Summer meals popular

By Ali Holcomb breakfast Free and lunch meals are being provided throughout the summer at Holton Elementary School as part of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Summer Food Service Program (SFSP).

All youth age 18 or younger can receive a free meal. and Sherri Immenschuh, Holton food service staff member, said the HES meal site is averaging 60 youth each morning for breakfast from 8 a.m. to 9 a.m. and 100 youth for lunch from 11 a.m. to noon.

Any adults accompanying the youth can eat at the meal

By David Powls The estimated costs of establishing a permanent home for the maintenance department at the old Central School campus will be compared in August with the estimated costs of establishing a turf-covered indoor multi-use facility for students at the old fair building.

The estimated cost of making the old fair building the permanent home of the maintenance department will also be determined and reviewed in August.

Whether the old fair building is "grandfathered in" and exempt from American With Disabilities Act (ADA) requirements regarding restrooms, for example, now with its current use and with other proposed school uses, is also expected to be determined by August.

School officials also are expected to know by August whether there is asbestos insulation in the old fair building and, if so, whether it is "friable" that is, easy to crumble, which would release fibers into the air.

By consensus, that's the direction that Holton's school board decided to take at its special meeting held last Thursday at the Holton High School commons area.

The special meeting of the school board was called to discuss long-term planning for each of the USD 336 facilities and buildings.

Most interesting to most of the 60 school patrons present for the meeting seemed to be long-term planning for the old fair building and the old Central School. The district's Fresh Start learning center that helps adults site for a small fee, too.

The meals are served each weekday at the HES cafeteria. There are no income requirements, and youth do not have to register for the program, it was reported. Children can be from any school district. They don't even have to be from the region, such as those visiting family in the area, it was reported.

Throughout this month, both breakfast and lunch will be offered at the school, which corresponds with the district's summer school program. Only lunch will be offered in July from July 8-31.

An entrée is served with each meal, along with fruit and vegetable sides and

Additional city funds earmarked for library

During their regular meeting on Monday, members of the Holton City Commission voted to increase what the city gives to Beck Bookman Library while hearing budget requests from other departments for 2020 (see related story).

The meeting was dominated by the library's request for an additional $5,000 in city funds for next year to cover pay raises for library personnel and other items, according to Sandra Morris, president of the library's board of trustees.

At the present time, the library currently receives a city property tax levy of 6 mills, which was set by ordinance in July of last year after the library had received a 5-mill levy for several years.

The current city ordinance, Holton City Clerk Teresa Riley said, dictated that the library could only receive 6 mills from the city's property tax levy.

But on Commissioner Mike Meerpohl's motion to grant the library the requested increase, Holton City Manager Kerwin McKee said he would draft a new ordinance setting the library levy at "6.24 mills or whatever it takes to equate that $5,000," and commissioners will take up the new ordinance at an upcoming meeting.

City commissioners receive several budget requests

The commission voted 4-0 to grant the increase for 2020, with Mayor Robert Dieckmann, a member of the library board, abstaining.

Morris, who is the wife of city commissioner Tim Morris, updated commissioners on recent items and services that had been provided to the library at no cost, including the donation of furniture and brick work services, as well as fund-raising activities at the library.

"We're being efficient and doing a lot with nothing," she said.

Morris also cited the work of recently-hired library director Amy Austin, noting that Austin has "brought efficiency to the library," taking action to save money on the purchase of new books and other services for the library.

Jubilee planned

July

By Ali Holcomb July Jubilee will be enjoyed next Saturday, June 29, at Banner Creek Reservoir, and, in addition to fireworks, the 13th annual event will feature food, vendors, children's activities and music by the Jackson County Community Band.

The event, which is organized by the Holton/Jackson County Chamber of Commerce. was first held at the reservoir in 2007. This year's event will kick off at 5 p.m. on the north side of the reservoir.

A free-will donation dinner of brats, chips and a drink will be served by Chamber members as a fund-raiser to purchase new Christmas lights, it was report-ed. This will be set up at shelter house #1

Other food vendors selling lemonade, tacos, shaved ice and more will also be set up at the reservoir. GNBank will sponsor three bounce house "features" that will be set up on the hill on the north side of the reservoir for children.

Giant Communications will sponsor a "Kid Zone" with arts and crafts activities, and Wilson's Tire will bring in a "Sky's The Limit" mobile gaming unit, it was reported. The mobile video gaming trailer includes multiple screens and different video games for people to choose from and play.

Holton Street Superintendent Greg Tanking, Fire Chief Kevin Ingels, Police Chief Gale

commission is The scheduled to hear budget increase in his department's requests from Water and Sewer Superintendent Dennis Ashcraft, Electrical Distribution Superintendent Scott Frederick and Electrical Production Superintendent Ira Harrison at its Monday, July 1 meeting, prior to a meeting later in July with Overland Park auditor Mike Peroo and the preparation of the 2020 budget.

Tanking requested a $25,000 general contractual services fund for roof repairs at the street department building, as well as a $50,000 increase in special highway funds for maintenance of parking lots on city-owned properties.

Tanking said his department is watching its budget carefully in terms of road repairs, noting that trash collection trucks are "bigger" than in previous years and are "destroying our chip-and-seal streets.'

The proposed budget authority for the general street fund for 2020 is $415,000, up from the 2019 budget authority of $376,500 and the department's actual expenditures of $372,331 for 2018. The special highway fund's proposed budget authority for 2020 is $389,000, up from the 2019 budget of $339,000 and 2018 expenditures of $248,391.

"We had a nice crowd, and the camping was real nice." That was Prairie Lake Pickin' Party organizer Ron Meier's comment on the crowds who visited the lake grounds for the 26th-annual festival of old-time country, bluegrass and gospel music held recently on the lake grounds. Meier said that the Kansas Prairie Pickers Association's flagship event would not be the only bluegrass festival at the lake this summer, as members of the Kansas Bluegrass Association — some of whom participated in the Pickin' Party — planned to converge on the lake for three days starting Friday, July 12 for their July Picking Picnic, which is also open to the public. The Kansas Historical Marker shown above is located at an eastbound rest stop along Interstate Highway 70 between Topeka and Wamego.

You can learn a lot about our great state – and other states - when you take the time on your summer travels to stop and read historical markers like this one.

I-70, it is stated on this historical marker, generally follows a main route of the Oregon-California trail that was traveled from the late 1830s to 1860 by thousands of emigrants, in hundreds of wagon trains.

At this time of year, at this particular rest stop especially, it is easy to imagine how it might have been for people in the wagon trains rolling leasurely across the beautiful, lush green Flint Hills prairies - perhaps encountering an occasional massive herd of buffalo!

Not everything in our state's history is 100 percent positive, for sure. No state can claim that. But all Kansans can certainly be proud of our state's "Free State" David Powls heritage!

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear editor,

The chickens are clucking like crazy about USD 336 putting a line item on the general ballot for voters to allow them, in my opinion, to increase local property taxes again for capital outlay because they don't want to say no and manage money they presently get. Chickens are going back to their past conspiracy theory, which is to move the USD 336 District office into Central School. By placing the seed that for educational purpose, they want to use the old fair building which is presently the maintenance shop and use the space for kids that will cost a lot of money to heat and cool that old building, (which HVAC systems at the high school seems to be a $1 million problem). By relocating the maintenance shop out of the old fair building, where does the shop end up?

Alandlord makes $72,000, has six houses, pays property tax on each house of $2,000 - that is $12,000 that is taken out of his household income.

So if the tax increase is $100, the administrator loses $100 from his income. The landlord loses $600 from his income. That $600 may not seem like a lot of money to somethe insurance on a house that is in the $2,000 property tax bracket is $1,000 per house. Mortgage of $500 per month, being investment property interest, is 3 percent more. The administrator pays out $2,100 taxes, $1,000 for insurance and $6,000 for yearly mortgage.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR------

Dear editor.

We are with the Tools 4 School program for Jackson County. We help students that attend the three Jackson County schools - Royal Valley, Holton and Jackson Heights - get the supplies they need to start the school year off in the right direction. The families are required to fill out an application that proves the need because of financial hardship, pay a minimal fee and prove that their child is enrolled in one of the said schools.

Over the last nine years, we have helped provide more than 900 bags of supplies to help Jackson County students start on the right foot to a great school year. These bags provide the students with self-confidence and self worth that so many children are lacking the first day led him into drinking, gambling and consorting with what the cowboys euphemistically called 'soiled doves." When a gambler insulted a picture of the girl he was besotted with, he "filled him full of lead." The posse, in turn, shoots the young cowboy who, with his dying wish, instructs them to "bury me there on the prairie, where the coyotes may howl o'er my grave.'

It was the first verse of this song, however, that irritated my mother and my aunt: "Now, I've got no use for the women; a true one may seldom be found. They'll stick by a man while he's winning; when he's broke, they'll turn him down.'

The interesting thing is that both the good and the bad cowboy are buried out on the prairie where the coyotes will howl over their graves. The difference seems to be that the good one at least has the right to ask to have his body interred back home while the bad one knows he deserves to be buried out on the windswept plains. Then there's the "Cowboy's Lament," better known as "The Streets Of Laredo," another campfire/bunkhouse song that tells the story of a dying cowboy. Based on an old Irish ballad, the cowboy version of this song was first written by a young Kansas cowboy (Frank Maynard) and set in Ďodge City.

He composed it while helping winter cattle on the Kansas/ Indian Territory line south of Medicine Lodge in the winter of 1876. Texas cowboys heard it in Wichita that spring and moved it south a thousand miles to the Mexican border.

I have a feeling that many of these mournful story-telling songs heard around the campfire often had the tempo slowed down and served a dual purpose of entertaining both cowboys and a herd of longhorn steers later that night.

Maintenance shop would go to the present USD 336 District Office.

So where does the USD 336 District office go?

USD 336 District office goes to Central School.

Maybe the district office could go in the fair building also. We have a new gym that will hold 300 people in the elementay school.

Think about this. An administrator makes $80,000, pays property tax of $2,000 that is taken from his household income.

That equals $9,100 expense from the $80,000. There is $70,900 left over.

The landlord pays out $12,600 taxes, $6,000 for insurance and $37,800 for mortgage. That equals $56,400 expense from the $72,000. There is $15,600 left over. So why would anyone want to be a landlord?

This is a fine example why not too many people venture into business. And why there are not that many good paying jobs. With all these numbers, ask them school kids how much the landlord charges for rent, as this is the kind of education they are needing.

District Court Woltje trial delayed

The trial of a Topeka man accused of sex crimes against a minor in Jackson County has been postponed until early September, it was reported in Jackson County District Court.

Jamie M. Woltje, 29, who was scheduled to go to trial this week on two counts of aggravated criminal sodomy and one charge of aggravated indecent liberties with a child, will now face a jury trial starting Tuesday, Sept. 3 in district court after Jackson County Attorney Shawna Miller filed a motion to postpone this week's trial.

The charges against Woltje stemmed from alleged sex crimes that were believed to have taken place with a child under the age of 14 in Holton sometime between March and August of 2015. Woltje was arrested last July by the U.S. Marshal's Task Force in Shawnee County following a Jackson County Sheriff's Office investigation into the allegations.

Miller had filed a motion in May to continue the trial as scheduled for this week, stating that a key prosecution witness would be unavailable for the trial. Jackson County District Court Judge Norbert Marek set the new trial date at a status hearing held Friday in district court.

The original charges against Woltje included one count each of rape, aggravated criminal sodomy and aggravated indecent liberties with a child. He currently remains free on $25,000 bond.

It was reported that Miller had agreed to dismiss the rape and sodomy charges in anticipation of a plea deal, but Woltje's attorney, J. Richard Lake of Holton, said in April that Woltje had "changed his mind and still wants a jury trial." An amended complaint with the current charges was filed shortly afterward.

Ag Week Recap Corn leads grain market rally

By Matt Hines Livestock futures were under pressure again to end last week. Cash feedlot trade in Texas and Kansas was Friday. Some trade reported in Iowa at $116 live and $185 dressed with some light trade in Nebraska at $112 to $113 live and $182 to $185 dressed.

Compared to last week, steers and heifers sold steady to $5 higher. Demand was reported at moderate to good across the northern and southern Plains this week as buyers were willing to put cattle back in pens even with the uptick in corn prices recently.

Year-to-date preliminary heifer slaughter rate through May is about 50,000 short of 4 million head; the last time that January to May heifer slaughter eclipsed the 4 million mark was 2011. The heifer slaughter rate is up 8.7 percent from a year ago. Dairy cow slaughter is 5.6 percent higher and beef cow slaughter is up 2.6 percent.

For the week, Friday, June 7 through Friday, June 14, June live cattle were up $1.85, August was up $.97, August feeder cattle were down $1.72, September was down $1.55, June lean hogs were up $.72 and July was down $2.00. Boxed Beef, Choice was down $.08 at $222.23, Select was down $4.16 at $202.76 and Pork Carcass Cutout was up $.13 at $83.21

Cattle slaughter for the week was estimated at 665,000 head. up 3,000 from the week previous and up 17,000 from a year ago. Beef production was esti-mated at 525.8 million pounds last week, compared to 525.9 million the week previous and 517.8 million last year. Yearto-date slaughter is running 1.1 percent ahead of last year while beef production is only up .1 percent.

Hog slaughter for the week was estimated at 2,431,000 head, up 14,000 from the week previous and up 219,000 compared to a year ago. Pork production was estimated at 521.2 million pounds last week compared to 517.6 million the week previous and 464 million last year. Year-to date slaughter is running 2.6 percent ahead of a year ago with pork production up 3.1 percent.

Over in the grains, corn led the way higher, hitting new five-year highs as soybeans and wheat followed. The continued wet forecast and below normal temps are the main fundamental driver with managed money taking a net long position, now estimated to be near 200,000 contracts.

Cash markets, especially for the Eastern Corn Belt, remain very strong as basis continues to strengthen right along with the futures gain trying to pull bushels out of storage. Export sales for all commodities were poor this past week with logistics still a nightmare on the river system and U.S. values premium to other exporters.

For the week, Friday, June 7 through Friday, June 14, July corn was up $.37<sup>1</sup>/<sub>4</sub>, December was up $.29<sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>, July soybeans were up $.40½, November was up $.40½, July Kansas City wheat was up $.271/4, September was up $.26½, July Chicago wheat was up $.34, September was up $.32½, July soybean meal was up $2.20 per ton and December was up $2.70 per U.S. weekly export inspections for the week ending June 13 were below expectations with corn at 25.7 million bushels (MBU), soybeans at 24.8 MBU, wheat at 13.8 MBU and sorghum at only 119,365 bushels. It would not surprise me to see USDA drop old crop exports yet again for corn and soybeans next month.

Crop progress and conditions came in as expected with good progress made, but that may be it for the corn acres. Corn planting nationwide was up 9 percent to 92 percent complete, and emergence was at 79 percent, compared to 97 percent last year and average. Crop conditions were unchanged at 59 percent rated good to excellent, compared to 78 percent last year. Out of the top 11 producing states, there's more than 6 million acres not planted that were intended.

Soybean planting nationwide was up 17 percent to 77 percent complete, compared to 96 percent last year and 93 percent average pace with 55 percent emerged, compared to 89 percent last year and 84 percent average. The top 10 producing states still show more than 15 million acres left to plant. The winter wheat harvest is slowly advancing north at 8 percent complete, compared to 25 percent last year and 20 percent average.

July corn is breaking through the multi-year resistance with the next level up near $4.70 and then $5.19, the nearby highs during the spring of 2014. Soybeans are also pushing through the nearby resistance with the next up at $9.20 for the July contract and $9.40 to $9.50 for November.

July Kansas City wheat found support near $4.40 last week and is now ready for another run at the $5 mark. July Chicago wheat broke through nearby resistance with $5.60 the next level.

Juanita's love was everything in nature including flowers, birds, fishing, mushroom hunting and watching meteor showers in the middle of the night. Her time was always spent tending to her garden and flowers, and tromping through the woods on her parents' farm. There was no boundary to her care for others and her desire to help people. She was a guiding light and shoulder to cry on for many. Her love will live on in all whom she touched.

Woodland wins!

Topekan and University of Kansas alumnus Gary Woodland, 35, shown above, won his first major championship on Sunday by winning the U.S. Open at the Pebble Beach Golf Links in Pebble Beach, Calif.

Woodland held off Brooks Koepka to win the tournament by three strokes and finished 13under par after 72 holes.

Woodland, who is in his 13th season as a professional golfer, was leading by two strokes heading into the final hole. He then sank a 30-foot putt to win.

"I played aggressive, and it paid off," Woodland told The New York Times. "I didn't ever let myself think the tournament was over.

After holding lead after 54 holes for the first time in a major, Woodland staved off Koepka, Justin Rose and Adam Scott on Sunday to win the championships.

Woodland was a two-sport athlete at Shawnee Heights High School in Topeka. He started his college career as a basketball player for Washburn University before transferring after his first year to play golf at KU.

Woodland golfed for the Jay-hawks from 2003 to 2007, and he is the first Jayhawk to ever win a PGA major tournament, it was reported.

For his win, Woodland, who lives in Lawrence, received a $2.25 million prize. Prior to the U.S. Open, Woodland's best major finish last year was when he tied for sixth at Bellerive Country Club in St. Louis, Mo.

Blue Heat 8U third at tourney

The Blue Heat 8U girls softball team from Holton finished up their tournament season on Father's Day weekend with a third place finish at the Father's Day Dust and Diamonds Tournament at Lawrence.

"I'm extremely proud of all the girls. They've put in the time and worked hard over the last year and they've seen it pay off in the last two tournaments with a second and third place finish," said Coach Brady Black.

Blue Heat 8U will take a the summer and pick back up in August with fall tournaments.

"I'm amazed at the softball community in the Holton area and would like to thank all the coaches, parents and sponsors that have pitched in," coach Black said. "The softball community is definitely a family and I think you're seeing the benefits even in the high school softball program of what it looks like when you start young and everyone pulls together. We have access to so many couple of months off over resources that all want to pitch in and help any way they can and that keeps us excited as we move into 10 and Under this fall.'

Blue Heat 8U will be holding tryouts later in the summer.

'We will be looking to add a few players to the roster for the fall as we move up to 10 and Under," Black said "If there are girls out there that turn 9 or 10 this year and are interested, they can email blueheatblack@gmail.com to get more details on tryouts.

Williams excited to wear USA on jersey

Peyton Williams hadn't had to try out for a team since high school. She didn't have that luxury competing against 35 of the best women's basketball players in the world.

But vying for a spot on the United States' team for the Pan American Games earlier this month, Williams said she "didn't even think about" her chances of making the 12-player roster.

"I just played my hardest," said Williams, a rising senior on Kansas State's women's basketball team.

Williams said it didn't hit her that she was competing to be on Team USA until she was getting ready to try out.

"I didn't really understand it 'til I put on the jersey that said 'USA,''' Williams said. "And I then was like, 'Oh, well this is really cool.' Then you walk into the gym and 'USA' is everywhere.'

Although Williams said she felt she played well during the tryout sessions, it still was an "utter shock" to her when she found out she actually made the team.

"I thought I played well and I thought I was a good teammate, but would that be enough against some of the like really talented girls?" Williams said. "Literally, I had no idea."

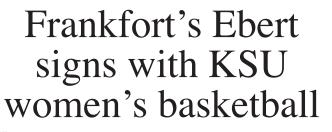

Throughout Williams' time in Colorado, K-State head coach Jeff Mittie and assistant Chris Carr checked on her periodically. Williams said that Carr believed her spot on the team was a done deal.

"Coach Carr was like, 'You are going to make the team," Williams said. "Like, he was so confident. He said, 'Bring me back a USA shirt."

Mittie said he could tell by his text conversations with Williams that she was playing at a high level.

'Peyton hardly ever says great stuff about the way she plays, but she said, 'I think I'm playing pretty well,'" Mittie said. "For her to say that I felt like, 'Wow, she's probably playing really well.

Mittie said he felt as though Williams' skillset is a good fit e of competition she'll for the ty face at the Pan American Games, which will be held Aug. 6-10 in Lima, Peru. "The international game is such a wide-open game, and her ability to shoot the ball and her ability to make shots is critical in the international game as you widen the lane and as you talk about the short shot clock and those type of things," Mittie said of Williams, who led the Wildcats in both points (15.5) and rebounds (9.5) per game last season. When the final roster was revealed recently, the names of the players who made the cut were announced in alphabetical order, which left Williams waiting anxiously until the very end. "They just kept listing off tall people and I'm like, 'I'm probably not going to make it 'cause they already made the team. They don't really need that many people," Williams said. "And then it got to the very end and it was like, 'Peyton Williams.' And then that's it. I was like, 'Oh my gosh."

Kansas State women's basketball head coach Jeff Mittie has added a piece to the Wildcat backcourt for the 2019-20 season, as K-State has brought in freshman guard Emilee Ebert from Frankfort. Ebert is the fifth player on the roster from the state of Kansas.

Ebert, shown at right, joins an incoming freshmen class that includes Emma Chapman (Columbia, MO.) and Jada Thorpe (Chicago, ILL.).

"We are excited to add Emilee to our roster for the upcoming season," said coach Mittie about the squad's newest addition. "She had an excellent career at Frankfort and has great upside for the college game.'

Ebert joins the Wildcats as a highly decorated three-sport athlete in basketball, volleyball and track and field. In her basketball career. Ebert set the school record with 1,648 career points. She was a four-time Kansas Basketball Coaches Association (KBCA) honoree, earning first team honors in 2018 and 2019 and honorable mention citations in 2016 and 2017.

At the end of her senior season in 2018-19, Ebert was a Mc-Donald's All-American nominee and garnered top-15 All-Class honors as well as Class 1A All-State First Team honors from the Topeka paper, Class 1 First Team honors from Sports in Kansas and Class 1A First Team honors from the Wichita Eagle for the second time in her career.

She was also selected to play in a number of all-star games including the Stateline Showdown, Highland CC Northeast Kansas All-Star Game, Cloud County CC Thunderbird All-Star Game and the KBCA All-Star Game. She collected MVP honors in the Highland CC and Cloud County CC games.

At the end of her junior season in 2018, Ebert had surpassed the 1,000-point mark in her career and was a Class 1A All-State First Team selection by Sports in Kansas and the Topeka paper.

She completed her basketball career as a four-time All-Twin Valley League (TVL) First Team recipient and a four-time All-Flint Hills First Team honoree by the Manhattan Mercury newspaper.

In her volleyball career, Ebert was a three-time Class 1A All-State First Team recipient, a 2015 All-State Class 1A Second team honoree and a four-time All-TVL First Team selection. At the end of the 2018 season, Ebert was named the All-Flint Hills Player of the Year by The Manhattan Mercury. She also played in the Highland CC Northeast Kansas Volleyball All-Star Game and was the most valuable player and was the defensive MVP in the Cloud County CC Thunderbird Volleyball All-Star Game.

In her track and field career, Ebert was a three-time All-State selection in Class 1A (2016, 2017 and 2019). In 2019, Ebert was the Class 1A state champion in the long jump and helped set the 4x100 state record with a time of 50.44. She also finished fourth in 100-meter and eighth in the 200-meter.

In 2017, Ebert was the state runner-up in the long jump and finished fourth in the 100. She was also a state qualifier in the 4x400.

In the 2016 track season, Ebert finished fourth in the state in the long jump while qualifying for the state meet in the 200. She was three-time TVL champion in the long jump, 100, 200 and 4x100.

Kansas State concluded the 2018-19 season with a 21-12 overall record and an appearance in the 2019 NCAA Tournament. This was the fifth straight season the Wildcats reached the postseason under the direction of Mittie.

The Wildcats ranked among the top-35 in the nation for average attendance for the 18th consecutive season in 2018-19.

K-State will return nine letter winners from the 2018-19 season for the 2019-20 season, led by the trio of senior Peyton Williams, junior Rachel Ranke and sophomore Christianna Carr. The Wildcats will also welcome in redshirt freshman Ayoka Lee and freshmen Emma Chapman

Fireballs 2nd at USSSA C-state

The 14U Fireball softball team of Hiawatha took second place at the Kansas USSSA C State Softball Tourna-ment over the Father's Day weekend at Topeka. Two Holton girls – Emma Bontrager and Jadynn Doyle – are members of the softball team.

The Fireballs now have a 23-6 record for the summer season. Other players on the team are from Hiawatha, Sabetha, Troy and Highland.

Other than making the team, Williams said her favorite part about her time in Colorado was befriending players who she's battled against in the Big 12. It's a list that included Texas Tech's Brittany Brewer, Oklahoma State's Vivian Gray and the Texas duo of Joyner Holmes and Sug Sutton.

"I think it was really cool meeting the other players from the Big 12 and seeing them as teammates and less as people we hate for no apparent reason other than that they're from Texas, OSU, or something like that," Williams said. "So, it was fun meeting those girls, and they're some really quality women."

Simply making the team, Mittie said, was an impressive feat. "One of 12, only second time in school history, this is a big accomplishment," Mittie said. "This is an All-American-type team. This is a team with firstround draft picks. This is a very talented team."

EPA is seeking written comments regarding these proposed actions until July 22, 2019. The address for written comments or to request a public hearing is shown below.

BACKGROUND: NPDES permits to discharge wastewater to waters of the United States are issued under Section 402 of the CWA, 33 U.S.C. ## Potawatomi U.M.C.

By Ilene Dick

Father's Day and Trinity Sunday were celebrated at Potawatomi United Methodist Church on Sunday, June 16.

Pastor Howard opened the service with scripture and prayer, then called for announcements. Judy Thoman announced that two good books from conference are now available in the church library. She also reported on church repairs being made.

A fellowship dinner is being planned in honor of Pastor Howard's birthday on Sunday, July 7, following worship service with Mayetta UMC joining Potawatomi UMC for the occasion.

Joys brought to attention were a message from Darlene Rawlings telling everyone hello; and the Shenks attended the graduation of a grandson from Ft. Leonardwood, Mo.

In celebration of Father's Day, Pam Daugherty invited the congregation to enjoy cookies following the service and she presented a favor to each of the fathers present.

Laura Schreiber was acolyte while Ann Wilkening provided the music on piano. Hymns were "It Is Well With My Soul," "Open My Eyes, That I May See" and "Faith Of Our Fathers." The call to worship was from Psalm 146.

Ann Wilkening was liturgist, reading from Romans 8:29. The Lord's Prayer was prayed in unison. For the special, Betty Bowser shared a poem about fathers by Erma Bombeck. The birthday song was sung to Dorthea Bell for her special day being June 25. Offertory ushers were Keith Bell and Leon Daugherty.

Pastor Howard's sermon was titled "Dad The Tender Commander" with the text taken from Luke 7:1-10. If asked to define the qualities of a good father, chances are we would agree on a number of factors. We turn to Jesus. It is not only what He says that gives us our clues, but also what He does. The setting was familiar in Capernaum. There were Peter and Andrew, James and John. It is where Zebedee lived.

Jesus is the focus of the story, and yet others played important roles. There is the sick slave and also the centurion. The centurion had embraced his faith as much as a Gentile could. He was a Gentile who had been brought up to know a loving God and was a faithful believer.

If today's dads can learn anything helpful from the centurion, it might be that they too will find themselves to be caring commanders. The caring commanders did not practice greediness, but generosity. It was evidence that he applied what he had learned of faith to life.

Happy Father's Day.

The prayer covenant church this week is St. Peter's Church in Topeka with Pastor Francis Stockton.

Next Sunday, Pastor Howard's sermon will be "The Desperation Of Isolation" with the text coming from 1 Kings 19:1-15a.

Keith and Dorthea Bell had a special visit with the Palmers last week. Linda Palmer is the daughter of Garnett Fry, who had worked at Sutton's Grocery in north Topeka and was a wonderful friend and neighbor of theirs.

On Tuesday, June 11, Martha Roush stayed overnight with her daughter, Lisa Clark, in Lawrence. They had an enjoyable time cooking and shopping.

Betty Bowser visited Earline Pugh at Medicalodges. Betty learned that the director of Medicalodges has left to take a position at Osawatomie. He will be missed.

On Father's Day, Ronald and I enjoyed having Lori Gillis have lunch with us at Vintage Park.

On Monday, June 17, Sherry Glenn traveled to Omaha, Neb., to visit with her daughter, granddaughters and great-grandchildren to help celebrate three birthdays in the family.

Keith and Dorthea Bell met their son, Jim, in Lawrence on Saturday, June 15, to go fishing. They caught two large catfish, great for Father's Day dinner.

Lily Hall and her grandson, Kairo, and family enjoyed attending The Sea Life Aquarium in Kansas City on Saturday, June 15. Kairo loved looking at the various fish.

Betty Bowser attended several T-ball games in which Hazel and Claire Bowser played.

Jim and Marjean Shenk enjoyed a trip to Ft. Leonardwood, Mo., to watch Matt Shenk graduate in the National Guard, where he won the top shooter award.

Ronald and I enjoyed a visit from Pastor Howard on Sunday, June 9, bringing anniversary wishes. We also enjoyed having Donna Parmiter, Carol Baum and Lori Gillis stop by for a visit on Saturday evening, June 15.

calendars.

By Shirley Stauffer

Father's Day and Trinity Sunday services on June 16 at Mayetta Methodist Church began with scripture reading by Pastor Howard, followed by prayer.

Joys expressed were the fact that Pat's husband had been relocated to Medicalodges in Holton this past week and Karen Burns reported the birth of a new great-granddaughter on Sunday morning. There will be more details later.

Tim Stauffer was the acolyte and Todd Stauffer rang the bell. The call to worship came from Psalm 146. Hymns sung were "It Is Well With My Soul," "Open My Eyes, That I Might See" and "Faith Of Our Fathers." The special was "Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord God Almighty."

Pastor Howard read the living word of God from Romans 8:29. Bud Stauffer took up the offering. Pastor Sudduth's sermon, "Dad The Commander," was based on the word of God from Luke 7:1-10. Services closed with prayer and the circle of friendship.

On July 7, there will not be church services at our church. We will join our sister church, Potawatomi UMC, at 10:30 a.m. for services, followed by a potluck luncheon in honor of Pastor Howard's birthday. Please mark this on your

June Schlodder celebrated her birthday by visiting with family and friends and receiving many calls and cards. It was nice being with 16 family members on Saturday in Basehor for lunch at the Rodeo Cafe and then going to the home of Gene and Brenda Hallauer for gift opening and dessert. Gene was also celebrating his 83rd birthday and we felt fortunate to be with family members for the occasion. On Thursday, Kathy and Lalo Ramirez took June to the Muscotah Cafe for a wonderful lunch there.

Bud and Shirley Stauffer hosted the monthly pizza party on Friday evening. Roy and Bev Kranz and June Schlodder were in attendance. Bryan and Cindy Stauffer of Stanwood, Wash., were guests later in the evening.

The Stauffer family enjoyed a cookout at the home of Kevin and Laura Stauffer on Saturday evening. Those in attendance were Bryan and Cindy Stauffer of Stanwood, Wash.; Rachel, Joe and Finn Whitten of Eudora; Clayton Stauffer of Lawrence; Adam, Laura, David, Dante and Tally Stauffer of Topeka; Kenley and Bryce Carpenter of Holton; Ellie and Dillon Klepees of Mayetta; Bud and Shirley Stauffer and Todd, Rose and Tim Stauffer, all of Mayetta; in addition to the hosts.

A very nice evening was enjoyed. Bryan and Cindy left for Washington on Sunday. They had been in Wichita on business since Tuesday.

Immanuel Lutheran Church

By Esther L. Ideker Trinity Sunday was celebrated at worship at Immanuel Lutheran Church on June 16, with the service opening with the hymn "Come, Holy Ghost, Creator Blest." Fathers present were greeted with thanks.

Following the confession of sins and absolution, Psalm 8 was read responsively. The introit was Psalm 16:18-11. Elder Tex Manuel II read the Old Testament lesson from Proverbs chapter 8 and the Epistle lesson from Acts chapter 2.

Pastor Michael J. Van Velzer read the holy gospel from John 8:48-59. The congregation professed The Nicene Creed. The sermon hymn was "O Day Full Of Grace."

Pastor Van Velzer's sermon title was "The Triune God Reveals Himself In Christ Jesus." The Athanasian Creed states that we worship one God, in three persons and the three persons in one God, neither confusing the persons nor dividing the substance.

The Bible is God speaking to us through His prophets and apostles. The consistent message from beginning to end is that God is very inclusive when it comes to the people whom He wants to give His gifts of forgiveness and life and salvation to. But the same holy scriptures make it very clear that God is very exclusive when it comes to the gods whom we are to worship.

Moses repeatedly tells Israel, "You shall have no other gods besides me. The Lord is God. There is no other besides Him." (Deuteronomy 4:35, 32:39).

When we pray, we come to the Father, "through Jesus Christ, our Lord, who lives and reigns with the Father and the

Through Jesus Christ, and only through Him, God reveals Himself as the God who created you just so He could redeem you and sanctify you. He is the God of love who created you to love you with the greatest love by laying down His life for you – the holy for the unholy, the innocent for the guilty. God almighty becomes the weakest of the weak for the sake of His beloved children.

The offering ushers were Tex Manuel II and Topher Dohl. Acolyte was Jennifer Mellies. The offertory was sung by the congregation.

In the prayers of the church, the saving peace of Christ among the nations, for the church here and throughout the world and for those who serve in Christ's name was asked. For good leaders and good government in this and in every place; for police, emergency personnel and disaster-relief workers; for members of the Armed Forces who defend us. For the lonely, for the troubled in mind and heart, for the poor, for the homeless and for those who have lost hope, have mercy. For the ill and the grieving for grace to sustain them in their hour of need; for travelers in their journeys that they may go in safety and arrive home again in peace. The congregation joined in The Lord's Prayer.

The Service of the Sacrament followed with Elders Tex Manuel II and Topher Dohl assisting Pastor Van Velzer with the distribution. The distribution hymn was "What Is This Bread?" Following the Nunc Dimittis, the thanksgiving, the post communion collect and benediction, the service closed with the last three verses of "Come Holy Ghost, Creator Blest."

Serving Sunday were Tex Manuel II, elder; Joyce Peterson, organist; Jennifer Mellies, acolyte; and Joyce Strube and Angie Strube, altar committee.

Buck's Grove UMC

By Betty Bernritter

It was a beautiful Father's Day, June 16, 2019, at Buck's Grove United Methodist Church. As Jack Bernritter rang the bell, the church began to fill up.

Donna Ashcraft provided the recorded prelude as Mary Rin-gel lighted the altar candles.

Joyce Immenschuh asked for announcements and then intro-duced Ross Allen, grandson of David and Evelyn Allen, as the speaker for the day. Ross led the congregation in the call to worship, opening prayer and Psalm 8.

Recorded hymns were "We Gather Together," "Come, Thou Almighty King" and "My Hope Is Built." LeRoy Rieschick read scripture from Proverbs 8:1-4, 22-31 and Romans 5:1-5. Ross and David Allen provided a special with Ross on the piano and David on guitar sing-ing "I Am Here, Lord."

Ross read scripture from John 16:12-15. His message helped us to understand more fully about Trinity Sunday. Trinity Sunday is the first Sunday after Pente-cost to honor the Holy Trinity – the Father, Son and Holy Spirit.

The concept of the Trinity can never be completely understood or rationalized, but it is clearly taught in scripture. Understand-ing of all scriptural doctrine is by faith which comes through the work of the Holy Spirit. Ross said that we have to know God ourselves before we can begin to understand the Father, Son and Holy Spirit.

Amateur Radio Club to hold field day Saturday

The Jackson Amateur Radio Club (JARC) of Holton will conduct Field Day 2019 on Saturday, June 22, 2018, it has been reported.

During this annual event, Hams (amateur radio operators) gear up to set long-distance contact records and practice emergency communication skills. Use of voice modes, Morse code, digital communication and other modes will be used and demonstrated. Solar power will be utilized as emergency field power.

Field Day is an annual exercise for amateurs to test out emergency capabilities as Ham radio operators. The public is welcome to attend.

According to JARC secretary/treasurer Ross McClain of Holton, "Field Day is a way for Hams to get outdoors and have fun under some difficult conditions. It is also a chance to finetune emergency communication capabilities.

"The JARC membership will set up homemade emergencytype antennas in the field. The idea is to put together self-sufficient, working stations quickly and begin making contacts via voice, Morse code, digital communications and other modes as an exercise practice simulating real disaster communication capabilities.

"We invite the public to visit, and we will be happy to answer any questions regarding amateur radio. We need more Ham operators in this area.'

This year's local Field Day operation will be held on Saturday, June 22, at the Banner Creek Science Center and Observatory, located at 22275 N Rd. west of Holton. The day will begin at 1 p.m. and run for 24 hours through Sunday, June 23.

Amateur radio operators will work around the clock to set up field radio communications stations, get on the air and contact thousands of other operators in the United States and Canada as part of the participation of the American Radio Relay League's (ARRL) Field Day.

The ÁRRL Field Organization has been effective in establishing emergency communications nets during floods, hurricanes, fires, earthquakes, tornadoes and other major disasters.

Members of formal emergency organizations such as the Amateur Radio Emergency Service (ARES), the Radio Amateur Communication Emergency Services (RACES), Skywarn and others regularly participate. The League estimates that more than 35,000 Hams participate in Field Day every year.

Netawaka UMC

By Mary E. Edwards

June 16 was a beautiful morning at 8:15 a.m., church time at Netawaka United Methodist Church. There was very little traffic on the highway. The yards and roadsides going into Netawaka are neatly mowed and trimmed and look very nice.

Neva Douglas was acolyte and offertory usher this Father's Day. Sunday was also Peace with Justice Sunday, and a special offering was taken for that.

Worship leader Marilyn Banaka gave the welcome and announcements. Joys and concerns were shared. It was good to have Doris Oxandale back with us and feeling better. Doris and Glenn have a new great-grandson. Pastor Young thanked people for remembering So-Jin's birthday last week.

Marilyn led the responsive call to worship. There was a time to greet one another before the hymn of praise, "Jesus, Name Above All Names.

The congregation participated in a Father's Day prayer, which was built around the Lord's Prayer. "God Will Take Care Of You" was the prayer hymn. Other songs were "Cares Chorus" and "O God Our Help In Ages Past." Verona Grannell was player of recorded music.

The scripture lesson was Romans 5:1-5, "Peace And Joy." The Rev. Younghwan Won's sermon was titled "Father And The Holy Spirit."

When God first created the world, He talked directly to Adam and Eve. Later, God spoke to His people through the prophets. When Jesus came to earth, He lived among the people, teaching and showing the way. Jesus died for the sins of the people, leaving the Holy Spirit as comforter. We can't see Him, but we know the Holy Spirit is here.

So, God doesn't just stay away. Through the Holy Trinity He finds the best way to help us. Sometimes fathers (and other people) are revealers of the Holy Spirit, God with us.

Library Budget...

Last year, the 6-mill levy generated $139,300 for the library, Morris said, noting that the library is requesting $144,325 for 2020. The bulk of that, she said, will cover pay raises, and some of it will cover an increase in insurance costs for the library building.

Morris also cited the work that city employees have put into the concrete fitness trail at Countryside Park, among other things, to justify pay raises for library employees, adding that services provided by the library are as essential as services provided by the city's other departments, or by other entities such as Holton Community Hospital.

But since the library is its own entity, Commissioner Marilyn Watkins said, making an "apples to apples" comparison to the hospital or the other city departments did not stack up. Watkins also suggested the library board look into a possible sales tax increase, rather than a property tax increase, since "property owners are not just going to keep on taking it."

Pay raises were not the only concern breached by Morris, who noted that the library is running out of room - a concern that is noted every time that the library's summer reading program puts on one of its Tuesday afternoon shows for kids in first through fifth grades.

"They're packed in like

school diplomas occupies the lower level south end of the old fair building while the district's maintenance department currently occupies the north end – the big room – at the old fair building.

For the past several months, there has been lots of interest shown by patrons and school staff to obtain approval from the school board to allow for a turf surface to be installed in the big room of the fair building with donated funds so that area could be utilized by elementary school children for indoor recess, for band students for indoor practice and for school sports team for indoor practice, among other studentrelated uses.

In the meantime, significant support by patrons has been voiced for the district to continue to allow its maintenance department to occupy the big room in the old fair building, as it does now.

The prevailing sentiment of the group that supports the alternative use of the fair building – expressed again at the special meeting – was that they support and appreciate everything that Mike Porter (district maintenance department director) does for the district and their interest in using the fair building for activities that benefit students is just that.

School patrons were allowed up to three minutes each to make comments about school facilities, and several did.

Scott Misenhelter said that after four years of basically doing nothing that the school board should move the district office to the north end of the old Central School, use the south end of the old Central School for the bulk purchase of school supplies and equipment and sell the current district office building. Later, Misenhelter likened the old fair building to "a playground with a roof over it.

"That's what it is," he said. "Just use it for what it should be used for." He also urged the board "not to procastinate any more.'

"Take the storage to Central," he said.

Jake Dallman said the old fair building should continue to be used as it is now – as the headquarters for would support those patrons willing to do extra things to benefit the schools and kids, too.

"Economic development," Aeschliman said, "is looking at the big picture and doing these types of positive things.'

He added "Everything is in place to do some great things in the community and I think we can please everyone in the process."

John Chiles encouraged the board to "look 10 years down the road." Chiles said he was concerned that perhaps there weren't as many new families moving to the Holton district as there were families leaving it at this time.

Chiles said he realized the old fair building has potential for more activities, but at what cost? That's the question, he said.

At the end of the two-hour meeing, board members agreed to have the costs associated with all of the plans gathered and submitted to them for review.

Mike Porter said he would like to have the maintenance department stay at the old fair building, if possible, because it has everything the department needs.

Costs associated with keeping the district's maintenance department at the old fair building include building an office area inside the fair building and establishing a climate controlled area for the bulk storage of school supplies, such as paper.

Costs associated with moving the district's maintenance department to the old Central School campus may involve building a new maintenance department structure that ideally would be more energy efficient and more suitable sizewise.

It was reported that the cost to tear down and haul off the old Colorado School was $150,000 and at one

Apart from Dieckmann's abstention, affirmative votes for the increase were cast by Meerpohl, Watkins, Dan Brenner and Tim Morris.

Last year, when the commission voted to increase the library levy from 5 mills to 6 mills, Dieckmann and Tim Morris abstained from the vote, although Riley later noted that it was not required for Morris to abstain in order to prevent a conflict of interest.

A 3-0 commission vote with two abstaining votes would have been enough to approve Monday's motion to increase the library's budget by $5,000, just as it was with last year's vote to increase the library levy by one mill.

time the cost to get the old Central School fixed up for office use was about $200,000.

In other business, the board agreed to modify the language to be used at the next election regarding the $4.5 million bond issue for heating and cooling improvements at the high school and middle school. Board member Allen Arnold lobbied the board for more precise language on what the bond funds will be used for.

The board voted 7-0 to rescind the current resolution and to add "HHS and HMS" to the locations where the heating and cooling improvements will be made.

Bob Davies, superintendent, said that while Trane representatives have been helping district staff determine the best new heating and cooling equipment to install at HHS and HMS, it is interesting, he said, that York equipment - not Trane equipment - was ultimately recommended.

Board members also commented that upgrading lights at HHS and HMS to LED has resulted in a 24.2 percent or $40,000 annual savings in electric costs.

School patron Matt Wheeler urged the board – in its long range planning – to consider solar power.

In response to the question from a patron about what will happen if the bond issue for the heating and cooling upgrades is not approved, board members said the district will be required to pay for the improvements in phases, which will drive up the overall costs by as much as 30 percent.

Davies also reported that state aid for the $4.5 million bond issue would total 34 percent, meaning the state will pay 34 percent of the overall costs, or about $1.5 million.

Budget Requests...

Ingels said the fire department's budget for 2020 is "pretty much the same as last year," noting minor increases in personnel, contractual services and "other" expenses that have gone up due to the number of firefighters increasing from 29 to 34 in the past year.

One thing that is not in the fire department's budget for 2020 - and, as Ingels noted, something to look at for the future — is a new fire truck. Ingels said he has been reminding commissioners "for the last six years" that his department's "firstout" truck is a 1999 model aerial truck, and according to National Fire Protection Agency rules, a 20-year-old truck is "no longer compliant to be a first-out truck."

new fire engine А comparable to the 1999 model truck would cost the city about $750,000 to $800,000, and "every year we wait, you can add about $50,000 to that," Ingels said. The city could look at the purchase of a smaller truck that doesn't have all the "bells and whistles" of an aerial truck for about $150,000 to $200,000, he added, and that could buy the city five years before its insurance rating goes down.

That rating, Ingels noted, "is going to hurt us, and that's going to hurt the taxpayer," since a decline in the insurance rating will result in an increase in individual insurance premiums for property owners. McKee said he would check on whether there may be enough in the city's equipment reserve fund for the possible purchase of a smaller truck.

The 2020 budget authority for the fire department's general fund as proposed by Ingels totaled $372,900, compared with the 2019 budget of $368,900 and the department's actual 2018 expenditures of $327,166.

Gakle said his budget has also "remained pretty much the same," but like Tanking and the street department, Gakle is also looking at roof repairs for the Public Safety Building, adding that repairs to that building are "not going to be quite as costly as Greg's.'

With a slight decline in budget authority proposed for 2020, Gakle said he could possibly "bypass replacing a car" for the police fleet or "move some money around" in his department's capital outlay fund to pay for roof repairs.

'It would be nice to have budget authority for the six-inch line to an eight-inch police department was set at $656,100, down from the department's 2019 budget of $660,100 but up from actual expenditures of $602,564 for 2018.

Reichle, seeking a minor decrease in general park fund budget authority and a minor increase in the special park fund for 2020, noted that capital outlay funds were 'going up" to facilitate the possible replacement of a mower for the city's ball fields and paint and other work at the city's municipal swimming pool.

Furthermore, Reichle noted that he is trying to put some extra money into capital outlay for the possible purchase of a slide for the pool, although he noted that money may end up being used to take care of more pressing equipment issues at the pool. "Everything we have is getting older and in need of repair," he said.

The proposed 2020 budget authority for the parks and recreation department is $451,000, down from the 2019 budget of $461,000 and up from actual 2018 expenditures of $386,343. In the special park fund, the proposed 2020 budget authority is $72,000, up from the 2019 budget of $57,000 and the actual 2018 expenditures of $39,635. In the general administration fund, McKee said an increase of about $6,000 in contractual service funds is necessary for "insurance costs" at Holton City Hall. A $4,000 increase in capital outlay funds is also being sought for replacement of a computer server at City Hall that is "20-some years old" and is "causing issues." The proposed general administration budget authority for 2020 is $48,800, up from the 2019 budget of $39,500 and the actual 2018 expenditures of $36,120.

Commissioners also approved an additional $5,000 in funds for the 2020 budget at Beck Bookman Library (see related story), which sought additional funds for staff pay raises and building insurance premium increases. The library receives a six-mill levy according to city ordinance; McKee said he would rewrite the ordinance to accommodate the request.

In other business on Monday, commissioners:

Approved minutes from their June 3 meeting as well as budget appropriations made since the meeting Tabled action on a request from Jackson County Rural Water District 3 for a 30-foot easement along T Road on the east side of the Prairie Lake grounds. RWD 3 is looking to increase the size of its main water line in that area from a line, mainly to move water from the district's new wells located at the intersection of 262nd and V roads, RWD 3 Manager Brenda Adkins said.

However, action was tabled on the easement after Adkins said the agreement approved by Holton City Attorney Dennis White was different from the request that RWD 3 sent the city for approval. Commissioners expressed interest in further negotiations on the easement request until both the city and RWD 3 were in agreement.

Approved the appointment of Dawn Shupe to the Beck Bookman Library board of directors.

Approved a request to close Karen Drive for a block party to be held from 5 p.m. to midnight on Wednesday, July 3.

Heard several comments from commissioners on the Biking Across Kansas activities held last Friday on Holton's Town Square. Holton Mayor Robert Dieckmann said the activities welcoming the cyclists to Holton represented "one of the greatest things that Holton's done in a while," and Commissioner Marilyn Watkins said cyclists told her "they had no reception like that anywhere else.

■ Heard comment from Dieckmann on why all 911 calls in Holton are handled by dispatchers at the Jackson County Sheriff's Office. McKee noted a preference to have all 911 calls in the county "go to a central location."

Heard a request from Dieckmann to look into whether a reward can be issued by the city for information leading to the arrest and conviction of anyone involved with recent auto burglaries and thefts in the city. McKee said he would check into the matter.

Heard a comment from Commissioner Mike Meerpohl regarding the "nice job of patching streets" being done by the city's street department. McKee added that the department has begun curb work on the south side of the Jackson County Courtyard, where a sidewalk is planned.

Heard a comment from Commissioner Tim Morris about placing a sign on Sixth Street between Montana and Wyoming avenues to alert motorists to the presence of children in the area.

Heard a request from Commissioner Dan Brenner for more law enforcement coverage of U.S. Highway 75 through Holton with an increase of traffic through the area due to recent flooding up north. Adjourned the meeting at 9 p.m. All five commissioners were present.

the district's maintenance department.

Carrie Saia, chief executive officer at Holton Community Hospital, said good schools are very important – and at the top of the list - when it comes to recruiting new doctors and other health professionals to the community.

Saia urged the board members to continue to consider all efforts to enhance the quality of education being offered here.

Where are we going in the future and what are we doing to move the schools forward are two questions that school board members need to continue to ask, Saia said.

Rob Karn said the old fair building had too much potential for activities to benefit kids to be used primarily as a storage facility, in his view

HHS teacher and coach Brooks Barta provided school board members with some information on indoor turf facilities that, he said, corrected "a lot of misinformation" out there about adverse health conditions resulting from it.

"I want Mike (Porter) to have a great place (for the maintenance department)," Barta said. "I just think when you look at the big picture that the old fair building could provide some great opportunities to benefit our youth.

Crops and Soils: Nitrogen loss is a concern

By David G. Hallauer Meadowlark Extension District Agent, Crops and Soils/Horticulture

Arguably the most important nutrient in corn production is nitrogen. If not the most important, it certainly is the nutrient we apply in the greatest quantity - and one of the reasons so many are so concerned about how much this spring's weather may have reduced its availability.

Nitrogen is lost during wet springs by way of two mechanisms: leaching or denitrification. Both involve the nitrate form of nitrogen and are affected by numerous factors like soil temperature and oxygen content, pH and the type of product applied.

Leaching is typically an issue on coarse (sandy) soils where lots of rain has moved through the soil profile. Denitrification is worst on medium or fine textured soils under warm and wet conditions.

This spring's rainfall has been well above normal, leading many to wonder just how much nitrogen we might have lost – and whether supplemental nitrogen may be a necessity. The answers are not "one size fits all," but we can make a few generalizations that may help as you make a decision about how much additional N might be needed – and where it should be applied.

First, N loss depends a lot on the N form in the soil, with nitrate N being subject to the most loss. If N is in the ammonium form, losses should be small.

Second, saturated soils will have the most potential for denitrification loss, since oxygen limited conditions are where the microbes responsible for denitrification thrive.

Third, the potential N loss from denitrification increases as soil temperatures warm. According to University of Nebraska research, a 60-degree temperature soil can be saturated for five days resulting in a 10 percent nitrate nitrogen loss. If we increase soil temperatures to the mid 70s, a saturated soil might see 60 percent nitrate N loss in just three days. The average two-inch soil temperature at Hiawatha is at 66. Silver Lake is at 71.

Bottom line: cooler soils have likely limited N loss to some degree so far this spring. Those ap-plications most at risk to loss are those done early last fall, with late fall and early spring applications likely seeing limited loss.

That's the good news. The bad news is that we are likely going to see soil temperatures continue to warm with the potential for more moisture in the forecast, leading to the potential for more N loss.

In many cases, farms that received anhydrous early last fall should probably be in a position to apply supplemental N as the opportunity arises. Others may not have lost much yet, but June weather will be a big factor in continued N losses.

As you consider supplemental N, keep these factors in mind as well: First, we have a big window for application. Recent work has shown that N applied close to tas-seling can still be effectively used by the corn crop. Second, not all yellow corn is N deficient. In some cases, it's likely just due to wet feed that may be causing other issues as well. Much of our corn right now is uneven and off color. Some of this will correct itself as weather permits the corn to better "take off."

Third, monitoring might be a good option this year. Reference strips where 50 pounds to 75 pounds per acre of supplemental N are applied can be good tools to help you determine whether N loss is the culprit, or if something else is going on. Two years of work with reference strips in NEK showed mixed results to added N because N loss wasn't always the issue. For assistance with reference strips, feel free to drop me a line.

For a more thorough explanation of the potential for N loss, see the most recent KSU Agronomy eUpdate article.

The Holton High School campus, shown above, was transformed into a tent city last Friday evening to accommodate some of the 825 or so Biking Across Kansas participants and their followers on their last night of this year's event. Another group of BAK participants slept overnight in sleeping bags and on air mattresses on the HHS gym floor, while still others sought out more homelike accommodations at local hotels and motels. Many of the BAK participants commented that they felt like celebrities in Holton because of the warm welcome they received here. It was the first time that the HHS grounds became a tent city since June of 2002, which was the last time that BAK made an overnight visit to Holton.

FACS: Air fryers and storm disasters

By Cindy Williams Meadowlark Extension District Agent FACS

Instead of frying in oil, maybe an air fryer is for you! Reducing oil in foods is one way to make foods healthier. So how does a hot air fryer work?

Extremely hot air circulates around food with a fan. It creates a crispy surface layer and the inside stays moist. This is similar to convention oven cooking. Only a small amount of oil is brushed on the food surface to aid the crisping process. Cook in small batches for even and complete cooking.

When shopping for an air fryer, one of the recent storms, would you have been prepared? If your answer is "no," now is the time to take action!

An excellent website to look at is www.ready.gov. You will find lists of supplies to have on hand, suggestions for a disaster plan and ways to keep informed. Here is the basic list of items you will want to have in a basic emergency supply kit:
Water – One gallon of water per person per day for at least three days for drinking and sanitation.

• Food – At least a three-day supply of nonperishable food.

• Battery-powered or hand

• Can opener for food (if kit contains canned food).

• Local maps. • Cell phone with chargers, inverters or solar chargers.

Of course you may want to include other items that pertain to your family like medications, formula, diapers, supplies for your pets and so on. The main thing is that you have the essentials for your family and to have them ready.

For more information and items to include in your kit, go to ready. gov. Under the "plan ahead" tab and the other tabs are many resources to make sure you have a plan in place and are ready for any disaster that may strike. Another important item is a "grab and go" bag. K-State Research and Extension has a publication to help you plan ahead. It's called "Get Financially Prepared: Take Steps Ahead Of Disaster." It can be found at https://www.bookstore.ksre.ksu. edu/pubs/MF3055.pdf Let's hope that you don't need to use this, but it's good to be prepared for any kind of emergency you might face.

first consider your kitchen counters and storage space. Do you have room? If the appliance is not visible, it is less likely to be used.

There is no oil to dispose of or lingering oily odors. But does the food taste the same with similar crunch? Maybe, maybe not. Just remember to consider making healthier meals for you and your family to reap the rewards.

Representatives of the Holton/Jackson County Chamber of Commerce, KANZA Mental Health Services and Youth Services of Jackson County looked on as KANZA CEO David Jasper (third from right) cut the ribbon on the first phase of a two-part remodel of the Moser Building (the former Holton Community Hospital) for expansion of KANZA's services in Holton, as well as a new office for Youth Services, on Wednesday, June 12. # Phase one of KANZA office remodel complete

By Brian Sanders The first phase of a two-part remodel of the old Holton Community Hospital building for expansion of KANZA Mental Health and Guidance Center's services in Holton was celebrated on Wednesday with a ribboncutting ceremony, but there is still plenty of work to be done, according to KANZA CEO David Jasper. In 2015, KANZA finalized the purchase of the Moser Building, located at Fifth Street and Kansas Avenue, and soon afterward set about a $750,000 renovation project for expansion of KANZA's services and an office space for Youth Services of Jackson County, which leases a portion of the building from KANZA.

"They're a partner of ours, and we support one another and work together with some individuals, so it's nice to have them with us in the same building," Jasper said. "It's nice to be able to coordinate that care as we need to make referrals back and forth between the two agencies."

What's left, Jasper said after Wednesday's ribboncutting and open house for Youth Services, is the second phase of renovations, which is expected to cost about $450,000.

"We're moving toward being able to renovate that in the future," he added. 'We're excited about continuing to provide more community-oriented services in Holton and continuing to grow our services. We're especially looking forward to opportunities to partner with other folks in Holton and provide more services needed in the community."

KANZA, which has been providing mental health and guidance services in Holton since 1974, has operated an office at 713 Idaho Ave. since 1992. In recent years, it was determined that the 2,000-square-foot facility was too small for the number of services that KANZA had to offer.

In 2012, KANZA began leasing about 6,300 square feet of the 13,500-square-foot Moser Building, sharing space with Youth Services, which covers Kansas' Second Judicial District, in the northern half of the building. Three years later, the purchase of the Moser building was finalized.

"We just didn't have enough room at the Idaho Avenue office for all of our services, and we wanted everyone under one roof so that the continuity of care would be better," Jasper said of KANZA's decision to expand. "Having everyone in the same place and in a bigger building just seemed like a good fit for us." KANZA's Holton offers center outpatient therapy services, including counseling, psychotherapy psychological testing and medication services, as well as community-based services to youth between the ages of 3 and 22 and community support services and case management for people with mental health issues, Jasper said.

"We'll continue to expand all of those services," he added. "The need seems to be centered more and more around mental health, especially with children of a younger age. There's an opportunity and a need here at this point in time that we would like to continue to expand and reach out as much as we can to everyone who needs our services.'

KANZA, which serves citizens of Jackson, Brown, Doniphan and Nemaha counties, has provided a wide array of behavioral health services since its founding in 1963. Its mission is offering "hope for a healthier tomorrow.'

Speed limits on county roads discussed

County officials are looking into the possibility of reducing the speed limit for the designated haul routes for the new rock quarry recently approved at 14298 W Rd.

During a recent commission meeting, Dan Barnett, road and bridge supervisor, reported that he is interested is reducing the speed limit on the designated haul route from 55 miles per hour to 45 mph or even 35 mph.

Barnett said he was also in favor of reducing the speed on all county rock roads.

The commissioners said they looked into the issue several years ago and said they thought there was a state law preventing them from reducing the limit on all rock roads but said they would research the matter further.

Mid-States Materials and Barnett have designated a haul route for Mid-States and county trucks traveling to and from the new quarry. The route starts at the intersection of the east county line and 134th Road, then west to W Road, then north to  $142^{nd}$ Road and then west to U.S. Highway 75.

To access locations south of the quarry, Mid-States and county trucks will utilize the interchange at 150th Road once they pull onto U.S. 75, it was reported.

In other business, according to the approved minutes of June 3, the commission:

* Approved a motion to reappoint Lisa Hyten to JCAB (Juvenile Corrections Advisory Board) for another term.

* Met with Jackson County Appraiser Jason Claycamp who submitted a petition he received regarding the quarry. Claycamp confirmed it met the requirements and qualifies as a valid petition.

The petition asks that the approval for the zoning change and special use permit for the quarry must be unanimous by the commissioners.

When the change and permit were approved a week later, the vote was unanimous by the and Barnett to discuss a matter commissioners, it was reported.

* Met with Dennis White, attorney for Delaware Watershed Joint District #10, to discuss the quarry.

White stated that the watershed board wanted to have a geological survey completed before the commissioners make their final decision.

Later in the meeting Marilyn Snider, watershed district manager, and David Schmitz, Snider, watershed board president, expressed their interests in having the Division of Water Resources Water Structures Program Manager Terry Medley look at the quarry site, watershed dams and easement when he becomes available.

* Met with Larry Miles, who has land adjoining the quarry property. Miles said there are eagles that nest at the quarry property, and he is concerned for their well-being.

* Met in executive session with County Counselor Alex Belveal and Barnett for an hour for a matter of attorney/client privilege. No action was taken back in open session.

* Heard a weekly report from Lu Griffiths, Banner Creek Reservoir director, who reported that he received an estimate of $9,500 for clearing out an overgrown area and returning it back to native grass.

Griffith said the county could get a reimbursement up to $2,300 from Kansas Wildlife and Parks for the project.

He also stated he has been working with Jacob Wareham to set up online payments and card payments at the reservoir.

Griffiths reported that there were about 30 campers over the Memorial Day weekend. He said that he would like to get an estimate for the installation of power at some of the sites in campground B.

Met in executive session for 35 minutes with Belveal of attorney/client privilege. No action was taken back in open session.

* Continued discussions on the proposed quarry. Commission Kathrens told members of the public present that there would not be a public forum regarding the quarry because the commissioners are elected by the patrons to make these types of decisions.

* Received a presentation on the proposed quarry from Rich Eckert, attorney for Mid-States.

Those in attendance in where Cole Anderson, Mid-States manager; Chad Gerhardt, Mid-States sales manager; Bob Henthorne, Mid-States geologist; Danny Hurt, Buckley Powder Blasting expert; Barnett and Dan and Charlie Barrow.

* Met in executive session for 45 minutes with Belveal, Barnett, Andersen, Eckert, Gerhardt, Hurt, Henthorne and Claycamp for discussion of financial affairs and trade secrets with a private corporation and economic development. The meeting extended 30 minutes. No action was taken back in open session.

* Discussed the south sidewalk project with Chad Phillips, Courthouse custodian. There is a large elevation change from the Courthouse to the curb that will need to be considered when the new sidewalk is poured.

* Approved an updated mutual aid agreement with Brown County submitted by Pat Korte, director of emergency services.

* Approved payroll changes notices for Kevin Alford and Tyler Morrison (seasonal road and bridge employees), Lane Slocum (length of service increase with the sheriff's office) and Kelli Thompson (length of service increase as a seasonal Banner Creek Reservoir employee).

*Adjourned the meeting at 4:52 p.m. All three commissioners were present.
