Advance voting now available

By Ali Holcomb
Advance voting for the Tuesday, Nov. 7, general election is now under way for Jackson County voters, it has been reported.

Any registered voter can cast their vote in advance at the Jackson County Clerk's Office on the second floor of the Jackson County Courthouse between now and noon on Monday, Nov. 6, during business hours.

The clerk's office is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The office remains open through the lunch hour.

The election includes positions on area school boards, city councils and the Meadowlark Extension District Board of Directors.

Any registered voter can vote in advance, and they do not need a special reason to do so, it has been reported. All voters must bring some form of photo identification in order to vote.

So far, 10 people have voted in advance in the election.

The last day voters can apply for and request a mailed advance ballot is Tuesday, Oct. 31, according to Jackson County Clerk Kathy Mick.

Ballot request forms and additional voting information can be found at the county website, www.jacksoncountysks.com.

On Tuesday, Nov. 7, voting polls in Jackson County will be open for 12 consecutive hours from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

For more information about the election or to have a ballot mailed to you, call the clerk's office at 364-2891.

At Jackson Heights USD 335, Kelly Kennedy (incumbent) has filed for position four on the board of education. Robert Mock and Ed Rostetter (incumbent) both filed for position five. Doug Amon (incumbent) filed for re-election to position six.

Both Allen Arnold (incumbent) and Michelle Evans filed for position four on the Holton USD 336 Board of Education. Evans, however, is moving to a different part of town and is no longer eligible for the position. Her name will still be on the ballot since she did not withdraw from the race by the filing deadline.

Michiel Ford (incumbent) filed for re-election to position five on the Holton Board of Education, and Christina Schlotter-Murphy has filed for position six.

Five people are running for three positions on the Royal Valley USD 337 Board of Education, including Linda Hegemann (incumbent) for position four, Jeff Stithem (incumbent) and Nathan McAlister for position five and Ann Kelly (incumbent) and Sonja Willms for position six.

Willms has publicly withdrawn from the race due to medical reasons, but her name will still appear on the ballot.

No one is challenging two incumbents that have filed for re-election to the Holton City Commission. Bob Dieckmann (incumbent) is running again for position three, and Twila White (incumbent) has filed for position five on the commission.

Additional candidates that filed for other city positions include:

Circleville City Council: No one filed for three open seats on the council.

Delia City Council: Don Trimble (incumbent) is running for mayor. No one filed for two open seats on the council.

Denison City Council: Liberty Beecham (incumbent) and Vickie Wold (incumbent) are running for two of three open seats on the council.

Three seeking Meadowlark Extension board positions

Carolyn Kennedy, Bruce Yonke and Kristen Colter are seeking election to two open seats on the Meadowlark Extension District #7 Board of Directors.

The general election has been set for Tuesday, Nov. 7, and will also include races for school board and city council positions.

Carolyn Kennedy, 65, Circleville, is seeking re-election to the district board. Kennedy has represented Jackson County on the board — and served as secretary — since the Meadowlark Extension

District formed 11 years ago. "I have the experience, and I have family members who are very active in 4-H," Kennedy said. "I want to continue to promote 4-H."

Kennedy has a bachelor of science degree in nursing from Fort Hays State University. She received her registered nurse certification from Stormont Vail School of Nursing.

She has been employed with Cotton O'Neil Work Care as a clinic manager for 14 years.

Yonke and Colter have not returned the election questionnaire sent to them by The Holton Recorder.

County receives state funds for Delia bridge

Seventeen Kansas counties, including Jackson County, have been awarded a total of $8.17 million by the Kansas Department of Transportation for replacement of bridges.

KDOT received 83 applications requesting $33.2 million in funding under the Federal-Aid-Off-System Bridge Program for federal fiscal year 2019, which will begin on Oct. 1, 2018.

By federal law, a state must allocate an amount of Federal Surface Transportation Program funds for bridges not on the federal-aid systems. This amount must be equal to no less than 15 percent of the federal bridge funds it received in 2009. To comply, KDOT established the Federal-Aid Off-System Bridge Program.

Under the program, recipients can receive up to $1 million and must provide matching funds in the amount of 20 percent.

Jackson County received $249,521.13 to replace a bridge located three miles north and a half a mile west of Delia spanning Sullivan Creek. The total cost of the project is estimated at $311,901.41.

In addition to Jackson County, other counties selected to receive funding include Allen, Butler, Chase, Crawford, Ford, Franklin, Kingman, Miami, Mitchell, Montgomery, Ness, Norton, Osborne, Pottawatomie, Republic and Wabaunsee.

Funds being raised for Honor Flight

By Brian Sanders
Fund-raising efforts for the seventh Jackson Heights High School Honor Flight will continue this Saturday with a special Elk Creek Opry performance.

But an increase in airline ticket prices has made the need to raise more funds a priority for the local program, those involved with the program have noted.

Adrienne Walsh, Jackson Heights district superintendent and elementary principal, said that when the school's Honor Flight program made its last journey to Washington, D.C., with local veterans of World War II and the Korean and Vietnam wars in September of 2015, the total cost of the trip was about $10,000.

As of this week, the program — which is entirely funded by donations — has about $10,450 to put toward the next Honor Flight, which is tentatively scheduled for next spring. But with Southwest Airlines — the national Honor Flight program's official airline — raising airfares in the interim, the school is looking at having to raise another $4,000 to offset those price hikes, Walsh said.

"We flew for about $236 per person the last time. The rate they've given me for the next one is $367 per person," said

Walsh, who noted that those airfares cover the cost of about 30 high school "guardians" — who are also involved with fund-raising efforts — and support personnel traveling with veterans.

The estimated cost is also contingent on Southwest Airlines granting "green passes" that allow participating Honor Flight veterans to travel to and from Washington at no cost, she added.

This weekend's Elk Creek Opry performance, Walsh said, will likely take a big bite out of what Honor Flight program volunteers need to raise to cover the increase in costs.

"I believe it will," she said. "They've been able to donate about $2,500 every time they've put on a show to help us out."

That performance is scheduled for 2 p.m. Saturday at Circleville Christian Church, and general admission for the show is $10 per person. There will also be a chicken noodle dinner, with serving beginning at noon; admission to the Elk Creek Opry show does not include the dinner, it was noted.

All proceeds raised from Saturday's event will benefit the Jackson Heights Honor Flight program, which was launched in the fall of 2008 after Claude

Battery report leads to four drug arrests

Four Jackson County residents were arrested on drug charges Saturday evening following a search warrant served at a Holton residence, according to Jackson County Sheriff Tim Morse.

The Jackson County Sheriff's Office and the Holton Police Department served a search warrant on a Holton house located at 511 New Jersey St. that evening. The investigation originated from an initial report of battery that allegedly occurred at the residence, Morse said.

Danny Ross Adams, 28, of Holton was arrested at the scene on charges of battery, possession of marijuana, possession of illegal drug paraphernalia, possession of methamphetamine and use of a communication facility device in the commission of a felony drug violation.

Stanley Morris Drinkard, 27, of Holton was arrested on charges of possession of marijuana, possession of illegal drug paraphernalia, possession of methamphetamine, use of a communication facility device in the commission of a felony drug violation, possession of hydrocodone, distribution of methamphetamine within a thousand feet of a school and possession of marijuana within a 1,000 feet of a school.

Alexander Morris Mercer-Jones, 28, of Holton was arrested on charges of possession of marijuana and possession of illegal drug paraphernalia.

Crystal Diane Bratcher, 37, Mayetta was arrested on charges of possession of marijuana, possession of illegal drug paraphernalia and possession of methamphetamine.

The Kansas Highway Patrol also assisted with the incident. All four suspects were booked into the Jackson County Jail Saturday night. As of Wednesday morning, only Drinkard remained at the jail, according to the sheriff's department.

Skid loader accident injures one

An accident Monday morning involving a skid loader and a commercial truck injured a Mayetta man and slowed traffic in the southern part of the county on U.S. Highway 75, it was reported.

According to the Kansas Highway Patrol, at 9:18 a.m. Marshall Persinger, 53, Mayetta, was driving a 2011 New Holland skid loader east on 118th Road.

Persinger failed to yield the right of way, according to the report, and his skid loader entered the intersection at the highway, striking the left rear axle of a 1996 Kenworth truck hauling a trailer.

The truck was driven by Douglas Jacobson, 52, Havensville.

Both Persinger and Jacobson were wearing seat belts at the time of the crash, KHP reports.

The skid loader was towed from the scene, and Persinger was transported to Stormont-Vail Hospital for treatment of injuries. Jacobson did not report any injuries.

Fenceline: Haters gonna hate

Thirty-two years ago, my mother made a baptismal gown for my oldest son. She spent three months laboring over this family heirloom. It is a beautiful piece of art. Well, now my son is getting ready to put that gown on his son. It's never too late to start a family tradition!

Traditionally at this point, I would try to educate you about the "traditions of cattle industry." Trust me, you don't want to Google that! You will get a slew of articles about all the horrible "traditions" we use to torture animals - castration, branding, vaccinations and even weaning.

I have come to appreciate a saying my sons use, "Haters gonna hate." I don't know if this is the Millennials' way of saying "Que sera sera, whatever will be, will be." It seems that any which way you turn, there are critics of agriculture.

We continue to feed more people with less resources and doing it with more concern for the environment and our own health. After all, we are only 2 percent of the population, feeding everyone and exporting the rest. What doesn't change is the constant opposition met by the adopters of new technology.

Whether it's herbicide resistant varieties, reproduction hormone program, RFID tags, robotic milking units or weaning a calf, someone's going to be critical. Our job as agricultural enthusiasts is to tell our own story, before one of the other groups tells it for you.

We need to educate our family members so that when they are confronted with a side comment about the hormones in beef, for

Doing cover crop research at KSU

By David Hallauer
 Meadowlark Extension
 District Agent, Crops and Soils/Horticulture

The 2017 KSU Agronomy Field Day will be held on Friday, Nov. 3, at the Ashland Bottoms Research Farm, 2801 W. 40th Ave., Manhattan. This year's focus: cover crops!

Soil health means a lot of different things to different people, but one of the consistent focal points of the soil health movement has definitely been cover crops. This year's field day will focus on understanding the role cover crops play in water quality, weed control and soil quality among others.

KSU weed ecologist Dr. Anita Dille will take on the weed control potential of cover crops in her talk on using cover crops for weed suppression. Her work has shown good weed suppression from the appropriate use of cover crops in our cropping systems.

The emphasis on cover crop effects on our commodity crops will also be touched on in two other sessions as well. Southeast Area Extension agronomist Dr. Doug Shoup and KSU crop production specialist Dr. Ignacio Ciampitti will share their research work in the arena of cover crop effects on soybean yields. KSU cropping systems research agronomist Dr. Kraig Roozeboom will share results from 10 years of cover crop work in no-till wheat-sorghum-soybean rotations.

Water quality will also be a focal point of the day. Extension soil management specialist Dr.

Deann Presley will discuss her work on improving soil quality with cover crops - with some of that work from right here in the Meadowlark Extension District.

Researcher Nathan Nelson will discuss his interesting work in the area of protecting surface water with healthy soils, cover crops and fertilizer management. While Dr. Nelson's work will have a focus on phosphorous, Dr. Peter Tomlinson, KSU Extension environmental quality specialist, will hit on the nitrogen management aspect of cover crops.

It will be a full day with registration beginning at 9 a.m. Two concurrent one-hour tours will start at 9:30 a.m. and conclude at noon with a complimentary lunch and poster session. There is no charge to attend, but pre-registration is requested by Oct. 30 to get a lunch count.

Pre-register online at www.eventbrite.com/e/ksu-agronomy-field-day-2017-tickets-38450982925 or by phone to Troy Lynn Eckart at 785-532-5776. On-site registration will also be available.

Local collection site offered

Get unused meds out of your house this Saturday

The Jackson County Sheriff's Office in Holton is one of several law enforcement agencies throughout the state that will be collecting unused medications on Saturday.

Law enforcement officers at locations across the state will be collecting unused leftover medications for safe disposal between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Saturday, according to Kansas Attorney General Derek Schmidt.

Medications will be accepted locally at the Jackson County Sheriff's Office, 210 U.S. Highway 75 in Holton between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

The collection events are part of a nationwide effort to safely dispose of leftover medications to prevent accidental or intentional misuse. Since the Drug Take-Back Day program began in 2010, more than 58 tons of unwanted medications have been collected and destroyed in Kansas alone.

"Unused medications are dangerous for kids, pets and the environment," Schmidt said. "Diversion of opioid painkillers, in particular, can contribute to the misuse of these drugs that has become a serious nationwide problem. Getting leftover medicines out of the medicine cabinets and safely destroyed keeps them from falling into the wrong hands and makes our communities safer."

The National Drug Take-

Back Day is coordinated by the federal Drug Enforcement Administration, which collects and safely destroys the medications.

Medicines that languish in home cabinets are highly susceptible to diversion, misuse and abuse, it was reported. Nationwide, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) estimates opioid overdoses kill 91 Americans every day.

According to the Kansas Department of Health and Environment, pharmaceutical opioids are a leading cause of drug poisoning deaths in Kansas. The CDC says the number of opioid prescriptions has quadrupled since 1999, despite Americans reporting a steady amount of pain.

Studies show a majority of abused prescription drugs are obtained from family and friends, including from the home medicine cabinet.

In addition, Americans are now advised that traditional methods for disposing of unused medicines — flushing them down the toilet or throwing them in the trash — pose potential safety and health hazards and should be avoided.

Unused prescriptions can be turned in year-round at many local law enforcement locations. Kansans should contact their local sheriff's office or police department for more information.

McGrath gets Cardinal Health Generation RX Champ Award

Bobbi McGrath, pharmacist at Walmart Pharmacy in Holton, shown above at left, with Vanessa Alvarez of Cardinal Health, received the Cardinal Health Generation Rx Champions Award at a Sept. 30 ceremony during the 137th Kansas Pharmacists Association (KPhA) Annual Meeting and Trade Show in Lawrence, it was reported.

The Cardinal Health Generation Rx Champions Award recognizes an individual who has demonstrated excellence in community-based prescription drug abuse prevention and showcases an outstanding effort to raise awareness of this serious public health problem.

The KPhA, Kansas Pharmacists Recovery Network and the Committee on Impaired Pharmacy Practice celebrates McGrath's outstanding efforts, along with The University of Kansas School of Pharmacy, to bring awareness of drug and alcohol addiction to her colleagues and students in the state of Kansas.

McGrath graduated from The University of Kansas School of Pharmacy in 1993. She maintains pharmacy licensing in Kansas (1993) and Florida (2013) and splits her time between Holton and Key West, Fla. She previously was director of pharmacy at Kickapoo Nation Health Center in Horton and clinical pharmacy at Menninger Clinic, formerly in Topeka.

In addition to work, McGrath likes to travel, run, read, shop and stay active in her community. She is president of the Holton Rotary Club (member since 2007), vice-chair of the Holton Community Hospital Board of Directors (member since 2007) and a member of the Holton Chapter JI PEO, Kansas PRN CIPP committee and Kansas Pharmacist Association. She also participated in Hurricane Katrina relief efforts in 2005.

All foreigners required to report U.S. land interests

Foreign persons with an interest in agricultural lands in the United States are required to report their holdings and any transactions to the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture, it has been reported.

"Any foreign person who acquires, transfers or holds any interest, other than a security interest, in agricultural land in the United States is required by law to report the transaction no later than 90 days after the date of the transaction," said David McAfee, executive director for the Jackson County Farm Service Agency.

Foreign investors must file Agricultural Foreign Investment Disclosure Act (AFIDA) reports with the FSA county office that maintains reports for the county where the land is located.

"Failure to file a report, filing a late report or filing an inaccurate report can result in a penalty with fines up to 25 percent of the fair market value of the agricultural land," McAfee said.

For AFIDA purposes, agricultural land is defined as any land used for farming, ranching or timber production, if the tracts total 10 acres or more.

Disclosure reports are also required when there are changes in land use. For example, reports are required when land use changes from nonagricultural to agricultural or from agricultural to nonagricultural. Foreign investors must also file a report when there is a change in the status of ownership such as owner changes from foreign to non-foreign, from non-foreign to foreign or from foreign to foreign.

Data gained from these disclosures is used to prepare an annual report to the president and Congress concerning the effect of such holdings upon family farms and rural communities in the United States.

For more information regarding AFIDA and FSA programs, contact the Jackson County FSA office at 785-364-3329 or visit the USDA Web site at www.usda.gov.

KSU scaling back budget after enrollment drops

Kansas State University is reportedly scaling back this year's budget by millions of dollars after about 1,000 fewer students enrolled this fall compared to the previous year, creating a budget crunch, it was reported.

The steep drop in tuition revenue is prompting the school to pull back a combined $12 million from its academic and administrative units. The university may adjust the amount later depending on spring enrollment.

In a letter to the K-State community, a university administrator said notice of the cuts has gone out to the university's deans and other unit heads.

"Kansas State University is working to address the enrollment and budget situation," wrote Cindy Bontrager, vice president for administration and finance.

The university plans to evaluate its budget process and hire a consultant to review enrollment strategies with the goal of attracting more students.

Brian Lindshield, president of the K-State Faculty Senate and an associate professor in the College of Human Ecology, said Wednesday that record student enrollment in recent years may have led university officials to pay less attention to risks that the tide might change.

"In about 2014 we had so much enrollment that we were putting students in hotels, and we had concerns over how we were going to handle it and about the quality of the experience we were providing," Lindshield said. "I think that that led us to not be as focused, you know, maybe on this changing demographic and other sorts of pressures that were going to come."

With an enrollment drop near four percent, K-State experienced the biggest decline this year among the six state universities. The K-State Collegian student newspaper reported that it is the university's steepest drop in three decades.

The Collegian revealed the impending budget cuts in an article published Monday, Oct. 16, quoting Amit Chakrabarti, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, as saying the midyear financial loss would "decimate" his college.

Safety incidents involving drones are soaring

Reports of safety incidents involving civilian drones have surged to an average of 250 a month, leading to a federal "emergency" action to approve drone flights in restricted areas, according to a government notice seeking new procedures for the craft.

There is so much pent-up demand for obtaining special permission to fly drones in restricted airspace, that the Federal Aviation Administration says it can't keep up.

The FAA says drone users are flying without approval because of the delays.

"The time necessary to process these requests has resulted in an increase in safety reports due to non-compliant operations," the agency said in its notice.

Drone safety incidents are up compared to last year, according to FAA's notice. Reports of drones flying improperly or getting too close to other aircraft are averaging 250 a month, this year, up by more than 50 percent from last year.

They averaged 159 per month from February through September 2016, according to the FAA.

Soaring demand for drone flights made possible by regulations finalized last year have created a backlog of requests to the FAA and have become a nuisance to the agency's air-traffic controllers, who often receive direct telephone requests to operate the craft.

"These calls create distractions for air traffic control management," the agency said.

The FFA notice comes just days after the first documented mid-air collision between a drone and a traditional aircraft. The National Transportation Safety Board is investigating a Sept. 21 incident that occurred near Staten Island, N.Y., when an Army UH-60 Blackhawk helicopter struck a small drone.

While the investigation is in the early stages and no enforcement action has been announced, the drone was almost certainly in violation of FAA rules when the impact occurred.

Civilian drones are supposed to stay within 400 feet of the surface, but preliminary information from the pilots indicates they were at about 500 feet.

In addition, almost all areas around New York City are off limits for routine drone flights because of the proximity to the area's four busy airports and local helicopter traffic.

The device was a Phantom 4, a roughly three-pound (1.38 kilograms) model made by SZ DJI Technology, the China-based company that is the world's largest civilian drone manufacturer.

The FFA said it wants to sidestep normal regulatory requirements so it can more quickly adopt an automated system for approving low-level drone flights in restricted areas. The agency has created what it calls the Low Altitude Authorization and Notification Capability, which takes five minutes for approval via computer instead of months.

Since adopting new regulations expanding drone flights last year, the FAA has received 20,566 requests for special flight authorizations. The agency has more than 6,000 pending requests because it can take 60 to 90 days to process them, it said in the notice. That could swell to 25,000 pending requests within the next six months, the FAA predicted.

World Series is under way

The Los Angeles Dodgers of the National League on Tuesday night won Game 1 of the 113th Major League Baseball World Series by a score of 3-1 over the Houston Astros of the American League.

The year is the first year that the World Series qualifying team with the best regular-season record was awarded home field for the World Series.

From 1903 to 2002, home field for the World Series was alternated between the two leagues.

From 2003 to 2016, the league that won the All-Star game was awarded home field for the World Series.

The Dodgers won 104 regular season games while the Astros won 101. The best-of-seven series continues this evening.

Lutheran Women's Missionary League Sunday was observed at Immanuel Lutheran Church on Oct. 22, with the theme "Be Ready In Season And Out Of Season."

This year marks two significant anniversaries: The 500th anniversary of Luther's posting the 95 Theses and the 75th anniversary of the LWML. Confession the faith has not gotten any easier since these two events occurred. Yet God is faithful and has promised that His church will survive all the trials of the world can throw at us.

Building on God's promises, we know He is with us. Since 1942, the LWML has affirmed each woman's identity as a child of God and her relationship with Jesus Christ, encouraged and equipped Christian women to live out their lives in active mission ministries and supported missions around the world through their sacrificial gifts of mites, tithes, offerings and tireless service. Now is our time to "Be Ready To Confess!" faithfully and boldly of Christ's redemptive work for us and for all the world.

The opening hymn was "Christ Is Our Cornerstone." Following the confession and absolution, the hymn of praise, "Glory Be To God The Father," was sung. The hymn, "All Glory Be To God On High," was sung as the Gloria in Excelsis.

LWML member Elizabeth Handke read the Old Testament lesson from 1 Kings 8:54-61. Pastor Michael Van Velzer led the psalmody. Marcia Coufal, LWML member, read the Epistle lesson from 2 Timothy 4:1-4. Pastor Van Velzer read the Holy Gospel for the 10th chapter of St. Matthew. The sermon hymn was "Our God, Our Help In Ages Past."

Pastor Van Velzer shared the sermon written by the Rev. Dr. Lawrence R. Rast Jr., president of Concordia Theological Seminary, Fort Wayne, Ind.

1. Confessing Christ is central to our identity as Christians: The good news of the gospel is given to each of us to share with those whom God places in our sphere of influence regardless of our station in life. Proclaiming the salvation won by Jesus is not just "the pastor's job." Every single one of us is all called to be ready to confess Christ as God opens doors for us to do so. You are called to be ready to confess!

2. Luther was ready to confess. The setting in which God called Martin Luther to confess Christ as he read the New Testament and particularly read Paul's Epistle to the Romans was confronted by the question of righteousness.

What does it mean to be right in God's eyes? And the scriptures were clear to him: Keep God's law perfectly. However, he knew that he did not keep God's law perfectly or sufficiently. He understood that the righteousness of God is about Christ, who is perfect.

Christ, the God-man, who has completed salvation for Luther, for you and for all, perfectly, once and for all. Where before there was sinner, God now sees His perfectly redeemed child through Christ.

3. God calls us to be ready to confess this gospel. This — the biblical gospel — is what we must be ready to confess! How do we prepare ourselves to confess? Sunday in particular, we want to recall the work of the LWML, which is celebrating its diamond anniversary this year. There is never a perfect time to start an organization like the LWML, but could we have chosen a time more challenging than 1942? The world had been at war for three years and the United States had joined the effort in 1941. Rations were short and many young and older men were preparing to go overseas. Women were entering the workforce to fill the vacancies left by the new soldiers.

Yet, on July 7-8, 1942, more than 100 women met in Chicago and established the LWML. Its purpose was to encourage a greater consciousness among women for "missionary education, missionary inspiration and missionary service."

Through the use of the now familiar "mite boxes," the League has blessed the mission efforts of congregations, districts and synod in amazingly powerful ways. Its benefits can be seen in faith deepened through Bible studies, in leadership training, befriending career missionaries, blankets and clothing gathered, food shared with the hungry and friendships nurtured and the lives changed by sharing the love of Jesus.

The Lord had gathered faithful men, women and children who have carried out the work of the Lord with zeal and devotion. Simply put, our faithful God keeps His promises and we pray this Sunday and always that He will always enable us to be ready to confess. The congregation professed the Nicene Creed.

The League Pledge was spoken responsively by Pastor and the congregation, followed by the members extending "the peace of the Lord."

Following the offering, "Built On The Rock, The Church Does Stand" was sung. In the prayers of the church, petitions were offered for the church that God's name be hallowed; for the extension of God's kingdom; for the president of our synod and all servants of the church; for the women of the LWML that they always be ready to confess in thought, word and deed; for the leaders of these United States; for the unborn, widows, orphans, the lonely, the poor and all needy and suffering persons; for the sick, the suffering and for the grieving.

The congregation joined in The Lord's Prayer. Following the benedictus and the benediction, the service closed with the hymn "Jesus Shall Reign." Elder Tex Manuel II served as acolyte, Joyce Peterson as organist and on the altar committee, Heather Amon and Deanna McAllister.

Confirmation class met with Pastor Van Velzer at 8 a.m. at the church.

The fourth quarterly congregational meeting was held following the service chaired by Elder Topher Dohl.

The LWML then hosted a breakfast with a Diamond Dazzle Event with trivia and prizes related to the mission of the LWML, hosted by Marcia Coufal, Lavon Keehn, Elizabeth Handke, Heather Amon and Esther Ideker.

Mayetta Methodist Church

By Shirley Stauffer

Church services on Oct. 22, the 20th Sunday after Pentecost, began at Mayetta Methodist Church with the prelude played by Sharon Gabriel. In the absence of Pastor Howard Sudduth, David Oakley conducted the services.

Concerns were expressed for Susan Guffey, sister of Sherry Glenn, and David Oakley's boss, who is battling cancer.

Prayer was given by David Oakley, Bud Stauffer was the acolyte and Robert Smith rang the bell. Call to worship came from Psalms 100:3-4.

The hymns were "O Worship The King," "Rock Of Ages, Cleft For Me" and "Take My Life And Let It Be." The special was "Seek Ye First."

Karen Burns read the living word of God from Isaiah 45:1-7 and Psalms 96:1-9. Those celebrating birthdays were Kathy and Lalo Ramirez. Randy Rickel took up the offering.

David's message was titled "Citizens Of Two Kingdoms." Services closed with the circle of friendship.

On Sunday afternoon, Oct. 15, Karen Burns and her daughter, Becky Neely, traveled to Manhattan to attend a special awards ceremony held by the Kansas Association of Broadcasters.

One of those inducted in the KAB Hall of Fame was Marlena Adkison. Marlena received this award for her excellent service to KTPK-FM in Topeka. She worked at the station for 41 years and also served the community in many ways. Her most notable service was probably to the Helping Hands Humane Society in Topeka.

Marlena is a cousin of Karen's late husband, Alva Burns. After the ceremony, Karen shared an evening meal with Becky and her son, Cordell Neely, who attends Kansas State University.

On Saturday, Oct. 21, Sharon Gabriel went to Lawrence to a birthday party for her grandson, Freeman, and granddaughter, Gabriel. Sharon got home just as the hard rain hit.

Lalo and Kathleen Ramirez of Topeka visited church with her mother, June Schlodder, on Sunday. Birthday wishes were sung to them, as their birthdays were Sunday and Tuesday. A birthday lunch was enjoyed after church at Trails Café.

Bud and Shirley Stauffer attended a pitch party at the Gaylen Bohnenkemper home on Saturday evening.

Thank You

The family of Doris Lickteig sends its sincere thank you to all in the community for your expressions of kindness and love at this difficult time.

Holton senior running back AJ Haussler (No. 22 in white jersey in top photo) looks for running room in the middle of the line against Hayden last Friday night as senior lineman Kage Pelton (No. 55) provides a nice block. Holton junior Zane Moylan (No. 7 in the two photos above) broke up this Hayden pass play and made an interception in the end zone during the game also. Thursday home game will feature playoff atmosphere

Winner of Holton-Santa Fe Trail game advances

By David Powls

In a district game similar to the one played between the two teams last season, the Holton Wildcats led at halftime over Hayden last Friday night before losing in the end, 27-13.

The win for Hayden (now 4-4), along with the Santa Fe Trail 18-0 victory over Jefferson West in the other Class 4A-DII District I matchup, gave the Topeka team the district crown and set up a must-win game for Holton (now 5-3) Thursday as the team will host Santa Fe Trail.

Santa Fe Trail will bring a 6-2 record to Holton on Thursday. Its only two losses were to Hayden the previous week (35-6) and Wellsville two weeks before that (28-12).

Santa Fe Trail started its football season with four straight wins — 52-28 over Osawatomie, 36-28 over Burlington, 36-22 over Anderson County and 42-14 over Iola.

After falling to Wellsville, SFT bounced back to beat Prairie View 30-27.

While SFT beat the 2-6 Jeff West team 18-0, Holton beat Jeff West 27-0.

In what looks to be a pretty good match up here Thursday, the edge could go to Holton on its home field, especially if a big, enthusiastic group of local fans can show up to cheer on the Wildcats.

"I know we could really use an enthusiastic crowd this Thursday," said HHS head coach Brooks Barta. "With our stadium being right on the field, I think it can have a bigger impact on momentum than fields that are set on the other side of a track. This is truly a playoff game for us. The winner will advance. Our kids have done a nice job of continuing to improve this year and this should be a fun game to watch."

This year's game between Holton and Hayden ended up being much closer than last year's game when Holton led 26-14 at halftime but ended up losing 47-32 in the first round of district competition.

people not executing their reads at the snap of the ball. If we improve there, it solves a lot of our defensive problems."

The Holton Wildcats churned out 200 yards of offense and scored two touchdowns in the first half against Hayden last Friday.

In its opening offensive drive another 80-yard drive to take a 13-7 halftime lead on a one-yard TD run by senior Dylan Aeschliman.

On offensive output, Hayden was never very far behind, racking up 186 yards in the first half.

Coach Barta said there was plenty to learn from the Hayden game.

"I think they learned that the little things matter," he said. "Every block and block angle is important and every key read on defense is important. We showed good effort, but effort cannot overcome everything. We need better team execution."

At one time in the game, the Holton defense denied Hayden from scoring four different times after Hayden had moved the football inside the Holton 20-yard line.

Hayden turned the ball over to Holton on downs at the Holton one-yard line and Holton 19-yard line in the first half and also threw an interception in the end zone once.

Early in the third quarter, Hayden was again stopped at the Holton eight-yard line and had to turn the ball back over to Holton.

At about that same point of the game, early in the third quarter, the Holton offense began having trouble moving the football, too.

In the second half, Holton was held to less than 60 total yards and one first down.

In the third quarter, Holton had just five yards of offense on nine plays.

Holton's biggest gain of the second half was a 34-yard pass completion from senior QB

"We came out ready to play and I think the first half demonstrates the potential of this football team," said HHS head coach Brooks Barta afterwards. "When we execute with speed on offense, we can be pretty good. Our defense is being hampered by too many mistakes and of the game, Holton runners gained 37 yards, then 14, then 13 and then 12 to set up a two-yard TD run by senior AJ Haussler. Hayden responded with a TD of its own on a 12-yard run by freshman Desmond Purnell. On its second offensive possession, Holton put together

CLASS 4A-DII VOLLEYBALL

Holton to clash with Burlington, Nickerson, Frontenac

By Ali Holcomb

The Holton High School volleyball team heads to Salina on Friday for the first round of the Class 4A-II state tournament. This is the school's first state appearance since 2011 and first appearance under head coach Janelle Noel.

Coach Noel,

however,

is no stranger

to the state

tournament.

She played

in the tournament

in 2000 as a member of the Nemaha Central team.

And, in 2011, she coached the Marysville team to a fourth-place finish in the 3A state tournament.

"We talk a lot in practice about mentally picturing ourselves there," Noel said. "We want to go there and, hopefully, bring home a medal, but we also want the girls to have the experience. We want these younger girls to be hungry to come back and start that tradition."

The Lady Wildcats defeated

Marysville and Chapman at home last Saturday to win one of eight sub-state tournaments to qualify for the state tournament.

Holton started the sub-state tournament by defeating Marysville in straight sets.

"We hit and played well against Marysville, but it was a slower paced game for us,"

Noel said.

In the finals, Holton and

Chapman battled back in forth in three sets.

"We knew what to expect from them, and the girls were excited and came out focused and ready," Noel said. "We just showed up and played."

Noel said that junior Regan

Baum had a great sub-state tour-namment, with 12 kills against

Marysville and 20 against Chapman.

"She was on so we set her the ball and kept it going," Noel said. "Shay Tanking also had some good digs and defensive plays for us. They've both been solid for us all season."

The Wildcats are seeded sixth at the Class 4A-DII state tournament set for this coming Friday and Saturday at Tony's Pizza Event Center, 800 The Midway in Salina.

With a 23-17 record, the Lady Wildcats have been assigned to Pool II, and on Friday will play Burlington (31-8) at 3:30 p.m.

Next, Holton will face Nickerson (33-7) at 6:30 p.m. followed by Frontenac (21-19) at 7:30 p.m.

Teams in the Pool I bracket include Baldwin (9-29), Holcomb (29-9), Topeka-Hayden (27-14) and Wichita-Trinity Academy (31-6).

"We don't want to change a lot from what we've been doing," Noel said of the upcoming state tournament. "At the same time, we need to make sure we're blocking and that we're getting up and hitting and being aggressive. We did a lot of tipping over the net against Chapman and Marysville, and we're not successful when we tip because we allow them to set it back up and hit at us."

Noel said that state is "the best of the best" and they'll have to keep up a high level of competition throughout the whole tournament.

"There's not going to be a game where we can go in and expect the other team to die down," Noel said. "We have to shut their play down and be aggressive the whole time no matter who we play."

The top two teams from each pool bracket will advance to the semi-finals on Saturday, and medals will be awarded to teams finishing in first through fourth place.

Saturday's semi-final matches will begin at 2 p.m. Tickets are $6 for students and $8 for adults.

"We had an awesome crowd for sub-state, and we appreciate our fans in the stands," Noel said. "We hope they'll follow us out there as well."

Due to parent-teacher conferences previously scheduled for this week, Holton students will not have classes on Thursday or Friday.

Cobras to play at Centralia Friday for district title

By Brian Sanders

Despite playing what Head Coach Caleb Wick described as a "sloppy" game, the Jackson Heights High School Cobras varsity football squad kept its unbeaten streak alive at home on Friday night against Horton.

The Cobras blindsided the Chargers that night with a 16-point fourth quarter that had Jackson Heights taking a 36-12 win at Dave Henry Field, along with a season-high 281 rushing-yard game from senior Brady Holliday, but that didn't mean that Wick was entirely happy with it.

"We had five turnovers, three fumbles and two turnovers on downs — and yet we still had nearly 500 yards rushing," Wick said. "But we just kicked ourselves in the foot. We were our own worst enemy that night."

Still, the win leaves the Cobras in a tie with Jefferson County North for the Northeast Kansas League football title for the second year in a row. But unlike last year, Wick noted, the Cobras will have a chance to move into the postseason, regardless of how this Friday's district game at Centralia turns out.

"If we beat Centralia, we'll play Doniphan West at home the next week, and if we lose, we'll travel to JCN," Wick said.

The Cobras struck first on Friday with a five-yard TD run from senior Garrett Hartman, putting the home team up 6-0 about halfway through the first quarter.

The Chargers came back in the opening seconds of the second on a five-yard pass from Matthew Lobdell to Nathan Isaacs, but the Cobras struck again shortly before intermission with a 29-yard run from sophomore quarterback Cooper Williams, going up 12-6.

After some back-and-forth in the third frame, the Chargers put up another six points on a 54-yard run from Lobdell, tying the game again at 12. But before the third quarter came to an end, Holliday made a 54-yard run of his own into the end zone, and with a PAT run from junior Kolby Rethman, the frame ended 20-12.

In the fourth, the Cobra defense silenced the Charger offense, and Holliday put the ball into the end zone twice more — first from six yards out, followed by a PAT run with 8:59 to go, then from 41 yards out, followed by a PAT run with 3:06 remaining.

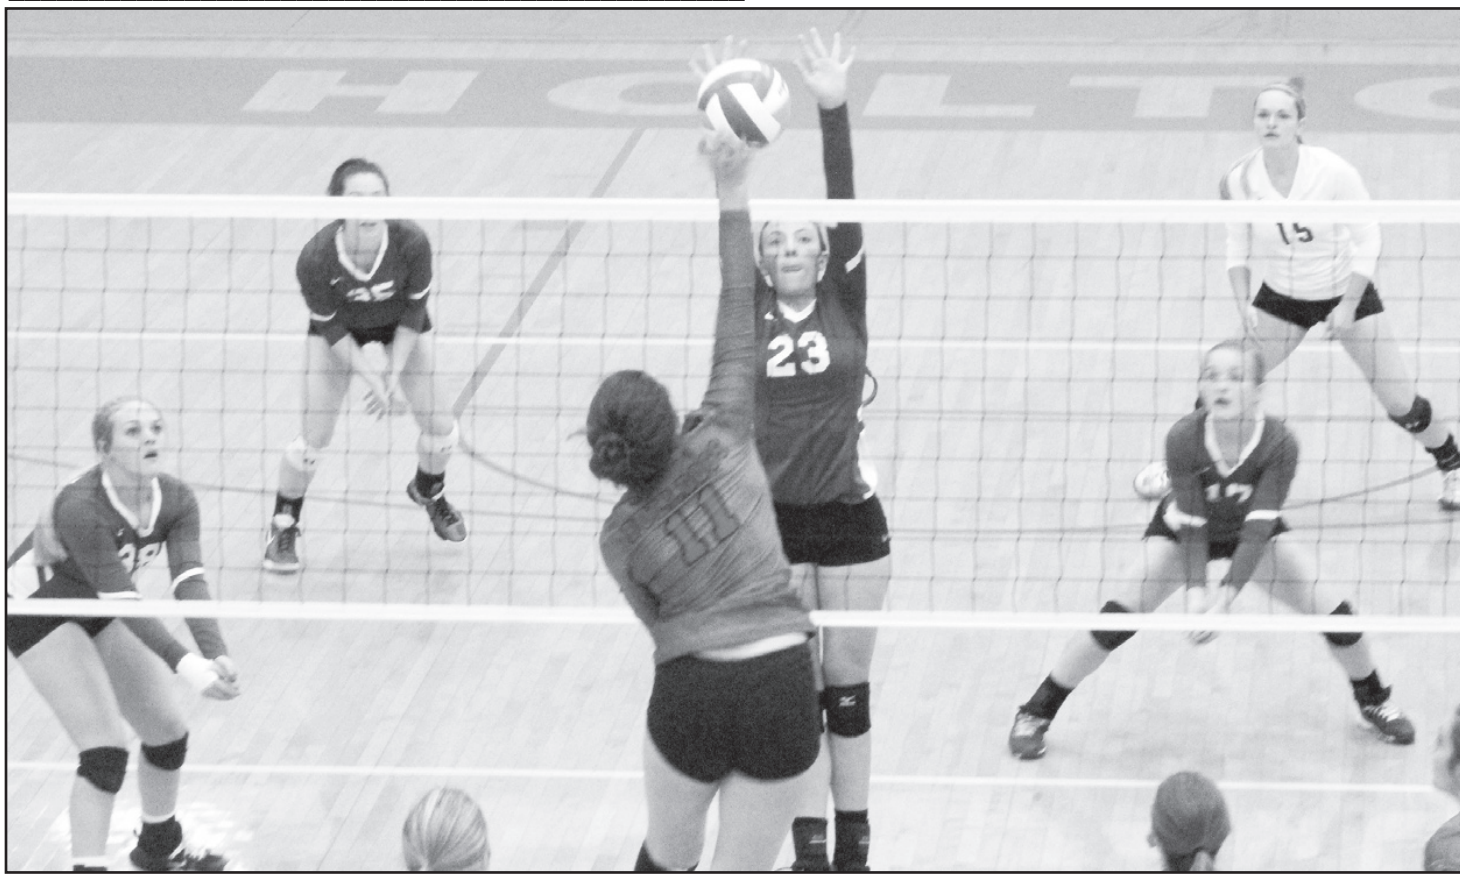

Holliday's 281 yards on 24 carries, including three second-half carries of 30 yards or more, Wick said, were "the quietest 281 yards anybody could have." Also contributing yardage were senior Sebastian Butto with 74 yards on six carries and Hartman with 71 yards on 12 carries.

Even with the 8-0 overall record and the challenge they face on Friday against 6-2 Centralia — who took down Valley Heights this past Friday in district play — Wick said the Cobras are "humble" because of that upcoming challenge.

"They know there's something bigger coming up, and then bigger games to go on after that for sure," he said.

Centralia's only losses this season have been against 3A schools — Nemaha Central (13-0) and Sabetha (28-8), it was reported.

Panthers to play SL for playoff berth

By David Powls
With their 20-14 win at Oskaloosa last Friday night, the Royal Valley Panthers extended their chance for a Class 3A, District 3 state playoff berth. On Thursday, the 4-4 Panthers will host the 8-0 Silver Lake Eagles. In order to advance to the bi-district round, the Panthers must knock off the Eagles. The Eagles will advance to the bi-district round, win or lose. The other Class 3A, District 3 matchup will feature 5-3 Perry-Lecompton vs. 3-5 Oskaloosa. Last Friday, Silver Lake squeaked by Perry-Lecompton, 40-35. The previous week, Silver Lake beat Oskaloosa, 68-0. Perry-Lecompton beat Royal Valley the week before last by the score of 56-0. "Oskaloosa was a tough win. We had chances to extend the lead but couldn't execute well enough to pull away," said RVHS head coach Jake Lott. "We have battled consistency all season and were up and down through the course of the game. The kids battled in the fourth quarter to overcome a motivated Oskaloosa team." Coach Lott said he's looking for the Panthers to play their best game yet in front of a big, enthusiastic, home crowd on Thursday. A big crowd of Panther fans will be appreciated, he said. "It will be a tough matchup against Silver Lake," he said. "They will be the third top five-ranked opponent in the state that we have played this season. We are looking forward to the competition and to see what we can really do when we play a complete four quarters." Against the Bears, the Panthers had 285 yards of total offense - 250 yards rushing and 35 yards passing. Sophomore Chance Lyming rushed for two TDs and senior Dillon Smith rushed for one. Defensively, senior Blake Chance had eight tackles, junior Bryce Garrison had six tackles, junior Brett House had five tackles and an interception and sophomore Gavin Cumpton had six tackles.

Mason Strader to junior Richard Aguirre to took the ball to the Hayden 18-yard line with 7 minutes left to play in the fourth quarter. Hayden posted two scores in the third quarter and 20 points overall in the second half. Hayden senior Brent Peavler scored on a three-yard TD run in the third quarter and his teammate, 6-5 senior DeShawn Hanika, scored another TD on an 85-yard pass reception from senior QB Sampson Huston. The winner of the Holton vs. Santa Fe Trail game here Thursday will claim the district runner-up spot and advance to bi-district play. Holton has made the football playoffs for 20 straight seasons and will be seeking a 21st berth. "We have to execute much better at the snap of the ball and we have to play with more consistency throughout the game."

Cardinals to play at Wakefield Thursday

By Michael Powls
The Wetmore Cardinals varsity football team lost their fifth game of the season, 78-38, at home against the Frankfort Wildcats last Friday night in eight-man football action. "Too many big plays and too many mistakes defensively. Frankfort has a good young team and took advantage of our miscues. We played hard and played a good offensive game but we played inconsistently of defense, especially in the second quarter," said Wetmore head football coach Rick Schnacker. "We put points on the board but unfortunately we gave up too many as well." Coach Schnacker said he was proud of his team's efforts. "We played hard and never quit," he said. "We need to focus on our mistakes and have a good week of practice. Wakefield is another solid team and we need to prepare hard for them." Wetmore (3-5) will travel to Wakefield (5-3) on Thursday. Other 8-Man-DII District 3 upcoming games are as follows: Axtell (6-2) will host Hanover (8-0) on Thursday. Frankfort (3-5) will host Blue Valley (1-7) on Thursday. Little, Davault, Phillips headed to Class 2A State CC

By Brian Sanders
Jackson Heights cross-country head coach Brad Alley noted that last Saturday's regional Class 2A regional meet at Leonardville was packed with highly competitive teams and runners, but was proud that three of his own were able to run their way to a shot at the state meet this weekend. Junior Cobra runner Faith Little, making her third straight appearance at the state meet, finished eighth at the Leonardville regional and will be joined at Saturday's state meet in Wamego by senior Hanna Davault and freshman Shelby Phillips, both running in the state meet for the first time. "Those three qualifiers ran well, and we thought our girls' team had a great shot to qualify for state as a team," Alley said. "Unfortunately, the top three teams in our regional were really good." Bennington High School from Ottawa County provided the top team at the regional, placing five runners in the top 10, with senior Halle Johnson outrunning the competition and coming in nearly half a minute ahead of Lincoln freshman Jaycee Vath. Despite finishing nearly two and a half minutes behind Johnson, however, Little's eighth-place finish was still encouraging, Alley said. "Faith ran near the top the entire race," he said. "She is starting to gain her confidence back and we look for her to be in medal contention this week." With Bennington taking up half the top 10 in the girls' race, the 11th and 12th-place finishes from Davault and Phillips meant they were a lock for state contention. Alley said those two have been "battling some small injuries," but their courage to run hard made their results at Leonardville all the more impressive. "Shelby is learning to compete at a high level. She will be in the mix Saturday," Alley said.

"Hanna has been really steady for us this year. She's a tough minded kid that wants to do well. If she can get a good start early in the race, she will have a chance at a high finish as well." As for the girls' team, which also included junior Trinity McMahon and sophomores Skyla Howe, Jill Buck and Jessica Buck, Alley is sure had each of them finished a few seconds faster, the team would have outpaced third-place Bishop Seabury. "The rest of our team ran OK. It just wasn't as good as the top three," he said. "We probably were one piece short of achieving our team goals. But that takes nothing away from their season. They are league champs, they won several meets, and they've set us up for a great season next year." The boys' team finished fifth behind Bennington, Wabaunsee, Ell-Saline and Republic County, leaving senior runners Dalton Chartier, Xavier Fritz and Jason Parker disappointed in not being able to make a return appearance at Wamego with the team at the end of their high school cross-country careers. "I think they left disappointed in the result," Alley said of the boys' team, which finished seventh overall at last year's state meet. "We have some competitive guys, and they want to win. But we have some valuable young pieces there that will continue to grow and help our program." Bishop Seabury sophomore Henry Nelson finished at the top of the pack in the boys' race, finishing more than a minute ahead of the second-place runner, Bennington sophomore Keelan Aita. For Heights, Chartier's 15th-place finish put him just short of a state slot, and Fritz finished in 23rd place. This Saturday, the 2A girls championship race is set to begin at approximately 12:20 p.m. at the Wamego Country Club. Alley said in the meantime, Little, Davault and Phillips will be working "to stay healthy and get some fresh legs."

Gardener's Corner

Discovering the secret prairie

By Sandra M. Siebert

Buried treasure lies beneath the surface of our property. We're not going to dig it up; if we did, the treasure would disappear.

Kind of sounds like an enchanted fairytale treasure, doesn't it?

Beneath the surface of the soil, at least on some small part of our property, possibly lies untillable native prairie. It may be that when they planted brome in this area around our house so many decades ago, they simply drilled it into the existing prairie and did not plow, at least a small section if not all of it.

Ten years ago we moved into this nearly-new house built in the middle of a long neglected brome field. Among the remaining brome grass, ragweed and other weedy plants, I noticed a few natives. The butterfly milkweed stood out most. I was delighted that native plants had begun moving in. However perhaps they had never gone away.

Recently several members of a group devoted to native plants toured my garden areas to see how I use native plants within the landscape. I showed them the echinacea, the milkweed, the echinacea, the baptisia, the echinacea (OK, you get it; I grow a lot of echinacea). Then I sheepishly walked them down the mowed path through the little "prairie" area at a far corner of the property (which, ironically, contains no echinacea). It was nothing special I thought.

But one of the visitors expanded my view, pointing out native plants I'd never noticed. We hadn't gone far down the path when she pointed out a short, white-flowered plant.

"Rabbit tobacco," she said, pinching off a bit of the flowers and rolling it between her fingers. Then she sniffed, and we all took a pinch of the plant also known as fragrant cudweed.

"Sort of smells like tobacco," someone commented.

Nearby was another small plant with copper red leaves. "Virginia copperleaf." And there were others, one quite rare.

The path curved into a grove of large red cedar trees, and I pointed out the anomalous compass plant in a small, mostly shaded clearing. Nearing the end of its season, its flower stalk leaned almost vertically, offering its seeds to the earth.

They all remarked on the oddity of compass plant among the trees. I pointed out more as we went through the trees. One of them noted that "compass plants don't just move in." It was a sign that the old prairie had probably not been tilled.

"If you got rid of the cedar trees, who knows, you might have a nice prairie here," she added.

My heart skipped joyfully. Old native prairie just out of site, "buried treasure" so to speak.

To those who don't understand the appeal of the prairie, it is difficult to explain. But learning that I possibly walked upon untillable prairie (although hidden by cedars) felt like discovering treasure, like suddenly seeing in three dimensions. The prairie is the soul of this land.

I grew up on the prairie. Not that our house sat in the middle of tallgrass prairie, but much of the pasture land my parents own is native prairie, just east of the Flint Hills proper. I've often looked out over the rolling prairie landscape and wondered what it looked like more than a century earlier, when my ancestors first arrived. What did it look like with no fences or roads, no buildings seen from a distance?

Whenever I am in that area, my heart thrills at the site of open prairie on the rolling hills. Whenever I have the opportunity to travel by I-70 past Manhattan, I eagerly anticipate entering the Flint Hills, one of the largest expanses of untillable prairie left in this country.

So, what use is untillable native prairie? Cattlemen let their cattle graze on it. Without that, though, what use is it? How do you explain the inherent value of something, value that has nothing to do with how much money you can make exploiting it? Here in America we rarely value something we cannot capitalize on, and we miss so much.

The tallgrass prairies evolved more than 10,000 years, since the glaciers receded. In a few hundred years, we've reduced millions of acres of prairie to just a few thousand. Even if we were to restore the prairies, re-introducing the hundreds of species of native plants, it would not be the same. For 10,000 years, the prairie ecosystem has also evolved below the surface. The plow not only eradicated the plant species growing there, but also ruined the ecosystem in the soil. It would take hundreds, if not thousands of years to truly restore that. How does one restore the soul of a place?

So knowing that perhaps even a small area of the soil beneath my feet has been untillable since the glaciers plowed through, and contains native prairie seeds and roots potentially still viable even after decades, feels to me like discovering buried treasure. I feel connected to ancient times. Prairie ancestors sleep here.

We're not going to undertake the monumental task of removing a few dozen large cedar trees in order to open up prairie. We do love the cedars (also native to Kansas) as they have created a lovely sanctuary. Anyway, it might take decades for the prairie to return, if it is still able.

However I will take more care to clean the small trees out of the open spaces and see what happens. It's amazing what can be accomplished with just an hour's work a few times a week.

With that small investment, perhaps the buried treasure will shine through.

Circleville Christian

By Jeannie Arnold

Sandra Hewitt served as greeter at the door for Cowboy Church at Circleville Christian Church on Oct. 22. Brody Bliss gave the welcome and announcements and the opening prayer. Music was provided by the praise team of Gary Bell, Dale and Ilah Rose Askren, David Allen, Max Lierz and Paul and Sue Davault. The prayer for concerns and praises was given by David Allen.

Paul Davault used text from Proverbs 15 as he gave the communion meditation. Communion servers were Donnie Askren, Mike Cochren, Jeremy Kennedy and John Ray. The prayer for the offering was given by David Allen. Gary Bell and Max Lierz provided the lovely guitar music as communion was served and the offering was received.

Brody Bliss used text of Genesis 31-55 as he finished up his sermon series titled "Dealing With Conflict." His message brought out three qualities for resolution of conflict. Number 1 is to try to see the other person's point of view, we need to listen and understand. Number 2 is to know the facts and speak truthfully. Trust God and look for His guidance. Number 3 is to persevere to reconciliation. There may be no clear winner because no one is perfectly innocent. Let go of it and move on.

Terms may not always be favorable, but give up the feeling of bitterness and remember: What you sow, you will reap. The service closed by singing "Happy Trails To You."

Next weekend: Elk Creek Opry and chicken noodle dinner fundraiser for the JHHS Veterans Honor Flight on Saturday, Oct. 28. Fifth Sunday on Oct. 29 will have one service at 10:30 a.m. and a fellowship dinner and blue rock shoot held at Don and Tammy Askren's home following the service.

The Royal Valley FFA chapter has had a very busy fall. The Agriculture Leadership and Communications class applied for and received a $1,200 grant from the National FFA for a semester-long Living to Serve Grant.

The goal of this grant is to support FFA chapters across the country in conducting meaningful, semester-long service projects that make a difference in their communities. The Royal Valley FFA chapter is doing a recycling program with its grant funds and have purchased recycling containers for every classroom, as well as new containers for the football field and the gym.

The chapter will heavily promote recycling in the high school, as well as promote the use of the community recycling trailer that is located at the high school.

On Sept. 21, the chapter competed in the Northeast District Greenhand Conference at Silver Lake High School. Freshman Hayley Harman placed fourth in the FFA Information Test.

On Sept. 27, the Royal Valley FFA chapter participated in the Northeast District Land and Homesite Evaluation Career Development Event (CDE) and the Northeast District Nursery and Landscape CDE in Holton.

FFA members Emily Albright, Alyssa Gooderl and Holly Mitchell entered a video into the Fertilizer and Sustainability School Media Contest from the Nutrients for Life Foundation entitled "The Fertilizer Is

At The Root Of It" to showcase fertilizer and stability. The 4R Nutrient Stewardship Program is the cornerstone piece of fertilizer sustainability.

Students submitted posters and videos that depicted that, when using fertilizer properly, farmers can grow enough food to feed the growing population.

Entries were judged on nutrient stewardship content, creativity, artistry and design to compete for the $1,000 national prize. Emily, Alyssa and Holly won this national competition. Their video can be viewed at www.youtube.com/watch?v=R6DyMbp8poac&feature=youtu.be.

Potawatomi United Methodist

By Ilene Dick

Sunday, Oct. 22, was a beautiful fall day as the congregation celebrated Children's Sabbath at Potawatomi United Methodist Church.

It was a disappointment to have to cancel the soup supper and band night on Saturday evening due to the storm, but it was best not to take chances with traveling, lightning, band instruments, etc. We are sorry if some made the effort to come in the storm.

On Sunday morning, lay leader Judy Thoman led the service in the absence of Pastor Howard.

Judy welcomed the congregation and gave a brief history of the annual national observance of Children's Sabbath, this being the 26th year for the observance as we move forward with hope, love and justice for every child.

Joys and concerns were shared. Judy announced the completion of orders for poinsettia purchases for a fund-raiser for Mayetta's spray park.

Prayer concerns were raised for Keith and Dortha Bell; Cecil Bowser; Sherry Glenn's sister, Susan, diagnosed with cancer; Martha Roush's daughter for pain management; and safe travels for Pastor Howard.

It's a joy to learn that Marilee Bernart-Shenk may now remove parts of her brace. Judy thanked the church family for concerns when she could not be reached at the time of the storm Saturday evening.

Judy offered prayer. Marjean Shenk was acolyte. Ilene Dick read the scripture from Matthew 19:13-14.

Hymns were "Tell Me The Stories Of Jesus" and "Hosanna, Loud Hosanna," with music provided by Tina Pugh and Ann Wilkening.

The messages were shared in four parts in keeping with love and justice and hope for children.

Judy Thoman gave a brief report about the visit of four U.M.W. women to the Children's Palace of the Topeka Rescue Mission. It is a beautiful place and has the capacity to care for 124 homeless children, beginning with infants, 10 classrooms, 41 staff members and volunteers to help with baby care also. Pictures were available to share.

Laura Schreiber shared a brief history of McCurdy School in New Mexico. It began 102 years ago. A lady visiting there had seen the need of the children there but did not speak the language.

She came to Holton, attended Campbell College and learned the language. She then returned to New Mexico and began a class of four children.

They now have 543 students and many ministries for children and their families. McCurdy is a mission supported by the U.M. churches and U.M. Women.

Carolyn Bartlett, Holton schools' health nurse, was the third speaker. She told of her duties as nurse and many aspects involved in serving 1,148 students from pre-school through high school. It was interesting and educational to be aware of how important a nurse's service is for children.

Fourthly, Josh Peters, a community resource person from Potawatomi Tribal Police Department, spoke of his work and various activities to become acquainted with them helping children to realize the police are there to help, protect and serve them.

Each message was interesting and educational, and their service to children is a blessing.

Following the benediction, everyone enjoyed a meal of lots of soup, relishes and desserts and good fellowship before returning home.

On Saturday, Oct. 21, Martha Roush watched her great-grandson, Kreighton Roush, play his last soccer game of the season.

Pam and Leon Daugherty attended the funeral of Jim Coder at the Elmton United Methodist Church on Saturday, Oct. 20. Jim was the founder of the Elmton Opry. He will be sadly missed.

Jim and Marjean enjoyed a music program at Rossville school. Their granddaughter, McKenzie, is a member of the band. While there, they enjoyed visiting with Kenny and Glenda Hase. Their grandson, Bryon, is in the senior choir and sings beautifully. It was a reminiscent of his dad, Brad Hase, when he sang at Potawatomi Church.

Judy Thoman and Jessie Thoman attended the play "Charlie And The Chocolate Factory" at Atchison on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 22. Judy's grandchildren, Brian and Shane Dorris, participated in the play. After the play, Judy and Jessie ate out at Pizza Hut. Jessie spent Sunday night with Wendy Dorris and family.

Denison Bible Church

By Esther L. Hall

On Oct. 22, Denison Bible Church welcomed Matt and Rhonda Burns to the pulpit. Matt preached "To Serve Or Not to Serve." The responsive reading was Titus 2:6-10. The apostle Paul's "big thing" was that people who claimed to be Christian should act like Christians.

Several books in the Old Testament mention bond-servants. In most of Paul's letters, he refers to himself a servant of Christ Jesus. Jesus' half brothers, James and Jude, referred to themselves as Christ's bond-servants, and the apostle Peter also called himself a servant.

A bond-servant was a slave with no hope of ever being free. They volunteered themselves into servitude to Jesus Christ and gave their undivided allegiance to Him.

As born-again believers, we are bound, for life, to serve God and our heart attitude should be recognizable to everyone.

As bond-servants, we live under the laws of God and He has written off our sins. We were given a second chance and were ransomed by His blood. We belong to Him and it's our choice to serve Him.

Our salvation doesn't depend on our works, and we are free to walk away. God forces nothing on us, but if we truly love Him, we choose to walk with Him. There is freedom in Christ.

Jesus had the power to walk away from His Father, but He didn't. He had the power to come down from the cross, but He wanted to bring glory to His Father. He also loved us too much to not die on the cross for us.

Being a bond-servant should be of great importance for Christians. We serve no other gods, but live only for Jesus. We serve Him to bring Him glory.

Kientz Corner

By Beverly Ramey Newell

On Oct. 15, the Pleasant Hill United Methodist Church congregation opened its worship service by singing "As The Deer."

The birthdays for Oct. 15 through Oct. 21: Aurel Marney, Oct. 16; Kirby Chilton, Oct. 17; Bonnie DeBusk, Oct. 18; and Pam Walder and Alex Wilson, Oct. 21.

The anniversaries for the week were Steve and Jenny Sodergren, Oct. 15; Dennis and Kim Smerchek, Oct. 17; and Brett and Paula Martens, Oct. 18.

The concerns were prayers for Al Mannell, who will move back home on Oct. 20 from rehab, and for the family of Doug Peavler.

Pastor Jin and the congregation welcomed Bryce and Kerry Lovewell into the church family as new members of the church.

The children's story was given by Kevin McDowell. He showed the children an invitation to a party that he had received. On the invitation, it had RSVP. He asked the children, "What does this mean?" One girl answered, "Please respond if you are going or not."

Sometimes we make excuses not to go. Jesus has sent us an invitation.

Revelation 22:17 says, "The Spirit and the bride say, 'Come' and let everyone who hears say, 'Come' and let everyone who is thirsty come. Let anyone who wishes take the water of life as a gift."

Matthew 11:28 says, "Come to me, all of you that are weary and are carrying heavy burdens, and I will give you rest."

Matthew 19:14 says, "Jesus said, 'Let the children come to me and do not stop them; for it is to such as these that the kingdom of heaven belongs.'"

For special music, Mary Smith on the organ and Carol Powell on the piano played "They'll Know We Are Christians."

Marguerite Pond read the scripture Matthew 6:19-21.

The sermon "John Wesley: Simple Rules For Money" was given by the Rev. Hyun-Jin Cho. Save all you can and give all you can.

We need money to live. We need to take care of our body, and stay healthy and get plenty of rest. Don't hurt your mind and don't do things unlawfully. You need to earn money, but don't hurt your neighbor.

Earn all you can but do not hurt yourself or others. Save all you can. Give all you can to take care of your family and help others in need. It is not how much money you have, but how you use your money and what you do with it. We have so many blessings to be thankful for.

The closing hymn was "I Surrender All." Those assisting with the service were Marguerite Pond, liturgist; Mary Smith, organist; Joy Jepson and Deb Mannell, sound system; Molly Strobel, acolyte; Betty Domer, song leader; and Richard Andrew, Gary Domer, Ron Griffiths and Rick Strobel, usher team.

Warmer weather on Tuesday had area farmers in the fields harvesting corn, as was the case on land owned by Harold Thompson northeast of Holton. More corn and soybeans are expected to pour in to local grain elevators over the next few days, but area farmers may be looking at getting the cutting done prior to Friday, when the weather is expected to turn colder. See the weather forecast on Page 2 of today's Holton Recorder for details.

Rieschick and the late Francis Turley, World War II veterans from Jackson County, participated in an Honor Flight with the Lyndon school district.

Rieschick and Turley proposed to the USD 335 Board of Education that the district start an Honor Flight "hub" of its own, with the program to be funded entirely by volunteer donations. The board agreed, and under the direction of then-superintendent Paul Becker, the Jackson Heights program conducted its first Honor Flight in May of 2009.

Thanks to donations from area organizations and individuals — not to mention significant contributions from former U.S. Sen. Robert Dole — the Jackson Heights program has made six trips to the nation's capital with more than 160 war veterans, starting with World War II veterans and later expanding the program to include veterans from the Korean and Vietnam wars.

Walsh said all support of the program is appreciated — not just by the district, but by the veterans and their student "guardians" who take part in each flight and experience "goosebump moments" during the trip.

"This is such a worthy cause and a memorable experience for our high school guardians, as well as the veterans," she said. "It's an honor to serve those who served our country, if only for a day. It's just an unforgettable experience to be able to do it."

Walsh said there are five slots available for veterans of the aforementioned wars who would like to participate in the next Honor Flight. To apply for one of those slots, learn more about the Honor Flight program at Jackson Heights or make a donation to the program, call the district office at 364-2194.

For more information on Saturday's fund-raising show, call Gary or Carolyn Bell at 364-2749. For information on the national Honor Flight program, visit www.honorflight.org

The Holton school district is having a semi-silent auction at the old fair building located at 610 E. 5th Street from 9 to 11 a.m. At 11 a.m., each item will be gone over individually to make sure everyone and anyone has had a final opportunity to bid on the item.
