Elkhorn Lake put under algae watch

Ashcraft: Fishing is still OK, but don't use water for livestock

By Brian Sanders The suspected presence of blue-green algae at Holton's Elkhorn Lake has prompted the city to warn fishers who visit the lake and close the lake's pump station to protect livestock who drink pumped water from the lake, it was reported.

Holton Water and Sewer Superintendent Dennis Ashcraft said the advisory was issued jointly on Wednesday by city officials and the Kansas Department of Health and Environment (KDHE) after the presence of cyanobacteria – commonly known as blue-green algae - was suspected in Elkhorn Lake, which is located in Rafters Park.

"We called them and talked to them when we thought what we saw was blue-green algae," Ashcraft said. "The lake's been placed under a watch just as a precaution."

Since the city-owned, fouracre lake is located in a hill, and warmer weather conditions have lasted longer than normal into October and November, Ashcraft noted that conditions were "just right" for blue-green algae to bloom in the lake.

"It just naturally occurs when you've got the nutrients available - the nitrogen, the phosphorus, the sunlight and the warm weather," he said. "It's one of those things that just naturally occurs in the ecosystem."

Until water tests confirm the presence or absence of cyanobacteria in the water, the lake will continue to be under a watch and the pump station will remain closed, Ashcraft said. In the meantime, he said, it is hoped that colder temperatures will take care of the blue-green algae, and chemicals will not be used to speed the process.

"When you're trying to get rid of blue-green algae, if you kill it off in a hurry, it puts more toxins into the lake. So KDHE recommends just letting it run its course," he said. "I'm hoping it turns around fairly quickly."

Blue-green algae are considered harmful in animals, and in addition to closing the pump to farmers whose livestock drink pumped water from the lake, city residents are advised to keep their pets from drinking water from the lake.

Katie Purcell (second from left), 8, pointed out her favorite Holton High School football poster to Dr. Leslie Gallagher of Lifetime Eye Care outside the business Thursday afternoon. Posters were designed by area schoolchildren and put on display at the business in support of the team's sub-state game on Friday against Hayden. Gallagher said the posters were judged and prizes were to be awarded to the winners. Holton lost Friday's game by a 20-8 score, finishing as sub-state runner-up; see Page 6 of today's Recorder for more on the game. Photo by Ali Holcomb

Purple Heart Profiles Lueck wounded twice in combat

Editor's note: This is the 35th in a series of stories about past and present Jackson County residents who earned the Purple Heart Medal, which is awarded to military personnel wounded or killed in the line of duty.

Lori Banks is Chamber's new director

Ashlee York also joins staff

By Ali Holcomb Lori Banks is the new director of the Holton/Jackson County Chamber of Commerce.

Banks, who grew up in Ef-fingham and graduated from ACCHS, began working for the Chamber last week.

"I just wanted to get involved in the community and help make it a better place for everyone," Banks said of her desire to work with the Chamber.

The names of those filed in these stories will be among those placed on a special monument for Purple Heart Medal recipients currently under construction in Holton's Linscott Park.

Many longtime residents of Jackson County may remember Henry Lueck as a well-established grain dealer in the northern part of the county and as a servant of his community.

But for nearly four years during World War II, Lueck also was a soldier and servant of his country and was wounded twice in combat, earning the Purple Heart Medal.

Henry Longley Lueck was born Jan. 18, 1913, in Holton, the son of Charles and Bertha Lueck, and as a child, he moved with his family to Netawaka, the place he would call home for the rest of his life. He started his college education in 1930 at The University of Kansas, but quit school two years later to enter the grain business at Netawaka, home of the Lueck Grain Company.

Items still needed for Thanksgiving dinner

By Brian Sanders

Organizers and volunteers with the annual Community Thanksgiving Dinner have just about everything they need, but some food items - mainly stuffing and sweet potatoes are still needed for the dinner, according to dinner organizer Freda Galer.

The annual dinner, set from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Thursday at the Evangel United Methodist Church Family Life Center, also needs a few volunteers to help cook and serve the food, as well as prepare carry-out dinners and give people rides to the Family Life Center.

"Everything's going well," Galer said this morning of preparations for the annual dinner. "I had a guy call from Topeka this morning, and he's going to come up and help us out.'

Only one more person is needed to cook and debone a turkey, Galer said. But there is still a need for five gallons of sweet potatoes, 24 boxes of

Boat mishap claims life of Berryton man

By Ali Holcomb

An afternoon of fishing on a warm fall day turned tragic after a Berryton man drowned after a fishing boat capsized near Mayetta Wednesday, it was reported.

John H. Johnson, 92, of Berryton is believed to have drowned while attempting to swim to the shore of a pond near the southwest corner of 182nd and T Roads as the fishing boat he was in began to capsize, according to Jackson County Sheriff Tim Morse.

Johnson was fishing in small boat with his nephew, Fred Johnson, and Joe Dutt, both of Mayetta, that afternoon when the boat began to fill with water shortly before 3 p.m.

Morse said the three men were all fishing from a "plastic, two-man boat." No one was wearing a life jacket.

The boat capsized, and Johnson began to swim for the shore when he drowned, it was reported. While the depth of the pond is unknown, Morse called the pond "larger than average."

The other two men made it to shore safely and sought help, Morse said.

The Jackson County Sheriff's Office, the Kansas Department of Wildlife, Parks & Tourism, Jackson County EMS, Potawatomi Tribal Fire Department, the Mayetta Fire Department and the Hoyt Fire Department all responded to the scene.

Johnson's body was recovered from the pond, and the incident is being investigated by the sheriff's office and KDWPT.

The last time someone drowned in Jackson County was in February 2001, Morse said.

On Feb. 24 of that year, a Manhattan man, Jack McKinney, drowned during a flash flood. McKinney, his wife and son were in their vehicle when it became mired in the mud on a culvert across a drainage ditch near Soldier Creek on 182nd Road.

Flash flooding from heavy rains upstream then occurred, inundating the road at the spot. McKinney was able to get his wife to safety and then entered the floodwater again to save his son.

While the boy made it to safety, McKinney was unable to reach shore again and was swept downstream, it was reported.

Holloway's trial was originally scheduled to begin Monday, Nov. 28, but Rork filed a motion on Nov. 16 to continue the trial due to his ongoing medical issues. Jackson County District Court Judge Norbert Marek granted the motion during a telephone conference on Wednesday that also involved Assistant Jackson County Attorney Brian Yearout. Wednesday's action by Marek marked the second time in Holloway's case that a trial date had been set but continued due to Rork's medical issues. Holloway, who has been charged with rape, indecent liberties with a child and two counts of aggravated criminal sodomy based on alleged incidents that reportedly occurred between April 2012 and March 2015, is currently free on bond.

On Friday, Nov. 11, K-12 students at Wetmore Academic Center welcomed local veterans at the annual Veterans Day Assembly. Wetmore's KAY (Kansas Association of Youth) chapter produced a meaningful program that honored those who fought and died for everyone's freedom. There were more than 20 veterans in attendance.

The assembly started with a color guard presenting the flags, followed by the Pledge of Alle-giance and "The Star-Spangled Banner," sung by McKayla Henry. After that, Curtis Bloom introduced the guest speaker, Jan Grollmes, a former Marine who is now living outside of Wetmore.

"As far as I know, Wetmore has never had a female guest speaker that was a veteran before," stated KAY sponsor Lana Sheldon.

The high school and fifth grade choirs each performed a song, "If You're Reading This" and "Patriotic Melody." After the high school sang, McKayla Henry recognized each veteran who came to the assembly.

To finish off, KAY board members Jossie Shumaker and Curtis Bloom presented a slide show which showed the school's appreciation for all veterans. The slideshow included pictures of the local veterans and their years of service.

When the assembly was over, all guests were invited into Wetmore's library for cinnamon rolls, provided by Shirley Hutfles, and coffee or lemonade.

The students of Wetmore Academic Center would like to thank all veterans and those still serving for protecting the citizens of America.

WHS Scholars Bowl welcomes new faces

By Alena Pfrang Student Correspondent Wetmore High School

Once again, the Wetmore High School Scholars Bowl Team is ready for another season of trivia competition. Coached by Wetmore math teacher Thelma Strathman, the team tries to meet once a week during seminar in order to practice and go over the schedule.

Junior Alena Pfrang and sophomores Alyssa Davis, Joel Hutfles, Alyssa Montgomery and Mariah Ramirez return with hopes of improving from last year's results. These upper classmen are excited to see all the new comers. Sophomore Lauryn Scott and freshmen Lindsay Barnett, Savannah Bryant, Michael Hemenway and John Michael Lamberson hope to contribute to the team. "I want to expand my knowledge and improve my academic ability." Scott said, explaining why she chose to go out this year.

Nemaha Central High School held the first varsity meet on Oct. 31. Wetmore won the first two rounds and lost the next four.

Another junior varsity meet was hosted by Frankfort on Nov. 7. With six wins and three losses, the team was close to moving on to the final round.

The next day, another junior varsity meet was held at Nemaha Central High School. Wetmore won one and lost five.

Coach Strathman is excited to see new faces in the Scholars Bowl, and feels great about this year's team. The Scholars Bowl coach hopes the students compete well and learn from the experience.

"I like answering questions using my intelligence. That's what I like the most about Scholars Bowl," Bryant said.

Public water suppliers in Kansas take all measures necessary to notify customers quickly after a system failure or shutdown. Regardless of whether it's the supplier or KDHE that announces a boil water advisory, KDHE will issue the rescind order following testing at a certified laboratory.

Laboratory testing samples collected from the Nemaha RWD 4 public water supply indicated no evidence of contamination, and all other conditions that placed the system at risk of contamination are deemed by KDHE officials to be resolved.

The team has already competed at four Scholars Bowl meets. On Oct. 24, the first junior varsity meet was held at Sabetha High School. The team went home with one win and Counting our blessings...

As the Thanksgiving holiday nears, it's important to count your blessings.

We just noted our 20th year anniversary in business here at The Holton Recorder so we are feeling very thankful for that milestone.

We are also thankful for our good health and the continued good health of many of our loves ones.

We are also thankful that there are many good medicines these days to treat our family members and friends who are ill at this time.

We hope you have a wonderful holiday and thank you for your continued support! David Powls

The caffeinated lives of honeybees researched

Caffeine improves learning and memory in bees, as it does in people, scientists say.

But one might wonder, what do these laboratory findings mean in terms of the actual lives of bees?

It's not as if a flower meadow is sprinkled with coffee shops.

Except that is, in a way.

Up to 55 percent of flowering plants are estimated to have caffeinated nectar. So any meadow or forest is going to have lots of places to stop for a jolt.

Margaret J. Couvillon of The University of Sussex, who studies the behavior of honeybees, wanted to see how caffeine affected bees' behavior.

What Dr. Couvillon found was that bees were drawn to caffeine like office workers are to a coffee cart and that the favorite drug of so many human beings changed how bees evaluated quality.

As they reported in the journal "Current Biology" Dr. Couvillon and her colleagues at the university, including Roger Schurch (her husband) and Francis L. Ratnieks, trained two groups of bees to go to two different feeders.

The two feeders had the same nectar, but one had caffeine in about the same concentrations as flowers.

The caffeinated bees visited their feeder more often than the other bees. They were more loyal to their feeder.

cate with the rest of the hive about the sources of nectar they've found by shaking their abdomens in what is called the waggle dance. They don't always dance; it depends on how good the nectar source is.

The bees that sipped hightest nectar were more likely to dance than the ones who were drinking decaf. And they repeated their abdomen shaking routine more times – an indication of how much sugar - and therefore calories — the nectar contained. But the caffeinated nectar was not nutritionally better than the plain nectar. In effect, Dr. Couvillon said, caffeine "causes the bee to overestimate the quality of the resource.'

It makes sense that plants would evolve to lace their nectar with caffeine. It seems that it would increase bee visits - the more bee visits, the more pollen carried around and the better the plants' chances of reproduction.

But caffeine doesn't seem to offer much to the bees other than a nice little buzz. In nature, that means they might stick to caffeine-laced nectar and miss out on other sources that are as good or better, Dr. Couvillon said.

Bees and flowers get something out of their ancient relationship. But, she said, "As with many partnerships, the interests don't always align." Some bees chew at the base of a flower to get nectar without having to load themselves

PLAINS FOLK: Ranicky Bill wore rattlesnake hatband and wildcat-skin vest

By Jim Hoy I was recently reading a book about the Chisholm Frail, published in Guthrie, Okla., in 1936 by Sam P. Ridings.

We didn't use Ranicky in the script, but he did make the run himself on his horse Blue Dog.

In doing so, he went across one Sooner's claim that had corn growing six inches tall.

"Say, pardner, where did you get that kind of seed?" Ranicky asked.

"Oh, I just now transplanted these," the Sooner nervously answered. "Seems like you'd do well in any bilized him.

The suddenly wakened Ranicky started to let out a stream of angry invective for being so rudely awakened: "What the . . ." he started, but at that point he heard and saw the snake, which immo-

Support the Hospice Memorial Angel Tree project

The 18th annual Hospice Memorial Angel Tree fundraiser is set for this year again at three locations - Denison State Bank (main bank), The Farmers State Bank and Mercer Funeral Home, according to organizer Marlene Shove of Holton.

Shove has been organizing the Hospice Memorial Angel Tree every year and she recently was recognized by the Jackson County Friends of Hospice for 20 years of volunteerism with the organization.

For a $5 donation, participants received an angel decoration made of lace to take home and a cardboard angel with the name of a loved one they designate is hung on the Hospice Memorial Angel Tree, Shove said.

The Jackson County Friends of Hospice fundraiser benefits local cancer patients, Shove said.

Shove said DSB planned to have its Hospice Memorial Angel Tree set up Nov. 21 while FSB and Mercer's plan to have theirs set up after Thanksgiving. The fundraiser will continue through Dec. 31, she said.

Dear editor,

Thank you to the county commissioners or whoever approved the nativity scene on the courthouse lawn. And thank you TO Neva Heiselman for having the nativity painted in memory of Therll.

I have really missed having a nativity among the decorations on the courthouse lawn for a number of years now. Thank you again.

In the caption under his photograph on the second page of the book, Ridings says: "In this publication the writer is speaking to you, telling you what he saw, heard, and knows of the old trails, cow-camps, plains, and frontier of over 50 years ago."

A brief search of the Internet revealed that in 1932 he was a partner in the law firm of Ridings & Drennan of Medford, Okla., appearing in court on behalf of a client who had lost a leg to an International Harvester combine.

He had become a judge by the time he died in 1941, according to a reference in "The Chronicles of Oklahoma."

Other than that I don't know anything about his later life, but his earlier cowboy years were obviously quite interesting, although I can't say that his later profession did much for his writing style.

One episode in his book includes an anecdote about Ranicky Bill, a name I had run across years (actually decountry," Ranicky replied.

Ranicky Bill wore a rattlesnake hatband, a wildcat-skin vest, and carried two pistols. He has been termed one of the most uncurried characters in the Old West.

Ridings notes that no one knew his true name and if anyone had asked it, he "would have exposed himself to a first class cursing.

Ranicky was a braggart, a bully, hard to get along with, never profited from his many mistakes, and didn't care a hoot what anyone thought of him.

One time, Ridings writes, after eating his noon meal, Ranicky picked out a spot of good buffalo grass in the shade under the chuck wagon and was soon asleep.

Two other cowboys, also looking for shade, had to settle for a smaller patch at the rear of the wagon.

They had no sooner lay down than they heard the sound of a rattlesnake. Jumping up and looking in the direction of the noise, they saw a huge diamond back coiled and ready to strike just inches

It took a snake to do it, but from then on, as long as Ranicky Bill was with the outfit, if he started bullying or getting bossy, someone would shout "Jerk! Jerk! Jerk! For God's sake, jerk!" and immediately he was no longer quite so Ranicky.

OBITUARIES

McKeever

Harry McKeever, 88, Richardson, Texas, formerly of Holton, passed away Thursday, Nov. 4, 2016, at Kindred Hospital in Dallas, Texas, after a brief illness.

Harry was born Sept. 4. 1928, in the Banner community of Holton, to Clark and Alice McKeever. He graduated from Holton High School in 1946 and immediately entered the U.S. Army, where he served two years in Occupied Japan. After discharge, he returned to Kansas and enrolled at Baker University, Baldwin, graduating in 1952 It was then he started his 40year career in the insurance industry as a payroll auditor of Workers Comp with Bituminous Casualty Co.

He was transferred to Rock Island, Ill., and there he met and married Sally Maske in December of 1958. This year would have been their 58th anniversary. They often joked that they were the original "When Harry Met Sally."

When Harry retired he found new avocations friends laughed that it took him all of 10 minutes to adjust to retirement. He rediscovered table tennis after playing in the Army. He took lessons, played tournaments and won trophies. With his partner, Richard Grant, they were champions in senior citizen tournaments from Disney World to San Francisco.

Harry and Sally loved to travel, so they always tacked a vacation trip on after the tournaments to explore the area. With all that traveling, you really need a van, so Harry bargained his way to five different vans - Hondas, of course. Needless to say, trading cars was another hobby of his Stevenson Julianne "Julie" (Daley) Stevenson, 73, of Parsons, passed away at 9:28 a.m., Thursday, Nov. 17, 2016, at her home.

She was born Feb. 19, 1943 in Parsons, to George E. Daley Sr. and Therese (Holland) Daley. As a young girl, she grew up in Parsons, where she attended school and graduated in 1961 from St. Patrick's High School.

She and Donald Edward Hicks were married June 16, 1962 in Parsons. Following marriage, they lived in Pittsburg and in Holton. They later divorced. In 1976, she moved to Parsons, where she worked at Superior School Supply for eight years and later owned and operated a daycare.

On Aug. 11, 1979, she and Charles Irving "Charley" Stevenson were married. He preceded her in death on Sept. 16, 2008.

She enjoyed fishing, camping and cooking. Julie also enjoyed spending time with her family, especially her grandchildren.

SPORTS Monday Holton finishes as sub-state runner-up

By David Powls

Topeka-Hayden's defense was able to slow down Holton's high-octane running game here Friday night, and the visitors emerged as the 20-8 sub-state playoff victor.

The victory qualified Hayden (now 8-4) for next weekend's Kansas Class 4A-DII championship game at Salina versus 11-1 Pratt, a 21-14 winner Friday over Holcomb.

Holton was unable to capitalize on two first-half Hayden turnovers that gave the Wildcats the ball deep in Hayden territory and another Hayden turnover late in the third quarter.

The loss to Hayden ended Holton's impressive season at 7-5. Holton also lost to Hayden earlier this season in division play.

play. "I thought we played hard and worked hard to prepare for the game," Holton head coach Brooks Barta said this morning. "It was a disappointing loss, after feeling like this team had really found themselves."

Barta said the Wildcats made a lot of improvement over the season.

"Starting the way we did and being that close to another championship game should feel very rewarding. Our biggest success was the individual growth of our players," he said. "It took several weeks to build a team that understood the necessity of practice and contribution to a team. Our kids really had a lot of fun working together the last couple weeks of practice. We finished a much more responsible and connected football team."

"In the end," Barta said, "it appears we were just too far behind schedule to achieve our best four quarters of football. We struggled to play mistake free football."

Hayden kicked off to Holton to start the game with Holton starting its first offensive drive at its own 20-yard line, against the wind, on a chilly 38-degree night.

Holton earned two first downs aided by two Hayden offsides penalties to start the game but on a fourth down and inches situation Holton was called for a false start requiring the Wildcats to punt at the Hayden 47yard line.

Carson Meerpohl's punt sent the ball to inside the Hayden 20yard line and a facemask penalty on Hayden backed up the Holton took over possession of the ball at its own 24-yard line. A false start on first down cost the team five yards. On the next play, Miles McClintock-Strozier took the ball, broke through the line and sailed 81 yards for an impressive TD run. On the two-point conversion play, Mc-Clintock-Strozier passed successfully to Meerpohl, bringing the score to 14-6.

After Holton kicked off to Hayden, McClintock-Strozier stripped the ball from a Hayden ballcarrier on the first play, giving Holton the ball at the Hayden 38.

Holton was unable to convert the turnover into points, however, because Hayden stopped the Wildcats on fourth down and two yards to go at the Hayden 14 with about 9:00 minutes to go in the second quarter.

On Hayden's next offensive series, the team was able to pick up two first downs before punting the ball back to Holton with 2:55 to play before halftime.

Holton was not able to move the ball either at this point in the game and punted back to Hayden with 1:44 left to play in the half from its own 32.

On the punt, Hayden fumbled the ball and Holton's Cale Jackson recovered it at Hayden's 19yard line.

The Wildcats passed unsuccessfully on their first two downs and then QB Strader scrambled to five yards setting up a fourth down and five yards to go at the Hayden 15. The Wildcats went for it on fourth down, came up short, and had to give the ball back to Hayden with 1:00 to go

From there, Hayden gave the ball to Stringer twice and then time ran out with Hayden hold-ing a 14-8 halftime lead.

Holton kicked off to Hayden to start the second half and the visitors marched the ball down the field picking up two first downs along the way and chewing up a lot of game clock before Stringer scored a touchdown from the Holton 15-yard line with 7:33 left in the third quarter. The TD capped an eight play, 65-yard drive. Hayden's two-point conversion try failed, leaving the score at 20-8.

Holton was forced to punt on fourth down on its first possession of the second half. Meerpohl's 39-yard punt put Hayden back on its own 36-yard line.

Hayden ran a reverse for two yards, Stringer picked up two and then Hayden's QB passed for six more for a first down. A six-yard gain and then three yards on an end-around, coupled with a Holton offsides penalty, gave Hayden another first down with 2:15 left in the third quarter. Hayden ran two more plays at the end of the third quarter before Holton's Haussler intercepted a Hayden pass, giving his team the ball at its own 26. Baum gained 11 yards on first down for the Wildcats as the fourth quarter started but three plays later, facing fourth down and 1 yard to go at Hayden's 35, the home team was stopped again and had to give the ball back to Hayden with 9:00 minutes to play in the game. Hayden's first drive of the fourth quarter saw the team pick up two first downs on a lot of short runs but more importantly Hayden was able to control the ball for 13 plays over a span of about 8:00. Holton got the ball back at its own 17-yard line with just 2:04 to play in the game. Strader gained 19 yards on an option play and McClintock-Strozier picked up 7 more. Baum then gained 20 yards on the next play and with 1:10 left Holton had the ball at Hayden's 30. Hayden's defense slowed down Holton on the next three plays and on fourth down and two at Hayden's 29, a Holton pass fell incomplete, giving Hayden the ball back with 30 seconds to play. During the game, Holton was able to achieve first down on just one of nine third down attempts. Unofficially, Holton had nine first downs in the game, three penalties for 25 yards and no turnovers. The Wildcats rushed 38 times for 251 yards and were 0 for 3 passing for 251 total vards. The Wildcats gained 81 yards on one rush – a TD run by McClintock-Strozier. McClintock-Strozierrushed nine times for 104 yards and a TD. Baum rushed 16 times for 98 yards. Strader rushed eight times for 29 yards and visitors to their own 14 with 8 minutes left in the first quarter.

On its second play from scrimmage, Hayden picked up a first down on a wide receiver reverse run that took the ball to the Holton 42. Hayden used many misdirection plays over the course of the game, seeking to get Holton's aggressive defenders out of position.

Two first downs, following an 18-yard run by Andrew Smith, and Hayden was at the Holton 10-yard line.

On its eighth play, Hayden scored a touchdown on an eight-yard run by fullback Tomas Stringer to cap an 86-yard drive. The PAT was blocked by AJ Haussler, leaving the score at 6-0 with 4:26 left in the first quarter.

"We made a number of mental mistakes that extended their drives and ended our drive," coach Barta said. "We did not tackle well enough to get stops and we did not control the line of scrimmage as well as I thought we could have."

Hayden kicked off and Spencer Baum returned the ball to the Holton 28. Baum also got the call on first down and picked up 13 for a quick first down.

Baum also got the call on Holton's second play, picking up four more. Baum carried on the next play, too, and was stopped for a four-yard loss, setting up a third down and 10 situation.

QB Mason Strader was tackled for a five-yard loss on the next play so on fourth down Holton punted for the second time in the game. Meerpohl's punt this time netted 15 yards and Hayden took over possession with 1:51 left in the first quarter at its own 47.

After a short run and a short gain on a pass, Hayden's QB Sampson Huston ran the ball on an option play to pick up a first down at the Holton 38.

The next play for Hayden was a 38-yard touchdown pass from QB Huston to DeShawn Hanika. The visitors also completed a pass for the two-point conversion and as the first quarter wound down, Hayden led 14-0. Those were all the points the visitors would need to win the game.

Tyler Price rushed five times for 20 yards.

Hayden unofficially had 19 first downs and five penalties for 35 yards. Hayden had three turnovers -2 fumbles and an interception.

Hayden rushed 51 times for 332 yards and Huston was four of six passing for 41 yards. Stringer rushed 16 times for 105 yards and Andrew Smith rushed 13 times for 79 yards.

Each Jackson County volleyball team found some success and made improvements throughout the season thanks to some of their standout performers. Holton took second in the Big Seven League going 13-3 in league play.

Below is a list of those players who have been selected to The Holton Recorder's All-County volleyball team.

Shay Tanking, junior, HHS - Tanking was among the top defenders in the county, covering a lot of ground in the back row for the Wildcats this fall.

With 388 digs, Tanking had the most digs among all Big Seven league players, averaging 4.46 digs per set. Tanking had an 88.8 serving percentage with 213 successful serves out of 240 attempts. She also had 24 ace serves.

She had a 2.3 passing efficiency, which was the fifth highest in the league.

Tanking was also selected for the first team All-League in the Big 7 this year.

Sydney Prine, senior, HHS -Prine's attacking abilities at the net proved very beneficial for the Lady Wildcats this season.

Prine had 259 kills this season, which was the third highest in the league. She averaged 2.98 kills per set. Her hitting efficiency was .19, which was eighth highest.

She also had 19 blocks this season and was selected as honorable mention for the All-League team in the Big 7.

Lauren Leavendusky, senior, HHS - Along with Prine, Leavendusky dominated at the net throughout the season.

Leavendusky had 227 kills this year (averaging 2.61 kills per set), which placed her in the top five of all players in the Big Seven league.

She had the best hitting efficiency among all the players in the league with .292.

Her height also helped her defensively, and she recorded 63 blocks this year.

At the season's end, she was selected for the All-League team in the Big 7.

Ashlyn Weilert, senior, HHS – This is the second net where she had 139 total blocks this season, which was the highest in the league.

She had a 83.4 serving percentage this season, including 32 ace serves. She also recorded 327 digs for the Panthers.

For her efforts, Broxterman was also selected first team All-League in the Big 7.

Ali Bryan, senior, RVHS - Bryan was the top server and setter for the Panthers this fall, and she proved to be a versatile player for the team.

She had the third highest serving percentage in the Big Seven league at 98 percent, with 294 successful serves in 300 attempts. Bryan also had 23 ace serves.

Bryan had 385 assists in 77 sets this year, which was the fourth highest in the league. Overall, she had a 98.7 percent setting efficiency rating with just 22 errors in 1,641 set attempts during the season.

Bryan also recorded 64 blocks, 34 kills and 209 digs for the team. This is Bryan's second appearance on the

All-County roster. Josie Matsapto, senior, RVHS – Despite an injury at the start of the season, Matsapto returned to the court ready to help the Panthers any way she could.

Matsapto had a 93.1 serving percentage, with 201 successful serves out of 216. She also had 21 ace serves during the season.

She also had 46 blocks, 61 kills and 208 digs this fall.

Hannah Williams, senior, JHHS - Williams, an allleague pick for the Northeast Kansas League, led the Cobras in her final year with 226 digs and 360 total hits.

Williams' 90-percent serving percentage - 214 of 237, including 18 aces – and 128 kills also made her a key player for this year's Cobra team, it was reported.

Abby Williams, junior, JHHS – Not to be outdone by older sister Hannah, Abby Williams, who earned an honorable mention spot in the NEK League's all-league list of players, was a major asset for the Cobra team this season.

The younger Williams led the team in kills (140) and blocks

Wetmore stages "High School Musical"

Taking a different direction this year, Wetmore High School presented a modern Walt Disney favorite "High School Musical, Jr." this past weekend. The musical is based on a Disney Channel movie written by Peter Barsocchini.

This was stage director Linda Boyd's 13th musical production at Wetmore, and she was assisted by music director Seth Stiers.

Since their former choreographer Ben LaMee was unable to work on the musical due to a career commitment, junior Jill Henry and sophomore Ally Davis stepped up to the challenge and choreographed the entire show

Some familiar songs in the musical include, "Bop to the Top," "We're All in This Together" and "Start of Something New.'

This year's cast included Joel Hutfles (Troy Bolton), Rob Ballenger (Chad Danforth), Chanler Morfitt (Zeke Baylor), Dakota McQueen (Sharpay Evans), Alyssa Montgomery (Ryan Evans), Ally Davis (Kelsi Nielson, Thespian), McKayla Henry (Gabriella Montez), Jill Henry (Taylor McKessie, Brai-

Hayland available to lease at reservoir

By Ali Holcomb Hayland at Banner Creek Reservoir is available to the public to lease, according to John Kennedy, Banner Creek Reservoir director.

Kennedy told the commissioners recently that 58 acres of hay ground is currently being advertised in The Holton Recorder for lease.

Sealed bids to lease the ground, which includes 58 acres of brome grass for hay, are due noon on Nov. 18 at the reservoir office.

Ground at the reservoir is leased throughout the year for having, and contracts are usually renewed annually between the county and the leasee.

During that particular meeting, the commissioners renewed its hayland rental agreement with Gregg Watkins for $495, which is 22 acres at a rate of $22.50 per acre.

Kennedy said that earlier this year, some of the residents who leased ground at the reservoir cut brome twice due to the wet and warm conditions this fall.

Also during the meeting, Kennedy reported that revenue for the week of Oct. 30 - Nov. 5

Balloon Fiesta enjoyed

By Larry and Linda Savage Larry and Linda Savage, formerly of Soldier, now in Bernalillo, N.M., entertained during the 45th annual Balloon Fiesta from Oct. 1 through Oct. 5. We all had a good time watching the different shapes of hot air balloons lift off.

They send a weather balloon up at about 6:45 a.m. to make sure the conditions are right to lift off and fly. The chase crews help get the balloons air up, then they have radios to communicate back and forth so when they land the balloons and help fold them up to put back in the basket that they transport them in. These chase crews are from 12 to 14 people that help. Most all balloons have landed by 10:30 a.m.

After that, the ones that had motorcycles and one vehicle that followed made a tour up through Santa Fe, N.M. and the Jemez reservation and mountains.

We had a great day to ride and the trees had great fall colors. We all got back in time. Linda had made a large meal for evervone.

Those attending were John and Nancy Patch from Topeka, Ralph Vanderkolk from Circleville and friend Joann Johnson from Michigan, Travis Patch from Holton, Bob Heaney from Topeka, Jerry Bueker from Holton, Claude and Pat Savage from Brea, Calif. and Claude's biker buddy Jeff from Brea, Calif., and Tony King and lady friend Tris from Albuquerque, N.M.

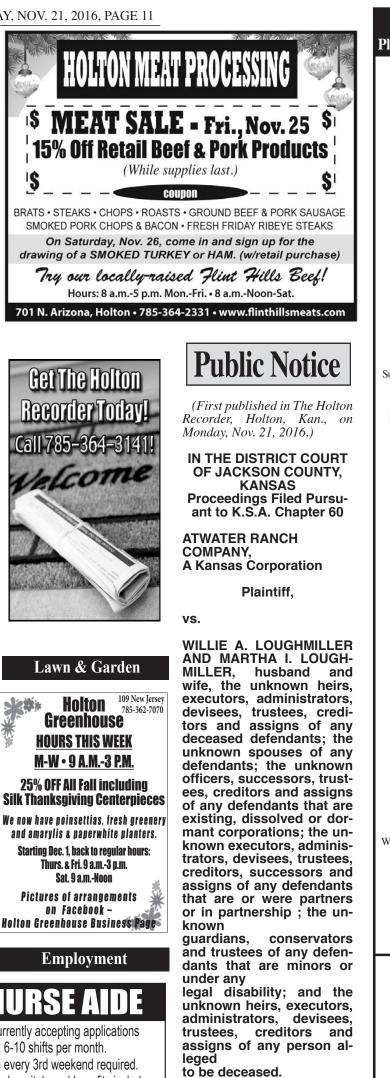

Some of the bikers stayed at Tony King's place during the fiesta. Everyone had a great time and got to do a lot of visiting and catching up on the gossip. Some of these bikers have been coming out and staying with Tony for the last 10 years, and now that we bought a new home here, we are hoping everyone keeps coming back.

The Balloon Fiesta is always the first Saturday in October and lasts nine days.

However, Ashcraft noted that the water watch would not prevent local anglers from fishing in the lake, even though precautions are recommended for visitors to Elkhorn Lake, which is stocked by the Kansas Department of Wildlife, Parks and Tourism's Community Fisheries

Assistance Program. "Fishing is OK," Ashcraft said. "They just recommend that you wash the fish good, that you save only the filets and discard everything else."

Blue-green algae is known to produce toxins that pose a health risk to people and animals, KDHE officials noted. Contact with blue-green algae - whether through ingesting it through water or having it come into contact with the skin - can produce such adverse health effects as intestinal problems, respiratory problems or skin irritations.

In the event that the algae watch at Elkhorn Lake is lifted, KDHE still advises visitors to the lake to exercise caution and watch for algae blooms in the water, as conditions can change quickly depending on the weather.

blue-green algae Some blooms can look like foam, or a thick slurry, KDHE officials noted. Blooms can be blue, bright green, brown or red, and they may look like paint floating on the water, although some blooms may not affect the appearance of the water.

Holton city officials will announce when the water watch at Elkhorn Lake is lifted.

Business was interrupted by the bombing of Pearl Harbor in December of 1941, and within days, Lueck had enlisted in the Army at Fort Leavenworth. Over the course of the war, he was promoted to the rank of Technical Sergeant and served as a squad leader with the 103rd Infantry in New Guinea, the Northern Solomons and the Phillippines.

While serving in the Phillippines, Lueck received the first of his two combat wounds on Jan. 26, 1945, and was taken to a hospital in New Guinea to recuperate. Within two months, he returned to his outfit and spent a lot of time catching up on mail that had accumulated since Christmas, it was reported, when his outfit went back into combat.

A later letter home from the South Pacific informed family members and friends that Lueck had been wounded in the lung by a machine gun bullet. Not long after that, however, Lueck had also written another letter home, telling family members and friends "to cease writing him as he was leaving for the states according to one newspa-

That same year, he married a school teacher, Alice Hess, and got back to the grain business. In April of 1955, Henry and Alice bought property from Alva Amon that was located at the present intersection of U.S. Highway 75 and Kansas Highway 9 and built a new elevator for the Lueck Grain Company. It was reported that prior to the Luecks' purchase of the land, it was believed to have been used primarily for agricultural purposes.

Several outer buildings were added onto the original elevator between its construction and October 1974, when the Luecks sold it to Midwest Agri Services Inc. of Salina. Jackson Farmers purchased the elevator from them in June of 1977, used it until 1996 and sold the elevator two years after that.

Henry Lueck had served as a member of the Kansas Grain Advisory Council during the administrations of Kansas governors George and Robert Docking, as well as a member of the state's Agricultural Relations Board in the Robert Docking administration.

He was also a member of the a member of Holton's Rotary Club for nearly 40 years and was a past club president and a Paul Harris Fellow.

Lueck had also been a member of the Democratic Party for most of his life, and in 1975, he was named chairman of the Kansas Democratic Party. He attended three Democratic National Conventions, including the convention held in the summer of 1976.

His participation in that national convention was cut short by illness, however, and upon returning home from the convention, on July 19, he checked into Stormont-Vail Hospital in Topeka for treatment. On Aug. 11, he transferred to Holton Hospital, where he died two days later, on Friday, Aug. 13, 1976.

Following Lueck's burial in Netawaka Cemetery, Alice moved to Abilene, where she lived the rest of her life. She died in February of 2008.

Hower elected president of Topeka realtor group

Roger Hower of Holton's Kellerman Real Estate has been elected president of the Topekabased Sunflower Association of Realtors for 2017, it was reported. Hower, who co-owns the longtime Holton real estate business with his wife, Cindy, currently serves as the chairman of the Sunflower Association's 2016 finance committee, has also served on the association's board of directors and currently serves as the board's treasurer. He will assume the role of president at the beginning of 2017.

To be eligible for the association's presidency, a member must serve on the board of directors and have served as an association or MLS director for at least one of the last five years while also being advised to be involved on the association's finance committee or governmental affairs committee.

As president-elect, Hower will assume the responsibility of the association's current president in his or her absence and assist the president in carrying out the functions of office and delegated duties.

Roger Hower

Hower is also an active member of the Holton/Jackson County Chamber of Commerce board of directors; he and Cindy were named to the Chamber's Hall of Fame in 2010. He is also active in church events and other community groups, such as Holton's Rotary Club.

Erika Allen, KAY sponsor at Holton Middle School, is serving her second year as the Area 1 KAY sponsor, it has been reported. Allen presided over the sponsor's session in September.

The Kansas Association for Youth (KAY) is a characterbuilding, leadership training, service organization directed by the Kansas State High School Activities Association. This nationally acclaimed organization provides students an opportunity to learn to assume their citizenship responsibilities and to enrich their personalities through well-organized programs. These programs emphasize four areas of service: school, community, nation and world.

The KAY program is available to any KSHSAA member school students. The local organization is under the direction of the school principal who, in turn, appoints a sponsor(s) to lead and guide the club program.

Allen has served as a KAY sponsor for nine years. This former KAY member was selected for her dedication and years of experience with the KAY program. She will serve on a state advisory committee as a representative of the Area 1 KAY Clubs, which are located in Northeastern Kansas. This committee, along with the KSHSAA staff, plans and makes recommendations for the improvement of the KAY program.

"We are honored to have Erika Allen serve as a KAY Area Sponsor," said Cheryl Gleason, KSH-SAA assistant executive director and KAY state director. "Her strong background in the KAY program, her experience in attending KAY conferences and the numerous awards the Holton Middle School KAY Club has received during her years as sponsor, will be of great value to this committee and the KAY program statewide."

The KSHSAA proudly offers the KAY program to Kansas students, through its member schools, as a means to "make a world of difference" for current and future generations.
