Plans finalized for BAK visit to Holton

By Brian Sanders

Plans are being finalized to welcome more than 800 bicyclists from across Kansas and around the Midwest as they ride into Holton on Friday, June 14 as part of the 45th-annual Biking Across Kansas event, it has been reported.

Participants in the eight-day bicycle ride, which begins on Saturday, June 8 at the Kansas-Colorado state line near Goodland and continues east to the Missouri state line at Atchison a week later on Saturday, June 15, will spend the final night of their tour in Holton, where several activities are being finalized for the event's participants and supporters.

"Bicyclists range in age from 8 to 85 and come from 29 different states," said Joni White, who is helping organize welcoming events for the cyclists' overnight stop in Holton, the first such stop on the BAK event here since 2002.

This year's 497-mile ride will include overnight stops in Colby, Hill City, Hays, Wilson, Minneapolis and Clay Center before cyclists arrive in Holton for their final overnight stop. As cyclists enter Holton from the west on Kansas Highway 16, they will be directed north on Iowa Avenue toward Holton High School, where most participants will sleep in tents on the HHS football field, White said.

"Local people, especially on the bike route, are encouraged to place signs and bikes in their yards welcoming the cyclists," she added.

BAK riders will be welcomed at a hospitality tent, sponsored by local realtor Sara Fox and the Holton/Jackson County Chamber of Commerce, it was reported.

Shuttle buses — sponsored by Denison State Bank, The Farmers State Bank and GNBANK — will run throughout the afternoon and evening of June 14, taking BAK riders from HHS to Holton's Town Square and back, where live music and a beer garden will be featured in the 400 block of New York Avenue on the west side of the Square.

That block of New York will be closed from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. that evening for the beer garden, which is sponsored by Off The Square Grill, White said. Proceeds raised from beer sales will be split between the Holton Community Hospital expansion project and the Chamber.

Musical entertainment will feature regional rock group Queen Anne's Revenge, featuring local musicians Miles Kramer and Brett Braman, as well as Charlie Barber and Steve Hearrell. Shops around the Square will also be open late that evening, and food vendors will also be available on the Square and at HHS throughout the afternoon, evening and Saturday morning, White said.

Moore named RVES principal

By Ali Holcomb

Former Royal Valley teacher Justin Moore will serve as the new principal at Royal Valley Elementary School after board action last week.

During a special board of education meeting last Tuesday, the board approved several employee resignations, as well as new employment contracts.

Moore worked at RVMS as an English teacher during the 2014-15 and 2015-16 school years. He also helped coach middle school football and boys basketball and high school baseball.

"I feel blessed to be back as part of the Panther family, and I am excited to continue the tradition of excellence established in the elementary school and the district," he said.

A native of Lancaster, Pa., Moore and his family moved to Hillsboro when he was 14 years old.

He graduated from Hillsboro High School in 2006 and obtained a bachelor of arts degree from Tabor College in 2011.

He taught English Language Arts at Sublette Middle School for three years before working at RV for two years.

For the past three years, he has taught fifth grade in Topeka at Meadows Elementary School. He recently received his master's degree in educational administration from Emporia State University. He has a three-year-old son named Benet.

Moore said there is a "sense of togetherness" among the Royal Valley community that is hard to find.

City's fireworks regulations discussed

By Brian Sanders

Later this month, the air will be filled with the sound of fireworks being discharged to celebrate the Independence Day holiday, as sales of Class C fireworks in Kansas — and the discharging of fireworks in Holton — will begin on Thursday, June 27.

For some, however — particularly pets and military veterans dealing with post-traumatic stress disorder, as Holton resident Diane Gruver reminded the Holton City Commission on Monday — the sound of fireworks can be frightening and disturbing.

Gruver asked commissioners during their regular meeting that evening to consider cutting the number of days that fireworks can be discharged in Holton from nine days to four — a request that she had brought to commissioners after last year's Fourth of July festivities, although no formal action was taken by the commission at that time.

While commissioners were sympathetic to Gruver's reason for wanting to limit fireworks discharge to between Monday, July 1 and Thursday, July 4, they also agreed that it was "too late" this year to do anything about it, one reason being because groups and organizations have already made financial commitments to purchase and sell fireworks for this year.

Commissioners said they wanted to hear both sides of the issue, particularly from veterans groups that sell fireworks, as Commissioner Tim Morris noted he had been contacted by representatives of the city's American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars chapters about having "the opportunity to present a different side" if the commission were to consider limiting fireworks discharge dates.

Holton City Manager Kerwin McKee reminded commissioners that the city's laws for discharging Class C fireworks mirrors state sales regulations that permit sales between June 27 and July 5.

"When they sell them,"

McKee said, "people shoot them."

Concerns with county roads being addressed

By Ali Holcomb

Wet weather conditions continue to wreak havoc on Jackson County's roads, creating sinkholes and washing out road drain pipes and box culverts, according to Dan Barnett, road and bridge supervisor.

A photo of a sinkhole on D Road south of Delia between 94th and 102nd Roads was shared online last weekend by an area resident.

That minimum maintenance road was closed last Friday due to the problem, Barnett said.

"I went out Saturday to move the barricades back onto the road because they had been removed," Barnett said. "And then I came back on Sunday and had to move them back on the road again."

Barnett said there have been several instances where the county's "road closed" signs and barricades have been removed from closed roads and tossed into a ditch, as well as stolen.

"When a road is closed, people need to leave those signs and barricades alone," he said. "You're just putting other people in harm's way."

Barnett said he and department employees are trying to be "proactive" when it comes to road issues.

"It's our goal, as a department, to keep all roads open," Barnett said. "With the weather we've been dealt, we've been very proactive to keep all the main and secondary routes open for the public. There have been some closures, but they haven't gone for more than a week at a time."

Crops and Soils

Controlling buckbrush, roughleaf dogwood

By David G. Hallauer
Meadowlark Extension
District Agent, Crops and Soils/Horticulture

While contrasting in their appearance, buckbrush and roughleaf dogwood are two of the more common brush species in our pasture/range stands. Our ability to control their spread, however, is equally important as both can result in reduced forage production. KSU Rangeland Management Specialist Dr. Walt Fick recently outlined some control options summarized here.

ability to spread is what gives it a huge competitive advantage even as a shorter statured plant in our forage systems.

Buckbrush can be (somewhat) controlled with two to three years of repeated mowing in early to mid-May. This is the time frame when root carbohydrates are the lowest, requiring the plant to re-grow from a depleted root system. The key is being able to mow over multiple years to keep it weakened.

If chemical control is preferred, spray just as the leaves turn from light green to a darker color, again signifying that the plant is at its "weakest." Products like 2,4-D and picloram plus 2,4-D products can be very effective when appropriate timing is used.

Roughleaf dogwood can easily grow to heights above 10 feet tall and can be identified by the flat-topped clusters of white flowers that appear in late May or early June. That bloom stage identification is critical, as it's the time when herbicide applications seem to do the best job of resulting in good control.

Our more commonly used active ingredients (triclopyr, dicamba, 2,4-D and picloram, for example) might defoliate dogwood – but rarely kill it. Instead, consider high volume applications of products that use varying combinations of picloram, fluroxypyr, triclopyr and 2,4-D for better results. These combinations can be found in products like PasturGard HL, Surmout, Grazon P+D and Remedy Ultra.

Repeated herbicide applications or herbicides used in combination with prescribed fire will likely be required, since dogwood is typically not controlled by a single application.

For a full list of products and application rates, pick up a copy of the 2019 KSU Chemical Weed Control Guide available via your District/County Extension Office. Always read and follow label directions.

Wagle's unconstitutional action draws formal complaint to AG

Note: The following letter has been sent to Kansas Attorney General Derek Schmidt by the Kansas Sunshine Coalition for Open Government.

Clearly, as the letter explains, our state senators and state representatives at the State Legislature need to be educated about state and federal laws that help ensure open government for the people they serve.

Dear Attorney General Schmidt,

I am submitting this letter and formal complaint in reaction to unprecedented action by Sen. President Susan Wagle this morning (Wednesday, May 29) in ordering the news media removed from the Senate Chambers during their news coverage of protests from the Senate gallery by a group opposed to Senate debate regarding Medicaid expansion.

This formal complaint is being filed on behalf of the Kansas Sunshine Coalition for Open Government, the Kansas Press Association, the Kansas Association of Broadcasters, and the Kansas Institute for Government Transparency.

The facts, as widely reported by the news media, including the Associated Press, are that earlier this morning, the Senate arrested nine protesters after disrupting debate on the legislation, but also cleared the Senate gallery and news media area, with Senate President Susan Wagle's spokesman saying the media were removed because reporters were providing publicity to the protesters.

This is clearly an unconstitutional breach of both the Kansas Constitution and the U.S. Constitution's right to liberty of the press. The Kansas Constitution says: "The liberty of the press shall be inviolate; and all persons may freely speak, write or publish their sentiments on all subjects."

We believe Wednesday's unprecedented action also is a violation of the Senate's own rules, which say their meetings are open to the press and public. On page 12, rule 23 of the Senate's rules states: The open meeting law (K.S.A. 75-4317 et seq., and amendments thereto) shall apply to meetings of the Senate and all of its standing committees, select committees, special committees and subcommittees of any of such committees."

When the Senate without warning closed the chamber doors, the closure was done without notice and rendered the public incapable of attending the proceedings in violation of the Kansas Constitution, the Kansas Open Meetings Act and the Senate's own rules.

This is unconscionable and cannot, and shall not, be tolerated. We are urging your investigation and speedy resolution of this matter, including a preliminary restraint, which may be achieved in a consent order, so that it may not recur now or in the future as your office resolves this complaint.

Thank you sincerely for your time and consideration of this complaint.

Beck Bookman Library's busy June reported

By Amy Austin
Director

Summer is upon us and there is a lot going on at Beck Bookman Library in Holton.

First, I would like to say "thankyou" to everyone for their support in our Brats, Books and Bids fundraiser as well as contributing to our new rug in the children's area. A huge thank you also to the Friends of Beck Bookman Library for paying to have our ceiling fixed.

The month of May brought in 44 new patrons - 26 kids and 18 adults were welcomed with new cards.

"A Universe Of Stories" is our theme this year for Summer Reading. Packets can be picked up at the library for all ages - it's not too late.

Every Tuesday, in the month of June at 1:30 p.m., we have performers coming for first through fourth graders.

On Wednesdays at 10:30 a.m., it is story time with guest readers for children ages three to five and Thursdays at 10:30 a.m. is our rhyme time for babies to children four years old.

The library board will sell pie in the Courthouse on June 14 for Bike Across Kansas and everyone is welcome. The June board meeting will be held at 6 p.m. on June 18 and the public is encouraged to attend.

I was able to meet with Sabatini Architects and learn about their firm. These are the architects NEKLS (Northeast Kansas Library System) has hired to work with the libraries in our area. Before we begin making our plans for improvement and expansion, we will have a survey for the community to complete. We are hoping to get a lot of feedback as to what the community expects, wants and dreams of as to what our library has and needs to offer.

More information about the survey will be available in the fall.

So many great books have been added to our collection this past month. One of the many I am really enjoying reading now is "The Lost Girls Of Paris" by Pam Jenoff. It is a historical fiction spy novel set in the 1940s.

We have also added an entire list of space theme reading for the kids. Eight new movies were added to our shelves just in the last week of May, so come

Ag Week Recap

Grains lower on liquidation

By Matt Hines

After a limit lower day last Thursday for feeders, the pressure continued with a $4 to $5 lower day on Friday. Live cattle and hog futures were also triple digits lower to end the week, even though export sales were bullish with net pork sales a whopping 54,700 metric tons, 29,100 sold to China and net beef sales friendly at 21,600 metric tons.

Cash feedlot trade was at $115 in the South and $116 in the North, which is generally steady with the week previous, while dressed trade developed late Thursday at $186 to $187, $1 to $3 lower than the week previous.

Compared to last week, steers and heifers sold steady to $5 lower. Sharp gains in the corn and soybean markets have put a damper on feeder cattle gains, even though last Friday's Cattle on Feed report was viewed as somewhat bullish due to the tempered number of placements when compared to industry guesses.

Auction receipts were curtailed this week due to the Memorial Day holiday as well as widespread moisture throughout the Plains and Midwest. Reports of rainfall in the double-digit inches this week will do nothing but increase river levels. It will test those levees and dams in South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Missouri and Illinois.

These states seem to not be able to catch a break this year; being inundated with rainfall is not what hay producers need this time of year, either. After the last

Circleville Christian Church

By Jeannie Arnold

Roy and Beverly Kranz served as greeters at the door for the cowboy/traditional service at Circleville Christian Church on June 2.

Brody Bliss gave the welcome and announcements and the opening prayer. Music was provided by the praise team of Johnny Lynch, David Allen, Max Lierz, Sandra Hurt, Garrett Will, Paul and Sue Daulton and Kay Hallauer. The prayer for concerns and praises was given by Brody Bliss.

Ron Parrett used text from Isaiah 53:12 as he gave the communion meditation. Communion servers were Donald Askren, Matt McCauley, Jeremy Kennedy and John Ray.

The prayer for the offering was given by Paul Daulton. Kay Hallauer provided the lovely piano music as communion was served and the offering received.

Brody Bliss used text from Jonah 2:1-10 as he gave the morning sermon titled "Praying – From The Pit Of Despair." His message told how when Jonah disobeyed God and ended up in the belly of a great fish, he starts to transform and get right with God. Jonah went from distress to rescue and discouragement to restoration. He went from the depths of death to the rejuvenated.

Jonah never lost hope and God was with him. We may drift from God, but we need to remember that He will not abandon us.

The service closed by singing "I'll Fly Away."

A Circleville community spring fling picnic thing will be held June 9 at the Circleville city park. It starts at 3 p.m. with food, fun, music and fellowship. Bring your lawn chair. Following that, Ron and Haven Howard will have a concert at 6 p.m. at the church.

$0.67 July soybean meal was up $20.80 per ton and December was up $20.70 per ton.

Wheat was the leader Monday as fund shorts get serious about the wet weather starting to take its toll on U.S. wheat quality and production potential with harvest just around the corner.

The market focus remains on supply side threats with demand to be traded another day. The bulls/bears each have weather talking points to start the week, better than expected seeding across portions of the Midwest into Wednesday while soaking rain returns late week and on the weekend for the southern Midwest.

Crop progress is still friendly to the markets with 67 percent of the corn crop planted nationwide compared to expectations of 71 percent, a year ago and five-year average at 96 percent. The Eastern Corn Belt was still way behind with Illinois only 45 percent planted, Indiana at 31 percent and Ohio at 33 percent.

Soybean planting nationwide also still behind at only 39 percent complete compared to 86 percent last year and 79 percent average pace. At this point I would expect a similar advance for the coming week which would leave 20 million acres of corn unplanted on June 10 and around 40 million acres of beans.

The five-to-seven-day rain forecast looks heavy again across the Southeast and southern Midwest. The latest six-to-10-day outlook shows above normal precipitation for the Plains and eastern half of the U.S. with below normal in the Pacific Northwest and temps below normal for most, above normal on the West Coast and Gulf Coast states.

July corn hit long-term resistance last week as well as December, $4.39 for July and $4.54 for December. The first line of support for July is at $4.10 with a gap from $4.07½ to $4.04¾.

The simplest thing to do, however, is probably just to mow them off. You likely won't kill them when they are very small, but before long, you'll mow enough off that they will eventually die.

A combination of the above can sure work as well, but consider giving mowing a try first.

Track coaches reflect on recent state track and field highlights

Track coaches from Jackson Heights, Holton and Royal Valley say their state track competitors represented their teams and schools well at the championship events.

Jackson Heights High School's Cobras closed out their 2019 track season with a total of 15 medals, according to Head Coach Brad Alley, who said his team "performed well."

"To come home with 15 medals is quite an accomplishment for our kids," Coach Alley said. "We've got great kids and they represented our school tremendously well."

Leading the way for the Cobra boys was freshman Daniel Little, who brought home a fourth-place medal in the 800-meter run, finishing with a time of 2:02.61. Little also earned a sixth-place medal in the 1,600-meter run with a time of 4:38.17.

Little's older sister and JHHS senior Faith Little led the Lady Cobras at the state meet, bringing home third place in the 800-meter run with a 2:23.18 finish and anchoring the 4x800 and 4x400 relay teams to fourth and fifth-place finishes, respectively.

In the girls' 4x800 relay, junior McKenzie Kennedy, freshman Annie Allen, junior Jodi White and Faith Little finished with a time of 10:24.28 and fourth place. White, Kennedy, freshman Kylee Dieckmann and Little finished the 4x400 in 4:18.12 and fifth place.

Also medaling for the boys were senior Jackson Ahlgren, taking fifth in the pole vault with a 12-foot launch; senior Levi Olberding, finishing sixth in the triple jump event with a jump of 42 feet, 9.5 inches; and freshman Jason Bosley, taking sixth in the high jump with a six-foot jump.

The Lady Cobras also brought home a medal from the javelin throw, where senior Sydney Raborn finished eighth with a throw of 117 feet, 11 inches.

Alley said that while the weather delays made for "a longer-than-expected weekend of track," they didn't have an adverse effect on his team.

"The weather was crazy, but we were in the same boat as every other team there. Everyone on the track ran their season best. So to ask whether or not the weather had an impact, I'd say no," he said.

The Cobras' 2019 season, Alley said, was definitely a successful one.

"We took 18 kids to state, brought home 15 medals, won the regional and finished among the top of our league," Alley said.

The top eight placers in each event received state medals.

HHS track coach Mark Middlemist, who announced earlier that he was retiring as teacher/coach at USD 336 for the past 30 years, said he'd long remember the state track meet of 2019. "I did not have a relay team medal this year but Ian Watkins placed seventh in the 100 and sixth in the 200, and then Cailin Parks was eighth in the 400. They were the only two who medaled. Canon Karn did not medal but he was close and Tabor Barta was 10th in the pole vault, and the relay team was just a few places from a medal."

Due to the wet and stormy weather, there was only one event in which there were preliminaries. Everything else was run on finals, Middlemist said. "We didn't finish on Friday, and then we got pushed back to Saturday, and we got all the way through Ian's 200 on Saturday, and just after he finished his race, they postponed everything else to Sunday. It was the first time in, I think, 109 years of state track that they'd ever put it to Sunday."

Middlemist said the Wildcats handled the weather adversity and delays well.

"They performed really well. They handled the adversity of the weather and the delays really well. In the sprints, there are so many quality sprinters who know it's a matter of having a great start, just a slight hiccup here or there and you go from second to eighth real quick. Could Ian have run a little better? I don't know, but in that environment he got two medals and for his first time being at state, I thought that was a good accomplishment."

Cailin Parks PR'd, Middlemist said. "She ran a full second faster than she's ever run, so I thought she handled things really well. You want to run your best time on your last race of the year, and she did that. It paid off, and she ended up with a medal. So we're real pleased with her effort. And she's got another year to go, so I'm seeing good things for her."

Middlemist also said Barta and Karn performed well.

"Tabor, in the pole vault, jumped nine feet. She had two great attempts at 9'6", and if she would have made that, she probably would have medaled. But she made that nine-foot height, which is the school record she made earlier in the year, and she was able to get back to her best height ever."

"Canon, jumping-wise, I think he jumped 41'11, 41'10, the week before he was 42'10, a foot further. He just didn't have any spring this time, but sometimes that happens, and the conditions the way they were, everybody's jumps were just down a little bit," Middlemist said. "But I think he'll learn from it, and I think he'll be back. He'll handle those situations a little bit better next time."

"Our relay team just didn't run what they needed to run," he added. "They were right there where they'd been running, maybe a second slower, but at state you have to run your best or a little bit faster, and we just didn't have quite the energy after sitting there for two days. But I thought they competed well and ran hard. We just didn't bring our A-game that day."

"With this being my last track meet, I guess it's something I'm going to remember for two rain delays and going into Sunday for the first time ever," he said. "I've been very blessed. I've had a lot of good athletes and very good assistant coaches over the years, and this one was definitely one to remember. I'm very thankful for all the kids I've had in 30 years of state track meets and track in general. I'm going to miss it, but I've got a new chapter in life that I'm looking forward to."

The Royal Valley Panthers earned Class 3A state track medals in three events over the rainy and stormy weekend at Wichita.

"Our athletes competed hard all weekend," said RVHS head track coach David Boucher. "We were excited to watch the girls 4x100-meter relay team get eighth place, Morgan Harvey get fifth place in the triple jump and Gavin Cumpston get fifth place in the 110-meter high hurdles. McKenzie Ogden in the 300-meter hurdles, Mary Broxterman in the 200-meter dash, Ivy Fink in the high jump and McKenzie Hegemann in the pole vault and 400-meter dash all made us proud and were just outside the medal stand. Overall, we made solid growth this season and we can't wait to get started working for next year."

The Lady Panthers' 4x100-meter relay team, consisting of McKenzie Ogden, Mary Broxterman, McKenzie Hegemann and Morgan Harvey took eighth place with a time of 50.95. Morgan Harvey's fifth place triple jump mark was 36'10.5" and Gavin Cumpston's fifth place time in the 110-meter high hurdles was 15.52.

Middlemist also said Barta and Karn performed well.

"Tabor, in the pole vault, jumped nine feet. She had two great attempts at 9'6", and if she would have made that, she probably would have medaled. But she made that nine-foot height, which is the school record she made earlier in the year, and she was able to get back to her best height ever."

"With this being my last track meet, I guess it's something I'm going to remember for two rain delays and going into Sunday for the first time ever," he said. "I've been very blessed. I've had a lot of good athletes and very good assistant coaches over the years, and this one was definitely one to remember. I'm very thankful for all the kids I've had in 30 years of state track meets and track in general. I'm going to miss it, but I've got a new chapter in life that I'm looking forward to."

The Royal Valley Panthers' 4x100-meter relay team, consisting of McKenzie Ogden, Mary Broxterman, McKenzie Hegemann and Morgan Harvey took eighth place with a time of 50.95.

Morgan Harvey's fifth place triple jump mark was 36'10.5" and Gavin Cumpston's fifth place time in the 110-meter high hurdles was 15.52.

"Canon, jumping-wise, I think he jumped 41'11, 41'10, the week before he was 42'10, a foot further. He just didn't have any spring this time, but sometimes that happens, and the conditions the way they were, everybody's jumps were just down a little bit," Middlemist said. "But I think he'll learn from it, and I think he'll be back. He'll handle those situations a little bit better next time."

"Our relay team just didn't run what they needed to run," he added. "They were right there where they'd been running, maybe a second slower, but at state you have to run your best or a little bit faster, and we just didn't have quite the energy after sitting there for two days. But I thought they competed well and ran hard. We just didn't bring our A-game that day."

"With this being my last track meet, I guess it's something I'm going to remember for two rain delays and going into Sunday for the first time ever," he said. "I've been very blessed. I've had a lot of good athletes and very good assistant coaches over the years, and this one was definitely one to remember. I'm very thankful for all the kids I've had in 30 years of state track meets and track in general. I'm going to miss it, but I've got a new chapter in life that I'm looking forward to."

Milk 101: Nutritional facts and health benefits

Milk is a highly nutritious liquid formed in the mammary glands of mammals to sustain their newborns during their first months of life.

It also provides almost every single nutrient needed by humans — making it one of the most nutritious foods available.

A huge variety of food products are made from cow's milk, such as cheese, cream, butter and yogurt.

These foods are referred to as dairy or milk products and are a major part of the modern diet.

This article tells you everything you need to know about cow's milk.

Nutrition Facts

The nutritional composition of milk is highly complex, and it contains almost every single nutrient that your body needs.

One cup (240 ml) of whole cow's milk with 3.25 percent fat provides:

- * Calories: 149
- * Water: 88 percent
- * Protein: 7.7 grams
- * Carbs: 11.7 grams
- * Sugar: 12.3 grams
- * Fat: 8 grams

Milk proteins

Milk is a rich source of protein — providing about one gram of this nutrient in each fluid ounce (30 ml), or 7.7 grams in each cup (240 ml).

Proteins in milk can be divided into two groups based on their solubility in water.

Insoluble milk proteins are called casein, whereas soluble proteins are known as whey proteins.

Both of these groups of milk proteins are considered to be of excellent quality, with a high proportion of essential amino acids and good digestibility.

Casein

Casein forms the majority — or 80 percent — of proteins in milk.

It's really a family of different proteins, with alpha-casein being the most abundant.

One important property of casein is its ability to increase the absorption of minerals, such as calcium and phosphorus. It may also promote lower blood pressure.

Whey Protein

Whey is another family of proteins, accounting for 20 percent of the protein content in milk.

It's particularly rich in branched-chain amino acids (BCAAs) — such as leucine, isoleucine and valine.

Whey proteins have been associated with many beneficial health effects, such as decreased blood pressure and improved mood during periods of stress.

Whey protein is excellent for growing and maintaining muscles. As a result, it's a popular supplement among athletes and bodybuilders.

Milk Fat

Whole milk straight from the cow is about four percent fat.

In many countries, marketing of milk is mainly based on fat content. In the United States, whole milk is 3.25 percent fat, reduced-fat milk 2 percent and low-fat milk 1 percent.

Milk fat is one of the most complex of all natural fats, containing about 400 different types of fatty acids.

Whole milk is very high in saturated fats, which make up about 70 percent of its fatty acid content.

Polyunsaturated fats are present in minimal amounts, making up around 2.3 percent of the total fat content.

Monounsaturated fats make up the rest — about 28 percent of the total fat content.

In addition, trans fats are naturally found in dairy products.

In contrast to trans fats in processed foods, dairy trans fats — also called ruminant trans fats — are considered beneficial for health.

Milk contains small amounts of trans fats, such as vaccenic acid and conjugated linoleic acid (CLA).

CLA has attracted considerable attention due to its various possible health benefits — though evidence is still limited. Some research suggests that CLA supplements may harm metabolism.

Carbs

Carbs in milk are mainly in the form of the simple sugar lactose, which makes up around 5 percent of milk.

In your digestive system, lactose breaks down into glucose and galactose. These are absorbed into your bloodstream, at which point your liver converts galactose into glucose.

Some people lack the enzyme required to break down lactose. This condition is called lactose intolerance.

Milk is an excellent source of high-quality protein and different fats. Carbs make up around five percent of milk — mainly in the form of lactose, which some people cannot digest.

Vitamins And Minerals

Milk contains all the vitamins and minerals necessary to sustain growth and development in a young calf during its first months of life.

The following vitamins and minerals are found in particularly large amounts in milk:

* Vitamin B12. Foods of animal origin are the only rich sources of this essential vitamin. Milk is very high in B12.

* Calcium. Milk is not only one of the best dietary sources of calcium, but the calcium found in milk is also easily absorbed.

* Riboflavin. Dairy products are the biggest source of riboflavin — also known as vitamin B2 — in the Western diet.

* Phosphorus. Dairy products are a good source of phosphorus, a mineral that plays an essential role in many biological processes.

* Sometimes fortified with vitamin D. Fortification is the process of adding minerals or vitamins to food products. As a public health strategy, fortifying milk products with vitamin D is common and even mandatory in some countries.

Dairy products, such as milk, provide a wide array of vitamins and minerals, including vitamin B12, calcium, riboflavin and phosphorus. It's often fortified with other vitamins, especially vitamin D.

In the United States, one cup (240 ml) of vitamin-D-fortified milk may contain 65 percent of the daily recommended allowance for this nutrient.

Milk is an excellent source of many vitamins and minerals, including vitamin B12, calcium, riboflavin and phosphorus. It's often fortified with other vitamins, especially vitamin D.

Milk Hormones

More than 50 different hormones are naturally present in cow's milk, which are important for the development of the newborn calf.

With the exception of insulin-like growth factor-1 (IGF-1), cow milk hormones have no known effects in humans.

IGF-1 is also found in human breast milk and the only hormone known to be absorbed from cow's milk. It's involved in growth and regeneration.

Bovine growth hormone is another hormone naturally present in milk in small quantities. It's only biologically active in cows and has no effect in people.

Health Benefits Of Milk

Milk is one of the most nutritious foods you can find. It has been widely studied and has several important health benefits.

In particular, cow's milk may positively affect your bones and blood pressure. Osteoporosis — a condition characterized by a decrease in bone density — is the main risk factor for bone fractures among older adults.

One of the functions of cow's milk is to promote bone growth and development in the young calf. Cow's milk has similar effects in people and has been associated with a higher bone density.

The high calcium and protein content of milk are the two main factors believed responsible for this effect.

Abnormally high blood pressure is a major risk factor for heart disease. Dairy products have been linked to a reduced risk of high blood pressure.

It's thought that the unique combination of calcium, potassium and magnesium in milk are responsible for this benefit.

Other factors may also play a part, such as peptides formed during the digestion of casein.

There are about 300 licensed dairy herds in the state of Kansas, which produce about 369 million gallons of milk in 2015. The dairy industry remains a family business as 95 percent of the dairy farms in the United States are family owned and operated.

Dairy provides many health benefits

Milk and dairy foods are healthy foods and considered nutrient-rich because they serve as good sources of calcium and vitamin D, as well as protein and other essential nutrients. They provide phosphorus, potassium, magnesium and vitamins A, B12 and riboflavin1.

The calcium in milk, yogurt and cheese is significant yet most people don't get enough calcium or vitamin D each day. Getting the recommended three servings of dairy per day can help build bone mass, leading to improved bone health throughout the life cycle.

To meet daily calcium requirements, most people should have two to three cups of milk or servings of dairy foods each day. There are many ways to ensure you are eating healthy and getting enough milk and dairy foods each day.

Start with a healthy breakfast of cereal, milk and fruit or a yogurt parfait, include cheese in your lunch or afternoon snack and consider pudding or hot chocolate made with milk as an evening dessert.

Some Key Benefits of Dairy Foods

The calcium in milk is easily absorbed and used in the body, which is why milk and dairy foods are reliable as well as economical sources of calcium.

A diet rich in protein and vitamin D contributes to bone health. Due to their high protein, vitamin D and calcium content, dairy foods are a good choice for maintaining strong bones.

A diet rich in fruit, vegetables and low-fat dairy foods, with reduced saturated fat, is as effective as some medications in reducing blood pressure in people with increased blood pressure. It has also been shown to reduce risk of cardiovascular disease and type-2 diabetes1.

Cultured dairy foods like yogurt contain probiotics which provide a wide array of health benefits. Probiotics in the diet can enhance the good bacteria in the gut, improve health and reduce the risk of certain diseases.

June Is Dairy Month!

Milk is produced at dairy farms in all 50 states. Besides milk, dairy products also include cheese, butter, ice cream, yogurt, dry milk products, condensed milk and whey products.

Facts and figures about U.S. dairy

Dairy farming is vital to our communities. It's a way of life for the men and women who live and work on America's 42,000 dairy farms. And dairy is essential to the health of communities across the country because it contributes jobs, income and economic vitality.

Here's a quick look at dairy farming facts and figures:

* Dairy farmers support rural communities in all 50 states and Puerto Rico.

* There are about 42,000 dairy farms in the United States, including 7,400 in the Midwest Dairy's 10 states.

* Ninety-five percent of U.S. dairy farms are family owned and operated.

* There are about 9.31 million dairy cows in the United States. The average herd size is 187 cows.

* The value of all milk products sold from U.S. dairy farms is more than $35.91 billion.

* Where milk goes, jobs follow. From farm to processor to distribution and retail, dairy creates jobs that support the economic well-being of rural and urban America.

* Dairy farms sustain rural America. Even under the nation's current economic challenges, dairy farmers and companies are a lifeline to more than 900,000 jobs in the United States.

* Milk is local. It only takes about 48 hours for milk to travel from dairy farms to the store.

Kansas dairy production

The following are statistics about dairy production in Kansas:

* In the state of Kansas, there are about 300 licensed dairy herds.

* Kansas is the 19th largest milk-producing state in the United States.

* Kansas dairy farms produced about 369 million gallons of milk in 2015.

* Kansas farms generate about $537 million in milk sales annually.

* In Kansas, the average dairy cow produces about 7 gallons of milk per day. That's more than 2,585 gallons of milk over the course of a typical year.

* Kansas has five plants that process one or more dairy products.

* It only takes about 48 hours for milk to travel from the farm to the dairy case.

Rain can bring diseases, foot rot

By Jody G. Holthaus
Meadowlark Extension
District Agent
Livestock & Natural Resources

So with all of this rain, we have lush grass growth. More moisture can mean more flies, mosquitoes and foot rot!

Foot rot is a necrotic infectious disease of cattle (and other livestock) which causes swelling and lameness in one or more feet. "Necrotic" implies tissue decay and death, and if you've been around a bad case of foot rot, you know that it can get pretty stinky.

Spreading of the toes and dew-claws are fairly classic signs of foot rot. Generally, some injury or softening and thinning of the skin between the toes provides the entry point for the infectious agents that cause foot rot. This might be from rough ground, muddy conditions or a myriad of other conditions that cattle might encounter in their environment. The bacteria cannot gain entry to the skin by themselves and cause foot rot.

A bacteria called Fusobacterium necrophorum is most commonly associated with foot rot. It is a normal resident of the digestive tract in ruminants, and may survive in soil for up to 10 months. It secretes a toxin that interferes with white blood cells ingesting bacteria and causes the tissue decay and pockets of pus.

In cattle foot rot, F. necrophorum commonly cooperates with another bacteria, Bacteroides melanogenicus, which produces protein-degrading enzymes that damage the subcutaneous tissue and tendons. Treatment of foot rot is generally quite successful, especially when treated early.

Recovery can often be observed in three to four days from one antibiotic treatment.

Multiple treatments may be necessary if the foot rot is not caught early and has progressed over the course of several days. Penicillin, oxytetracycline and sulfonamides are effective antibiotics to use for foot rot cases (always read and follow label directions, using appropriate administration technique). If animals do not respond at all to treatment within three to four days, evaluation by a veterinarian in a timely manner may be advised.

Prevention of foot rot may focus on management practices that reduce the likelihood of injury to the skin between the toes. Maximizing drainage around water tanks or other areas that are likely to get muddy (feed bunks, etc.) and minimizing time cattle spend standing in wet areas or on rough ground (perhaps easier said than done!) decreases conditions that might predispose foot rot.

Some producers may have used supplements containing chlortetracycline (CTC) for control of the diseases on its label and seen decreased foot rot incidence. You will need to get a Veterinary Feed Directive to use (CTC) supplements.

Another approach to prevention is to focus on mineral nutrition, particularly zinc. Zinc is important in maintaining skin and hoof integrity. Cattle should be provided with adequate dietary zinc to help minimize foot rot and other lameness issues.

Consult with your veterinarian on your treatment protocols.

The Jackson County Ministerial Alliance met at 8:30 a.m. on May 16 at Holton First United Methodist Church with Pastor Kathy Williams, chair, presiding.

Pastor Kathy called the meeting to order, and Pastor Kelly opened with prayer.

The minutes of the previous meeting were reviewed. Pastor Charlotte moved to approve the minutes. Kathi Kimmi seconded the motion. The motion carried.

Lori Pritchett attended the meeting to discuss Holton Sharefest. It's an organization that Lori has worked with in Topeka and would like to get started in Holton. It's an opportunity for churches of all denominations to work together to demonstrate the love of Christ. A specific project is chosen, and then volunteers from all churches work together to make improvements to a park, schoolyard, playground or any other worthwhile endeavor. The project usually lasts one day, generally only a half day.

Gayle Moulden presented the treasurer's report. The new gas voucher system seems to be working very well at 7-Eleven.

In old business, Gayle Moulden has compiled a history of JCMA to be submitted for the alliance's 501(c)(3).

Kimmi is still planning on a soup line fund-raiser for JCMA to be held sometime in January 2020. Volunteers to make soup will be needed then.

In new business, Pastor Kathy received a call from Medicalodges asking for volunteers to help

* Approved resignations from Nathan Smith (middle school boys basketball head coach), Stephanie Erickson (parents as teacher educator), Charles Nez (assistant high school basketball coach and assistant high school football coach) and Kaylene Hisle (eighth grade English/language arts teacher).

* Approved new employment contracts for Joshua Jackson (high school social studies teacher), Kate Scarbrough (eighth grade English/language arts teacher), Alyssa Prentice (Little Panthers Preschool paraprofessional), Nick Ehrhart (middle school football coach), Glenn O'Neil (high school boys assistant basketball coach) and Kyann Eslick (high school assistant volleyball coach).

with some of their activities.

Pastor Kathy, Gayle Moulden and Nancy Clark met with United Way to request funds for JCMA. Applications must be made each year.

Pastor Kelly advised that more tutors are needed for the after school tutoring program at Evangel UMC. Volunteers are needed for Monday through Wednesday. Please contact Orin and Lenore Marshall to volunteer for the tutoring program. This is a great out-reach program.

The Food Pantry was discussed. Lawrence Clark said the Post Office collected 1,500 pounds of food recently. Thank you, postal workers, for your dedication to this project.

Lawrence also advised that after closing Holton Lumber Company, Don and Donna Johnson donated their computer to the Food Pantry. The Computer Doctors converted the computer for Food Pantry use for a very minimal fee, and Giant Communications waived their fees. A huge thank you to Don and Donna Johnson, the Computer Doctors and Giant Communications for helping the Food Pantry.

Lawrence Clark also deserves a big thank you for all of the extra time and effort he puts in at the Food Pantry.

For the month of March, 127 households were served, including 175 adults, 116 children and 53 elderly. For the month of April, 91 households were served, including 107 adults, 82 children and 59 elderly. The Food Pantry's supply of gently used children's books is getting low.

In June, the Baptist Church of Hoyt has Sunday services at Medicolodges, and Holton First UMC will help fill the Food Pantry.

The next meeting of JCMA will be held at 8:30 a.m. on June 20 at Holton First UMC.

Nancy Clark moved to adjourn. Lawrence Clark seconded, and the meeting adjourned.

Netawaka U.M.C.

By Mary E. Edwards

"This Is My Father's World" was the recorded prelude as Marcia Robertson lighted the candles at Netawaka United Methodist Church on Memorial Sunday, May 26. A small group gathered for worship.

Marilyn Banaka gave the welcome and announcements. Joys and concerns were shared. Good news is that school is out for summer vacation. Verona Grannell has a new great-granddaughter.

We pray for all those on our list, especially those grieving for loved ones who have died. Doris Oxendale had a procedure to correct clogged arteries on Monday, May 20, and says she is getting lots of rest and slowly improving.

The songs were "O God Of Every Nation," "God Will Take Care Of You," "Cares Chorus" and "Trust And Obey."

Pastor Young Won led the congregational prayer. Marcia collected the offering, and Marilyn read the scripture, John 14:23-26. Pastor Young's sermon was "If Anyone Loves Me..."

"Have you read the entire Bible?" Pastor Young asked. It has been said that if you read three chapters every weekday and four chapters on Sundays, you can read it in about a year.

Jesus said, "Those who love me will keep my word." To keep His word, we must know it, so reading is important. If we read the word because someone else says we must, it can be a burden. We should read the Bible because we love Jesus and want to obey Him.

As we tithe our money for Him, let's tithe our time; that is, set a time for our reading. We must discipline ourselves so we can have the best life by doing His will, not as a burden, but as a joy!

Mary Edwards attended the Country School reunion on Sunday, May 26, at the Holton Senior Center. It was good to see people who had attended Pleasant Valley, Banner, Lower Banner, Maple Grove, Bateman and other grade schools. It was a very good potluck dinner and music by Roy Hallauer, Jim Baxter, Carolyn Bonhannon and Scott Bailey.

Residents at Homestead Apartments who were home on Memorial Day had a get-together in the afternoon. Dona McCulley fixed snacks and those present enjoyed a movie, "A Dog's Purpose."

Tornado shelter options discussed

By Brian Sanders

Holton Mayor Robert Dieckmann was in attendance at a Beck Bookman Library board meeting on Tuesday, May 21 when the city's tornado sirens began to sound, prompting Holton residents in the area to seek shelter at the Public Safety Building.

"I heard you could not get another person in there," Dieckmann said during Monday's Holton City Commission meeting, noting that he sought shelter elsewhere when the sirens sounded.

"With tornadoes, you pretty much need a basement," Korte said. "For churches with basements, it's kind of a liability, because if somebody's not there to unlock the building and people are out there, that's a liability. Unless a building is open 24-7, it's kind of hard for cities to pick up shelters to move people into."

Those concerns are compounded for campers out at city-owned Prairie Lake — where the campgrounds are packed with recreational vehicles for this weekend's Prairie Lake Pickin' Party — and the Jackson County-owned Banner Creek Reservoir grounds, where RVs can offer no shelter and not much else, if anything, is available to protect campers from severe weather.

Korte said the Public Safety Building in Holton is the only "official" designated tornado shelter in Jackson County that is open to the public whenever people need to seek shelter from severe weather. She said she's talked to the county's smaller communities about establishing shelters, but there are questions about liability that must be answered first.

Class of 1964 gathers for reunion

The Holton High School Class of 1964 gathered for Glory Days during Memorial Day weekend to renew old friendships, share stories and make new memories.

Classmates who traveled from out of state were Ruth (Bostwick) Betterton of Nebraska, Joyanna (Lowdermilk) Hammond of Arizona, Marilyn (Schulz) Sonnentag of Wisconsin, Brad Stauffer of Arkansas, Neil Hahn of Texas and Don Jameson of Washington.

Friday evening was spent in the inviting, rural home of Betsy (Marshall) and Frank Gilliland. A meal was shared. Joyanna gave a presentation about the 10 classmates who have died since graduation. The storm clouds gathered as we prepared our float for the alumni parade the following morning.

As rain had been predicted for the entire weekend, we were skeptical as to whether the parade would be held.

In the morning, BAK cyclists will head east out of Holton toward Atchison, where the ride will end with a celebration at the Missouri River.

BAK Chairman David Rohr said this year's tour will take riders through various scenic Kansas landscapes, starting in the High Plains of western Kansas and ending in the glaciated region at the Missouri River.

"Highlights include the Largest Barn in Kansas in Colby, Nicodemus National Historic Site, Historic Fort Hays, Wilson: the Czech Capital of Kansas, Rock City Park near Minneapolis, the scenic Flint Hills and the Amelia Earhart home in Atchison," Rohr said.

BAK's primary objectives are to promote wellness through bicycling, celebrate Kansas history and the beauty of its landscape and enjoy the warm hospitality of its towns and people. The ride started in 1975 with fewer than 100 riders and has grown to an annual tour that is capped annually at 850 participants.

Potawatomi United Methodist Church

By Ilene Dick

Sunday, June 2, was a beautiful sunny day, much welcomed following the many rains and storms. There was a good attendance at Potawatomi United Methodist Church in celebration of the seventh Sunday of Easter and Ascension Sunday.

Pastor Howard opened the service with scripture and prayer. During announcements, Leon Daugherty gave an update on church repairs. Information about the annual conference was given. Pastor Howard and Judy Thoman attended the conference that was held in Topeka this year. It is sad to learn of several church closings.

Prayer concerns were lifted for all victims of the Virginia Beach shooting; Dorthea Bell had been in the hospital this week but is now home; and Earline Pugh has been moved to Medicalodges in Holton.

Guests for the service were Matt and Sara Worcester and children from Delta. It was nice to have Sara provide the service for her mother.

Marjean Shenk was acolyte. Judy Thoman was liturgist, reading from Revelations 3:21. The Lord's Prayer was prayed in unison.

LeAnna Meeks gave the special, sharing a story titled "If I Were The Devil" by Paul Harvey. The children's story was titled "The Bible." Leon Daugherty and Jim Meeks were offertory ushers.

Hymns for the service were "Stand Up, Stand Up For Jesus," "Spirit Of The Living God" and "Amazing Grace."

Pastor Howard's sermon was titled "Bread From Heaven" with the text taken from John 6:51-58. He gave a reminder of the smell and taste of fresh homemade bread. Although there are various ways of making bread, and now bread makers are often used, the smell and taste remain the same.

There are many recurring themes in the Bible, including bread that is a staple of life. In Sunday's scripture passage, Jesus states that He is "the living bread that came down from heaven."

Christians pose several different possibilities for what Christ means as He said, "This is my body." Jesus speaks of spiritual food, not physical food. God invites us to partake of the true bread of heaven.

Pastor Howard served Holy Communion assisted by Betty Bowser. The prayer after communion was prayed in unison, followed by the closing hymn and benediction.

Next Sunday's sermon will be titled "Anointing Of The Spirit."

On Thursday, May 30, Pam and Leon Daugherty attended a dance program by Studio 1 Dance Center at Holton High School. Pam's two great-nieces participated in the program. The girls did a wonderful job.

Betty Bowser attended a birthday party on Sunday evening, May 19, at the home of Nicholas and Jessica Bowser and family. The occasion was in honor of Hazel Bowser's sixth birthday, which was May 18. Betty also attended a cookout at the home of Darin and Elizabeth on Wednesday evening, May 29.

Jim and Marjean Shenk and Marjean's sisters, Maryalys and Linda, decorated graves in Hiawatha. They then went to White Cloud to view the Missouri River.

Jim had a treatment on his knee and is cautiously optimistic. On Thursday, May 30, he and Marjean attended McKenzie's baseball game, and on Saturday night, June 1, they attended her eighth grade graduation party. Congratulations, McKenzie, and best wishes as you continue your education.

Circleville United Methodist Church

By Sue Wichman

It was a pleasant summer morning when the congregation met at Circleville United Methodist Church on June 2. Leesa Harshaw, pianist, played "How Great Thou Art" while Verlin and Sue Wichman lighted the altar candles.

Lay pastor Charlotte Milroy reported on some of the highlights of the Great Plains Annual Conference Session held last week in Topeka. Following the announcements, she led the opening prayer and the psalter.

Mary Jo Fernkopf served as liturgist, reading scripture from the books of Acts and Revelations.

David was song leader, with Leesa providing the accompaniment. The hymns were "We Gather Together," "Wonderful Words Of Life" and "Christ For The World We Sing."

Charlotte's message was based on Revelations 22:20-26 and was titled "Ready Or Not." The Bible tells us the Lord will return one day and that He's coming for those who have placed their faith in Him.

"Christ will come like a thief in the night, when you least expect him. It will happen in the twinkling of an eye, with the sound of a trumpet." Will you be ready, or not?

The service closed with "Blest Be The Tie That Binds."

Roads...

Employees have replaced many road drain pipes this spring and winter, and several are plugged right now due to severe weather.

"We haven't been able to do much patching right now," he said. "I can't patch a road if a pothole is full of water. That's just throwing money away."

Barnett said they are trying to keep road closures to a minimum.

"People need to slow down (on county roads), and be aware that driving conditions change when there is flash flooding and severe weather. Be smart and be safe."

Minimum maintenance roads should only be travelled down by "people who have business down those roads," Barnett said, noting that the signs say to travel at your own risk.

"It's hard to get to every single mile of road when there are failures on major routes that take precedence," he said. "I do realize that minimum maintenance roads are used by farmers for their livelihood. We make every effort to help when they call in."

Unnecessary damage to minimum maintenance roads is a Class C misdemeanor in Jackson County. A resolution was passed by the county commissioners in 1994 that prohibits the "unnecessary destruction and damage to minimum maintenance roads."

A Class C misdemeanor is punishable by up to one month in jail or a fine of up to $500.

Barnett said all the surrounding counties in northeast Kansas are also experiencing significant road issues.

"Everybody — the state, asphalt companies and quarries — is backed up because of this weather. It's not just Jackson County," he said.

Residents are asked to call the road and bridge department at 785-364-3519 with their concerns. During an emergency after hours, residents are asked to call the sheriff's office, which will relay the message to Barnett and his employees.

"We have a protocol in place, and it's not Facebook," he said.

Fireworks...

Gruver reminded commissioners that when she met with them last July to discuss the matter, most of them said they were sympathetic to the issue of dogs such as hers that are "literally scared to death" of fireworks and will not go outside when fireworks are being discharged. That sympathy was expressed again on Monday by commissioners.

Gruver also said men and women returning from military service overseas who have to deal with PTSD are "a more serious consideration," although Morris said some who had served in the military volunteer their time to run a fireworks stand at the Veterans Club in Holton in recent years.

Holton Mayor Robert Dieckmann noted that last year, he took "an informal survey" of 55 people around Holton's Town Square about limiting the number of days when fireworks could be discharged. Of that number, Dieckmann said, 51 said they wanted to keep things as they were, while only four said they would favor a limit.

Commissioner Dan Brenner

agreed with Morris on wanting to hear all sides of the matter, noting that while he had pets who were scared of the loud noises that accompany fireworks discharges, there was also the matter of fireworks sellers who had already made a financial commitment to purchase fireworks for sale this year.

"The short timing is the problem at this point," Brenner said. "We should do this in advance and make sure there's an open forum for everyone."

It has been reported that while some cities in northeastern Kansas, including Holton and Seneca, allow fireworks sales and discharge between June 27 and July 5, other cities limit the discharge period, and Hiawatha does not allow Class C fireworks discharges within the city limits at all.

But when Gruver suggested a four-day limit on discharging fireworks "like they have in Topeka," Morris bristled, saying he did not want Holton to be compared to Topeka.

"They're a larger town than we are," Morris said.

Election...

Hoyt: Incumbent Nathan McAllister has filed for one of three open seats on the council.

Mayetta: Linda Robinson, Judy Penfield and incumbent Shelly Ramage have filed for the three open seats on the council.

Netawaka: Incumbent Doug Amon, incumbent Daryl Wilson, Carol Keithline and Della Wrightsman have filed for four of the five open positions on the council. Incumbent Jon Banaka has filed for mayor.

Soldier: Incumbent Brenda Holliday-Stanton and incumbent Jackie Tannahill have filed for the two open positions on the council. No one filed for mayor.

Whiting: Robin McConnell has filed for mayor. No one has filed for the five open positions on the city council.

Meadowlark Extension District Governing Board: Incumbent Henriette Area and Amy Pruyer have filed for the two open positions.

A primary election will not be needed since four people are not running for the same position, it was reported.

The last day to register to vote for the Nov. 5 general election is Tuesday, Oct. 15, it was reported.

In addition to the school board and city positions, Jackson County voters are also being asked to renew the countywide .4 percent retailers' sale tax.

This tax has been in place since 2004 and has been renewed once. The tax will sunset at the end of the year and provides funding for county road and bridge projects. Each city in the county also receives a portion of the tax, it was reported.

The Holton USD 336 board of education recently agreed to place a $4.5 million general obligation bond issue on the general election ballot in order to update the heating and cooling system at Holton High School and Holton Middle School. That question will appear on ballots of patrons in the district.

It has been reported that the new bond issue, if approved, will not increase local taxes in the district.
