USD 335 approves water contract

By Brian Sanders

Since 1972, the Jackson Heights school district has had an open-ended agreement with Jackson County Rural Water District 3 which was supplied to the district at no charge, other than the cost of maintaining the water. However, the district has sought to renew this agreement.

Doug Amron, board member Melinda Wareham was absent from Monday’s meeting.

The agreement is $335 for water per gallon, at a cost of $3 per 1,000 gallons — a contract that sparked disagreement and, in the case of at least one Jackson Heights school board member, outcry.

But at the board’s regular monthly meeting on Monday, board members voted to approve the contract, albeit not unamendable, which the board has been working on for the past month in the contract that allows the district to pay the water bill as it is coming to the district’s billing cycle.

Board member Neal Keesler, voting against the contract, characterized it as “stupid” and accused RWD 3 of “trying to build it into something (this contract) so they don’t have to go through the process. And board member Kelly Kennedy expressed concerns over the length of the four-year contract, opting to always from voting on it in the end.

The contract was approved on a motion from board member Melody Light. Board member Kelly Kennedy said she was against the contract in its current form, and in a separate motion she asked to change the billing date to in June “because there’s no change,” and board member Kevin Serious, the lead-up agency for change, said he did not “typically authorize pay- ments outside of just the regular billings.

The main concern, board members noted, was the 30-year contract period that Kennedy suggested “puts us in,” regardless of the rate being charged by RWD 3.

“I don’t understand why we have another simple agreement,” Kennedy said.

Keesler objected in the $3 charge, alleging that RWD 3 officials extended the 1972 agreement “too good a deal for

The Holton school district was under scrutiny recently that the Kansas State Department of Education (KSDE) sent a letter to its new Kansas Can Star Recognition Program, which is based on the KSDE’s vision for Kansas education.

The Holton school district was represented with the Bronze Award in the Postsecondary Education Assistance for Postsecondary Success category.

Bob Davies, superintendent of schools, shared the news with the board and students.

In a letter to the KSDE he wrote, Davis wrote: “Our efforts over the past four years, to reduce Kansas State Board of Education’s list of common practices for public education, the world in the last couple of years, we are taking steps toward education, and our schools are taking steps toward the state’s other school districts to improve education.”

These outcomes include social-emotional growth, knowledge, and student growth.

The band is going to give an outstanding performance that will transport the mood of the audience during each song. According to Malson, each song tells a unique story.

The HHS band has grown over the years. Malson has been the band director. When Malson started in 2015, there were 25 students in the band. Now there are 61 band students – six basses and 12 percussionists.

Malson said students are working hard to perfect their performance.

“There are several spots in some songs that need to be fixed,” he added.

Malson also said that he believes that band members will enjoy the experience of being on stage. He added that art students select four pieces they are playing, yet he presents high quality.

“This year’s concert is going to be a real fast performance,” Malson said.

Even Santa Knows Where to Find...
The story is told of two neighbors northeast Kansas city who are known as “the city of beautiful maple trees.”

In 1973, the city of Hiawatha began the Sugar Maple Tree Plan to plant thousands of sugar maple trees around the community. In Theodore Korthanko’s honor that includes a water fountain near the corner of Second and Miami Streets. That’s how much he is responsible for it all. The sugar maple trees, so Theodore Korthanko, and his name is mentioned in farm financials every year as part of the annual report. And he didn’t stop there. After 20 years, the number of sugar maple trees in the city of Hiawatha had increased to 3,000, with over half of those trees being available for the public to enjoy.

In 1998, the city of Hiawatha made a decision to continue the planting of sugar maple trees as part of the Sugar Maple Tree Plan. This was then combined with a lens on the edges of eastern guides lesser prairie-chicken. These are visual events that attract spectators who are not otherwise interested. Women In Ag workshops come up

On farms large and small across the United States, the number of women who are making decisions is growing, it has been reported. Against that backdrop and especially for women struggling to craft some meaning to a life in the world, this is a story about an ag cooperative and its efforts to serve the women who are working on the farm.

At the workshop series, which is sponsored by the Kansas State University Extension and the Kansas Department of Agriculture, women that are working in the field are able to learn about the latest research and best practices in crop production, livestock management, and financial management. The workshops are free and open to anyone who wants to learn about these topics.

One of the women who has attended the workshops is Marie Jones. “I think it’s important to have the opportunity to learn from other women who are in the same situation as you,” she said. “It’s nice to have someone to talk to who understands what you’re going through.”

The workshops are held in various locations around the state, including in Kansas City, Lawrence, and Wichita. The next workshop will be held on February 25th in Lindsborg, Kansas. For more information, visit the Kansas State University Extension website or call 800-220-5132.

Cobras sweep Horton

By Brian Sanders

Jackson Heights High School’s Cobra varsity boys basketball team won, 41-29, over Horton in a game that was played from season-opening losses to sweep Horton’s Chargers in Tuesday night Northwest Kansas League action on the road.

HJH Boys Head Coach Chad Brown said push-intensive pressure on the Chargers led to 52-39 wins, 19 points, giving the Lady Cobras a 1-9 victory in the first and 8-3 victory in the second. It was not enough to hold off the visiting Heights team.

For the Lady Cobras, senior治疗者 was working with 10 points, giving six for eight at the charity stripe. Senior Lacee Barnett and Wright with 10, giving four for five at the free-throw line. Horton was led by Maryanna Randall with 12, 5-6-9. They were the second and fourth, a 5-6 win over the Heights team.

Brown expects a tough battle on the boys’ side, noting that ACCS is a “much-improved team from last year” with “some really good play.”

Christmas Cuties 2019 using text from Matthew 25:34-40. His message began by asking: ‘’Are we allowed to plant our gardens and not only enjoy Christmas, but also the rest of the year through? We are so worried about our gardens because we gave the gift of selflessness. Are we able to plant and enjoy ourselves?’’ Jesus said on the cross that we can live this life and we must to put aside our selfish, sinful desires, not only at Christmas, but all year through.

In his postcard, Wamego invited the community to view the video presentation of a group singing the powerful song ‘’May, Did You Know?” The service closed by singing ‘’Til I Fly Away.”

Kent Wiker and his brother Bob, Sahara’s grandfather, are shown at Rose Hill at the home of their parents. Maggie and Richard Dove Moss. Other guests were Kay and Chanda Hamilton, Sonya, Donessa, Ruby and Jen, Ben De-Moss and friends, Ashley, Karen and Bob left on Wednesday and returned home on Friday.

Thanksgiving guests of Roy and Beverly Karr were Deb and John Kennedy at Riley. Black, Shelly, Chris and John Winters, and family, Branden, Jessica, Gage and Lincoln DeValle of Wachusett, Brooke Johnson, Brinley Corson and Tate Johnson of Holton and Paul Wixson of Holton. They had a wonderful Thanksgiving holiday and did miss those who were unable to attend.

Beverly Karr recently met with some friends from when her family lived in Maine. They had a delightful time and are looking forward to visiting her in Maine next year.

On Thursday, Dec. 5, Barbara Hutchinson attended the joint business meeting of the Area Aging Council and the Board at the Northeast Senior Center in Hiawatha.

Bob and I enjoyed having house guests for a few days. Virginia and Mary Stephenson from Blackwell, Okla., arrived on Sunday for the Christmas season and departed on Tuesday.

On Thursday we all went to the Masons Ladies Night Out at Tugger Park for their coffee with friends. Others attending were Steve Williams, Merilyn and Judy Arnold and Lori Burdick.

On Friday evening we all attended the holiday party at the Vintage Park. The soup supper and special music was provided by Iron Dust, Red Dirt and Kraythorn. The evening was a huge success.
