County enters phase three of reopening plan

By Ali Holcomb

Restrictions for businesses and the size of “mass gatherings” continue to be loosened this week as Jackson County prepares to begin phasing out of the COVID-19 (coronavirus) stay-at-home order by Sunday, June 21.

The limit on “mass gatherings” in the county has been raised from 30 to 50 this week as the county enters “phase three” and will jump to 200 on Monday, June 15, according to recommendations made by Jackson County Health Officer Angela Reith to the Jackson County Commissioners on Monday morning.

The public health advisory issued by Reith includes “strongly suggested” recommendations and are not requirements as the county prepares to reopen completely from the stay-at-home order.

“Our phase out plan will start June 21. We are still strongly recommending people social distance and stay home when they are sick,” Reith said Monday. “We haven’t had a new positive case in six days, but it doesn’t mean that the virus is gone. We have to be vigilant. We may see it come back in the fall.”

After June 21, there will be no recommended limits on mass gatherings in the county, Reith said.

The new public health advisory issued by Reith also lifts restrictions on businesses, allowing them to reopen buffets and other self-serve amenities, such as fountain drinks.

“They can also seat people wherever they want to,” Reith said of restaurants. “Our recommendation is that they try to continue to space their guests out as best they can.”

Reith said that area nursing homes have been advised to follow recommendations by the Kansas Department for Aging and Disability Services and the Kansas Department of Health and Environment to determine when they can reopen for visitors. Nursing homes owned by a corporation may also have different guidelines set by their administrators.

“The two biggest calls I’m receiving right now are on self-serve drinks and when can people visit nursing homes,” she said. “I’m encouraging our nursing homes to follow the recommendations by KDHE and KDADS.”

At this time, those organizations recommend that in-person visits not be allowed unless absolutely necessary.

Commissioner Ed Kathrens asked Reith’s opinion on reopening the bathhouses, playground, swimming beach and other amenities at Banner Creek Reservoir, which have remained closed.

Scout working to expand monument

By Brian Sanders

When the Purple Heart Medal memorial was placed in Holton’s Linscott Park in May of 2017, it contained the names of 166 military veterans from Jackson County who were either wounded or killed in the line of active military duty.

Since then, another 28 Jackson County military veterans have been identified as Purple Heart Medal recipients whose names should be on the memorial — and a Holton High School student is doing his part to make sure they are rightly recognized.

But expanding the Purple Heart monument is not the only task that 15-year-old Johan Campbell, who has been involved in the Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts for 10 years, is looking to take on as his Eagle Scout project.

“One part of it is to put a smaller slab on the bottom of the stone and put those names on the stone,” said Campbell, whose father, Erich Campbell, is a Purple Heart Medal recipient whose name is on the existing memorial. “Another part is to install a new flagpole, because the pole that’s there, behind the monument, is bent over to one side.”

The third task that the younger Campbell said he plans to take on involves “a general cleaning with some soap and scrubbing” on the Company E, 137th Infantry, 35th Division monument that has stood in the park for decades after the end of World War II.

Johan, who recently completed his freshman year at HHS, said he chose expanding the Purple Heart memorial as his Eagle Scout project because he “thought it would be a nice thing to do” for medal recipients whose names are not yet on the monument.

He took a proposal to expand the monument to the Holton City Commission this past February, earning approval from commissioners and support from Holton’s American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars posts. The word soon spread that he was

Local graduations to be held this summer

All three Jackson County school districts — Jackson Heights, Holton and Royal Valley — are moving forward with high school graduation ceremonies this summer.

Jackson Heights

Some details about how — and where — Jackson Heights High School’s Class of 2020 will hold its commencement ceremony are still being worked out, but the date and time are set, the USD 335 Board of Education noted during its regular monthly meeting on Monday.

The board in May approved a Sunday, June 21 graduation ceremony, and that date was finalized during the board’s Monday meeting, with commencement to start at 2 p.m. that day. However, board members were split on where the graduation ceremony should be held — outdoors at the JHHS football field and track, or indoors at the JHHS gym — and the ceremony’s location had not been finalized at press time.

District Superintendent Adrienne Walsh said she received a recommendation from Jackson County Health Officer Angela Reith to hold the commencement ceremony at the football field and track, noting that if that option was chosen and families attending the ceremony sat together, “we would not have to put any kind of restriction on the number of guests.”

If the ceremony were to be held outside, Middle and High School Principal Darren Shupe noted, graduating seniors may not want to sit on the track area, which he said would be “pretty hot.” Where the seniors and board members would be seated during the ceremony,

PBP Nation files suit against Treasury

The Prairie Band Potawatomi Nation filed suit Monday in Federal District Court in Washington, D.C., seeking to prevent U.S. Treasury Secretary Steven Mnuchin from distributing the remainder of $8 billion in funding provided to tribal governments under the CARES Act to address the effects of the coronavirus on American Indian and Alaska Native nations and tribes, it has been reported.

To meet a 30-day deadline set by Congress for distributing the funds, in April the Treasury Department and the Department of Interior solicited input from tribal leaders on how best to distribute the funding.

Tribes were later requested to provide certain data to help generate a distribution formula. A centerpiece of the data request was that each tribe provide its total enrolled population, which the tribes say is the best measure for determining a tribal government’s service obligation.

Despite this request, the Treasury Department ignored the tribal enrollment data, according to the PBP Nation. Instead, it adopted a highly unreliable and controversial race-based formula used by the Department of Housing and Urban Development to distribute Indian housing funds, the PBP Nation said in a news release.

Without advance notice that it was using this formula, the Treasury then distributed $4.8 billion to tribal governments.

While the Prairie Band Potawatomi Nation has more than 4,500 Tribal members, it was reported, the HUD formula that was adopted by Treasury undercounted the Nation’s enrolled population by 80 percent, the PBP Tribe said.

COVID-19 forces some businesses to close

COVID-19 (coronavirus) has had a far-reaching negative effect on businesses across the country, with several small businesses being forced to close due to revenue lost while being closed to prevent the possible spread of the virus.

Jackson County is no exception, despite efforts of the federal government’s PPP (Payroll Protection Program) and local governments, organizations and the Holton/Jackson County Chamber of Commerce to help keep those businesses open — at least three local businesses have closed as a result of the pandemic, it was reported.

“It is heartbreaking,” Chamber executive director Ashlee York said of local businesses closing as an aftereffect of stay-at-home orders issued by state governments, such as the order from Kansas Gov. Laura Kelly in mid-March that is currently being relaxed.

Many businesses have had to adapt to the stay-at-home order through such avenues as online sales and curbside-only service.

But even with the option of curbside service and various forms of financial aid, many local businesses are still feeling the sting of COVID-19 on their clientele and their revenue.

York said her office has been trying to keep a finger on the pulse of those businesses in Holton and Jackson County who may still be feeling that sting, even with stay-at-home restrictions being loosened.

“We’ve tried, in the past couple of weeks, to call each business and see how they were doing, not necessarily to pry into their finances, but just to see if there was anything that the Chamber could do, whether it was help with resources or financial aid,” she said. “We have really tried to be a business resource for any business in Jackson County.”

At least three local businesses have shuttered because of the pandemic and resulting statewide stay-at-home order.

Carlson sews masks for clinic patients

By Brian Sanders

With school buildings closed since spring break because of the COVID-19 (coronavirus) pandemic, most middle school-age students have been looking for some additional activities to fill their time after school work is completed via internet learning platforms.

Karma Carlson, a sixth-grader at Jackson Heights Elementary School this past spring, decided to “pitch in” by sewing cloth masks for patients at Holton Family Health Clinic.

“I figured maybe I could help out a little bit,” said the 12-year-old Carlson, whose mother, Rochelle McAsey, works at the clinic. “I had tons of time on my hands, and I knew how to sew. I figured I’d help out.”

McAsey, who said her daughter has been sewing for “a few years,” suggested putting together some cloth masks for patients at the clinic not long after school buildings were closed to prevent the possible spread of COVID-19.

“I knew she was getting kind of bored,” McAsey said. “So I said, ‘Hey, would you like to make some masks if you can find a design that works?’ And she got right on it.”

Carlson looked up cloth mask patterns and after finding a couple that she liked, she tried them out to see how well they worked.

“I made a couple of them, and they were pretty easy to make,” she said.

But the plan to make masks changed when Carlson’s sewing machine “quit on me,” and she tried making a

County cuts road rock hauling contract

By Ali Holcomb

Jackson County's contract with Ehrhart Excavating to haul road rock has been going well, but due to a lack of funds, the county won't continue to use the company's services at this time, it has been reported.

At a recent Jackson County Commission meeting, Dan Barnett, road and bridge director, and Bob Ehrhart of Ehrhart Excavating gave an update on rock hauling services for the county.

With a low supply of crushed rock at the Denison quarry, Ehrhart trucks had to haul rock out of the Grantville quarry, which isn't an affordable option for the company, Ehrhart said.

Hauling rock from Grantville costs the business $10 per ton compared to $1.83 per ton from Denison. Once Denison had crushed more rock, Ehrhart said that, with two trucks, they were able to haul about 700 tons from that quarry in one day at about three loads per hour.

"It's been working out well for us," Barnett said.

Ehrhart was one of seven companies in April that submitted bids to haul road rock for the county. Ehrhart bid $90 an hour, and the commissioners agreed to a temporary contract on a trial basis. The commissioners thanked Ehrhart for his work to haul rock.

Barnett also reported in the meeting that the department's rock budget, which was set at $600,000 for 2020, was "shot" and was negative $4,000.

"We're in pretty bad shape," he said. "We've put a lot of rock on the roads this year."

The commissioners agreed to transfer $300,000 to the rock budget - $100,000 apiece from the special .4 percent retailers' tax fund, the fuel budget and grant matching funds.

Since the rock budget is so low, Commissioners Ed Kathrens and Bill Elmer informed Barnett that the county will be unable to continue contracting with Ehrhart for hauling services. Barnett said he understood.

In other business, according to the approved minutes from May 18, the commission:

■ Discussed road concerns with Barnett at 238th and H Roads and 142nd and Q3 Roads.

Barnett also reported that 254th Road between S and T Roads has been torn up as NextEra works to install a new transmission line in the county.

Barnett said he is putting together costs for the county to complete the repairs at NextEra's expense. This would be a temporary repair and the road would be resurfaced properly by NextEra after the project is complete.

■ Tabled bids to paint the building at the recycling center. Scott Kieffaber, noxious weed and environmental services director, received two out of county bids for the project.

The commissioners agreed to table the project until more local contractors bid on the project.

■ Learned from Kieffaber that he also had the skylights at the department's buildings repaired by Morton Building at a cost of $725 after they were damaged from a storm.

The storm also damaged a camera, and Kieffaber said he was working with The Computer Doctor to find a comparable replacement.

■ Met with county resident Oren Long to discuss his proposed resolution that would declare Jackson County a "sanctuary county" and "back open for business." Long and several others met with the commissioners the following week to discuss the proposed resolution, which was not adopted by the commission.

■ Discussed the county's maintenance service agreement with McElroy's with Chad Phillips, Courthouse custodian. The commissioners agreed to continue its agreement with the company.

■ Heard a weekly report from Lu Griffiths, Banner Creek Reservoir director, who reported that camping has been full at the reservoir and that some people have been unhappy that spots are not available. Griffiths discussed possibly adding 10 spots to campground C in the future.

■ Met in executive session for 15 minutes to discuss a personnel matter. No action was taken back in open session.

■ Asked Kate Immenschuh, deputy county appraiser, if she was interested in the county appraiser position. Immenschuh said "possibly" and the commissioners agreed to discuss it at a future meeting.

■ Adjourned the meeting at 2:42 p.m.

USD 335 considering 'virtual school' option

By Brian Sanders

The Jackson Heights USD 335 Board of Education could decide in July whether to offer a "virtual school" program option in the district and whether students who participate in a virtual program would have the same access to extracurricular activities or graduation honors as students who attend the "brick and mortar" school.

During the board's regular meeting on Monday, District Superintendent Adrienne Walsh presented board members with information about virtual school programs around the state, in which students receive district-approved instruction outside of regular class settings, mainly via the internet.

Walsh told board members that she was looking at a virtual school program as a means of increasing district enrollment, particularly where families involved in homeschooling and "a couple of our kids who have chosen to drop out" are concerned.

Board members appeared to favor a virtual school program option, with some favoring restrictions on eligibility for extracurricular activities, including sports, and graduation honors for those students who participate in the program. Action on whether to adopt a program is expected at the board's Monday, July 13 meeting.

Last December, the board discussed possible options for a virtual school program in the district after Walsh said she was aware of eight families in the district that were homeschooling their children. Since then, she said she has completed "all the paperwork" that was necessary to get a program started in the district.

Walsh also shared information with the board about other virtual school programs in Kansas, noting that "about 90 percent" of the state's school districts that use the "virtual school" concept do so as an in-district program, as opposed to having the program as "its own building with its own report card."

One drawback to the program, she said, involves a change in full-time enrollment weighting for families who choose to get involved in the program so that students in those families can participate in KSHSAA-sanctioned activities.

"They'd have to come up here and do an hour a day on campus (to be involved in activities) and that automatically changes the FTE" funding from the state, Walsh told the board. "It goes from $5,000 if it's completely virtual to $1,700 if you have somebody coming to campus part-time."

As a result, she said, school districts across the state with virtual school programs do things differently, with some districts not allowing virtual school students to participate in sports or other extracurricular activities, such as homecoming or prom.

Board President Dr. David Allen said that if Jackson Heights initiated a virtual school program, he would favor allowing students in the program to participate in homecoming and prom. Board member Ed Rostetter agreed, but drew the line at graduation honors for such students.

"Virtual students shouldn't be considered for valedictorian and salutatorian," Rostetter said. "I think they need to be here full-time if they're going to be considered for that."

Walsh said that if students in the virtual school program could be convinced that "they're part of Jackson Heights and maybe enjoy it so much that they think they'd like to change to being in school," it could only benefit the district, even if many students who participate in such programs are those "for whom brick-and-mortar is not a fit... they're not really interested in moving toward assimilating."

Many virtual school programs also involve different graduation requirements than "brick and mortar" schools, she said. In the Jackson Heights district, 27 class credits are required for graduation, while the state minimum in such programs is 21, although if Jackson Heights adopted a program, the board could raise the district's minimum.

Board members also heard a presentation from Victoria Meyer, a consultant with the Educere virtual education services firm of Fort Washington, Pa., about the possibility of utilizing the firm's services for a virtual school program.

In other business on Monday, the board:

■ Noted the absence of board member Neal Keeler. Board members present included Allen, Rostetter, Doug Amon, Konrad Coe, Kelly Kennedy and Melinda Wareham.

■ Approved the meeting's agenda and consent agenda, including minutes from the board's May 11 meeting, monthly bills and activity account reports and acceptance of a $22,500 Kansas Preschool Pilot grant.

■ Approved participation in the annual food program for the 2020-21 school year, with elementary lunch prices increasing from $2.35 to $2.40, middle and high school lunches increasing from $2.55 to $2.60, adult breakfast prices increasing from $2.20 to $2.25 and adult lunch prices increasing from $3.75 to $3.85. Student breakfast prices will remain unchanged.

■ Approved 2020-21 textbook fees of $45 for K-12 students and preschool students with an IEP or grant slot, unchanged from last year.

■ Approved renewal of the district's workers' compensation plan with Accident Fund Insurance Company of America through Brier Payne Meade Insurance of Topeka. The 2020-21 district premium is $22,102, a decrease of $55 from the 2019-20 premium of $22,157, Walsh said.

■ Approved the district's property and liability insurance plan with the Kansas Educational Risk Management Pool for 2020-21 at a premium of $54,281. Walsh said the average premium increase on such insurance plans is 38 percent.

■ Heard a report from Walsh that the district will receive the Kansas Preschool-Aged At-Risk grant in addition to the Kansas Preschool Pilot Grant, with the amount of the At-Risk grant to be determined by the number of 4-year-old children who qualify.

■ Discussed plans and options for high school graduation ceremonies on Sunday, June 21 (see related story).

■ Heard a facilities update from Walsh, who noted that cleaning work was complete in the high school building and had begun in the elementary school building. She added that the district is seeking quotes for an update on the exhaust system in the high school's FACS classroom.

■ Heard a report from Middle and High School Principal Darren Shupe about updates to the school handbook involving bringing animals to school for educational purposes and allowing students to serve as teacher's aides.

■ Met in executive session for 35 minutes with Walsh to discuss non-elected personnel matters. After returning to open session, the board approved contracts for Madison Stewart as middle and high school PE teacher and Jason White for summer help. The board also approved a list of supplementary contracts for the 2020-21 school year.

■ Adjourned the meeting at about 9:20 p.m.

Holton police investigate recent accidents

The following traffic accidents were reported in recent days by the Holton Police Department.

• At about 6:35 p.m. on May 26, Vernon E. Forney, 52, of Pierce, Neb., was turning a 2002 Peterbilt tractor-trailer westbound onto Banner Road from southbound U.S. Highway 75 when the Peterbilt reportedly struck a vertical traffic signal on the west side of the highway. The traffic signal was owned by the Kansas Department of Transportation. More than $1,000 in damage to Forney's vehicle was estimated.

• James M. Tapley, 59, of Holton, was driving a 2001 Ford Ranger east on Fourth Street at about 11:15 a.m. on May 16 when the Ranger reportedly rear-ended a eastbound 2015 Dodge R15 driven by Beau R. Ballew, 38, of Ponca City, Okla., while Ballew had stopped on Fourth to turn north onto Pennsylvania Avenue. Both vehicles then turned south onto Pennsylvania to wait for police officers. More than $1,000 in damage to the two vehicles was estimated in the accident.

• Just before 4 p.m. on May 2, Carol D. Hiner, 80, of Holton was backing a 2009 Toyota RAV into the driveway at her home in the 200 block of New Jersey Avenue when the RAV reportedly struck a tree. More than $1,000 in damage to the RAV was estimated in the accident.

• At about 4:50 p.m. on April 28, Debra M. Hutchison, 58, of Vassar, was driving a 2005 Ford F-150 north on U.S. 75 when she reportedly ran a red light at Banner Road and struck the driver's side door of a 2006 Ford F-150 driven by Randy D. Maxwell, 39, of Tecumseh, Okla., who was driving through the intersection.

Maxwell reportedly required extrication from his vehicle and was taken to Holton Community Hospital for treatment of possible injuries. Hutchison was reportedly uninjured but was arrested on charges of driving under the influence, possession of methamphetamine, possession of drug paraphernalia, interference with law enforcement and no driver's license on person. Damage estimates were not listed in the police report.

• A 2000 Dodge pickup driven by Tracy V. Robbins, 56, of Holton, was westbound on Fifth Street at about 5 p.m. on April 23 when the pickup reportedly ran a stop sign at Ohio Avenue and crossed in front of a 2011 Kubota front-end loader driven north on Ohio by Gary J. Moulden, 65, of Holton. Moulden reportedly attempted to avoid a collision with the pickup but the Kubota struck the pickup's passenger side, with more than $1,000 in total damages estimated in the accident.

With the completed construction of the new livestock barn and arena building at the Northeast Kansas Heritage Complex south of Holton, the new fairgrounds are ready to host this year's Jackson County 4-H Fair. According to Jackson County Fair Association board president Aaron Allen, all that's needed are some doors for the building.

After 45 years, members of the Bravo Company - Company B, 4th Battalion, 23rd Infantry Regiment, 25th Infantry Division - came together to pay tribute to Netawaka native Danny Petersen, who made the ultimate sacrifice in Vietnam to ensure his brothers in arms returned home safely all those years ago. Petersen, a Specialist Fourth Class with the U.S. Army, received a posthumous Medal of Honor for his actions on that day in 1970, when he took on the NVA and enabled his fellow soldiers to get to safety.

For the past few years, the Jackson Heights USD 335 Board of Education has been looking at renovating the district's track, which has fallen into disrepair and has prevented the district from hosting any track meets. On Monday, June 8, the board took action to make sure that a new track will be in place before students return for the 2015-16 school year. Board members approved a proposal to tear out the old JHHS track and put down a new six-lane asphalt track.

Heavy rains in decent days have washed out ditch after ditch in Jackson County and, in at least one case, opened a "sinkhole." Circleville resident Valerie Olberding discovered a large hole near an old bridge by her home that was created by heavy rains on Sunday, June 7. The hole has been filled and no injuries were reported.

GUEST COMMENTARY

We need a revival of “rightness” in America

By Glenn Mollette

The death of George Floyd at the hands of police should never have happened. It was a dark moment in America. The looting, terrorism and burning of American cities by so-called protesters is criminal and also a dark moment in America.

The Minneapolis police officers involved in Floyd's death must be held accountable. The criminals involved in wrecking American cities, robbing and burning businesses must be held accountable.

Americans have the right to free speech. Free speech does not mean destroying property, hurting police officers and criminal activities.

The question many Americans are asking today is who is funding these criminal, terrorist riots that have happened across America?

People are showing up from other cities and states to wreak havoc and chaos in American cities. Who is paying their travel? Who is providing their lodging? Who is paying them money? Are there really this many evil, bad people in America?

Obviously, there are because the acts of violence displayed on national television are not coming from peaceful protesters. We have seen and heard about many peaceful protesters. Thousands of people have made their protests in a peaceful, honorable way.

No one blames anyone for being upset and angry about what happened to George Floyd. It made me angry. I would be willing to march with anyone to cry out against such an act and event. Actually, I cried out against Floyd's death in last week's column stating my feelings about his death at the hands of the Minneapolis police officers.

This column goes to thousands of media outlets. It was horrific and wrong, and the officers must be punished. The looters and criminals who have vandalized and saw Floyd's death as an opportunity to pursue criminal activity also must be put in jail and punished.

America is in deep trouble. We are still dealing with COVID-19 (coronavirus) with the prospects of a fall resurgence. Unemployment soars. Businesses have closed and many are struggling to hold on.

Economically our nation is buried. The future of our older generation is at great risk and the younger generation has not grasped yet what is really in store for them financially.

The economic plight of this nation has put the realization of the American Dream at great risk for America's children.

We desperately need a revival of “rightness” in America. There was a day when people believed in strong morals, decency, respect and the Golden Rule.

This “rightness or rule” must happen from all the politicians, to the police officers, to the protesters and to every person in America.

The preachers in America must get this message out. The politicians must get this message out. We must put this message into our daily living. Or it's over for America.

PLAINS FOLK: “Decoration Day”

By Jim Hoy

Memorial Day, coming as it does at the end of May, is often thought of as initiating the summer season. The weather is warm (possibly rainy), the flowers are in bloom and the birds are hard at it, filling the air with song.

People use the three-day weekend for picnics, trips to a nearby lake, and municipal swimming pools often open on Memorial Day (and close on Labor Day). I have a feeling that many people, especially younger ones, don't even think about, or know, the purpose of the holiday.

When I was growing up, we called it Decoration Day, and we usually traveled to Conway Springs to visit my mother's parents. Sometimes one of her brothers and his family may have been there, but it was on Thanksgiving when the entire family would gather.

Usually it was just us on Decoration Day. It was a good time to visit. My grandparents were gardeners, and the first strawberries would be ripening. We'd pick some to eat there, some to take back home to Cassoday with us.

Grandpa liked to fish, and we'd sometimes go out to Slate Creek in the afternoon, or maybe the Ninescaw River.

We always, however, went to the cemetery to put flowers on the graves of Grandma's relatives, the Gooches. (Grandpa was from Iowa and had no kin in the Conway Springs cemetery.)

The highlight for me, and the other young boys, was when the honor guard fired their rifles in a salute to the veterans buried in the cemetery.

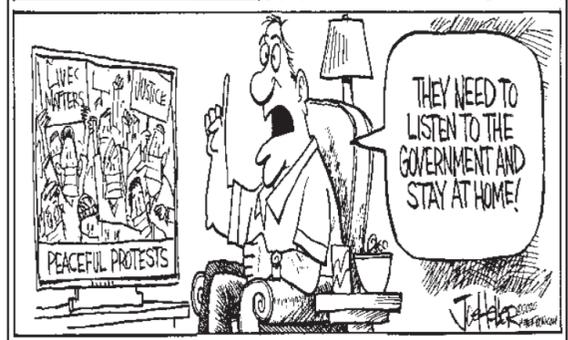

After the ceremony was finished, we would scramble for the shell casings. Many of the gravestones had a small shield-like metal marker holding a small American flag. The initials on the marker were GAR, Grand Army of the Republic, signifying that those buried there were Union soldiers, veterans of the Civil War. One of those markers was on Grandpa Gooch's grave.

The history of Memorial Day is interesting and controversial. It was not until 1971 that an act of Congress made the name official and established a national holiday always to be held on the last Monday in May.

Before that, it was designated Decoration Day and always held on May 30, no matter on which day of the week that date fell.

By 1890, every state in the union was observing a Decoration Day of some sort.

Many cities claim to have held the first one. Near the end of the Civil War, thousands of Union prisoners were crowded into a camp, where some 250 of them died and were buried in a

PLAINS FOLK: Black diphtheria was dread of every parent

By Tom Isern

“Only Two of Nine Survive” reads the headline I found first in The Barton County Democrat on May 1, 1903, and then in country town papers across the state. All of them were talking about the tragic developments in Lyon County, where, as the press reported, “Two children of the O'Mara family, south of Hartford, which were taken with the black diphtheria, are about to recover.”

“They are the only two of a family of nine children who have survived the epidemic. At one time there were six corpses in the home, all brothers and sisters.”

The Journal of the American Medical Association echoed the press reports, “Diphtheria is said to be raging in the southern part of Lyon County. It is said that seven out of nine children of one family on a farm near Hartford have died.”

The O'Maras (or, as they spelled it, O'Marras) were Irish folk who had moved from the settlement over at Emerald. Diana Staresinic-Deane, an author with a fascination for cemeteries, has done wonderful work documenting the tragedy of the O'Marra family and their burial in St. Mary's Cemetery south of Hartford.

They called the disease that plagued them “black diphtheria” because of the physical manifestation of the infection – the accumulation of dark membranous material in the windpipe that ultimately choked off life. In some cases, too, the heart was weakened to the point of failure.

Diphtheria is highly contagious and especially deadly to children. Widespread vaccination programs commenced in the 1920s, and occurrence of the disease tapered off eventually to substantial eradication. Before that, however, the black diphtheria was the dread of every parent.

On May 1, less than a month after Lee's surrender at Appomattox, 1,000 newly freed slaves, accompanied by U.S. Colored Troops, met at the camp to establish a proper burial site for the Union soldiers. They held a ceremony, sang hymns and scattered flowers.

In early May 1868, General John Logan, head of the GAR, decreed May 30 as Decoration Day, and on the first observance later that month General James Garfield, later President Garfield, spoke to the 5,000 people in attendance at Arlington National Cemetery, where 20,000 Civil War veterans were buried.

In 1966, the federal government declared Waterloo, New York, as the official birthplace of Memorial Day. That city had been holding an annual community-wide commemoration of Civil War veterans since May 5, 1866. Businesses closed and people in the town put flowers and flags on the graves of soldiers.

The lake may get lots of picnickers on Memorial Day, but I have a feeling that many of those people had been to the cemetery earlier to place flowers on the graves of relatives. I hope they also remembered GAR and other veterans as well.

LETTER

Dear editor,

I read with great interest the editorial in the June 1-3 edition of The Holton Recorder titled “Returning Violence For Violence Never Works.” The truth of this statement seems obvious enough to me although our current president threatens just that over and over.

Here is another similar statement even more obviously true. “Returning violence for non-violence never works.” That is exactly what happened to George Floyd, Breonna Taylor, Ahmaud Arbery, David McAtee, Philando Castille, Sandra Bland, Michael Brown, Tamir Rice, Trayvon Martin and many, many others.

Though none of these were being violent, they had deadly violence returned to them. And we know that did not work as violent racism continues again and again and again.

So the “rioting” and “looting” that have followed protests is the problem? Where is the righteous indignation against large corporations and even universities who looted the Paycheck Protection Program under the CARES Act? Are you still as angry as I am about the looting of black slave labor? And as angry as I am over the looting of Native American land via treaties never fulfilled?

Looting in America is older than our nation itself and did not start as a result of protests over police killings of unarmed black men.

By the way, check well before laying recent looting at the feet of protesters.

The Justice Department is identifying most of the rioting and looting as conducted by right and left wing extremists, not righteous protesters, in my opinion.

No, Mr. Editor, our current unrest echoes times well prior to current demands for change. You quoted Martin Luther King Jr. He had violence inflicted on him many times by police in return for non-violence and that was even before he was killed.

America needs to back today's cries for change, and we need to do so unequivocally, with full throats and swift action. Then when we are ready to deal with looting, let's not forget those taking lots more than big screen televisions.

LETTER

Dear editor,

Hitler once said, “How fortunate is a (foreign old tyrant) ruler when the people do not listen or pay attention.” Blind to what is really going on, truth.

The left liberal socialized, communist, propaganda, terrorist organizations want to kill America in every way they can – financially, cyber, military power-wise, killing capitalism and other ways, to kill our country power-wise. To get us out of their way for political, religion, hate gain or world domination for China and Russia so that they can do as they want to do, finishing their Cold War plan (of World War II) re-strategized with different players (China and Russia).

They want to argue, acquire Australia to Paris and America, making their one big country dynasty of all the countries with one religion – theirs.

They want to take our constitutional rights away. They could not run capitalism out of our country, so now, nationwide, they are trying to kill our small businesses within each state.

They want to change our government to another government it is not. If they get elected into important offices in our government in November, God save America! We will not have a free country or constitutional rights.

They must be stopped and punished for this tyranny and anarchy against America, trying to overthrow our constitutional laws, government and harm our country and citizens any way they can.

LETTER

Dear editor,

My husband, Keen Umbehr, filed an ethics complaint against former Shawnee County Chief Deputy District Attorney Jacqie Spradling on July 27, 2016. In part, he alleged Ms. Spradling intentionally presented false information during the trial of Dana Chandler by stating that murder victim Michael Sisco had obtained a protection from abuse order against Chandler.

On April 6, 2018, the Kansas Supreme Court unanimously reversed Dana Chandler's convictions for the murder of Michael Sisco and Karen Harkness due to prosecutorial misconduct on the part of Spradling. The Court stated: “All agree there is no protection from abuse order,” and “The State's questioning of the detective about a ‘protection from abuse’ order supports a conclusion this was preplanned.”

On Nov. 21, 2018, disciplinary administrator Stan Hazlett sent a letter to Keen informing him the Review Committee had determined probable cause existed to believe Spradling violated the Kansas Rules of Professional Conduct and had directed his office to institute formal charges.

In a letter dated May 2, 2019, Keen was notified that the formal disciplinary hearing for Jacqie Spradling had been scheduled for Oct. 23, 2019. However, following two postponements, the formal hearing has been delayed until June 22, 2020.

In State of Kansas v. Eldon Sherman, the Kansas Supreme Court wrote: “A prosecutor who knowingly and intentionally disregards the dictates of justice in Kansas courts does so at his or her peril.”

This begs the question: Why has it taken the disciplinary administrator nearly four years to schedule a formal hearing for Spradling when the Kansas Supreme Court concluded more than two years ago she committed prosecutorial misconduct during Dana Chandler's 2012 trial?

Meanwhile, Jacqie Spradling continues to practice law as the Bourbon County attorney. Where is the peril in that?

Spring Livestock Show slated for this weekend

The Jackson County Spring Livestock Show was started several years ago as an opportunity for the county's youth to be in the "spotlight" with their livestock projects more than just the county fair, according to Deb Dillner, Jackson County Fair Association secretary. A lot of time, effort, energy and dollars are invested in a livestock project by the entire family, Dillner said.

This year's event will be a two-day event, Saturday, June 13 and Sunday, June 14 at the Northeast Kansas Heritage Complex, it has been reported.

The sheep and goat show will be held Saturday morning with weigh-in at 7 a.m. and the show starting at 8:30 a.m. The beef show will also be on Saturday with the weigh-in at 11 a.m. and the show starting at 1 p.m. The event will wrap up with the swine show on Sunday morning with the weigh-in at 7 a.m. and the show starting at 9 a.m.

The event organizers report they have already received more than 180 pre-entries from across the state and some from Nebraska and Missouri.

In past years, this has been a one day event with all species shown on the Saturday of Memorial Day Weekend. But due to health concerns due to COVID-19, the event for 2020 was moved back a few weeks and spread out over two days. Health guidelines are being followed. Social distancing is strongly encouraged.

Summer Ball Update Sign up continues for T-Ball, Pinto Leagues

There is still time to sign up your kids for Holton's T-Ball and Pinto Leagues, it has been reported.

Sign up forms for these two summer leagues are due Tuesday, June 16. Forms are available at the Parks and Rec Building outside mailbox on Fifth Street and also downloadable from the city of Holton's parks and recreation department website.

The T-ball league is for boys and girls ages 5-U while the Pinto League is for boys and girls 8-U. Teams will be picked Thursday, June 18 and after a couple weeks of practice, games will be played July 6 through Aug. 2.

Justin Fluke, president of the Holton Ball Association this year, said eight to 10 teams are expected for the both the T-Ball and Pinto League teams this summer.

The Holton Ball Association is also offering an 11-U baseball league this summer, consisting of three teams. An earlier sign up deadline during stricter COVID-19 guidelines negatively impacted the number of kids signing up for this age group, Fluke said. Also, teams from Soldier, Circleville, Netawaka and Whiting, that normally compete with the Holton teams in the Jackson County League, were not formed this summer, Fluke said.

Enough 11-U girls signed up to form one team, Fluke said. That team plans to practice weekly and set up some games with a local Blue Heat traveling team and take part in some softball camps to be offered by HHS coach John Deitrich.

The Holton Ball Association is also offering 14-U baseball and softball this summer. There are enough players for three baseball teams and two softball teams.

These leagues also had an earlier sign up deadline and - like 11-U - will not have any teams from Soldier, Circleville, Netawaka and Whiting.

Fluke said two 14-U teams from Royal Valley joined the Holton summer ball league after their Jefferson-Jackson league canceled its summer season.

Games in Holton 14-U leagues start June 22 and will continue through July 24, Fluke said.

Fluke said that more than 100 kids had been signed up for the 11-U and 14-U leagues.

"We have been observing social distancing guidelines at practices, and since there are fewer kids participating there has been enough equipment, so each player has his/her helmet and bat," Fluke said. "By the time the games start, we expect to be phased out of most COVID-19 restrictions and gathering limits but will still follow local city and county health official recommendations on social distancing as much as possible."

Fluke added that there are some other parents practicing baseball and softball with their kids weekly, just not participating in organized games this summer. There are also some Blue Heat softball teams from Holton competing in leagues and tournaments out of town, he added.

"We knew this year would be different and numbers would be down, but the focus was on providing an opportunity to get our youth back out with their friends and socializing while competing and enjoying improving their ball skills in a safe and approved manner," Fluke said. "While many other traditional options are not available this summer, I'm really happy that we will end up with about 200 kids getting this opportunity through our Holton Ball Association."

For more information about Holton summer ball, contact Fluke at 1-620-886-0581 or Holton Parks and Recreation Director Mike Reichle at 364-9000.

Shrine Bowl to Hummer

After Washburn University Officials announced the closure of their campus on May 5, due to health and safety concerns from COVID-19, the fate of the 47th Annual Kansas Shrine Bowl was unknown. Now, the Kansas Shrine Bowl is excited to announce it will stay in Topeka and play the game at Hummer Sports Complex.

"The new venue is a positive step, but the Kansas Shrine Bowl recognizes the challenges and changes that could affect the event."

"All activities are being coordinated with assistance from the Shawnee County COVID-19 Task Force," Shrine Bowl officials reported. "The health of our players, participants and fans is the top priority and we look forward to working with local officials to execute a safe event."

The announcement of Hummer Sports Complex as the site of the 2020 game is a great step forward, but the 47th Annual Kansas Shrine Bowl will be anything but business as usual. The biggest change will be the cancellation of the Kansas Masonic All-State Marching Band.

Dr. William Woodworth, director of athletic bands at Emporia State University and A.J. Pence, band director at Valley Falls High School, will be working to put together the 37th Annual Kansas Masonic All-State "virtual" band.

Other changes to the 47th Annual Kansas Shrine Bowl will be the cancellation of the Participant Appreciation Banquet, Strong Legs Run 5K and hospital screening clinic. The Kansas Shrine Bowl All-Star Cheer Camp has been shortened to a two-day, commuter camp and will take place at a Topeka school district facility. The Kansas Shrine Bowl Parade, high school football combine, and Jr. All-Star Challenge are still being considered but could be altered or cancelled.

The four-man golf scramble is still scheduled at the Topeka Country Club and hosted by the Arab Shrine Golfers on Friday, July 17.

Individuals who have purchased banquet tickets or banquet sponsorships will be contacted for refund arrangements. Kansas Masonic Lodges will be contacted regarding their band sponsorships and how to proceed over the next few weeks.

East and West training camps are still set to be held in Ottawa and Salina; further details will be provided to parents and players in the coming days.

Ag Week Recap

Corn, soybeans extend gains; wheat rebounds

By Matt Hines

Negotiated cash feedlot has very impressive volume, with more than 146,000 head scheduled for delivery over the next two weeks. Trade was spread out throughout the week in a wide range in Kansas and Texas from $100 to $105 on Friday, up to $117 mid-week, which is from $3 to $20 lower than the week previous.

Trade in Nebraska was also lower from $109 to $117 live and mostly at $175 on a dressed basis. Cattle slaughter, though, is just a few thousand head short of pre-COVID-19 levels, which is a good sign, as we still have at least a million head backed up.

If the goal is to catch up on backlogged slaughter-ready cattle, though, prices will be under pressure until beef is cheap enough to increase exports or be more competitive with other protein sources domestically. Hog slaughter was still running some 30,000 head behind per day, but a huge Saturday kill pushed weekly totals ahead of a year ago.

Compared to last week, steers and heifers sold uneven from $1 lower to $2 higher. Demand was moderate to good this week with a large turnout at auctions, considering last week's Memorial Day holiday-shortened week. Buyers are trying to scoop up the last of the 2019 fall calves suitable for grazing and yearlings coming off graze out of triticale or rye.

For the week, Friday, May 29 through Friday, June 6, June live cattle were down $5.82, August was down $3.42, August feeder cattle were down $1.17, September was down $.27. June lean hogs were down $9.40 and July was down $3.10. Boxed Beef, Choice was down $101.86 at $261.48, Select was down $93.65 at $246.42 and pork carcass cutout was down $15.42 at $72.78.

Cattle slaughter for the week was estimated at 636,000 head, up 112,000 from the week previous and down 29,000 from last year. Year-to-date slaughter is now down 6.7 percent compared to last year with beef production down 4.7 percent.

Hog slaughter for the week was estimated at 2,452,000 head, up 503,000 compared to the week previous and up 42,000 compared to a year ago. Hog slaughter is now down 1.1 percent compared to a year ago with pork production down .6 percent.

June live cattle are trending lower so far this month with support around $92, and resistance is up at last month's recent high at $101.60. August feeders are holding a higher trend with support being tested at $132.60, then around $129 with resistance around $136.

June lean hogs expire later this week holding between $46 and $48. The July contract has been holding a lower trend now for more than a month with support being tested at $53; resistance is up at $57.

Corn and soybeans finished the week extending gains and holding the higher trend while wheat futures bounced back and forth all week but ended the week lower.

Warm and dry weather in the Southern Plains will continue to push the hard red winter (HRW) harvest along as weather in Europe remains little changed. The biggest surprise for the week was the 2.5 million increase in non-farm payroll for May as large declines were expected.

China and unknown destinations were very active this past week, buying both old and new crop U.S. soybeans. Ethanol plants are ramping back up, near 70 percent of capacity now as states continue to phase out business closures and travel restrictions.

For the week, Friday, May 29 through Friday, June 6, July corn was up $.05½, December was up $.06½, July soybeans were up $.27, November was up $.27¾, July Kansas City wheat was down $.09¼, July Chicago wheat was down $.05½ and July soybean meal was up $.59 per ton.

Export inspections for the week ending June 4 continue to show strong corn and grain sorghum shipments at 43.3 million bushels (MBU) and 7.7 MBU, respectively. Soybeans, though, are very disappointing at only 7.8 MBU, a four-year weekly low.

Wheat inspections at 15.9 MBU were in line with expectations as we shift from old to new crop. Crop conditions improved by one to two points this past week as corn planting is almost complete and soybean planting is ahead of schedule.

July corn is still holding steady to higher since mid-April. The contract low is down at $3.09, with nearby support around $3.23 with resistance being tested at $3.35. July soybeans were breaking out of the range bound trade with new recent highs last week just above $8.73 with support at $8.50.

PBPN Casino to reopen

Prairie Band Casino and Resort will reopen its doors to the public on Monday, June 15, it has been reported.

Prairie Band, along with Sac and Fox Casino, Golden Eagle Casino and state-owned casinos, suspended its operations in March because of COVID-19 (coronavirus).

Firekeeper Golf Course, which is owned and operated by the Prairie Band Potawatomi Nation, has remained open with restrictions. The casino has also been offering a "curbside" dinner menu since early April, it was reported.

Disc mower stolen in Brown Co.

Brown County Sheriff John D. Merchant is asking the public's assistance in locating a disc mower that was stolen from a Hiawatha business.

Sometime between 8 p.m. Saturday, May 30 and 9 a.m. Monday, June 1, someone entered the lot at Skyview Implement of Hiawatha and stole a New Holland DB313R disc mower, serial number YKN266752.

The mower is a Centerpivot Discbine with rubber-covered rollers that has a cutting range of 13 feet, three inches, and is valued at $40,000, Sheriff Merchant said.

"We believe the vehicle was a dual rear-wheeled truck with a bale spear or winch capable of lifting the mower conditioner for transport," Merchant said. "It would have been pulling this unit behind a dual-wheeled truck."

Anyone with information is asked to contact the Brown County Sheriff's office at (785) 742-7125.

Shupe added, could be decided later if the outdoor option was taken.

Board President Dr. David Allen said he preferred the outdoor option, as opposed to the gym, where Shupe said an average of 300 people, and as many as 500 people, have attended ceremonies in past years. Board member Kelly Kennedy also said he was fine with either the outdoor option or a ceremony in the gym.

Other members of the board, however, expressed a direct preference for holding the ceremony in the gym, regardless of social distancing recommendations that, as Shupe noted, would allow about 160 people — graduates included — to be seated in the gym.

Shupe also said that while the graduation ceremony would be shorter than in previous years — the “senior video,” he noted, would not be included with an outdoor ceremony — there would be a ceremony either way, in accordance with graduating seniors who expressed a preference to “walk across the stage.”

Board members also noted that graduates would not participate in a “receiving line” after the ceremony as in previous

More roofing options discussed

By Ali Holcomb

Despite recent hail damage, the roof of the Jackson County Courthouse has “held up well,” John Stous of A.D.S. Distributing Inc. told Jackson County Commissioners recently.

Stous asked for the commission’s continued support of A.D.S. as they look to repair hail damage on several county building roofs.

The commissioners have also recently met with representatives from Midwest Coating about the possibility of installing new, different roofs, due to recent hail damage.

A.D.S. installed the spray-foam roof coverings on several current county buildings, and Stous said he could repair the damage at whatever cost the county’s insurance would pay out, as well as include a warranty. The county’s insurance provider is the Kansas County Association Multiline Pool.

“The county has been a good customer for us,” Stous said. “The Courthouse roof was installed more than 20 years ago, and it has performed very well.”

He said that some of the roof coverings appear dirty because of a change in product that A.D.S. used in the past but that they can be cleaned.

Stous said that the A.D.S. spray foam roof product, in his opinion, is more energy efficient and is a better option on a tall building that receives high winds.

“This a proven roof system that has lasted and lasted,” he said. “They are repairable, sustainable and energy efficient and they perform well.”

The commissioners thanked Stous for his presentation. They have not taken any action on the issue at this time.

In other business, according to the approved minutes from May 26, the commission:

* Learned from Dan Barnett, road and bridge supervisor, that the Denison quarry is now restocked with road rock. Members of the road crew were preparing for patching and chip-and-seal projects.

* Approved Neighborhood Revitalization applications for John and April Lemon, Frank Gilliland and Ryan Roberts.

* Adopted resolution 2020-24 declaring a state of local disaster emergency for Jackson County for 60 days.

* Met in executive session for eight minutes with Jackson County Undersheriff Darrel Chapman, Jackson County Clerk Kathy Mick, Jackson County Deputy Clerk Tara Peek and County Counselor Alex Belveal to discuss security issues. No action was taken back in open session.

* Learned from Lu Griffiths, Banner Creek Reservoir director, that the reservoir was full of campers the previous weekend. Griffiths proposed adding some more camping sites with electrical hook-ups on both the north and south sides in the future. Griffiths said he will prepare some cost estimates to present to the commission at a future meeting.

* Approved the bid from Governmental Assistance Services of Lawrence at a cost of $125 per hour (not to exceed $15,000) for grant administrative services. Other bids submitted included $15,000 from Ransom Financial and $13,000 from Thrive Allen County of Iola.

* Adjourned the meeting at 2:44 p.m.

Tech purchases OK'd by RV B.O.E.

By Ali Holcomb

The purchase of 90 new iPads and 60 new Chromebook laptops for Royal Valley Elementary School students was approved by USD 337 Board of Education members Monday evening.

The iPads will be purchased from Apple Education at a total cost of $26,460 and will be used by students in pre-kindergarten through second grade. The other bid included $28,721.70 from CDW-G of Illinois.

The Chromebook laptops are being purchased from TwoTrees Technologies, LLC of Wichita at a cost of $12,180 and will be utilized by students in third and fourth grades.

Superintendent Aaric Davis said the purchase will be paid using some of the district’s CARES Act federal funding.

“These purchases will also allow us to go one-to-one with devices at the elementary school to allow for a more fluid transition between learning at home or learning at school if needed during the upcoming school year,” Davis said.

Also during the meeting, the board received an update from Davis on several summer facility projects.

Holes for new safety bollard posts are expected to be dug soon at the RVMS entrance. New concrete will be poured next week at the entrance, and the new doors are expected to be installed in July, Davis said.

At the elementary school, most of the new playground equipment, which was purchased partially from PTO funds, is expected to arrive on June 16. Another piece of the equipment has been delayed until July.

Davis said he has ordered a new scoreboard for the RVHS football field, which will be installed the first week of August.

“The buildings are looking good,” Davis said. “Our custodians have had more time to spend in each classroom this year.”

In other business, the board:

years, and Shupe said he would reach out to graduates’ families about how the ceremony would be conducted.

The JHHS Class of 2020 includes 34 graduating seniors, including co-valedictorians Kylie Dohly, MaKenzie Kennedy and Jerilyn Nelson and salutatorian Erin Curtis, it was reported.

JHHS graduation updates and guidelines may be viewed at the school’s Web site, jhcobras.net

Holton

Holton High School’s graduation ceremony for the Class of 2020 is tentatively set now for 7 p.m. on Friday, July 10 outdoors at the football stadium, after the school board approved a motion 7-0 at Monday evening’s Zoom Facebook Live meeting to accept the recommendation presented by HHS Principal Rod Wittmer and an advisory group of 14 senior class members.

Principal Wittmer said the advisory group of seniors consisted of class officers and top academic students.

In case of inclement weather, Wittmer and two senior representatives Paige Crouch and Cailin Parks suggested the graduation ceremony by postponed until 10 a.m. the next day.

Wittmer said an outdoor, traditional graduation is preferred by the seniors even though many of the normal features of high school graduation will not be possible and some of the senior class members will be absent due to other summer commitments.

For example, the high school band will not be available to perform. Instead, recorded music of “Pomp and Circumstance” and other selections will be used. A senior ensemble will probably perform, it was noted, and three or four “pool” photographers will be used to take photos and then distribute them for free to parents and family over the internet.

The congratulatory handshakes with diploma presenters will be replaced with elbow bumps, hand air-shakes or simple nods of recognition.

The football stadium venue, Wittmer said, will allow for more social distancing necessary due to COVID-19 concerns.

Those in attendance, along with the seniors and other graduation participants, will be encouraged to wear masks if they want to.

The main concern with an outdoor graduation ceremony in July is the heat, board members noted. All agreed that the graduation ceremony could be started later - perhaps at 8 p.m. - if it is too hot and humid.

A third option for the graduation could be an indoor ceremony at the HHS gym on the morning of Saturday, July 11, that could feature multiple “small group graduations” that could be attended by the group’s family and friends, thus cutting down on the number of people in the gym at the same time.

Wittmer and the two seniors said they would continue to follow the recommendations of the Jackson County Health Department and abide by all social distancing guidelines.

Royal Valley

Royal Valley High School will host its graduation ceremony at 6 p.m. on Saturday, July 11, at the high school in Hoyt.

Additional graduation details are not available at this time and will be based on current state and county health guidelines and suggestions, according to Joel Hesel, RVHS principal.

The Panther Class of 2020 includes 65 seniors and co-valedictorians are Cassidy Parks and Hadley Gregory.

$500,000 to $1 million.

* Renewed the district’s student accidental insurance from Student Assurance Services, Inc. of Stillwater, Minn. for the 2020-21 school year at a cost of $16,730.

* Agreed to offer a bus driver position to Clayton Montag.

* Met in executive session for 10 minutes to discuss teacher salary negotiations. No action was taken back in open session.

* Adjourned the meeting. Board member Boone Smith was absent.

Holton school board approves purchase of 160 new iPads

By David Pows

The purchase of 160 new iPads from Apple, Inc. of Cupertino, Calif. was approved on a 7-0 vote of the Holton school board here Monday evening at a cost of $59,836.

Tom Sextro, technology director for the district, made the proposal to the board during its Zoom Facebook Live meeting and said most of the funds for the purchase will be made from the technology department's upcoming 2020-21 budget.

Eighty of the new iPads for sixth grade students come with keyboard combo cases "exactly like the school board member iPads," Sextro said.

Another 80 of the new iPads, along with some other older ones handed down from sixth grade, will be utilized at the elementary school allowing the Holton district to have a 1-to-1 computing initiative in grades K-12, Sextro said.

Currently, the district has a 1-to-1 computer initiative for grades 3-12.

"The 1-to-1 computer initiative in grades 3-12 proved invaluable for the success of the district's continuous learning initiative," Sextro wrote in a report to the board. "We believe that our proposal will give the district needed flexibility in the event that the district has to move in that direction again during the 2020-21 school year."

A motion was also approved at the meeting on a 7-0 vote to switch group health insurance providers from Blue Cross/Blue Shield to Aetna in order to realize a net savings of about 6 percent, it was reported.

The district and its qualifying teachers and staff pay in more than $1 million in premiums each year, it has been reported.

BC/BS was proposing a 12 percent increase in monthly premiums to renew, it was reported. While Aetna's rates are 2 percent higher than what the district staff pay now in premiums, the company offers a one-month "premium holiday" that decreases the overall amount paid during the year by 6 percent, it was reported.

The Aetna rate for a single policy with a $500 deductible, for example, averages $764.52 per month while BC/BS will average $930.76.

The district contributes $500 to each qualifying employee's single and employee/spouse monthly health care premiums and $705 per month for each employee/child and employee/family monthly health care premiums.

A proposal to cut textbook and other enrollment fees in half for the next Holton school term, as a way to help out families in the district struggling from COVID-19-related issues, was not approved by the school board Monday night, as the board voted 7-0 against it.

Superintendent Bob Davies suggested cutting textbook fees in half from $45 per student to $22.50 for next year since a lot of patrons "had lost jobs and were just starting to get caught up."

"It's been difficult to collect the fees as it is," he added.

The measure would have decreased district income from a total of about $32,305 for the textbook and enrollment fees collected in the current term to about $16,152.50.

Instead, the board voted 7-0 to keep textbook and other enrollment fees the same for the 2020-21 school term.

At last month's board meeting, there had been some discussion about keeping the fees the same but offering some sort of a rebate for the upcoming 2020-21 school term, due to COVID-19.

At Monday's meeting, some board members said they would rather not decide on any fee rebates or discounts to be offered until closer to enrollment or until the district learns about any possible cuts to state aid that may be coming due to lost tax revenue in the state due to COVID-19.

The Holton school district will offer summer school for 15 days next month (July 6-24), it has been decided. Each summer school day will consist of three hours of instruction from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. About 14 kids in grades K-4, 25 to 30 in grades 5-7 and 10 to 12 in grades 8-12 will all be invited to participate, it was reported.

About 14 teachers, four para-professionals and one administrator will lead the program. Breakfast and lunch are provided. Schools are limited to groups of 50 in a school building at a time, currently, due to COVID-19 concerns. That number increases to 150 soon and then a phase-out with no limitations set to start June 21.

Transportation to and from summer school for the kids is a big issue, it was reported. If the school is not allowed to bus the kids, due to continued COVID-19 concerns, then that will adversely affect the number of kids that can attend, it was reported.

In other business, the school board:

*Approved May payroll totaling $1,170,354.86.

*Approved the following new hires - Taylor Dunham, elementary assistant principal; Carrie Davis, pre-K-12 counselor; Curtis Becker, middle school English teacher and yearbook advisor; Tracie Hanson, secretary to superintendent and board treasurer; Kenneth Swartz, HSEC high school special education teacher at Royal Valley; Mandy Saxton, HSEC elementary school special education teacher at Holton; Gretchen Ehrhart, elementary teacher; and Jordan Dunn, elementary counselor.

*Approved the following resignation - Melody Davies, middle school scholar's bowl supplemental and middle school co-sponsor student council sponsor supplemental.

*Approved the following transfers - Andrea King, from fourth grade teacher at HES to second grade teacher at HES; and Christi Schumaker, from fourth grade teacher at HES to second grade teacher at HES.

*Approved an independent contract agreement for contracted services with Shelly Schmelze, speech and language pathology services for HSEC (Aug. 17, 2020 to May 21, 2021) at a rate of $50 per hour.

*Approved Holton supplemental staff renewals for 2020-2021.

*Approved Holton's five-year professional development plan.

*Approved board meeting dates for the 2020-21 school term.

*Approved a transportation request for an Aug. 30 to Aug. 31 overnight stay at Manhattan for the FCCLA Take AIM Leadership Training Conference.

*Learned the district recently had its "accreditation visit" via a Zoom Internet meeting. The district is in year three of the five-year state accreditation process and is on track to be re-accredited in two more years.

*Reviewed a list of fund-raisers held at the schools each year. Board members said they would like more details about how much all of the fund-raisers raise.

*Approved a plan 7-0 to offer "breakfast in the classroom" for first grade classes in the coming school term.

"Breakfast in the classroom" was offered in kindergarten classes this year and the program "broke even" with state funds covering the costs. A 90 percent participation rate was noted.

*Decided to take bids for roof repairs needed following a recent hail storm and to have a couple of board members meet with contractors to hear their sales pitches.

Dr. Roger Marshall, a Republican running for U.S. Senate, visited Holton Community Hospital and area businesses last week to discuss challenges facing those in Jackson County. In the photo above, Marshall (at left) is shown with Carrie Saia, HCH CEO, as they toured a portion of the new clinic and other medical facilities being built at the hospital. Marshall currently serves as the U.S. Representative for Kansas' First District.

Names to be added to monument

The aim of Johan Campbell's Eagle Scout project (see related story) is to add the names of 28 Jackson County residents who earned Purple Heart Medals to the monument at Linscott Park.

Many of those names were discovered through the research of area historian Dan Fenton, and their stories were told in The Holton Recorder's "Purple Heart Profiles" series of recent years.

The names of military veterans to be added to the monument through Campbell's project are listed below by conflict. Those whose stories have appeared in The Recorder's "Purple Heart Profiles" are denoted by an asterisk (*); those who were killed in action are denoted by a cross (†).

World War I: Cpl. John P. Coen*.

"I think you should go ahead and open," Reith said. "There needs to be verbiage that states that visitors need to assume responsibility for their personal hygiene so they understand that while the county will continue to clean, you can't be in there cleaning after every person."

The commissioners agreed and those amenities are now open to the public.

Phase three recommendations also allow sports games to proceed in the county, as well as the opening of recreational facilities, including restrooms.

"Both Nemaha and Brown counties have lifted all COVID-19 related restrictions," Reith said.

The Courthouse is open to the public and on days when court is in session, a Jackson County Sheriff's Office deputy is stationed at the south door to screen visitors for a fever and for weapons. On non-court days, Courthouse employees are taking turns to screen visitors.

Reith said that at the health department in Holton, her staff have stopped checking visitors' temperatures at the door.

"Based off the number of people who are asymptomatic carriers, and could have COVID-19 but don't have a fever, we've stopped checking temperatures," she said. "You could do everything right at the front door and a person may still have the virus and bring it in."

Since the number of people allowed in the district court rooms is being limited at this time, pre-screening procedures will continue at the south door of the Courthouse, it was reported.

seeking donations and support for the project — and people answered.

"We've had letters of support and donations from as far away as Texas and Pennsylvania," Erich Campbell said. "And we're getting a lot of support from the community."

The Campbells have been receiving guidance from Holton monument expert Paul Strube, and Erich said an expansion stone that matches the Purple Heart monument has been ordered. It will be bolted to the existing monument to make the addition of more names easier, while more names will be added to the existing monument as space allows, he added.

As for the new flagpole, Erich Campbell said, it will be identical to the flagpoles at the Public Safety Building adjacent to the park, and Sullivan Construction and the City of Holton have pledged help in getting it installed. The Company E monument also will be cleaned, he added, "at least to get the mold off."

Johan said the total cost of the project has been estimated at about $4,500.

"So far, we've raised about $2,000," he said. "We're a little under halfway there."

He also credits his father with pointing him toward fundraising efforts.

"He's helped me a little bit with the fund-raising by introducing me to people who were willing to donate, and he's helped me open a bank account for the project," Johan said.

And while there is no specific timeline for the project, Johan said he plans to finish the work "by November."

Donations for the project may be mailed directly to Johan Campbell, 525 New York Ave., Holton, KS 66436. Donations may also be dropped off at Denison State Bank on Holton's Town Square.

be creative this summer. "We wanted something to give kids confidence by showing off their art skills," Willcott said. "I think having a silent auction will get kids excited to know somebody thinks their artwork is worth buying."

Ten percent from each piece of artwork purchased during the art walk will be donated to a local charity of the artist's choice.

The art walk will be held inside Willcott Brewing Company, 219 W. Fourth St. in Holton, owned by Willcott and her husband, Sean.

"It's a come and go event with the exhibit upstairs in the building," Willcott said. "We're going to try to have some ice cream for the kids to enjoy. People will also be able to walk around the brewery that day. We hope people come and participate."

Jackson County children, ages five to 18, are encouraged to submit any type of artwork for the event. All art must be created between March 5 and June 24 to be eligible. There is a limit of two entries per person.

Willcott said that any size artwork will be accepted but that each artist must supply their own easel to display their art. Art on paper must be presented in a frame with a stand.

Paint, pencil, colored pencil, pen, crayon, markers and chalk works of art will be accepted along with 3D pieces made of clay or other materials.

"If people can't afford materials, contact Cullen or Katie. They are checking to see if there are supplies available through their schools," she said. "The brewery is also donating up to $200 toward supplies to students if there is a need."

All artwork and entry forms must be turned in between 8 a.m. and 1 p.m. on Thursday, June 25, at the brewery.

"If it does really well and takes off, maybe we'll do the art walk again," she said. "The social emotional aspects of art are so important. There are so many kids who have anxiety and depression, and art is a tool to help them feel better."

For more information, contact Willcott at 314-740-6457, Cullen Jackson at 785-216-0138 or Katie Morris at 785-969-7170.

Closed Businesses...

Your Place or Mine announced on May 1 that its Holton restaurant, a popular breakfast destination in the community, would permanently close after its dining room was closed on March 19 to prevent the possible spread of COVID-19 and all services at the restaurant were shut down two days after that.

Another Holton business that has closed its doors as a result of the pandemic is Holton Tire and Service, where owner Brent Henry said Friday that the business had been closed for "about a month."

And on Thursday, June 4, Victoria Lamberson, owner of Lamberson Elite Athletics on the east side of Holton's Town

Square, notified the families of young gymnasts served by the business notifying them that it, too, was closing.

"The impact of three months of closure, and then those who cannot return, has made me face a reality that I did not want to," Lamberson said. "It was sincerely one of the hardest decisions I have had to make to date."

Other businesses in the county that find themselves in a financial bind due to stay-at-home orders and social distancing have access to financial aid, such as the $132,000 awarded to Jackson County as part of the Community Development Block Grant Coronavirus

Response Supplement program, it was reported.

It was also reported that $19,700 has been donated so far to assist businesses in the county via the Love Jackson County: Disaster Relief Fund administered by the Jackson County Community Foundation, with those funds helping 55 businesses.

York said the Chamber also has resources available to businesses in the county at the Chamber's Web page, exploreholton.com, where those resources may be viewed by clicking on the "COVID-19" tab at the top of the page.

"Anytime we find something, we've been putting it under that tab," she said.

Many tribes had had their population listed as zero, it was reported. As a result of this decision, the Nation was denied about $8 million in funding that it otherwise would have received, the PBP Nation said in a news release.

The Nation filed the suit to have the federal court void the use of the Indian housing formula and to prevent distribution of the remaining $3.2 billion for 21 days until such time as a more accurate funding formula consistent with the CARES Act can be developed.

Joseph Rupnick, chairman of the Prairie Band Potawatomi Nation said, "The Tribal Council and I are appalled that the Treasury Department wrote off a significant portion of the Prairie Band Potawatomi Nation's membership when making the initial CARES Act distribution. This suit is intended to restore justice to our tribe and other similarly situated tribes. We don't want to see the Treasury distribute any more CARES money until it fixes the problem from round one and we have a chance to see the formula that Treasury intends to use for round two."

few by hand to see if it would be difficult to do it that way.

"I hand-sewed three different types, and I liked them," she said. "So I just kept making them."

Carlson filled a bag with her hand-sewn masks, which she said take about 25 to 30 minutes per mask to make, and she gave them to McAsey to take to the clinic, where patients are currently required to wear masks — and many come in with no mask at all.

"We actually ran out of masks at one point in time, and I happened to have the bag that Karma gave me. I brought the masks out, and they just loved it," said McAsey, who noted that the masks are properly cleaned after every use.

So far, Carlson said she has made 15 masks for patients at the clinic, and she said she plans to keep making masks through the summer as she finds the time. "My mom told me that they ran out of masks a couple of times, so I'll just keep making as many as I can," she added.

Local Work Group meeting scheduled

The Jackson County Conservation District board of supervisors will hold a Local Work Group (LWG) meeting at 9:30 a.m. on Thursday, June 25, it has been reported.

The meeting this year will be conducted via teleconference due to COVID-19. Details of the teleconference information will be sent to everyone who registers for the meeting.

Since May 1947, the Jackson County Conservation District has focused on locally led conservation efforts to identify and resolve natural resource conservation concerns. The district believes it is essential in promoting and developing the stewardship ethic where people help each other in local communities to enhance and conserve those resources today for future generations.

The LWG should be diverse and focus on agricultural interests and natural resource issues existing in the community. Membership should include agricultural producers representing the variety of crops, livestock and poultry raised within the local area; owners of nonindustrial private forest land, representatives of agricultural and environmental organizations; and governmental agencies carrying out agricultural and natural resource conservation and activities.

LWGs will also consider concerns of historically underserved groups and individuals including but not limited to women, persons with disabilities, socially disadvantaged and limited resource groups.

The purpose of this meeting is to identify priority resource concerns in Jackson County and identify targeted areas; review the current conservation programs that are available; provide recommendations on conservation program, which include program cutoff and deadlines, allocation process, application screening, ranking criteria, eligible practices and payment schedule and scenarios; review the current educational opportunities available to county residents and identify additional education and producers' training needs; and provide effective ways to communicate with producers.

LWGs are important because they provide recommendations on local and state natural resource priorities and criteria for U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) conservation activities and programs to the NRCS Kansas Technical Committee (KTC). The Conservation District Board of Supervisors will also take the recommendations and focus efforts in their conservation programs and educational outreach activities.

To register, please RSVP by June 18. If you plan to participate in the teleconference, please email Brian Boeckman at brian.boeckman@ks.nacdnet.net with the Conservation District/NRCS office or call (785) 364-3329, ext. 136.

Steam rising from a manhole in the middle of the street is not something you see everyday. The photo above was taken in Holton yesterday on Pennsylvania Avenue looking north near the Holton USD 336 office building. SAK Construction of O'Fallon, Mo., is continuing sewer line work in Holton this week. After cleaning out sections of the sewer line at a time, the company then injects a hot product that adheres to, and lines, the sewer lines. The steam was caused by the product that had just been injected into the sewer line. The final step of the work by SAK — after the product has cooled and hardened — is re-establishing service to each of the sewer line connections. Holton city staff said relining sewer lines this way is like getting new ones.

Lierz essay nets scholarship

Megan Lierz, a recent graduate of Holton High School, was selected by the Jackson County Historical & Genealogical Society for its annual $250 scholarship, it has been reported.

Lierz is currently planning to attend Fort Hays State University. Her essay follows below.

When I walked into the Jackson County Historical Museum on Oct. 4, I was already expecting to learn more about the town in which I live. A peek into town history can be seen even before stepping foot inside, by just looking at the building architecture. History is felt in the old red bricks. This small corner of Holton's Town Square holds more history about Jackson County than I knew it possessed.

The unique and interesting things to admire ranged from antique dolls of different cultures held in a glass case, all the way to pictures of the Holton High School building when it was a college. Having a college in our little town of Holton surprised me even more so, since it was the same building where I attend high school.

The display that really caught my attention was about the trains. It told about the railroads that ran through Jackson County. I learned that we had three different railroads that ran through Holton. The one that I was most interested in was the Rock Island, Chicago Railroad. It is interesting to me because it was the railroad that ran through what is now my backyard.

Megan Lierz

I remember being a young child playing on the area where the railroad rails used to be and trying to search for the metal rail spikes left in the old railroad ties from decades before. As a child, I only knew that the train used to exist and the spooky stories I would hear around town about it.

The old legends of the train that ran behind my house (which we call the ghost train) used to scare me, my siblings and my friends. The ghost story that we heard was that the train suddenly disappeared, taking everyone riding, away with it. We sometimes hear the sound of the whistle on a silent night.

A marker sign still stands in the woods behind my house with numbers too faded to read. The path of where the train ran is still visibly seen and is maintained by Mother Nature. Grass never seems to grow fully and the trees still form a canopy over the old pathway. Seeing the display of the railroad at the museum piqued my interest and excited me to find the real story about the train.

The Rock Island Chicago railroad was established in 1885 with Marcus Low as the president over the project (Legends of Kansas, 2015). The train ran through Holton, along with 1,400 more miles through towns in Kansas and Missouri.

The real story of how it went away, though, was not as spooky as I previously heard. The railroad was failing to make interest payments and was foreclosed in 1891 (Legends of Kansas, 2015). Not scary at all, unless you were Marcus Low.

If I would not have gone into the Jackson County Historical Museum, I would not have chosen the task of discovering the true story behind the ghost train in my backyard. I am now grateful to know what truly happened and happy to know no deaths occurred.

The history of my county is important to know because it tells a story, it creates an image of how it used to be, and it helps our society become more educated to the truth. In the future, I hope to see more information and physical memorabilia from the railroads, such as rail ties, spikes or even some metal rails.

My experience at the museum was eye-opening to the history of the railroad, which was an urban legend of my childhood and isn't so distant or scary anymore.

Kelly signs relief bill

Gov. Laura Kelly signed a bipartisan COVID-19 (coronavirus) response bill, House Bill 2016, into law on Monday, it was reported.

"From day one, my administration has worked to keep Kansans healthy and to protect the economic future of Kansas' businesses and communities," Gov. Kelly said. "That means reaching across the aisle to get things done. This bill contains essential provisions that will allow us to continue to deliver critical health and economic services to communities and businesses throughout the state during this pandemic."

The bill addresses the ongoing COVID-19 emergency and its effects, both economic and health-related. It provides the Legislature with the ability to more effectively engage in oversight while the Legislature is not in session while Gov. Kelly retains the emergency authority to act as needed during the pandemic.

Though there are a number of COVID-19 response measures contained in the bill, the key provision extends the current emergency declaration through Sept. 15, 2020, providing stability and certainty for the state's ongoing emergency response efforts. Beyond Sept. 15, the State Finance Council may extend the declaration by a vote of six Legislative members.

The bill also contains the provisions of a number of executive orders that Gov. Kelly has issued during the pandemic, including allowing for expanded telemedicine, temporary licensure of out-of-state medical providers, electronic notarization of documents and certain liquor sales.

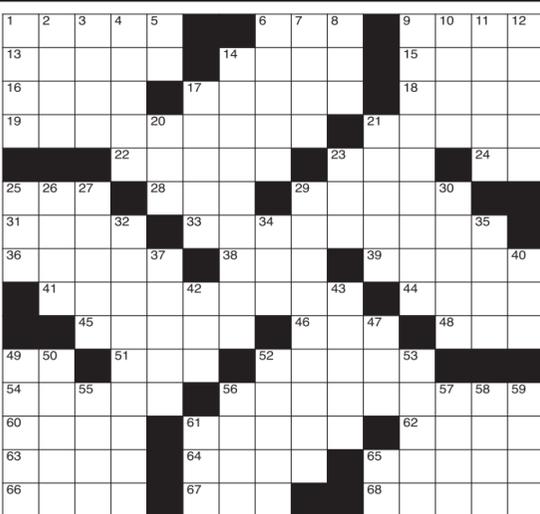

While the bill provides some liability protection for medical providers and businesses, these elements are written very narrowly to apply to certain aspects of the COVID-19 response, and for most businesses, the liability protection only applies when the business acts within the scope of public health requirements.

Immanuel Lutheran Church

By Esther L. Ideker

Trinity Sunday was celebrated at early morning worship at Immanuel Lutheran Church on June 7. The service opened with the melody from 1533, "Come, Holy Spirit, Creator Blest."

Following the confession, absolution, introit, salutation and collect of the day, Pastor Michael Van Velzer read the Old Testament lesson from Genesis 1:2-4. Psalm 8 was read responsively.

The Epistle lesson was from Acts 2:14a-22-36. The holy gospel for the day was from Matthew 28:16-20. The Athanasius Creed was professed.

The sermon hymn was "At

The Name Of Jesus."

In Pastor Van Velzer's sermon, he asked the question on this Trinity Sunday, "What would you write if you were asked to explain God?" How many would recite the Athanasius Creed — or the Apostles' Creed or the Nicene Creed?

In the Trinity, we worship one God, in three persons and the three persons in one God, neither confusing the persons nor dividing the substance. Only after focusing on who God is, do we hear the prophets and the apostles give thanks for what God has done for us.

God, who is light, has brought us out of the darkness and brought us out of death and mortality into His life and immortality. God is our Father, who called the world into existence through the Son by whom all things were made. The Son sends the Holy Spirit who preserves all things in heaven and earth and who keeps the church in the one, true faith.

The offertory was sung after the offering. In the prayers of the church, petitions were asked for us to see the imprint of God's love in the goodness of creation and to exercise responsible care of all that He has entrusted to us; to help us hear the voice of God's word and to respond with faith, confession without fear; for all pastors and faithful teachers, servants who heed God's call and serve to the best of their ability wherever God places them; and to establish and preserve order, protecting the weak and fostering godly virtue. The Lord's Prayer was spoken.

The Service of the Sacrament followed with the Preface, Sanctus, Pax Domini and Agnus Dei. The distribution hymn was "Thy Table I Approach." Following the Nunc Dimittis, thanksgiving and benediction, the service closed with verses four through seven of "Come, Holy Ghost, Creator Blest."

Celebrating birthdays are Rylan Amon, Marcia Coufal and Olivia Heitzman.

LaTurner seeking Congressional seat

By Ali Holcomb

Republican Jake LaTurner, the current state treasurer, of Topeka, 32, is running for the Second District congressional seat in the U.S. House of Representatives in the Aug. 4 primary election.

LaTurner will face incumbent Steve Watkins and Dennis Taylor in the Republican primary.

"I believe strongly that we need a Republican nominee that can keep this seat in Republican hands," LaTurner told The Holton Recorder recently. "The incumbent Congressman just isn't up for the task."

A native of Galena in southeast Kansas, LaTurner graduated from Pittsburgh State University and was twice elected to serve in the Kansas Senate representing the 13th District, serving from 2013 to 2017.

"Growing up, my dad was the mayor of my hometown so I was taught the importance of giving back," he said. "My family really believed in public service and believed it could be a noble calling. I've had a lot of great opportunities. After working in the private sector for a short-line railroad company, it was a pleasure to serve in the State Legislature and now as treasurer."

LaTurner was appointed state treasurer in 2017 by former Gov. Sam Brownback — making him the youngest statewide official in the United States — and was elected to the position in 2018.

"To me, it's about respecting the people paying the bills," LaTurner said of his position as state treasurer. "We've returned a record amount of unclaimed property every year that I've been treasurer — $7 million to the people of Kansas."

The state of Kansas currently has more than $350 million in unclaimed property.

If elected, LaTurner would be unable to finish his term as treasurer, which has been the case with two previous state treasurers — Ron Estes and Lynn Jenkins — who have sought federal offices in the past.

"It never even occurred to me growing up in Galena that I might one day be state treasurer or be running for Congress, but I strongly believe that God has a plan for all of us and this is where He's led me," he said.

LaTurner said he believes that Washington has failed Kansans for too long, and he's created a "contract with Kansas" on his website that outlines his top seven priorities if elected.

The first issue listed is co-sponsoring a constitutional amendment imposing term limits on members of Congress.

"We need fresh faces and fresh ideas in Washington D.C.," he said. "Instead of serving a couple of terms, people want to be there for 30 years and the focus shifts to how to get re-elected instead of getting anything accomplished. We need to break that cycle."

As a freshman Congressman, LaTurner said he would be willing to be a "fly in the ointment."

"You have to force accountability and force people to take tough votes. That's how you get things done," he said. "You don't get things done by sitting in the back row and being quiet. You get things done by standing up and being a leader."

LaTurner said the safety and security of the nation is also one of his top priorities and he supports the construction of a border wall between Mexico and the United States.

"We have to play the role America is meant to play in the world, which is to be a leader and stand up for freedom," he said. "It's important that America take its role as a global leader — not as a follower — seriously."

The federal budget is also a concern for LaTurner, who said that if elected, he will not vote for a budget without a plan to reduce the country's more than $22 trillion of debt.

"When Democrats had power, they spent like drunken sailors, and when Republicans have had power they've spent like drunken sailors," he said. "Republicans used to be the party that cared about spending issues, and I think we need to get back to that. The idea that we're going to burden our children and their children with our debt is unconscionable to me. It's a moral issue. We have got to get our budget back in control."

Since agriculture is a critical part of Kansas, LaTurner said that, if he's elected, he will fight to ensure Kansas is always represented on the federal agriculture committee.

"It's a huge part of our economy," he said. "We're feeding a lot of people across this world, and I will continue to work with the Kansas Farm Bureau on ag issues as we move forward."

If elected, LaTurner promises to continue to live and raise his children in Kansas. He and his wife, Suzanne, have four children, Ava, Joe, Maggie and Gus.

"You can't represent people well if you don't know them. I will travel the district. You have to stay connected to the people in order to represent them," he said. "I'm a sixth-generation Kansan. I'm not going anywhere. This is my home. If elected, we're going to work hard to be responsive to the people of the Second District and to represent them well."

RV JAG-K students excel at regional conference

Jobs for America's Graduates-Kansas (JAG-K) students from Royal Valley High School competed in the JAG-K Region Six Career Development Conference (CDC) recently, claiming five medals and qualifying three to compete on the state level, it has been reported.

"The CDC is a great opportunity for our students to demonstrate some of the skills they have gained in JAG-K," said Royal Valley High School JAG-K Career Specialist Jeffrey A. Gustin.

Seven Royal Valley students placed in nine events. Individual medal winners included the following:

- Curtis Wathen — first place in Project Based Learning.
- Dylan Creollo — first place in Employer Engagement Poster.
- Trevor Mathews — second place in Employability Skills.
- Samantha Riley — second place in Senior Portfolio.
- Shyree Jackson — second place in Students for Service.
- Jocie Shopteese — fourth place in Public Speaking.
- Karson "Sahbi" Potts — fifth place in Mapping My Future.

The Region Six CDC featured JAG-K students from across northeast Kansas competing in events that showcase the competencies attained in the JAG-K program. Employability skills, public speaking, math skills, community service and project-based learning are just some of the events in which the students competed.

Team scores were based on individual performance, and the top two teams in each region earned trophies. Royal Valley placed second as a team in the competition.

Due to measures in place to slow the spread of the coronavirus, the competitions in Region Six were all conducted virtually. Students Dylan Creollo, Trevor Mathews and Curtis Wathen qualified for state competitions, which were to be held virtually on May 20.

"It's really important that we support students and provide opportunities for them to showcase their skills," said Mary Guerra, JAG-K director of program management, who heads up State CDC. "The virtual CDC is our solution to engage students and allow them to compete."

JAG-K is a multi-year, in-school program for students in grades seven through 12 that offers tools to successfully transition students into post-secondary school, the military or directly into the workforce with marketable skills. Participants in the program face multiple barriers to success that their JAG-K career specialist helps them overcome through a nationally accredited evidence-based model. In 2018, JAG-K students had a 98 percent graduation rate.

The 501(c)3 not-for-profit organization is a state affiliate of the national JAG program network, which operates in 35 different states and territories. It is primarily funded through the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families block grant to the State of Kansas administered by the Kansas Department for Children and Families (DCF).

In addition to school districts and DCF, JAG-K partners with the Kansas Department of Education. Other JAG-K funding sources include AT&T, John Deere and Taco Bell.

Circleville Christian Church

By Jeannie Arnold

Jake Spalding gave a welcome to those who gathered at Circleville Christian Church on June 7. Music was provided by the praise team of David Allen, Max Lierz, Lori Thomas, Shelley Will, Lori Mellenbruch, Garrett Will and Travis Self. They opened the service by singing "You Are Here."

Ron Parrett used text from Hebrews 2:14-15 as he gave the communion meditation and prayer. Laramie Self provided the lovely piano music by playing "In Christ Alone" at communion time.

David Allen gave the prayer for concerns and praises.

Lyle Alley gave the morning sermon titled "God Shows No Favoritism" using text from Acts 10. His message told how God prepared Peter for his mission to preach to the Gentiles.

The Jews looked at the Gentiles as not being God's people but Peter teaches us that God shows no favoritism or prejudice. We all have the same God, we are all created equal by faith in Jesus Christ.

Christianity is about having a personal relationship with Christ. Peter went to the Gentiles with a message that Jesus died for all our sins. By using Peter, God is making unity possible and unity can be possible in the world today if we all do our part.

The service closed by singing the chorus of "Way Maker."

Church services are also available on Facebook Live, for those who prefer to join in that way.

Book group meets

The Zoom meeting for the Beck Bookman Library book discussion group will be held at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday, June 11. This is the third month the club have used Zoom instead of meeting together at the library.

Jolene Bauer will be the leader of the book review. The book is "Eleanor Oliphant Is Completely Fine" by Gail Honeyman.

After the book review, the group is asked to give suggestions for the 2020-2021 reading year, which begins on Sept. 10 at the library.

HOW IT WORKS:
 Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Buck's Grove Church

By Donna Ashcraft
 "Morning Has Broken Like The First Morning" greeted the Buck's Grove congregation on Sunday, June 7, as they returned for their first Sunday morning service since mid-March and the onslaught of the pandemic. Masks were donned and hand-sanitizer was made available in each pew that was not roped off for social distancing. We were glad to be back in the company of the church family we love. Mary Ringel carried in the light of Christ.

The theme of the service was a theme of peace and love for all, no matter the circumstances – a theme of justice and righteousness – on the Trinity Sunday and Peace and Justice Sunday, as the congregation flocked to Jesus just as the tax collectors and sinners flocked to Jesus long ago.

The first scripture reading comes from Genesis 12:1-9. The Lord had said to Abram, "Go from your country. I will make you into a great nation, and I will bless you, and all peoples on earth will be blessed through you."

All the peoples – no matter the circumstances – are blessed by God. Romans 4:13-25 reiterating the faith of Abraham served as the second scripture reading. Pastor Charlotte Milroy then led the congregation in the Psalter from Psalm 33:1-12. "For the word of the Lord is upright and all His work is done in faithfulness. He loves righteousness and justice; the earth is full of the steadfast love of the Lord."

Other hymns included "For The Healing Of The Nations" followed by a prayer for our country under the circumstances of the demonstrations, protests, rioting and looting and divisive words.

Many joys and concerns were shared celebrating a 50th anniversary, a "Sonic Blast" feature in The Holton Recorder and concerns for those who have been separated from loved ones in illness and death.

Following the hymn "Lord, Speak To Me," Pastor Charlotte delivered her message based upon Matthew 9:9-13. Jesus supped with tax collectors and sinners and stated, "I desire mercy, not sacrifice. For I have come to call not the righteous but sinners."

This year's Peace and Justice Sunday happens to fall at a time when our nation is at war within itself. At the demonstrations, we see signs stating, "No justice, no peace." It's similar to the Roman Catholic teaching that "If you want peace, work for justice" – a simply stated truth.

The service closed with the offertory prayer, and the hymn "Let There Be Peace On Earth" as the light of Christ was carried out.

Buck's Grove

By Donna Ashcraft

The following is a brief summary of Pastor Charlotte Milroy's sermon for Sunday, May 31, at Buck's Grove United Methodist Church.

The sermon came from 1 Corinthians 12:3-13 with the title "Day Of Pentecost."

Today is the day we should be filled with the spirit! Pentecost is a day that draws attention to the spiritual gifts that God gives through the presence of the Holy Spirit at work in each of us. Pentecost takes place 50 days after the resurrection.

John Wesley, founder of the Methodist movement, was influential in setting the stage for the Charismatic and Pentecostal ideas. He was filled with the Holy Spirit, believed in the spiritual gifts, especially gifts of healing, the gifts of prophecy, speaking in tongues, all according to the teaching of Apostle Paul of the spiritual gifts in the New Testament 1 Corinthians 12.

Many people in church fail to understand spiritual gifts. Our spiritual gifts are chosen for each of us by God. Many people find the idea of spiritual gifts confusing, scary and, sometimes, even weird. The Holy Spirit is not meant to spook us. He is God within us.

The mistake we often make is in thinking that spiritual gifts are all about doing. In reality, they first require abiding in Christ and walking in the Spirit.

To discover our spiritual gifts, we should examine how we respond to situations or needs. Instead of dwelling on what we should do or how others are serving, we must focus on what motivates us.

Netawaka United Methodist Church

By Mary E. Edwards

June 7 was another Sunday of church at home for Netawaka United Methodist Church. The Rev. Younghwan Won again sent out the family worship bulletin. The opening prayer was a request for peace, justice, mercy and dignity for all people of the world.

Suggested hymns were "We Bring The Sacrifice Of Praise" and "Make Me A Servant." Other good songs might be "Christ For The World We Sing" and "God Of Grace And God Of Glory."

The scripture lesson was Acts 6:1-7, "The Choosing Of The Seven." The sermon, by the Rev. Dr. Ruben Saenz, bishop of Great Plains Conference, was titled "Catch Fire For Justice, Mercy And Truth." Bishop Saenz had preached it for the closing worship service of the 2020 annual conference.

Our congregation has been praying daily for each other and looking forward to being together again. We also need to pray for healing for Aletha Williams and Irene Cowger, two old friends who have recently suffered broken bones.

We pray for all in our community who are struggling or need encouragement. Condolences are offered to Aletha and her family in the death of her cousin, George Cochren, whose graveside service was held last week in Netawaka Cemetery.

Congratulations to Glenn and Doris Oxandale on their 66th wedding anniversary! Sherry and Paul Dibbern took pizza out to celebrate Saturday night.

It was reported that Netawaka had quite a bit of wind damage to trees one night last week. Frederika Mullins has been speeding around the streets of town on her bicycle. She says it's her best way to exercise with the fitness center closed.

It was nice to talk with Verona Grannell. She is staying home, but she did get to the Netawaka Cemetery around Memorial Day.

Neva Douglas is feeling fine despite fighting squirrels and critters that want to eat up her flowers and plants. Her daughter, Kathryn, took her to have some routine heart-related tests on Monday.

I was happy for Mike and Helen Edwards and their grandsons, Jack and Henry, to bring lunch and visit me last Sunday, May 31. This Sunday, my neighbor, Rose LaClair, and I shared pizza and conversation for lunch.

It is sad to hear of so many people sick with COVID-19. We should be really thankful for people who have stepped up to help by shopping and delivering supplies so people like me can stay away from public contact.

I'm thankful to the business places and offices who have spent time, effort and expense to protect us from the virus. Wearing masks, however uncomfortable, is an easy way to show respect for others, and it might do a lot of good.

Topeka woman arrested on drug charges

A Topeka woman was arrested here last Saturday on drug charges following a traffic stop, according to Jackson County Sheriff Tim Morse.

At 9:30 p.m. that day, a Jackson County Sheriff's Office deputy stopped a Pontiac Aztec that had been traveling northbound on U.S. Highway 75 just south of Holton for a traffic infraction.

During the investigation of the traffic stop, the driver, Alisa Marie Sharpe, 36, of Topeka was arrested on charges of possession of methamphetamine and illegal drug paraphernalia, no driver's license and no liability insurance.

Sharpe also had an outstanding Jackson County District Court warrant on charges of possession of methamphetamine and possession of illegal drug paraphernalia.

She was transported to and booked into the Jackson County Jail.
