Gunter excels at Adaptive Sports competition

By Ali Holcomb

Despite a tragic accident that left him permanently disabled at a young age, Hoyt resident Dustin Gunter, now 20, is finding success on the track at state and national competitions.

In July, Gunter received six first-place finishes at the Adaptive Sports USA Junior Nationals competition in Middleton,

"It was really exciting to compete and go up against people with my same disability," Gunter said. "I could never play sports in high school because of my disability, and the Paralympics allows people to do and play as much as they can."

Gunter's parents are Linda and Chuck Gunter of Hoyt.

In the 18-23 age division against athletes with similar disabilities, Gunter placed first in six track and field events at the junior nationals including:

Discus – 16'83". Javelin - 11'27" 200m Run - 30.49. 100m Run – 14.38. 4x100m Relay - 1:01.44. 400m Run – 1:20.31.

At the end of the competition, Gunter was selected to participate in the 100m specials, which included the top nine athletes out of the 245 track athletes with any kind of disability. He placed fourth in the event.

"My favorite event is the 100m," he said. 'Almost every time I compete, I beat my PR and that's the only thing I care about. I don't care if I get last or first. If I beat my PR, left side of Gunter's skull and I'm happy."

After competing in a meet in Oklahoma, Gunter was asked to anchor the 4x100m relay at nationals as a part of Louisiana

"They liked my time and pulled me in to be a part of their team, he said.

"When I was in the helicopter, they told my mom that I had died and came back to life four times," he said. "When I got to the hospital, I woke up and then died again. I also broke my knee, shoulder and my skull."

Gunter was in a coma for almost two weeks and paralyzed for a year and a half.

"I would watch sports on TV and started to be able to move my body more," he said. "After four years, I decided to focus on running since my arms don't have the ability to move."

Six years ago, Gunter said he began competing in the statewide Special Olympics.

Gunter was named the Most Inspirational Athlete of 2015 at the Kansas Special Olympics and lit the cauldron to officially open the summer games.

He said that athletes competing in the Special Olympics have intellectual or developmental disabilities and everyone competes against each other.

Gonzales returns to Holton with NuSound

By Brian Sanders

After retiring from the U.S. Postal Service in 2012, Sam Gonzales — who, as the Topeka area manager, oversaw operations at Jackson County's post offices for about 15 years sought a different career path.

"The Postal Service was great to me and my family, but I was ready to move on and do something different," Gonzales said. "Hence, NuSound."

Now, Gonzales is working on the south side of Holton's Town Square as co-owner and director of operations for NuSound, a hearing care firm started five years ago in Topeka by his wife, Belinda.

"It is nice to be in Holton," Gonzales said. "We have a patient base in the Holton area, and this just makes it closer for our patients in Holton, Hiawatha, Sabetha and Seneca who had to travel. Now they can make that closer drive to Holton.'

The new NuSound branch office in Holton, located at 115 W. Fourth St., is open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Mondays and Thursdays at present, but Gonzales said he and his wife are hoping to expand those hours and "be available five days a

"It was a very testing time for the Postal Service," said Gonzales, who also spent the last three years of his time with USPS as Topeka's postmaster before joining his wife in the NuSound venture.

Purple Heart Profiles

Soldier's Brady died in German bomb run

Editor's note: This is the 65th in a series of stories about past and present Jackson County residents who earned the Purple Heart Medal, which is awarded to military personnel wounded or killed in the line of duty.

The names of those profiled in these stories are among those placed on a special monument for Purple Heart Medal recipients now standing in Holton's Linscott Park.

Soldier native Lloyd Brady Jr., a staff sergeant in the U.S. Army Air Corps, was one of 10 airmen aboard a B-24 Liberator nicknamed "I'll Be Back" that went out on a bomb run over southern Germany on March 18, 1944.

But the plane was hit by flak on the mission, and six of the 10 men aboard — including Brady - lost their lives in the resulting crash. Brady earned a posthumous Purple Heart Medal for Born Feb. 15, 1922, the son of Lloyd (Sr.) and Opal Brady, and raised in the Soldier area, young Brady eventually moved to Wichita with his family and signed on with the Army Air Corps. He trained at Miami Beach, Fla., Gulfport Field, Miss., and Pueblo, Colo., before he was sent to England in late 1943 as an aerial gunner.

He joined the Eighth Army Air Force's 44th Bombardment Group, a unit nicknamed the "Flying Eight-Balls" for the winged bomb cartoon of an "eight ball" from billiards, over which were superimposed the eyes and nose of a bomb, on each plane.

According to a news report, Brady had written a letter home on Dec. 21, 1943, stating that he was involved in combat duty and had received the Air Medal for successfully flying five missions over enemy territory.

The "Flying Eight-Balls" were assigned to bomb the Manzell Air Armaments in Friedrichshafen, Germany, on March 18, 1944, and several B-24 Liberators took off from England that morning. Brady was on board "I'll Be Back" as the right waist gunner, alongside nine other crew members who continued to fly toward Germany.

Wetmore school hit by vandals

The Wetmore Academic Center and ballfield concession stand were vandalized recently, and the necessary clean-up will delay the start of the school year by one day, it was reported.

Sometime between 10:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Aug. 2, and 7 p.m. on Thursday, Aug. 3, the Nemaha County Sheriff's Office reports that vandals entered the school at 321 Sixth St. in Wetmore and caused "extensive damage" throughout the building and the concession stand.

Money was also stolen from the school during the incident, it was reported.

The vandalism was discovered Thursday morning, Aug. 3, on what was supposed to be the third day of school enrollment for the new term.

The sheriff's office reports that the case remains under investigation. Anyone with information regarding the vandalism is asked to contact the Nemaha County Sheriff's Office at (785) 336-2311.

The district has hired a company to assist with the clean-up of the building prior to the start of the school year, which had been scheduled for Thursday, Aug. 17. The first day of classes will now by Friday, Aug. 18, it was reported.

Prairie Hills USD 113 Superintendent Todd Evans told The Sabetha Herald that school officials and employees don't know what prompted the vandalism.

"In visiting with them, there are many mixed feelings including anger, sadness, frustration and a complete lack of understanding of the motivation for this action," Evans said.

This is the second vandalism to USD 113 school buildings in the span of four months — Sabetha High School was struck back in April, it was reported.

Tips for Walking Safely to School

Walking is fun, but you need to be safe while doing it. Follow these tips to make sure you get to and from school without any problems.

Walk together

Younger children should always walk with an adult. Tell your parents that walking is great exercise and a nice way to spent time together.

If your parents say that you can walk to school on your own, remember

- these tips: · Walk with a friend when possible.
- · Ask your parents to help you pick a safe route to school; one that avoids
- · Stick to the route you picked with your parents. Don't let friends talk you into shortcuts that are more dangerous.
- · When you are near the street, don't push, shove, or chase each other. Never hitchhike or take rides from people not arranged by your parents
- · Talk to your parents and teacher about any bullying that may happen during your walk.

Remember, drivers may not be able to see you well. Always wear brightcolored clothes and if it is dark or hard to see, carry flashlights or wear reflective gear.

Look for traffic

Watch out for cars and trucks at every driveway and intersection on your walk to school. Look for drivers in parked cars. They may be getting ready to move.

Cross the street safely

- 1. Stop at the curb or edge of the street. 2. Look left, right, left and behind you and in front of you for traffic.
- 3. Wait until no traffic is coming and begin crossing.
- 4. Keep looking for traffic until you have finished crossing. 5. Walk, don't run across the street.

Obey traffic signs, signals and adult school crossing guards

The sobering prospect of nuclear war in our time

By Glenn Mollette

President Donald Ttump has vowed to meet more North Korea threats with "power the likes of which the world has never seen" and Kim Jong-un has responded with a plan for a nuke attack on the U.S. island of Guam. Plans are being made for a horror scenario we must take seriously.

Most of us want to be confident that America with the aid of Japan and our strategic defense system can stop any missile attack.

We know we have plenty bombs to strike North Korea in return. Just one of our submarines named "USS Kentucky" has 200 nuclear bombs most of which are more powerful than the one bomb that struck Hiroshima.

This is frightening that enough power is on one submarine to take out an entire country or

Such a scenario makes me wonder how much can the planet stand? If four or five countries ever get into an unleashing of nuclear weapons on each other, I believe it would be more than our planet could survive.

If our planet could stay intact, the planet might take hundreds of years to ever recoup from the devastation. The planet is amazing but mankind has developed the ability to annihilate our beautiful planet.

Business Insider printed a story a couple of years ago that shortly after the end of World War II, the scientists who developed the atomic bombs dropped on Japan tried to envision the kind of nuclear event that could lead to the destruction of not just cities, but the entire world.

A recently declassified document shared by nuclear historian Alex Wellerstein gives the verdict that scientists at the Los Alamos laboratory and test site reached in 1945.

They found that "it would require only in the neighborhood of 10 to 100 Supers of this type' to put the human race in peril.

With so many atomic bombs now existing in the world. it would be fathomable that 10 to 100 could be unleashed given the right scenario of hostility between enough countries.

No one is thinking that many will be unleashed by anyone.

What if North Korea successfully unleashes several of their stocked nuclear bombs? What if we cannot intercept them all? Our defense may be great but even the greatest defense systems have flaws and holes.

How many would die? If North Korea unleashes one then we know our President Trump may unleash one on North Korea or take out tens of thousands of lives. The causalities could end up in the millions.

If Kim Jong-un launches one toward our mainland, there is no guarantee it would hit Seattle or Chicago. It could end up hitting any town or even rural area in the United States. Do you think you are safe just because you in an obscure town? If nuclear missiles are fired, we are all at risk.

Please keep in mind that everything will be interrupted. With any kind of national crisis, gasoline shortages occur. Grocery store supplies might be interrupted. Power grids could be demolished or interrupted. There are many ways our lives could be interrupted if we survive an attack. The following are things experts recommend you can do to protect yourself, your family and your home if you believe an attack is imminent.

•Build an Emergency Supply Kit, which includes items like non-perishable food, water, a battery-powered or handcrank radio, extra flashlights and batteries.

You may want to prepare a kit for your workplace and a portable kit to keep in your car in case you are told to evacuate.

•Make a Family Emergency Plan. Your family may not be together when disaster strikes, so it is important to know how you will contact one another, how you will get back together and what you will do in case of an emergency. •Find out from officials if any public buildings in your community have been designated as fallout shelters. If none have been designated, make your own list of potential shelters.

These places would include basements or the windowless central area of middle floors in high-rise buildings.

What to do during a nuclear

The following are guidelines for what to do in the event of a nuclear explosion.

•Listen for official information via online, radio or TV and follow the instructions provided by emergency response person-

•If an attack warning is issued, take cover as quickly as you can, below ground if possible, and stay there until instructed to do otherwise.

•Find the nearest building, preferably built of brick or concrete, and go inside to avoid any radioactive material outside.

•If better shelter, such as a multi-story building or basement can be reached within a few minutes, go there immedi-

•Go as far below ground as possible or in the center of a tall building. The goal is to put as many walls and as much concrete, brick and soil between you and the radioactive material

•Expect to stay inside for at least 24 hours unless told otherwise by authorities. What to do if you are caught

•Do not look at the flash or fireball – it can blind you.

•Take cover behind anything that might offer protection. •Lie flat on the ground and cover your head. If the explosion is some distance away, it could take 30 seconds or more for the blast wave to hit. •Take shelter as soon as you can, even if you are many miles from ground zero where the attack occurred - radioactive fallout can be carried by the winds for hundreds of miles. •If you were outside during or after the blast, get clean as soon as possible, to remove radioactive material that may have settled on your body.

•Remove your clothing to keep radioactive material from spreading. Removing the outer layer of clothing can remove up to 90 percent of radioactive material.

•If practical, place your contaminated clothing in a plastic bag and seal or tie the bag.

•When possible, take a shower with lots of soap and water to help remove radioactive contamination. Do not scrub or scratch the skin.

•Wash your hair with shampoo or soap and water. Do not use conditioner in your hair because it will bind radioactive material to your hair, keeping it from rinsing out easily.

What to do after a nuclear blast?

Decay rates of the radioactive fallout are the same for any size nuclear device.

However, the amount of fallout will vary based on the size of the device and its proximity to the ground. Therefore, it might be necessary for those in the areas with highest radiation levels to shelter for up to a month.

The heaviest fallout would be limited to the area at or downwind from the explosion and 80 percent of the fallout would occur during the first 24 hours.

People in most of the areas that would be affected could be allowed to come out of shelter within a few days and, if necessary, evacuate to unaffected

Keep listening to the radio and television for news about what to do, where to go and places to avoid.

Stay away from damaged areas. Stay away from areas marked 'radiation hazard' or 'HAZMAT.' Remember that radiation cannot be seen, smelled or otherwise detected by human

The bottom line is that we all hope and pray that China, Japan and other nations will work with us to help us resolve this lingering nightmare with Kim Jong-

The problem is that it won't be over. There will still be a chance of this recurring nightmare that will come back from North Korea or even very soon Iran.

The scenario of a world holocaust is becoming too imminent. We must seriously answer this question, "Will the world ever really rest with North Korea having nuclear weapons?"

Another question is - Can we really allow this to continue?

Do we sit back and allow Iran to put us in the same position in the next couple of years?

PLAINS FOLK: Don't try to fill another man's boots

By Jim Hoy Decades ago when I was in college and had gone home to Cassoday for the Christmas break (the semester used to begin in mid-

September and end in mid-January, which meant that go home intending write research papers between Christmas and you'd those New Year's but procrastinate until you found yourself back on campus doing research papers when you should have been studying for finals), I put off working on term papers by going to visit Raymond and Melba Prewitt.

Raymond was a calf roper and bulldogger and Melba was a well-known trick rider who lived a few miles south of us and raised quarter horses.

They were a little older than I and their daughter Debbie, who was pretty small at the time, would later be joined by three Raymond was a good story teller and would occasionally pull his mandolin out from under the bed for a little music.

On this particular night, talking about this and that, Raymond mentioned that he'd recently heard about a woman down around Rosalia, about 15 miles south of Cassoday, who had just lost her second husband.

The unusual thing was that he had died from rattlesnake venom, but this was in December. Come to find out, her first husband had also died from a rattlesnake bite.

He had been struck in the foot while out by the barn.

A year or two later his widow had remarried, and it just so happened that husband number two wore the same size boots as husband Number One.

It seems that the snake's fangs had broken off and were embedded in the boot.

Thus when husband Number Two pulled on the boots, the fangs that had killed Number One struck again, killing Number Two.

There is a moral lesson to be learned here: husband Number Two should never try to fill husband Number One's boots.

I was recently reading J. Frank Dobie's book about rattlesnakes and came across a couple of variations of the same story, thus verifying its status as an urban (or in this case, a rural) legend.

One version Dobie recounts, similar to the one Raymond told, takes place in Oregon, while the other is about a cowboy who puts on a new pair of boots to go courting a pretty girl.

When a rattlesnake strikes him in the foot, he dies and the boots pass on to a friend who, after a decent interval, also starts court-

He, too, dies, although from an apparently unknown cause, and a third cowboy inherits the boots and again starts courting the girl.

When he dies, suspicions in the neighborhood grow about the girl and her fatal influence.

Fortunately, before she is accused of witchcraft or administering poison to her suitors, and before a fourth cowboy shows up to court the girl, the fangs are discovered in the boot.

The problem with these stories is that the venom would long ago have dissipated, and the worst thing that could have happened to husband Number Two or to suitors two and three is that the scratches from the fangs may have become infected and maybe blood poisoning might have set in.

But that's not as exciting as a delayed snake bite.

We know that a hearing problem could be related to other health issues, so we work with your primary care physician,' he said. "Any time that you're tested, we send that information to your primary care physician. We test our patients on an annual basis."

Those tests include hearing assessments and checks for tinnitus, more commonly known as 'ringing in the ear," and complementary evaluations are available for anyone, he said.

"It's truly rewarding to be able to see our patients improve their lives," Gonzales said. "That's really kind of our motto improving lives, one year at

"We have been trained to work on hearing aids," he added, because we want to try to make those last as long as we possibly can."

Gonzales also described Nu-Sound as "a family business," because in addition to him and his wife, one of their daughters, Marissa Gonzales, is the company's director of marketing and patient care as well as a hearing instrument specialist. Another daughter works out of the Topeka office as a patient care provider, and their son is also looking at a career in audiology, he added.

Gonzales said that so far, he has enjoyed the change in careers, mainly through "getting to see and meet new people in a different season of their lives." But he and his family are excited to expand their business into Holton, a community that's near and dear to them.

The Paralympics are more focused on athletes with just physical disabilities, and athletes are categorized by their disability and compete with other athletes with the same disability.

"The Special Olympics locally are great, but there aren't many people with my same disability so the Paralympics offers more challenges and it's seems more fair.'

In high school at Royal Valley, Gunter wanted to play football and wrestle but was unable due to his disability.

"So when everyone was lifting weights, I would go out to the track and run and run," said the 2015 RVHS graduate. "I've been running for six or seven years, and I just keep on going. It makes me feel better because it's something I can do and get better at the more I work.'

Gunter said his goal is to qualify as a paralympian for Team USA and find a college so he can train throughout the year with other athletes.

"Right now, I'm just running here in Hoyt on the country roads to stay in shape," he said. "I just want to meet my goals and follow my dreams."

Gunter is a cook and waiter at Bailey's Café in Hoyt and is also a manager for the RVHS football team.

According to the navigator of the "I'll Be Back" crew, Lt. Edmund Donnelly, the B-24 had "a bad day from the word go," with a delayed takeoff and flak hitting the plane's #1 and #4 engines just after the crew re-

Donnelly told the pilot, Lt. Frank Albert, to fly for Switzerland, but Albert insisted "that we had brought the bombs this far and they would go on the target," Donnelly said. Albert then gave the "bail out" signal and ordered the crew to evacuate.

Albert was of him hunched over the controls giving four of us a chance for life," Donnelly said.

Donnelly and three other members of the crew survived and were captured by enemy forces, while Brady, Albert and four others perished in the reinally been buried by German forces near the site of the crash, it was reported.

Brady's body was eventually recovered and brought back to the States. He was buried in Soldier Cemetery, near his parents.
