Schools prepare for 'crisis drills'

■ State mandates preparedness for intruders and other school threats

Bohnenkemper's bond

raised to $1 million

By Ali Holcomb

Kansas public schools are now required to conduct nine crisis drills this school year, as well as four fire and three tornado drills, in order to better prepare students for potential emergencies.

The crisis drills must include, but are not limited to, intruder response drills and lockdown drills. The drills could also include what to do if there is a bomb threat, a chemical spill or other emergency.

While area school districts have already practiced intruder drills in the past, this is the first year the drills are required by the state, and local school districts are making adjustments to include them in an already busy school schedule.

"We've had a crisis plan spelled out for the district for several years," said Royal Valley Superintendent Aaric Davis. "We've been doing one intruder drill per year for the past couple of years. This year we'll have some intruder drills and practice the modified lockdown, which is what we experienced several

The drills could include lockdowns where students must remain in the school or their classroom, as well as evacuation drill where students leave the building or find the nearest safe place on school grounds.

Davies said they plan to "mix it up a bit" when it comes to what types of drills they conduct throughout the year.

According to the Jackson Heights district website, the crisis drills "will take on different forms and will look different at both buildings.'

Per regulation, no one is supposed to be notified more than five minutes in advance of the drill, RV's Davis said.

Republican candidates outline positions

By David Powls

Steve Watkins, Republican candidate for 2nd District U.S. Representative, said here Thursday evening that, if he is elected, he will serve the people of Kansas and the 2nd District and not feel beholden to vote the way the national Republican Party might suggest he vote all

Watkins, 41, referred to his military leadership positions that he has held in the past, serving eight years in war zones and having the responsibility of sending other soldiers under his command into battle situations, as an example of the kind of resolve he will bring to the job of a congressman.

"Fighting for Kansans will be my mission, that will be my job," Watkins said in response to a question at the meeting held at Penny's on the west side of the town square with an audience of about 60 people. "I think I can do it very well."

Sen. Vicki Schmidt of the 20th District, now a candidate for state insurance commissioner, also spoke at the Jackson County Republican Party gathering as did Rep. Randy Garber, who is seeking re-election to his 62nd District seat, and Rep. Francis Awerkamp, who is seeking reelection to his 61st District seat.

In addition to these speakers, a representative for Scott Schwab, a Republican candidate for secretary of state, told about his candidate and local doctor Dr. Vance Lassey introduced the speakers and also explained how direct primary care works.

Jackson County Republican Party Chairman Rick Wright opened the meeting and welcomed all those in attendance. Rep. Awerkamp, 37, of St. Marys, who is running unopposed, was allowed to speak first so he could travel back home early to be with his wife

Shannon, who is near the projected birth date of the couple's fifth child.

Awerkamp serves on the State Legislature's following committees — elections, federal and state affairs, local government, transportation and public safety and state and tribal relations. Rep. Awerkamp is seeking his second, two-year term of office. He is running unopposed. He outlined his political platform as pro-life, traditional family manwoman marriage "until the day I die," strong parental rights advocate and Second Amendment

Awerkamp related a personal sperience that he and his wife had recently in a retail store, in which a gun-carrying would-be assailant entered the store behind them, sending other shoppers scurrying to the back of the store. Then, Awerkamp said, another man entered the store with a gun and shot down that the would-be assailant. Awerkamp said he supports

Second Amendment rights so people in situations like that one can protect themselves. Awerkamp said he'd like to see the State Legislature approve an audit bill that would require all state expenses be fully understood and justified.

He suggested that the state treasurer's office could handle the responsibility, especially the K-12 education, social services and KPERS expenses and bud-

Awerkamp also personally endorsed Kris Kobach, Republican candiate for governor, saying "he is the best person that I have met in politics in my lifetime."

Awerkamp said Kobach has plans to improve all aspects of state government and "has the guts to push back against the

Grant-writing workshop draws diverse crowd

By Ali Holcomb

More than 50 northeast Kansans, representing non-profits, cities, libraries, businesses and other organizations, filled the Jackson County Courthouse meeting room Friday seeking resources to improve their communities.

A grant writing workshop, sponsored by the Meadowlark Extension District, was held throughout the day featuring Nancy Daniels, community vitality specialist at K-State Research and Extension.

"You can't change the world; you can only do what you can do," Daniels said to the workshop participants. "Just start. The hardest part isn't writing the grant, it's having the plan. Even if you fail, you'll learn."

Daniels outlined online sources of data for community needs that can be used in support of a grant, as well as where to find grants.

Some of the grant sources included The Grantsmanship Center, The Foundation Directory, which can be accessed at the Topeka & Shawnee County Library; Grants.gov and local community foundations and businesses.

Since 2009, the amount of grants awarded in Kansas increased from $20 million to $90 million, Daniels said, according to The Foundation Center.

That said, Daniels said that grants shouldn't be an organization's entire plan but should be a part of a "diversified revenue."

She also discussed elements of a great grant proposal and had participants practice those

"Your plan has to be big enough to matter but small enough to do," she said, recommending that big projects be broken up into smaller, manage-able pieces.

Daniels said that when writing a grant proposal, writers need to ask themselves, "What do I need to describe that I'm not telling them?"

'Grantors also want to see that you're working with others and understand how your efforts fit within the work being done in the community," she said.

The main elements of a grant proposal, Daniels said, are situation (problem), outcomes (short, medium and long-term), activities, evaluation and budget.

"Love Good Tour" to visit Holton

The Jackson County Fair Association is hosting an evening of "music and stories" Thursday, Sept. 27, at the Margaret Hund Amphitheater at the Northeast Kansas Heritage Complex, it has been reported.

The event is scheduled from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. and will feature Bradley Banning and Colm Kirwin as part of the Love Good Tour out of Nashville, Tenn.

Both musicians have performed with many artists and were here with Joey + Rory in the past.

like this," Childs said.

Area residents are teaming up to help a young Circlevillearea family whose home was heavily damaged in a Sept. 15 house fire at 198th and K roads, it has been reported.

And while it is expected that the fire-damaged house, serving as a home to Alicia Mellies, Matt Brown and their young family, will eventually be rebuilt, Mellies said it will take some time.

'It's not as bad as it looks," Mellies said. "It's very fixable. It will take some time, but it can be fixed. It's got to be completely gutted, but Matt's boss is really getting on it to put the plan in motion and get going on it.'

In the meantime, Mellies and Brown are grateful for the outpouring of community sup-

"Getting home to find our house on fire — there were all kinds of different emotions," Mellies said. "We were panicked, scared, worried." "Alicia had just had a baby, too, on top of it," Childs added. "It was hard for them to see that with all three of their kids there."

Firefighters from the Potawatomi Tribal Fire Department arrived to find the fire in a bedroom extending to the attic and basement, according to a spokesperson for the Prairie Band Potawatomi Nation.

Potawatomi firefighters were assisted by the Mayetta Fire Department in extinguishing the house fire, which caused extensive fire damage to the bedroom and attic, as well as smoke and heat damage to the rest of the house, it was reported.

The family was assisted by tribal police and the Jackson County Sheriff's Office, coordinating efforts with the American Red Cross to provide immediate shelter and other support services. The fire remains under investigation, it was reported.

In the meantime, the family has been staying with a relative of Mellies and working with Brown's boss, whom she said was the owner of their house, to restore the house.

Mellies also noted that the family was "overwhelmed" by the community's reaction to the fire.

"You don't realize how many people care about you and how they are going to react when something like this happens," she said. "For them to do as much as they've done for us, it's truly a blessing, plus all of the friends and family that have reached out and come and helped. It's a very overwhelming feeling of camaraderie."

The Straight Arrows 4-H Club held its monthly meeting at 6:30 p.m. on Sunday, Aug. 19. President Cailin called the meeting order and Vice-President Colby followed with the roll call. Straight Arrows members told the club about their favorite school subject. The club had 26 members present.

Officers reported to their club members about each office. Club leader Denise talked about fair review, fund-raiser updates, record books and achievement

Members had no unfinished business and went straight to new business, which consisted of paying bills, 4-H week, 48 hours of 4-H, community service projects and end of year celebrations.

Members who had not done project talks gave them. Then everyone who was taking projects to the Kansas State Fair stood up and talked about them.

During the program, club leader Denise talked about officer positions and nominations and handed out a few sheets about record books.

Secretary Shelby gave a few announcements, upcoming dates and September meeting reminders. The meeting was then adjourned and refreshments were served.

Understanding your child's development By Nancy C. Nelson

Meadowlark Extension District Agent Family Life It was fun grand-to help with mv son's recent birthday party when he turned two. It's important that adults, including parents, grandparents, aunts, uncles and other caregivers understand that every child develops at his or her own pace.

The ages and stages below indicate the average ages and typical skills during early childhood. As children develop, parents and others tend to focus on the expected language, social, mental and physical milestones. Bear in mind that the ages below are approximate, and that some children will have skills usually occurring in older children, and others will have skills usually occurring in younger children.

If a child's development seems to be lagging behind in certain areas, share your concerns with an early childhood professional to schedule developmental screenings.

At age two, your child might have mastered these skills:

• Language skills. Speaks at least 50 words. Links two words together, such as "my cup" or "no juice." Speaks clearly enough for parents to understand about half of the words the child says.

 Social skills. Shows more independence. Becomes defiant. Mimics others (including animals, children and adults). Gets excited when with other children, and engages with • Mental skills. Plays simple make-believe games. Begins to sort objects by shape and color. Finds hidden objects.

· Physical skills. Stands on tiptoes. Begins to run. Kicks a ball. Jumps a short distance.

At age three, your child might have mastered these skills:

• Language skills. Speaks 250 to 500 words or more. Speaks in three- and four-word sentences. Correctly uses pronouns (I, you, me, mine). States his or her first name. Speaks clearly enough for strangers to understand about 75 percent of the time.

• Social skills. Takes turns. Expresses affection openly. Easily separates from parents. Gets upset with major changes in routine.

• Mental skills. Turns book pages one at a time. Copies a circle. Does puzzles with three or four pieces.

• Physical skills. Walks up and down stairs, alternating feet. Climbs, runs and pedals a tricycle.

RV JAG program receives award

The Royal Valley High School Jobs for America's Graduates-Kansas (JAG-K) program has earned the prestigious 5 Of 5 Award for 2017, it has been reported.

The 5 Of 5 Award is bestowed upon those JAG programs that meet or exceed the performance measures in five categories: graduation rate, successful outcomes, employment, postsecondary enrollment and job placement.

JAG has a 12-month followup period with all seniors as part of its successful evidencedata-driven, national model. The JAG national organization announced that for the fourth consecutive year, JAG-K earned the Jobs for America's Graduates State 5 Of 5 Award and all six JAG-K regions and 37 of 43 eligible JAG-K programs also earned the 5 Of 5 Award.

JAG-K students had a graduation rate of 98 percent for the Class of 2017.

"The 5 Of 5 Award is important because it shows our JAG-K students are meeting and exceeding goals," said JAG-K President and CEO Chuck Knapp. "While a 98 percent graduation rate is impressive, we are most pleased that more than 90 percent of our graduates are on a successful career path and prepared for successful futures. The JAG model has proven that all students, regardless of barriers, can be successful leaders and reach their full potential."

JAG-K is a nationally accredited, in-school program that teaches students career and leadership development skills, requires community service, provides time for academic remediation and ensures students master a minimum of 37 core life-skill competencies.

The learning strategies of the national JAG model are primarily introduced through the Buck Institute for Education Gold Standard Project Based Learning (PBL). JAG-K has been a leader within the national organization for implementing PBL.

JAG-K is a 501(c)3 not-forprofit organization that partners with students facing various barriers to success, helping them graduate high school and on to a successful career path.

JAG-K currently has 81 programs in 38 Kansas school districts, serving approximately 3,800 students. The organization starts the 2018-19 school year with new programs in Goodland, Beloit, Shawnee Mission, Independence and Manhattan.

Knapp indicated there is currently a waiting list of school districts requesting a JAG-K program.

Funding for the program primarily comes from Temporary Assistance Needy Families (TANF) dollars, administered by the Kansas Department for Children and Families (DCF).

JAG-K is an affiliate of the national Jobs for America's Graduates program that started in 1980 and has 35 state affiliate organizations.

In addition to school districts, JAG-K partners with DCF and the Kansas State Department of Education. JAG-K also relies on private funds from contributors including Aetna Foundation, Amerigroup Foundation, AT&T and John Deere Coffeyville Works. For more information about JAG-K, visit www. jagkansas.org.

Kansas schools that have earned the 5 Of 5 award include Arkansas City High School, Atchison High Basehor-Linwood School, High School, Concordia High School, El Dorado High School AE, Emporia High School, Field Kindley High School (Coffeyville), Garden City High School, Holcomb High School, Hutchinson High Kansas City F.L. GUEST COMMENTARY

Time to count our blessings

It's so easy these days to despair about the future of our country. It feels like half the people I run into just want to pull the covers over their heads and ignore the news.

There's reportedly dysfunction at the highlevels of government. Recent reports the new book Bob Woodward and New York Times anonymous op-ed — say that top administration officials are so worried about the President's impulses that they've formed a sort of "resistance" movement to thwart them.

Many Americans express their disappointment in so many other Americans for supporting politicians who do not seem to know how to make our representative government work.

And while drama dominates the daily headlines, Congress is polarized, hamstrung, and ineffective. We're subject to Russian election hacking with very little visible effort on the part of the federal government to do something about it. Dozens of vital issues, from economic inequality to cyber-security, are going largely unaddressed.

So it might seem odd for me to suggest that we take a step back and count our blessings. But that's exactly what I believe we need to do right now.

Our history should give us a shot of confidence. We have overcome formidable challenges: a civil war, two world wars, recessions and depressions, and through it all, America has not just survived, but improved.

In my working lifetime, I have seen this country become a better place, plain and simple.

We enjoy the world's largest and most competitive economy.

We have greatly improved the life of many older Americans with programs like Social Security and Medicare. We've improved the lives of many younger people with college scholarships and wider opportunities. And women and minorities have had doors opened to them like never before, even if there's still room to improve.

A couple of days ago, I was reading Jeremy Agnew's 2015 book, The Creation of the Cowboy Hero, which examines how dime novels and Wild

West shows of the 19th century transformed an unremarkable day laborer into a cultural hero and how B-western movies, pulp ficpaperbacks tion and television in furthered the process, with some help from serious novelists and

When I was a kid, we often went into El Dorado, the county seat of Butler County, on Saturdays, and I often got to go to the Roxy Theater for the Johnny Mack Brown serial and the Randolph Scott main feature.

I don't recall one of Scott's films called "Rage at Dawn" (which doesn't mean I didn't see it), in which he plays a Pinkerton detective out to foil a gang of train robbers, the Reno

Four brothers formed the nucleus of the gang, with other miscreants joining in on various

I thought I had a reasonable knowledge of Old West history, but I'd never heard of the Reno brothers. Not only were they, like Jesse and Frank James, real people, but, according to Agnew, some authorities credit them with being the first to rob a moving train. (Other historians, naturally enough, dispute the claim.).

Certainly they are not as well-known as the Younger or the Dalton brothers, but maybe that's because the heist took place in the Midwest, their home state of Indiana, not the West.

Here's what happened: at Seymour, Ind., on Oct. 6, 1866, John and Sim Reno and Frank Sparks boarded an Ohio & Mississippi train.

Moving toward the express car, they donned masks before entering, guns in hand.

They forced the Adams Express Company agent to open a smaller safe, which they emptied, but he didn't have a key to

So one of the robbers pulled the bell rope and the engineer, who didn't know about the holdup in progress, started to stop the train.

The bandits then shoved the larger safe out of the door, pulled the bell rope again, and when the engineer began to pick up speed, jumped out and headed back to the safe.

There they met brothers Frank and William Reno and some other gang members.

An O&M official just happened to be on the train, and when the express agent told him what had happened, he stopped the train, returned to Seymour, and brought back some men on handcars.

The robbers then abandoned the unopened safe, which was reputed to have contained gold worth $35,000.

Even so, the train robbers had gotten some $10,000 in gold coins from the smaller safe.

A local man on the train, George Kinney, had seen the robbers when they jumped off the train and identified two of them as Renos.

Because the Adams Express Company was a client of the Pinkerton Detective Agency, Allan Pinkerton sent out some of his detectives, who had Seymour officials arrest John and Sim Reno and Frank Sparks, but within a few days they were released on bail.

They soon found out who had identified them, and who thus would be the only witness at their upcoming trial.

A few nights later, Kinney heard a knock on his door. When he opened it, he was immediately gunned down. There were no witnesses, and although everyone knew it was likely the Renos who had killed him, the law could do nothing about it.

More about the exploits of the Reno brothers and their criminal activities next time.

Bohnenkemper

Gaylen R. Bohnenkemper, 73, of Holton, passed away Tuesday, Sept. 18, 2018.

He was born Feb. 9, 1945 in Holton, the son of John Harlan and Faydrel "Faye" (Bontrager) Bohnenkemper.

Gaylen graduated from Whiting High School in 1963. He proudly served in the United States Army during the Vietnam Era from 1966 to 1968.

He was a lifelong member of the Jackson County communities. He worked in the grocery business for 45 years. Gaylen worked for Craig's IGA and later owned and operated the store until 1994. He was also co-owner of Sonic in Holton and also a security guard for Golden Eagle Casino.

Gaylen was an active member of Trinity Lutheran Church in Holton, serving as an elder for three years. He enjoyed watching and playing baseball. Gaylen had coached his son's teams in earlier years. He was a mentor for the young men and women that worked for him, always encouraging them to progress in their careers and futures. He had a remarkable connection to his vast social network, always remembering to ask how a family member was doing or planning to do. Gaylen's other hobbies were collecting baseball cards, gardening, sporting events and his love of people.

Gaylen married Christina "Tina" Knutsen on Oct. 24, 1964, in Holton. She survives of the home.

Other survivors include his two sons, Darin Bohnenkemper (Jennifer) and Derrick Bohnenkemper, both of Holton; a sister, Beverly Baxter (Jim) of Holton; a brother, Gary Bohnenkemper (Linda) of Holton; 11 grandchildren, Christian, Tiffany, Racheal, Sidney, Jarred and Joel Bohnenkemper, Jack (Shontae) Rodgers, Joseph and Bud Kathrens and Sarah and Samantha Grafton; and 2 great-grandchildren, Rose and Caleb Rodgers; as well as a large extended family.

He was preceded in death by his parents; a son, David Bohnenkemper; and a sister, Betty Beam.

Funeral services were held Monday morning, Sept. 24, 2018, at Trinity Lutheran Church in Holton. Burial with military honors followed in Holton Cemetery.

In lieu of flowers, memorials may be given to the Gaylen Bohnenkemper Memorial Fund to be designated to a mental health awareness foundation, sent in care of Mercer Funeral Home, P.O. Box 270, Holton, KS 66436.

Multiple West Nile Virus cases confirmed in Kansas horses

The Kansas Department of Agriculture Division of Animal Health has received notification of multiple confirmed cases of West Nile virus (WNV) in horses across the state in the past few weeks, it has been reported.

Confirmed cases were reported in Lyon, Seward, Neosho, Marion and Wichita counties.

WNV is a preventable disease, with annual vaccinations that have proven effective. All confirmed cases of WNV in Kansas were in unvaccinated horses or horses with an unknown vaccination history that were assumed to be unvaccinated. All horse owners should consult with their local veterinarians and make a vaccination plan for their horses.

WNV can infect humans,

Workshop...

tension District director, said this was the third grant workshop held in the district this past year with previous workshops held in Sabetha and Nortonville.

"This is the first time we've made it a daylong event, and I'm really tickled with the turnout." Key said.

Key said that the goal of the workshop is to continue to help build up communities and leaders who will take the knowledge gained and share it with others.

"We're very lucky to have such a nice space at the Courthouse to accommodate everyone who is interested," he said.

Those who attended the workshop represented Denison Parks and Recreation, the Jackson County Historical Society, the Beck-Bookman Library, the Jackson County Ministerial Alliance, the Holton/Jackson County Chamber of Commerce, the city of Soldier, Jayhawk Theatre in Topeka, Jefferson County Emergency Management, Delia PRIDE, Reinvent Horton, NEK-CAP, Inc., area libraries and other organizations and businesses.

horses, birds and other species. Horses infected with WNV can have symptoms that range from depression, loss of appetite and fever to severe neurologic signs such as incoordination, weakness, inability to rise and hypersensitivity to touch or sound.

WNV can be fatal in horses. Anyone noticing symptoms of WNV in their horses are urged to call their veterinarian immediately.

The virus is carried and transmitted by mosquitoes; it is not directly contagious from horse to horse or from horse to human. WNV is a reportable disease in Kansas, which means veterinarians are required by law to report any confirmed cases to the Kansas State Veterinarian.

HHS Lady Wildcats win Spring Hill's tourney

By Brian Sanders Holton High School's girls golf squads had a busy day last Wednesday, with the varsity girls traveling to Paola and coming home with a win.

The Lady Wildcat varsity golfers led the six teams at the Spring Hill Tournament, held that afternoon at Paola Country C l u b

Anchored Sarah Holaday's third-place finish and backto-backto-back finishes by the rest of the team just outside the top 10, the Lady Wildcats beat secondplace Spring Hill by one stroke to take top team honors.

'That was probably our best varsity finish in a few years,' Coach Dennis Tegethoff said of Wednesday's victory. "We beat three teams in Paola that we haven't beaten in two years. So we're very happy with our

A pair of Anderson County High School golfers — Maclaine Sears and Sammy Walter — led the way individually in the 30-player meet, Sears scoring 39 and Walter scoring 40 on the par-36 course. Holaday, however, tied with Walter at 40 strokes to take third.

"Sarah continues to play well," coach Tegethoff said.

Holton's Faith Holaday and Basehor-Linwood's Madison Lee battled it out for the last spot in the top 10, tying at 48 strokes, but Lee emerged ahead, while Faith took 11th ahead of teammates Taylor Stevens and Abbigail Hundley, both of whom shot 49 to power the team to the top.

"Faith and Abbigail turned in their best performances of the year," Tegethoff said. "Taylor struggled some, but she still hung in there and broke 50."

The team win on Wednesday was encouraging for Holton, which still has two weeks to "work out the kinks" before regional competition, Tegethoff said.

hat consistent scoring is what we are going to have to have to get our team back to state competition," he added.

Up next for the Lady Wildcat varsity quartet this morning was their second meet this year at the Village Greens near Meriden, where they got their first team win of the year at a Jefferson West-hosted meet, then matches at Topeka's Western Hills and at a Basehor-Linwood meet at Falcon Lakes before regional competition on Monday, Oct. 8 at Holton Country Club.

Elsewhere on Wednesday, the JV Lady Wildcats played their second tournament of the year at a Topeka High Schoolhosted invitational at Shawnee Country Club, taking third place in the team score on the strength of Olivia McAsey's 54-stroke

"The JV team played on a shorter course yesterday, but they scored very well for only their second tournament ever," Tegethoff said. "We're very pleased with their effort and scores.'

Topeka-Hayden led in team scores with 195, followed by Shawnee Heights with 212, Holton with 229 and Topeka High with 252. Other individual scores for Holton included Katina Bartel with 56, Lilly Kimberlin with 58 and Samantha Auxier with 61.

Up next for the JV team is a Thursday, Sept. 27 meet at the Village Greens.

Wildcats too much for Red Hawks

By David Powls

54-21 was the final score Friday night at Hiawatha where the visiting Holton Wildcats tamed the Red Hawks in Big Seven League football action by scoring every time they had the ball, except the last one.

TheWildcats also back ran a kick-off for a TD, The too. game was a Class 3A, District 4 matchup, also. "I think have learned that you can feel good about putting in hard work. The confidence comes from getting better at your skill," said HHS head coach Brooks Barta Holton scored on its opening offensive drive on a oneyard TD plunge by sophomore Konnor Tannahill, capping a 10-play, 46-yard drive. Senior Jackson Martin's PAT made the score 7-0 with 7:28 left in the first quarter. Sophomore Taygen Fletcher took the opening kick-off at Holton's 10-yard line and returned it 51 yards to Hiawatha's 46.

After Holton kicked off to Hiawatha, the Red Hawks fumbled the football on their first play from scrimmage with the Wildcats recovering it at the Hiawatha 40.

It then took the Wildcats just seven plays to score their second TD of the game. This time it was a six-yard TD run by Tannahill. Martin's PAT was good and Holton led 14-0 with 3:21 left in the first quarter.

The Red Hawks fought back on their second offensive possession, scoring on a 57-yard TD pass from junior QB Tyler Brockhoff to junior Michael Moreno on just their fourth play, capping a 65-yard drive. Their PAT was good and with 2:04 left in the first quarter, it was a 14-7 ballgame.

Holton's next drive also ended in an eight-yard TD run with 54 seconds left in the quarter by junior Kolby Roush. This scoring drive was four plays and 75 yards and included a 33-yard run from scrimmage by junior Trey Wright. Martin's PAT was good, making the score 21-7.

The Red Hawks threatened to score on their next drive, too, until senior Zane Moylan intercepted a Red Hawk pass at the Holton three-yard line to stop that drive.

"I was pleased with our progress on defense, however, we are not athletic enough to overcome mistakes in coverages and assignments," Barta said. "We have to get better prepared and more sound on defense.'

With the long field ahead of them, the Wildcats went to work and were able to score on a 41yard TD run by Roush with 3:08 left in the first half. Martin's PAT was good again, making the score 28-7. This scoring drive wa eight plays and 97 yards.

Hiawatha went three and out on their next possession, leaving plenty of time left on the clock (2:38) for Holton to try to score again and with a short field, too.

Holton started at its own 43.

With 63 seconds left in the half, Wright broke loose for a 38-yard TD run on the eighth play of the 57-yard drive. The PAT by Martin failed and Holton led 34-7 at halftime.

Hiawatha controlled the football first, at the start of the third quarter, and the Red Hawks made the most of their opportunity, with QB Brockhoff scoring on a three-yard run at the 6:25 mark. The PAT was good, making the scored 34-14. This 11play, 74-yard Red Hawk drive was aided by a 15-yard facemask penalty on the Wildcats.

Any thought the Red Hawks were gaining steam on the Wildcats was dispelled on the ensuing kick-off as Holton junior Ian Watkins ran the kick back 76 yards for a TD. With Martin's PAT good, Holton maintained a 41-14 spread.

Holton's defense forced Hiawatha to punt on the Red Hawks' next possession, with the Wildcats again starting with good field position - their own Seven plays later, entering the fourth quarter, the Wildcats scored again, this time on a Martin seven-yard TD run. He also kicked the PAT and with 11:53 left to play, Holton led 48-14.

The Red Hawks responded then with an 83-yard kick-off return for a TD of their own by Moreno. Their PAT was good and the score was 48-21.

Holton's last score came with 5:47 to play on a five-yard TD pass from QB Moylan to senior Richard Aquirre. This drive started at Holton's own 38. The PAT was blocked but Holton had a extended its lead to 54-21.

Hiawatha's last offensive drive was a three and out and after that the Wildcats ran out the clock for the win.

Unofficially, Holton racked up 474 yards of rushing yardage on 63 carries. Hiawatha offense was practically all passing yards 168 yards on 9 of 18 passing by Brockhoff. The Wildcats had two ballcarriers top 100 yards - Roush 132 yards on 12 carries and Wright 114 yards on 12 carries. Tannahill added 89 yards on 13 carries and several other Wildcats also had rushing yards. The Wildcats also had 16 first downs to eight for Hiawatha.

"I think our blocking has improved the most," Barta said. We still have a long ways to go, but we are making better decisions up front and blocking better out of the backfield. I like the fact that our backs are starting to make people miss, our offensive line is getting more blocks downfield and we are making fewer mistakes in blocking schemes.'

This coming Friday, the Wildcats will host Royal Valley for homecoming. The Panthers lost to Wamego last Friday, 45-6, which was also Class 3A, District 4 action. In the other district matchup, Sabetha topped Marysville 36-12.

"We have two quick-hitter veer offenses in a row," Barta said. "We will need to improve over tackling and speed at which we execute our offense. We will continue to work on team leadership and learning how to respond to tough situations.'

Wildcats win Wamego tourney

The Holton High School varsity volleyball team came out on top Saturday in a tournament in Wamego.

The Lady Wildcats took first place in the 10-team tournament after defeating Towarda Circle in straight sets in the championship match. The tournament included Wamego, Nemaha Central, Rock Creek, Santa Fe Trail and Towanda Circle in Pool A, and Mission Valley, Holton, Riley County, Hays and St. Marys in Pool B.

In pool play, Holton defeated Mission Valley, 25-13 and 25-20, and Riley County, 25-14 and 25-16, in straight sets.

The Wildcats battled St. Marys and took the match after three sets, 25-13, 22-25 and 25-

Holton's only loss of the day came against Hays in three sets, 25-21, 23-25 and 25-22.

In the semifinals, Holton defeated Big Seven League foe Nemaha Central in three close sets, 26-23, 25-27 and 25-19.

In the championship match,

Holton won in straight sets, 25-23 and 25-15, against Towarda Circle. The Wildcats, who are 5-3 in league play and 20-6 overall, will travel to Jeff West on Tuesday. Games begin at 5 p.m. Wamego Tournament Scor-

(30:28.17)"This week, we had runners on our team trade places on the team. This will continue to make us stronger as a team, yet we still need to push each other to get our times faster," said HHS head coach Darin Stous. "Several varsity runners on the boys team changed places. We are still struggling with injuries, but it was nice to have varsity runners push through to complete the race'

Here is what Royal Valley head coach Nathan Smith had to say about his middle school and high school runners at their home meet.

Kaylee Klem-Andrews and Lily Cannon, both freshman, narrowly missed medals and ran really well for us," said RVHS coach Smith. "Chloe Richter finished 17th. The girls are getting much better. Nahcs Wahwassuck and Calvin Ogden both earned varsity letters and almost medaled yesterday as the boys ran really well, too. Both are also freshmen.

"I was proud of how she responded," Alley said of Howe. "Her conditioning isn't

"Nue Tinajero led the race for 2 1/2 miles before giving way and finishing fourth with a season-best time," coach Smith said. "He is certainly continuing on his path to return to state. There were many gains yester-day and with half the season to go, everyone is heading the right direction."

JHHS head cross country coach Brad Alley said the Cobra squads were ready for Thursday's run.
"We had two really hard practices on Monday and Tuesday,' Alley said. "Our kids responded to that training and ran hard."

Alley was surprised to see Allen, a freshman, leading the Lady Cobras down the stretch.

"Annie has started to figure it out," he said. "In practice, she and Shelby are battling every day. They will just keep getting better if they continue to do that.'

Little, who has led the Lady Cobras in every other crosscountry race this year, "tried to go out and lead" last Thursday, but came up just short, Alley

"She just wasn't able to hang on," he said. "We are fortunate to have those other girls there to pick her up."

Alley was also pleased with the performance of freshman runner Skyla Howe, who finished just outside the top 20 in her first race.

quite there yet, so we hope to see her pushing up with those top three.

On the boys' side, Alley was happy to see not only Daniel Little beating out the competition, but also the team continuing the "wolf pack" mentality that got five Cobras into the top 21, including Little, Holliday, senior Kolten Brenner (16th), sophomore Garrett Klahr (19th) and junior AJ Mock (21st).

"AJ didn't have his best day, and kids like Kolten and Garrett were there to get us going," Alley said. "Kolten probably ran one of his strongest races. He has a chance to be a real difference maker for us.'

It was the Cobras' two leaders, however, that gave Alley the most pride. Holliday, he said, had "a steady race" on Thursday and has "been a good leader" for the boys team, but Little's firstplace finish was "tremendous" for the Cobras.

"I thought he ran a mature race and showed great patience," Allev said of Little. "It's quite an accomplishment for a freshman to win a big meet like this. He is naturally talented, but he's also a tremendous worker.'

Cobras edged in battle of the unbeatens

By Brian Sanders

In previous weeks, Jackson Heights High School head football coach Caleb Wick said he was looking for a challenging team for his Cobra boys, and on Friday night, they got a challenge in a top-rated Olpe team, undefeated, as the Cobras were, going into the night's

And while Olpe proved to be a good challenge for the Cobras, the Eagles grabbed the edge on two point-after field goals from Eagle kicker Gabe Castillo and took the 20-18 win over the Cobras on homecoming night.

"A big game like that, I really think that the self-inflicted errors are what really hurt us," Wick said. "But other than that, I think our guys were up to the challenge. It was one of those games where our defense played well enough to win. But they just made more plays than us. It's just the little things."

The Eagles took advantage of a bad Cobra punt snap early in the first frame, recovering the ball at the Cobra 20 and getting on the board first with a two-yard run from quarterback Colby Hoelting less than halfway through the quarter. A successful kick from Castillo put the Eagles up 7-0.

But with less than two minutes to go in the opening frame, Cobra junior Cooper Williams rushed for a three-yard touchdown to bring the score to 7-6. Olpe responded quickly in the second quarter with a 20yard pass from Colby Hoelting to Camden Hoelting, taking the score to 13-6, where it would stay at halftime.

"Our guys showed a lot of grit going into the second half," Wick said.

WIth 4:35 to go in the third, Cobra junior quarterback Cable

Wareham rushed for five yards into the end zone to make the score 13-12, but Olpe struck again before the quarter ended on a Cameron Hoeltin oneyard run and another successful Castillo PAT kick to end the quarter 20-12.

The Cobras got another opportunity to tie the game in the fourth after Heights senior and homecoming king Kolby Rethman, surrounded by Eagle defenders, made a desperate, 79-yard pass to Williams, who made the catch and ran it for a touchdown, bringing the score to 20-18.

Unfortunately, the Cobras' attempt to tie the game on a two-point PAT was spoiled by a holding penalty, and one final possession at the two-minute warning failed to produce any

"Our kids have to learn how important those two-point conversions are," said Wick, noting the Cobras went 0-for-3 on the PATs.

Williams ended the night with 81 yards on 17 carries, as well as 96 yards on two pass receptions.

"He was definitely a gamer," Wick said of Williams. "Ithought our offensive line played well at times. They definitely played better than they have all year."

Senior Conlan Bruggeman picked up 59 yards on 17 carries and Rethman went 33 yards on 11 carries.

Defensively, sophomore Dylan Thompson did well, spoiling a third-quarter Olpe scoring attempt by smacking down a pass and intercepting another within 15 yards of an Eagle touchdown. Bruggeman and junior Carson Williams also did well to hold up Cobra defense.

In the end, however, the win went to Olpe head coach Chris Schmidt, picking up his 100th career win.

"I just checked the rankings and they're number two in the state right now," Wick said. "They're one of the tougher teams we'll see this year, and hopefully, we'll get a chance to play them again in the future."

With their record now at 3-1, the Cobras will continue non-Northeast Kansas League play this Friday with a road trip to Valley Heights, another 3-1 team. Wick said this game will be another good challenge for the Cobras.

"Honestly, I think they're better offensively than Olpe,' Wick said of Valley Heights. "They run that triple option, and they're very hard to stop... They're awful young like us. They start five or six sophomores on their team, so it's going to be youth against youth. We've got to come back from this loss and remember that the next two weeks are going to be pivotal for us."

Royal Valley sophomore Ivy Fink helped the Lady Panthers defeat Nemaha Central twice last week in a double dual in Seneca. During the matches, Fink had 21 kills, one block, one ace serve and 10 digs. The Panthers remain undefeated this season.

Jackson Heights High School freshman Daniel Little won the first cross-country race of his high school career on Thursday at a Royal Valley-hosted meet in Hoyt. The race was only the second for Little, who took third in a crowded field the week before at Onaga.

Use safe canning methods for salsa tomatoes, peppers and onions equal.. what else? Salsa, course! Summer vegetables arrivare ing by the kitchens across the country. And plenty of those tomatoes, peppers, onions and herbs are going into homemade salsa. Not all salsas are created equal, however, to Kansas State University's Karen Blakeslee.

Recipes created in home kitchens for salsa are suitable for eating fresh or freezing, but if you're planning to preserve the popular condiment for later by canning, stick

"No one wants to end a party with everyone getting sick from the salsa," said Blakeslee, who is the Rapid Response Center coordinator with K-State Research and Extension in food science.

Salsas include high-acid and low-acid ingredients and are considered acidified food, appropriate for boiling water bath canning if the final pH is less than 4.6, she said. The safety of home canned salsa depends on the combination of ingredients, procedures used in preparation, the acidity and consistency of the final product.

"Using a process time from another recipe is only a guess for homemade recipe and can cause spoilage and potential foodborne illness," Blakeslee

Blakeslee, who is an avid home canner herself and a proponent of making the keep ingredients at a safe pH bor's) vegetable garden, says to start with high-quality, disease-free produce.

She adds, "Be smart about food preservation. Look for reliable recipe sources to increase your chances for safe food. It is a waste of good food if safety is ignored from beginning to end."

By Jody G. Holthaus Meadowlark Extension

District Agent Livestock & Natural Resources
There are many reasons to preg check your cows, but this year add high hay costs to the list. Early detection of non-pregnant cows is the main

In many cases, the age of the calf and the likely calving date can be estimated during rectal palpation. Cows expected to calve early can then be separated from cows expected to calve late. This can provide a useful basis on which to cull cows if it is necessary to reduce herd size, perhaps in times of feed shortage. The calving spread can also be quickly reduced if late-calving cows are replaced with heifers that conceived early.

sponsible for infertility in cows can also be identified. The more common of these include cystic ovaries and uterine infection. The occasional freemartin heifer and other abnormalities of the reproductive organs may also be detected during rectal palpation.

Diseases and management problems affecting the whole herd can also be identified much earlier if cattle are pregnancy tested. Low pregnancy rates in one particular mob, for example, might indicate problems with an individual bull. Poor fertility throughout the whole herd might be caused by an infectious disease, or perhaps inadequate nutrition prior to mating.

There are three ways to pregnancy test cows:

• Rectal palpation. At 45 to 60 days post-breeding, this method allows producers to have immediate results while the cow is standing in the chute. The biggest drawback is that human error can come into play based on the skill level of the technician.

• Ultrasound. Another op-immediate results is ultrasound. This method offers high accuracy readings at 28 to 35 days post-breeding. Technicians can also determine the sex of the calf based off the ultrasound. There is some additional cost for the technician and technology.

 Blood tests. Blood tests are highly accurate, with a 99 percent detection of open females and 95 percent detection of bred females. Tests must be taken at least 28 days post-breeding, and at least 75 days post-calving.

Females can't be sorted out right from the chute because the tests often take at least a couple of days to be processed. However, collecting samples requires little training and can be done by producers themselves.

This process works best if producers use an adequate individual identification system for females, so open cows can accurately be found and sorted out from the group when the test results are returned.

Whichever method you choose to use, afterwards you can make an informed deci-Various abnormalities re- tion for producers wanting sion on the future of that cow.

Klahrs to celebrate 50th anniversary

Delmer and Ruth (Tannahill) Klahr will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary with a reception from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 29, 2018, at the Netawaka Community Build-

All friends and family are invited to attend. No gifts please. Refreshments will be served.

Hosting the anniversary reception will be the couple's daughters - Dana Searles of Holton and husband Chris and Darla Ingels of Holton and husband Jeremy, along with their grandchildren- Hunter Howerton, Gable Howerton, Katelyn Ingels and Kinsley Ingels.

The Klahrs were married on Sept. 28, 1968, at the Immanuel Lutheran Church in Netawaka.

Cards will reach the couple at 12258 302nd Rd., Netawaka.

Road issues discussed by commissioners

Road issues were discussed at a recent Jackson County Commission meeting.

Dan Barnett, road and bridge administrator, reported some drainage problems on Timberidge Lane after a resident built a shed and installed a drainage tube.

Barnett suggested putting in a ditch to give the water a place to go, but he said he is still gathering information about where the county right-of-way is and what the maintenance agreements were when the county took over the road.

Barnett reported that he would like to meet with the Prairie Band Potawatomi Tribal Council and its road and bridge department to review the roads on the reservation that the county maintains. County Counselor Alex Morrissey will schedule a

In other business, according to the approved minutes from Sept. 10, the commission:

* Met with Mixie Vance, noxious weed and environmental services director. Vance reported that the cost to replace the other door at the recycling/HHW building will be $3,817.05, and the commissioners OK'd the replacement.

* Received a weekly report from John Kennedy, Banner Creek Reservoir director, who reported that revenue for the week of Sept. 2-8 totaled $1,409.

Kennedy requested permission to list his department's John Deere tractor for sale and to use those funds towards the purchase of a skid loader that would better serve the needs of the lake. The commissioners asked him to sell his department's safe, also.

* Met with Sally Jo Alley, deputy county clerk/payroll clerk, to discussion health insurance vision plans for 2019. They agreed to select two options for employees to choose from.

* Met with Register of Deeds Tammy Moulden to discuss some survey reference reports her office received.

Met in executive session for 30 minutes to discuss Courthouse security Jackson County Sheriff Tim Morse, Undersheriff Darrel Chapman, Courthouse Security Deputy Gary Thiessen, Director of Emergency Management Pat Korte, Courthouse Custodian Chad Phillips, Morrissey and Jackson County Clerk Kathy Mick. The meeting extended 30 minutes. No action was taken back in open session.

* Met in executive session for 15 minutes to discuss Courthouse security with Korte, Morrissey and Mick. No action was taken back in open session.

* Signed payroll change notices for Sarah Lamberson, introductory period complete as a youth services employee; and Tara Peek, length of service increase as a deputy county clerk. The commissioners also accepted the resignation of Paul Wilcox as a recycling department Adjourned the meeting at 4:23 p.m. All three commissioners were present.

MENTAL HEALTH

Presented by

Kanza Mental Health & Guidance Center

P.S. Lifestyle changes that might help depressed individuals deal with depression involves exercising more and eating better, both of which can provide a physical lift that underpins greater positivity.

Anyone suffering from depression will tell you, it's not "all in your head." Depression is more than just feeling "down." It is a serious illness caused by changes in brain chemistry. Research tells us that other factors contribute to the onset of depression, including genetics, changes in hormone levels, certain medical conditions, stress, grief, or difficult life circumstances. We have been providing continuous outpatient mental healthcare in the region since 1963. Please call our office to schedûle an appointment.

The short notice doesn't give teachers, staff and students much time to prepare, Davies

"I wish we could announce that we were having a crisis drill later in the week and then parents who know their kids could have trouble with that could explain it to them and talk to them," Davies said.

The superintendents said they announce the drill on the intercom and explain to students what type of drill they are going to do and the protocol for Holton and Royal Valley have utilized School Resource Officer John Calvert to help conduct the drills.

"He helps give creditability to what we are doing," Davies said. "We're very cautious to make sure everyone knows it's a drill. We don't want anyone stomped on or trampled trying to evacuate.'

Jackson Heights also plans to partner with the Jackson County Sheriff's Office for some of the

"We will work with our students on what to expect and what to do during each of these drills. Our hope is to minimize any sort of emotional reaction so that these drills become just as normal as a fire drill," said USD 335 Superintendent Adrianne Walsh.

At USD 337, Davis said school officials will send home a note at the end of the day or a text alert notifying parents that a drill was practiced at the school that day.

Jackson Heights parents will receive a text or email on the day a drill occurs, it was reported.

Davies said they haven't notified parents in Holton after a crisis drill was conducted, but they may in the future.

"We could probably do a better job of telling people these are going on," Davies said. "We've talked about it in board meetings and other places. But we still need to get the word out."

All the superintendents said they understood the necessity of the drills.

"With a tornado, there's some anticipation to prepare for that situation," Davis said. "I feel like we have some safe buildings in terms of tornado shelters. Schools are also now designed that if there is a fire, they don't burn rapidly.

"Unfortunately, school shootings happen to be on the rise in our country," he added. I'm not going to complain about practicing what to do in that situation except the loss of instructional time. Some of these drills will take 30 minutes to complete, but I want to practice kids being safe."

Davies said that practicing the drill is a good way to help students prepare and be mindful of potential emergency situations.

"We like to be in control of everything. If something terrible happens, we won't have total control," Davies said. "We need to get people to understand that they can't control everything. But what things can we do to prepare? That's why we're having the drill. It's not as easy as opening the door and letting everyone out. It's more than that.'

Davies recommends parents have conversations at home with their children about safety at home, at school and other public places like church and restaurants.

"It's good to talk with kids about that stuff so they feel confident and prepared if something does happen," he said.

A Dollar a Day?

That's what people are asking about the fall membership campaign just announced by the Netawaka Fitness Center. But it's true - you can sign up for a year for just a Dollar a Day.

THE Netawaka Family & Fitness Center is going "all out" with its new fall membership campaign!

The center now has 772 members. The goal of the campaign is to sign up 100 more members by Thanksgiving...with a rate that should prove hard to refuse:

- 1. You can become a member for $365 a year.
- 2. That comes to just a Dollar a Day.
- 3. You can do this on an Auto-Pay basis.

The fee can be charged to your credit/debit card monthly ...allowing you to enjoy all this:

A 30,000 sq. ft. "Wellness Center" with an 8,000 sq. ft. heated pool...a full-size basketball/volleyball court bordered by walking lanes...top-of-the-line weight room with treadmills, recumbent bikes, etc...turf room with batting cages...clean lockers, private showers ... a Kids Zone so parents can bring children instead paying a sitter.

ALL THIS for $1 a DAY!

This special offer is good only until Thanksgiving. So you'll need to do the "Turkey Trot" and sign up between now and Nov. 22.

You'll be joining members who have learned this is far more than a fitness center. It's become a "Community Gathering Place". It's a happy place, and members love it.

They come from 40 miles several times a week-some daily. Our friendly staff knows every member by first name and treats them like "family".

We offer exercise classes for the young and "the mature" alike in yoga, water aerobics, kickboxing, etc. We offer individual instruction, too.

Many retirees come just to meet and visit with new friends...have coffee...play cards, dominos, bingo, work on crafts...and just "chat". The Center gives them something to do on a regular basis.

And now you can do the same for a Dollar a Day. IF you do it before Thanksgiving.

Come See It Before You Sign

Some people in attendance urged Garber to do more for the foster kids in the state, saying it's a shame that there are some 80 foster kids whose whereabouts are unknown.

When asked to name one good thing about KanCare, the program through which the state administers Medicaid since 2013, Garber was hesitant to name anv.

The state contracts with three for-profit health plans, or managed care organizations, to coordinate health care services for all people enrolled in Medicaid. It is currently estimated that about 415,000 Kansans are enrolled in KanCare.

Later, Wright (the county Republican Party chair) said there are many tough issues facing the state and Rep. Garber is one of the Republican leaders that "we want representing us."

The younger Bohnenkemper later engaged in a standoff with Jackson County Sheriff's officers, reportedly shooting at them before surrendering later that morning.

Officers were not injured in the standoff, nor was Čhristina Bohnenkemper, who reportedly told officers that she had barricaded herself in a bedroom at the residence and was safely extricated from the house by officers.

According to Jackson County District Court records, the murder and attempted capital murder charges are listed as "offgrid" felonies, serious crimes that are punishable by more harsh sentences.

Funeral services for Gaylen Bohnenkemper were held this morning; his obituary appears on Page 5 of today's Holton Recorder.

The charity does not handle donations of cash or gift cards, although Childs said that anyone interested in making such a donation may do so by placing the donation into an envelope, addressing it directly to Mellies and/or Brown and placing the envelope into Childs' mailbox at 310 Ohio Ave.

Donations of clothes and household items may be left by the ramp at the residence, Childs added.
