey, call 364-4560.

Lisa Moore, CPTA, of Holton Community Hospital (shown in the back row, fourth from right) was one of 30 hospital leaders nominated for the Kansas Hospital Association's Leadership Institute held Sept. 6. The institute provides professional development opportunities for those in the health care field, and several health care providers from northeast Kansas participated in the class.

Moore selected for KHA Leadership Institute

The KHA Leadership Institute graduated its 17th class of 30 students, including Lisa Moore, CPTA, of Holton Community Hospital, on Sept. 6 at the KHA Annual Convention and Trade Show in Overland Park, it was reported.

Students were nominated by their hospital's CEO to be part of this select group, and they represent the future leaders of Kansas hospitals.

Helping to build future health care leaders is important to the Kansas Hospital Association.

"We are committed to strengthening and promoting the leadership capacity of hospital employees in Kansas," said Tom Bell, president and CEO, Kansas Hospital Association.

The KHA Leadership Institute was established to help hospitals provide professional development opportunities that accentuate the personal skills and abilities needed to facilitate positive change and innovation in Kansas hospitals.

The 2018 Leadership Institute class was diverse. The class represented a wide geographic distribution of hospitals from Hays to Leavenworth and Girard to Liberal – there was representation from all parts of the state.

Students had been working in health care for as little as one year to more than 20 years. Several students have been in management positions while others were new managers. Some students also supervise other staff, from a few to more than 50 employees.

It is important to note that the students nominated to participate in this program were not selected because they needed to learn "management skills." They were nominated because their CEO recognized their potential to be future leaders and wanted to help cultivate that development.

Each one of these students made a personal and professional commitment to expand their skills by attending all six courses of the Leadership Institute.

The curriculum was structured to enhance each student's leadership abilities. Course one focused on explaining the difference between leadership and management, identifying organizational values and creating a positive organizational climate.

Course two focused on enhancing communication skills and examining ethics. Course three examined conflict and how to effectively manage it.

Course four focused on team building - including how to lead a team and how to be part of a team. Courses five and six were held at the KHA Annual Convention and Trade Show. Students learned about the challenges facing health care in the future.

Members of the class included Ashlea Alloway, Labette Health of Parsons; Cathleen Bulot, MS, RHIA, Southwest Medical Center of Liberal; Vicki A. Carson, Scott County Hospital of Scott City; Billie Clements, Sabetha Family Practice of Sabetha; Nicole Davies, Geary Community Hospital of Junction City.

Schamra Detherage, HaysMed of Hays; Peni Ens, RN, St. Luke Hospital and Living Center of Marion; Alisha Herrmann, Edwards County Medical Center of Kinsley; Kristin Higbee, RN, Republic County Hospital of Belleville; Kathleen Howard, RN, ADN, Fredonia Regional Hospital of Fredonia.

Kari Newberry, Saint Luke's Cushing Hospital of Leavenworth; Molly Osborn, RN, Kingman Community Hospital of Kingman; Julie Powell, Lawrence Memorial Hospital of Lawrence; Jill Robinson, RN, ADN, Bob Wilson Memorial Grant County Hospital of Ulysses; Justin Seeman, PVMA, Pawnee Valley Community Hospital of Larned; Samantha Severt, Neosho Memorial Regional Medical Center of Chanute.

Stephanie Smith, Anderson County Hospital of Garnett; April Smithson, Via Christi Hospital of Manhattan; John A. Spielman, Newton Medical Center of Newton; Jo Starkey, St. Catherine Hospital of Garden City; Annette Suppes, Salina Regional Health Center of Salina; Jody Terrill, RN, Girard Medical Center of Girard; Regan Weber, AND, RN, Hodgeman County Health Center of Jetmore; and Jennifer Whipple, RN, Lane County Hospital of Dighton.

The Kansas Hospital Association is a voluntary, non-profit organization existing to be the leading advocate and resource for members. KHA membership includes 223 member facilities, of which 124 are full-service, community hospitals. Founded in 1910, KHA's vision is: "Optimal Health for Kansans."

Cirleville Christian Church

By Jeannie Arnold

The Lloyd and Tara Ladusch family served as greeters at the door for the cowboy/traditional church service on Sept. 23 at Cirleville Christian Church.

Brody Bliss gave the welcome to the congregation. Music was provided by the praise team of Gary Bell, Johnny Lynch, Shelly Will, David Spencer, Max Lierz, Sue Davault and Kay Hallauer. Blair Wagner gave the prayer for concerns and praises.

Blair Wagner gave the communion meditation and prayer. Communion servers were Donald Askren, Mike Cochren, Jeremy Kennedy and John Ray. The prayer for the offering was given by Ron Parrett. Kay Hallauer provided the lovely piano music as communion was served and the offering was received.

Brody Bliss used text from Revelation 20:1-10 as he gave the morning sermon titled "The Eternal Death: A Description Of Hell." His message brought out the reality of Satan. Satan is the great tempter, the enemy, the wicked one.

Satan governs those who are not Christians. Jesus is the faithful and true one, the judge, the word of God, the king of kings, the Lord of Lords. Only Jesus can overthrow Satan. Satan cannot stop the Holy Word.

There is evil present in this world, but we can still spread the gospel. Satan cannot stand against the Holy Spirit. Satan does not have alternate power. Christ does, and Christ wins. Are you on His side? The service closed by singing "I'll Fly Away."

Next Sunday, Sept. 30, is the annual Blue Rock Shoot. We will meet after our fifth Sunday worship service (one service at 10:30 a.m.) at Don and Tammy Askren's home (20474 M. Rd.) for lunch, fellowship and blue rock shooting.

Hot dogs, buns, chili, drinks and paper goods will be provided. Please bring a side dish and/or dessert. Also bring lawn chairs and fishing poles if you wish.

Gardener's Corner

Cover crops help produce healthy soil

By Sandra M. Siebert

The Autumnal Equinox this past weekend heralds the beginning of garden cleanup season.

Last week I took out several tomato plants, even some of the paste tomatoes. Although in decline, they still produced nice tomatoes - but just how many gallons of dried tomatoes do I need?

All the melons came out, as well. After I took out the last summer squash plants, the squash bugs moved into the melons. Within a couple of days (maybe even within a few hours), the cantaloupe vine was dead and the two small melons I had hoped would have time to ripen became worthless.

Then the watermelon vine succumbed. One watermelon larger than my head was ripening; its tendril had withered halfway, indicating that it was on its way. Holding my breath, I cut it free before the vine was dead, hoping it would be ripe enough.

When I cut the melon open, the flesh was pink, but not the dark pink of full ripeness. It tasted pretty good, however, although not as sweet as a fully ripe melon. I finished the last of it as I wrote this column.

I also took down the pole beans last week, and, along with a couple of areas cleared earlier in the summer, had several large sections of the garden cleaned up. Time to plant cover crops. I always plant cover crops, but had not yet prepared for it. Then a lesson on cover cropping at the September Master Gardeners' meeting was the kick in the pants I needed to get those cover crops growing.

My cool-season cover crops have for some time have been oats and crimson clover. Both grow well during the cooler season and produce good cover. Winter temperatures in the upper teens will kill the oats, yet their roots and blades continue to hold the soil in place, providing habitat for beneficial soil microbes, and protecting the soil from the elements - the main purposes for cover crops.

Crimson clover usually survives the winter, growing again in the spring. I plant the clover only in areas that will be planted to vegetable crops in late spring or early summer, so I don't have to take them out when the soil is damp and cold. Thick stands of clover and/or oats (I like to mix them) also help reduce early weeds.

I've always used buckwheat as a warm-season cover crop. However, the horticulture agent who gave the lesson on cover crops recommended buckwheat as a cool-season cover, as well. Like oats, buckwheat grows rapidly and can provide a weed-squelching cover. It winter-kills at higher temperatures than oats, somewhere in the 20s, but remains in place, providing winter cover. The reason to plant buckwheat as a winter cover crop is because it does not create as much "biomass" as oats and clover.

The above ground growth of buckwheat may look thick and lush, but once it dies it decays rapidly. That makes it a good cover crop for the areas where you will plant early spring crops. One of the benefits of buckwheat is that it takes up potassium and a few other nutrients it converts them into forms that other plants can use. (Your soil test might say your soil has plenty of potassium, but it might be a form plants can use.) When it dies it returns the now bio-available nutrients to the soil.

After the meeting, I picked up five pounds of buckwheat seed. I spread the seed thickly in the beds that I plan to plant to my early spring crops. (Planning ahead; what a concept!) I scattered a little oats in among the buckwheat, just for some diversity, but not enough to hinder early spring planting. I spread a mix of crimson clover and oats where I will plant in late spring and early summer.

The clover fixes nitrogen in the soil, as well as provides plenty of biomass to protect the soil. In the end, it will add plenty of organic matter to the soil when it dies.

Getting cover crops going quickly is important, so they've gotten some good growth before freezing weather arrives, and so they do their best job of suppressing weeds.

By the time I take out the rest of the tomatoes, the sweet potatoes and the other summer crops, it may be too late to sow cover crops... or not. Oats will germinate in soil that is about 40 degrees, and I have sown them fairly late in the fall. The oats don't get tall then, but they do provide cover and roots in the soil. Roots-in-the-soil is crucial for incubating beneficial soil microorganisms, which are critical for healthy soil, and healthy soil is the most important thing for producing healthy plants. Oat seed is fairly inexpensive, so I use oats a lot - as cover in winter, spring, summer and fall.

Many other plants can be used as cover crops in garden and field. What you choose depends on specific situations and needs. Some fix nitrogen (taking the nutrient from the soil and converting it into a form available to plants), some accumulate other nutrients, others break up hard packed soil, some provide habitat or food for beneficial insects, some help break the cycle of crop diseases... the list goes on.

Good resources exist for learning about and choosing cover crops, including downloadable publications and even a mobile app for cover crop selection. I'll set up some links to a few on my blog, The Barefoot Gardener, at <https://barefootgardnr.blogspot.com>

Kientz Corner

By Beverly Ramey Newell

On Sept. 16, the Pleasant Hill United Methodist Church congregation opened its worship service by singing "Grace Alone."

The birthdays for Sept. 16 through Sept. 22 were Brady Marteney, Sept. 19, and Wayne DeBusk and Deb Mannell, Sept. 21.

The anniversaries for the week were Matt and Pam Walder, Sept. 20, and James and Brook Sexton, Sept. 21.

The concerns were prayers for Shirley Sebastian, who has liver cancer; Sally Shafer, who is in the hospital; and the family of Dale Strathman.

For special music, Marjorie (on piano) and Jim (on organ) O'Konski played a duet, "Jesus, Joy Of Man's Desiring."

The children's story was given by Brian Smith. He asked the children if they were fans or followers. Jesus had fans, but He wanted followers. Jesus told His followers, "Take up your cross and follow me." Lord, help us to be true believers and follow Jesus.

Ron Griffiths read the scripture Judges 16:23-31.

The sermon "Samson: Desperate Child" was given by the Rev. Hyun-Jin Cho. Samson lost his powers when Delilah had his hair cut off. She betrayed him. Samson was a desperate person with his anger, loneliness and despair. He was in prison. He had anger and hatred for the Philistines.

Samson never learned to have peace. He was desperate without hope. May we create hope in someone's life and let them know God is with them. Let us remember that hope never dies. The closing hymn was "My Hope Is Built."

Those assisting with the service were Ron Griffiths, liturgist; Mary Smith, organist; Deb Mannell, sound system; Linda Reed, acolyte; John Wilson, song leader; and John and Linda Reed, Daryl Jepsen and Gary Slimmer, usher team.

Circleville News

By Jeannie Arnold

The Sept. 17 meeting of the Circleville Senior Executives was held at the Masonic Lodge Hall with 20 members and guests attending. It was called to order by President Sharon S. Cochren, who then led the flag salute.

Dale Askren gave the blessing. There were no birthdays, but one anniversary, which was Dale and Ilah Rose Askren. There was plenty of delicious food, and the group furnished fried chicken.

For the program, Jackson Heights Superintendent Adrienne Walsh gave updates for the 2018-19 school year. They have a new FASC instructor this year and enrollment is up from the previous year.

Milton Snyder and Larry VanDonge, who recently were on the Honor Flight, told about how much they appreciated it.

During the business meeting, Barbara read the minutes from the August meeting, which were approved. The treasurer's report was given by Dixie Mannell.

David Allen, a member of the Jackson Heights Foundation Board, thanked the group for their donation to the fund. The group enjoyed the interesting program by Milton Snyder and Larry Van Donge as they told about the wonderful trip that they had recently taken to Washington D.C.

They said that Jessica Buck was one of their guardians, and Colby Doyle was one of the other ones. They enjoyed the little ceremony when the group gathered in the Jackson Heights gym and the second graders sang to them.

Milt was impressed with the changing of the guard at the Arlington Cemetery, which was the last place that they went. They had lunch on the bus and had their evening meal at the Golden Corral before boarding the Southwest Airlines flight for the Kansas City International airport.

They were both impressed with the monuments of WWII, Lincoln and Vietnam. They said they felt welcomed every place that they went. Larry read an interesting letter that he had written to the students thanking them for the day and all that happened.

Both men had high praise for the organization and the Jackson Heights School district for all they do.

In closing, the announcement was made that the city of Circleville will sponsor the annual Trunk n' Treat on Saturday, Oct. 27, at the Circleville Gym. Kenney Wykert made a motion to ad-journal the meeting, and David Allen seconded it. The meeting adjourned at 1:30 p.m., and the next meeting date will be on Monday, Oct. 15.

The program will feature Amanda Spaulding, director at the Holton meal site, and Mayor Ed Rostetter.

There were several who attended the homecoming football game at Jackson Heights on Friday evening, Sept. 21. Jackson Heights lost to Olpe by two points. King Kolby Rethman and Queen Karley Dieckmann were crowned at halftime.

Violet Shupe, daughter of Tye and Chelsea Shupe of Circleville, was one of the little flower girls for the ceremony.

Dennis and Barbara Hutchinson were among those who went on the Jackson County Barn Tour on Saturday, Sept. 22. The places they visited were the Fisher Barn, the Askren Barn, the Stauffer Barn, the Beightel Farmstead, Sunny Slope School, Bennettville Store, oil fields, Nott's Store, the Rogers Family Barn and Buck's Grove Church.

They had lunch at the Solider Community Center, catered by Boomers' in Holton. There were approximately 80 on the tour with 40 on each bus.

Jasper named CEO of Kanza

Kanza Mental Health and Guidance Center, which serves Jackson, Brown, Nemaha and Doniphan counties, has a new chief executive officer, it has been reported. David Jasper has been hired to lead the center forward.

Jasper began his duties on Aug. 1, and said he is dedicated to learning his new role with the organization.

He comes to Kanza with more than 19 years of leadership experience serving as the executive director at Mosaic in Garden City, an agency providing services for people with intellectual disabilities, it was reported.

Jasper said his professional accomplishments include helping individuals be able to recognize their skills and accomplishments and helping them analyze numbers and watch budgets when they are tight.

Jasper said he helped turn an operation that was losing money into a profitable operation within his first year of employment.

He said he believes that "having clear communication and being able to really talk about what is going on" is one of his strengths. He said he has a collaborative open door policy, and he said he looks forward to developing trust and open communication for all.

Jasper said he believes in the mission of Kanza, which is "Offering Hope To Build A Better Tomorrow." He also realizes the importance of relationships and the need to build partnerships with other agencies and providers to meet the needs of the community.

Jasper replaces David Elsbury, longtime Kanza CEO.

Jasper said he looks forward to learning more about the communities Kanza serves.

Jasper is available at Kanza by calling 785-742-7113. For more information about Kanza services in Jackson County, call 364-4536.

County Boy Scouts assist in search and rescue dog training

Jackson County Boy Scout troops from Holton and Mayetta recently spent a few hours with Kansas Search and Rescue (KSAR) teammates Lisa Smith and LeeAnn Tufte, learning to be good subjects to train search dogs, it was reported.

Scouts learned how important, fun and exciting it is to be training subjects as the dogs are training to find a lost person. They learned how to help a trailing dog to follow a trail and how to reward the dog at the end of that trail, as well as how an area search live-find dog can locate missing persons in a large area, such as a field or in the woods.

Tufte and Smith explained how important it is for the subjects to be fun and energetic, so the dogs really enjoy finding the "lost" subjects. The subjects have to be more fun to the dogs than chasing a rabbit or squirrel, they said.

The dogs learn their reward is more fun and easier "to catch" than chasing critters, they said. Scouts practiced rewarding the dogs and creating a fun and exciting experience for them.

Kansas Search and Rescue is a coalition of K-9 handlers training to provide competent and mission-ready teams to assist local law enforcement agencies to find subjects, such as a person suffering from dementia or an autistic person who might wander away, or small children who wander off. They may also assist with finding lost hunters or hikers.

The scouts learned that the dogs are able to search up to several hours after someone has gone missing, but they also learned that it is important to get the dogs called in as soon as possible.

Creating a scent article for the trailing dogs was explained. Some used their sock or neck scarf or dropped their hat, while others learned how to handle a sterile gauze sample to create a scent.

The Scouts learned that search dogs are only called out by law enforcement. For example, if a family member contacts KSAR, the family is referred back to a law enforcement agency to request the dogs.

It was explained that if a child wanders away and family tries to get search dogs to come, it isn't known if the child was in a bad situation at home and law enforcement may need to check the situation and make sure there isn't more going on. It is possible that the lost person situation might easily become a crime scene or situation, they learned.

KSAR also has dogs trained to detect human remains associated with the group. They may be called in to help identify if bones are human or animal, and to search for the decomposition scent that may be buried or burned.

KSAR coalition teammates are certified in crime scene preservation and are also on hand to assist with ground searches. All services are on a volunteer basis, and there is never a charge.

Groups that would like a presentation or would like to volunteer to help train the dogs are encouraged to contact Lisa Smith at (785) 966-2149, or (785)580-8341 by text, or LeeAnn Tufte at (785) 231-7636. Visit kansassearchdogs.com for more information.

Potawatomi United Methodist

By Ilene Dick

Sunday, Sept. 23, was a beautiful day, reminding us how fortunate this area has been compared to many other parts of the nation.

It was nice to have Matt and Rhonda Burns present at Potawatomi United Methodist Church, and for Matt to bring the message in the absence of Pastor Howard.

Matt Burns opened the service, and Judy Thoman gave announcements including sharing pictures from the Pioneer Day parade and plans for the 115th church birthday celebration. The financial committee will meet at 1:30 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 7, at the Vintage Park family room. Sherry Glenn is welcomed as a new member, and we are grateful she has consented to fill the position as treasurer for 2019.

Charge conference will be held at 6:30 p.m. on Nov. 27 at Holton Evangel United Methodist Church.

Added to the prayer list are Lily Hall's sister battling liver cancer and not doing well; the Bohnenkemper family; and Eva May Bolz, now in rehab in Topeka.

Judy Thoman served as acolyte and also liturgist, reading from James 4:8, followed by praying the Lord's Prayer in unison. Martha Roush gave the special, reading a meaningful story titled "The Lord's Home Run." The birthday song was sung to Lily Hall, whose special day was Sept. 22. Offertory ushers were Jim Shenk and Keith Bell.

Tina Pugh provided the music. Hymns were "Leaning On The Everlasting Arms," "It Is Well With My Soul" and "God Will Take Care Of You."

Matt Burns' message was titled "There's Rich And Then There's Rich." He questioned what grace is. Grace is an act of God. God does something for you that you don't deserve. God didn't have to save us. You are dead before you come to Christ because of your trespasses and sin. He is rich in mercy. We have been saved by God's grace. We serve Him because He first loved us.

Pastor Howard will be back next Sunday with the sermon titled "Jesus Wants You To Go Fishing," with the scripture coming from Mark 1:14-20.

Keith and Dorthea Bell enjoyed having their daughter, Carla, home from California for a visit. They had a wonderful time.

Lily Hall reported having an enjoyable birthday on Saturday, Sept. 22. She received cards from family and church family, and also was pleased to have all of her sisters at her home, as well as having her children and grandchildren help her celebrate.

It was nice to have Delilah Anderson and her mother present for church. Jim and Marjean Shenk were so thankful to hear from their daughter, Marilee, that her MRI showed her to be cancer-free. That is a blessing.

Martha Roush and Sherry Glenn enjoyed a trip to Cider Days at the Topeka Expo centre on Saturday, Sept. 22.

Thank You

To the couple that stopped to help when I fell Monday (9/25) at the Holton Senior Apt. (6th & Wisconsin). Your help was much appreciated!

Kansas Gov. Jeff Colyer recently appointed Brett Fletcher, owner of B&P Propane of Holton, to the Kansas Propane Education and Research Council, it has been announced.

The Kansas Propane Education and Research Council (KanPERC) is designed to enhance propane safety, education and training for propane consumers and employees.

It also strives to improve existing propane technology, to increase the efficiency of propane and to develop other programs to educate the public about the safety, environmental aspects and the many uses of propane.

Fletcher and his wife, Carly, own B&P Propane and Knotty Pine Oil in Holton.

"We are extremely excited to have Brett become a member of the Kansas Propane Education and Research Council," said Greg Noll, executive director of KanPERC. "His dedication and hard work in the propane industry will be a tremendous asset as he begins his tenure as a KanPERC council member."

In Brown County Fatality reported Monday

A 47-year-old Hiawatha man died Monday at about 4:55 p.m. in Brown County along U.S. Highway 36, about six miles west of Hiawatha, it was reported, after the 2004 Chevrolet Cavalier he was driving east-bound struck the rear end of a 2013 Peterbilt semi driven by a Wetmore man.

The Kansas Highway Patrol reported that Ronnie D. Myers, 47, of Hiawatha, was killed after his Cavalier struck the semi from behind as the semi was attempting to turn into a private driveway.

The driver of the semi was reported to be Martin E. Lawrence, 53, of Wetmore.

The KHP reported that one of the drivers involved (Lawrence) was wearing a safety belt while the other (Myers) was not.

Big elk bagged in Jefferson County

One Kansas hunter may have recently made the shot of a lifetime on a bull elk in northeast Kansas, it has been reported.

DJ Klenken, of Lawrence, (shown above with the big elk's antler rack) shot the bull with a muzzleloader on Sept. 6 just south of Winchester, about a 45-minute drive from his home. Klenken said game wardens believe it could be a state record.

Kansas was once home to native elk, but they were virtually eliminated by the turn of the century before being reintroduced.

The state now reportedly has a small, self-sustaining elk population, with herds as close to Topeka as the Fort Riley area. Occasionally a stray elk will make its way this far east, as one was spotted a few years back in Topeka.

Winchester, located in Jefferson County, is about 12 miles east of Valley Falls.

The bull's rack will be officially scored Nov. 5, it was reported.

The Kansas elk muzzleloader season runs Sept. 1-30, with an archery season Sept. 17-Dec. 31 and a firearm season Nov. 28-Dec. 9. There is also an extended firearm season Jan. 1-March 15, 2019. Fort Riley has its own seasons, with both muzzleloader and archery seasons running Sept. 1-30 and a firearm season Oct. 1-Dec. 31.

Chamber Hall Of Fame...

be announced in October and celebrated at the annual Hall of Fame banquet on Wednesday, Feb. 6, 2019, at the EUM Family Life Center in Holton.

More than 60 Jackson County individuals and organizations have been inducted into the Hall of Fame since the first round of inductees were announced in 2005, it has been reported. Inductees have been honored for their inspiring leadership, business excellence, entrepreneurial spirit, community impact and volunteer service, especially through the Chamber.

Nominations are open to all Jackson County residents who are currently or who have in the past been active in Holton and Jackson County with the Chamber in some form. Nominations made in previous years can also be updated, York said.

"They can email us, call us or do whatever they need to do to make sure people stay nominated," she added.

York also noted that the 2019 Hall of Fame banquet is being held on a Wednesday, rather than on a Thursday as in previous years, to possibly draw an even larger crowd.

"Thursday nights tend to be school game nights, and some members of the Chamber may want to go to the game on that night," she said. "We're going to try doing it on a Wednesday and see how that works out."

The 2019 banquet will also feature a silent auction to raise funds for the Chamber, it was reported. York said Hall of Fame committee members will soon be contacting different Chamber member businesses for possible auction items.

Inductees for 2019 will join Hall of Fame members honored in previous years, including:

- 2006: John Chiles, Homer Clark (deceased), Bud Geis (deceased) and Frank Gilliland.

- 2007: Jim Birkbeck, Scott Foster, Harold Ireland (deceased) and Vestina Nonken (deceased).

- 2008: Ron Anderson, Tom Davies (Volunteer of the Year, deceased), Ross (deceased) and Betty Moser, and Marlin White (deceased).

- 2009: Warren E. Bottenberg (deceased), Robert Brown, Carolyn Koger and the Jackson County Friends of Hospice (Volunteer of the Year).

- 2010: Neva Heiselman, Roger and Cindy Hower, Pat McClintock (deceased) and Dan Mehrlinger (Volunteer of the Year, deceased).

- 2011: Gary Bell, Dr. Joel Hutchins, Anna Wilhelm and Freda Galer (Volunteer of the Year).

- 2012: George Gantz

(deceased), Francis Jensen (deceased), Judy Olson, Janet Zwonitzer and Joannie Dannenberg and Betty Flemming (Volunteers of the Year).

- 2013: J. Richard Lake, Wayne and Gladys (deceased) Ogilvie, Cathleen Reed and Gloria Stavropoulos.

- 2014: Dr. Carlos Chavez (deceased), Roy Hale and Rich and Lynne Mulroy.

Free State Oils...

Neely said she became aware of the purported benefits of CBD after her nephew moved in with her about three years ago. Her nephew, she said, was smoking marijuana to reportedly help with his attention deficit hyperactivity disorder (ADHD) and anxiety.

"I told him, that won't happen in my home," Neely said of her nephew's consumption of marijuana. "But I asked him why he smoked pot, and he said he didn't like his ADHD medicine, because of what he called 'the comedown.'"

That prompted Neely to start researching the connection between marijuana use and ADHD, as well as why people such as her nephew preferred "pot" over prescription drugs.

"We wanted to figure out what part of the marijuana helped him with that, and it ended up being the CBD," she said. "He and I did a lot of research together on CBD, and after that, there was the fight to make CBD legal in Kansas."

Congress had redefined industrial hemp, from which CBD is extracted, as being different from marijuana in the 2014 Farm Bill, making it legal in all 50 states, Neely said. But in Kansas, legislators were slow to recognize the potential of CBD until this past May, when a Senate bill recognizing CBD as legal was signed into state law.

The main requirement of that law, it was reported, is that CBD products sold in Kansas must be completely free of THC — and Neely, like other CBD distributors in Kansas, makes it clear that her products, sourced from hemp grown in Colorado, will not get consumers "high."

"I found out all the benefits it could have," she said. "The world could benefit from really good CBD."

Free State Oils products include tinctures, which allow consumers to place a drop of CBD oil under their tongue and absorb into the bloodstream, as well as a topical balm that is used to treat pain in the joints, knees, neck and back.

The store also sells CBD

"gummies" that Neely says "are my favorite go-to" when anxiety strikes. And for those who prefer "vaping" to smoking, the store sells a CBD "e-liquid" refill for vape pens.

CBD products are also made for animals, she said. One such product sold by Free State Oils is Snoop's Chews, a veterinarian-formulated supplement named for Neely's dog.

"Snoop has high anxiety," Neely said. "I give him half a chew, and that calms him down."

CBD is also used in equine grain products such as those used at Freedom Saddles, Neely's not-for-profit horse therapy organization that offers equine-assisted psychotherapy to American military veterans dealing with post-traumatic stress disorder and other issues.

"What we make with Free State Oils helps fund that organization, so I don't have to go after grants," she said.

Once customers get past the question of whether CBD is legal, the only possible objection they may have to Free State Oils products is the price. Neely said customers will get what they pay for, as opposed to some CBD distributors who mark down their prices but don't give customers any CBD in their products.

"Some of the product out there is pretty bad stuff, and I'm pretty adamant that we have good product. I don't want it sitting up against junk," she said. "I've gone out and bought other products and sent them off to labs to have them tested — and that's not cheap — because I want to know what we're up against. I found out there are products out there that say CBD, but they have no CBD."

Cooney...

Cooney was the second of three brothers to serve in the Army during WWII. Older brother Tom, inducted into service in October of 1941 at Fort Crook, Neb., served in the European theater of operations, while younger brother Eugene, who joined the Army shortly after Willis, was stationed in California not far from Willis, so they were able to see each other frequently, it was reported.

Willis Cooney left for the Pacific theater of operations in April of 1943, serving in the Marshall Islands and later in the Hawaiian Islands, according to a telegram he sent his parents in early 1944. He would also spend time in the southern Philippines, the Aleutian Islands and what was known at the time as the "Eastern Mandates."

He was with the 7th Division on Okinawa on April 14, 1945, when shrapnel pierced his right shoulder and lung, and he was taken to a Navy hospital to recover, as brother Tom would find out within a month's time. In late June, he returned to California for further recovery.

Cooney took a furlough at his parents' home in Jackson County that September before leaving for Fitzsimons Hospital in Denver, Colo., for further treatment. It was there that on Jan. 23, 1946, he received an honorable discharge from the Army "on account of a disability."

In addition to the Purple Heart Medal, Cooney received the Asiatic Pacific Service Medal, the Philippine Liberation Ribbon with two bronze stars and the World War II Victory Medal. He died May 25, 1990, and was buried in Mount Calvary Catholic Cemetery west of Holton.

Once the applications have been received and processed, Ingels said participants will be notified no later than Dec. 9 of the time they've been assigned to "shop" the Christmas Store on Dec. 14.

Donations of food, essential items and toys are needed for the event, and items can be dropped off at the church or the post office.

Ingels said some of the food items needed include Hamburger Helper, spaghetti, spaghetti sauce (canned, not glass), peanut butter, jelly, Ramen noodles, macaroni and cheese, canned vegetables and fruit, pancake mix, syrup, brownie and cake mix, instant mashed potatoes, Knorr pasta and rice sides, Pop-Tarts, cereal, hot chocolate and coffee items.

Canvas or fabric bags with handles filled with essential items are also needed. Bags should be packed with laundry soap and dryer sheets, shampoo and conditioner, bath soap, dish soap, deodorant, razors, liquid hand soap, a four-pack of toilet paper, Kleenex, toothbrushes, toothpaste, kitchen towels, paper towels and similar items.

Terri Robbins is serving as the point of contact for the bags, which can be dropped off at the post office or at the church. Christmas store volunteers are asking community groups to pledge a certain number of filled bags to reach a goal of 300 bags. For more information, contact Robbins at 785-364-0680.

New toys are needed for children age 18 and under, as well as gift cards for teenagers.

Some of the proceeds from the Holton/Jackson County Chamber of Commerce Fall Fest and Chili Cook-Off on Saturday, Oct. 13, will be donated to the Christmas Store, it has been reported.

In addition, a toy drive is being held at Cecil K's on Saturday, Oct. 20, during the store's fall "parking lot party," Ingels said.

Monetary donations are also being accepted for the event and can be taken to the First Baptist Church or mailed to Jackson County Christmas Store, P.O. Box 342, Holton, KS 66436.

Ingels said she is also setting up an Amazon Smile account in which Amazon donates .5 percent of the price of purchases made by Amazon customers who designate the JCMA Christmas Store as their charity of choice.
