COVID-19 risk low in Kansas

State officials report confirmed coronavirus case in Johnson Co.

By Brian Sanders Following the report of a confirmed case of the coronavirus (COVID-19) in Kansas on Saturday, local, state and national health officials continue to emphasize awareness and preparedness to combat the spread of the virus.

And while more than 560 cases of COVID-19 - including 22 deaths - have been reported more than 30 U.S. states as of this morning, national health officials expect that the number will rise, even though the vast majority of people who become infected with the coronavirus are expected to make a full recovery — in fact, it was reported this morning that eight who had been confirmed as having the virus have recovered. "Currently, in Kansas, the overall risk of the virus is low, but that does not mean we can rest easy. We take this situation seriously. We can and will remain ready to respond swiftly and effectively, should the virus spread to Kansas," Kansas Gov. Laura Kelly said last Wednesday during an announcement that the Kansas Department of Health and Environment is working on a preparedness plan for COVID-19.

Local health officials, including Holton Community Hospital CEO Carrie Saia and Jackson County Public Health Admin-istrator Angie Reith, said they are following recommendations from KDHE, the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and the World Health Organization (WHO) for dealing with the disease.

Jackson County school administrators said they are also looking to KDHE and CDC recommendations if an outbreak of COVID-19 should occur in the county, although as Holton Superintendent Bob Davies noted in a letter to district parents, canceling classes has not been recommended as a preparatory action.

Instead, public health, government and school officials are strongly encouraging "good hygiene practices," particularly hand washing, as the best way to avoid contracting the virus, as there is not yet a vaccine available for it and more information about the virus is needed.

Hemp may now be grown on Prairie Band Potawatomi Nation land following recent approval by the United States Department of Agriculture, it was reported.

With the OK, the PBP Nation now has the authority to administer a domestic hemp program under the oversight of the USDA Domestic Hemp Production Program.

The PBP Nation can now issue industrial hemp licenses to qualified growers who own land within the reservation boundaries, it was reported.

Economic development group to meet Wednesday

Members of the Economic Development Jackson County Group, a volunteer group of area residents interested in economic developent in the Holton and Jackson County area, will meet with Meadowlark Extension District Director and Agent David Key at 6:30 p.m. this Wednesday at Holton Elementary School, it was reported. Topics for discussion at the meeting will include the function of a program development committee, the history and purpose of the group, an update on current community development projects and events in the Meadowlark district, programs or events that may be of interest in the district and other projects, ideas and needs.

The meeting, which is open to the public, had previously been scheduled for January but was postponed twice due to weather concerns, it was noted.

'Home sales appear to be very good right now," Claycamp said. "It's pretty strong right now.'

The county's value in agricultural land increased by six percent, Claycamp said.

"Most of the counties in northeast Kansas saw a six to eight percent increase in ag values," he said.

Neighboring Brown County received a five percent increase in ag values, and Jefferson County increased by six percent.

Atchison and Pottawatomie counties saw a seven percent increase. Nemaha County experienced an eight percent increase in ag land and Shawnee County's ag values jumped by nine percent.

Between 2019 and 2020, more than half of the 105 counties in Kansas experienced a eight years) have a bigger pull on the average than the first and eighth year," Claycamp said.

In seven counties, ag land values jumped between 10 to 19.99 percent, and in five counties (Clark, Barber, Comanche, Hodgeman and Ford), they increased by more than 20 percent, it was reported.

Each classification of property (residential, ag, commercial, etc.) is assessed at a different percentage rate. The rates are set by the state and cannot be adjusted by the county, it was reported.

Appraised residential property values are assessed at an 11.5 percent rate.

Agricultural use land is assessed at a 30 percent rate and agriculture use improvements are assessed at 25 percent.

Rep. Garber reports on State Legislature

By Rep. Randy Garber R-Sabetha, 62nd District The heavy burden of high property taxes is taking a toll on Kansans. But, there are solutions. Our local governments should address this crisis with a sense of urgency and stop the practice of backdoor tactics that raise property taxes without a time transparency and accountability. Here are the top five things homeown need know about property taxes in Kansas.

• City and

county property tax jumped 168 percent between 1997 and 2018.

Property tax increased by 151 percent between 1997 and 2018, or more than three times the inflation rate of 50 percent.

Property tax for local government (cities, counties, town-ships, etc.) totaled $2.7 billion in 2018 or about 54 percent of all property tax.

Local government also imposed the largest increase, averaging 168 percent.

Public schools and community colleges account for about 45 percent of the total, taking in $2.2 billion, and only one percent of property tax goes for the ers are fully aware that property tax has been rapidly increasing because of valuation changes.

For instance: Atchison County property taxes increased 179 percent from 1997 to 2018, but the mill levy only increased 28 percent, leaving a 152 percent honesty gap.

while Brown Similarly, County decreased its mill levy by17 percent, property taxes still went up 166 percent, which is a183 percent honesty gap.

Jackson County saw an increase of 230 percent while the mill levy went up 45 percent, which computes to a 185 percent honesty gap. Nemaha County's property tax increased 214 percent while the mill levy increased five percent, which is a 209 percent honesty gap.

• Legislation to close the hon-esty gap. Senate Bill 294, which is being discussed in the Kansas Senate currently, is modeled after the Utah legislation that has successfully reduced property tax rates. It simply requires city and county elected officials to vote on the entire property tax increase.

SB 294 doesn't limit spending and elected officials don't have to get public approval. They just have to vote on the entire tax increase they impose each year.

Once a city or county gets new valuation totals each year, a "certified rate" is calculated to produce the same property tax revenue as the prior year based on the new valuations.

to vote to increase the certified rate, which means they are voting on the total tax increase.

The effective tax rate in Utah declined by 7.5 percent between 2000 and 2018, but the effective tax rate in Kansas increased by more than 22 percent.

Lobbyists for cities and counties oppose SB 294, but voters overwhelmingly support this idea. A December 2019 public opinion survey conducted by Survey USA on our behalf asked whether local elected officials should be required to vote on the total property tax increase. Seventy-five percent said "yes" and only 11 percent said "no."

Support crosses all ideological and geographical lines. Seventy-three percent of self-described liberals and moderates and 80 percent of conservatives favor the change. Geographic support across the four regions (Western, Eastern, Wichita area, and Kansas City area) ranges from 72 percent to 78 percent.

• Kansas has the highest rural property tax in the nation. The Lincoln Institute of Land Policy's 2019 50-State Property Tax Comparison Study shows Kansas is very noncompetitive on effective property tax rates.

The effective tax rate (ETR) is the property tax paid as a percentage of assessed valuation.

Kansas' rural rankings, comparing the largest county seats in non-metropolitan areas with a population between 2,500 and 10,000, are among the worst in the nation. Iola represents Kan-

• The 14th highest ETR on residential property valued at $150,000.

Comparing the largest city in each state, Kansas has:

the 11th highest ETR on commercial property.
The 23rd highest ETR on industrial property. • The 25th highest ETR on residential property valued at $150,000. Property tax is an especially large barrier to economic growth in rural areas. The 4.4 percent effective tax rate on commercial property in Kansas is more than double the rate in Missouri and Nebraska and more than four times the ETR in Oklahoma.

• Kelly's LAVTR property tax relief plan doesn't work. Gov. Laura Kelly's tax council members propose resurrecting the Local Ad Valorem Tax Reduction (LAVTR) program as their solution to high program as taxes, saying "...local govern-ments would once again have a strong tool to begin lowering local property taxes."

But that program didn't work the last time, and it won't provide tax relief now.

LAVTR was last funded in 2003. County property taxes increased by an average of 7.5 percent during LAVTR's last five years; without LAVTR, county property taxes "only" averaged a four percent annual increase over the five years ended in 2018.

LETTER: Nemaha Co. wind farm

Dear editor,

Nearly 650 wind turbines in a 30-mile radius, plus the largest transmission line in the state with towers reaching 150 to 200 feet tall – taller than our water towers...

That is what Nemaha County residents can look forward to in their future. The view from your vehicle, tractor or deck will change dramatically in the next two years as Nemaha County becomes industrialized.

The new wind turbines will be 500 feet tall – that's 100 feet taller than the about 40 you see north of Bern and west of Axtell.

The Soldier Creek project in the Goff-Corning-Centralia corridor was approved by Nemaha County Commissioners last week and will consist of 120 turbines.

The Pony Express project is projected to be 800 MW, which equates to 320 turbines spanning northern Nemaha County and into northwestern Brown County.

The Irish Creek wind project was recently announced west of Vermillion in Marshall County and will consist of about 120 turbines. Much land is leased outside of these areas, suggesting even more could be coming. Where will it end?

Questions: How "green" is this energy when you consider waste disposal, all the impacts of hauling and infrastructure and the backup power needed when the wind isn't blowing?

What will happen with the turbine blades and non-recyclable components someday? Will the decommissioning agreements hold up and will the county be able to access the moneys if it comes to that?

Will the impact on bats, which the wind industry acknowledges, have a negative consequence to farming? Will it impact other wildlife/animals, people or property values?

Will our electricity prices rise due to infrastructure costs? Will the wind industry fall apart if the government subsidies go away?

Will we as a society regret allowing "big wind" to greenwash and steamroll through rural America without first carefully considering the long-term consequences, as they collect billions of dollars of profits and taxpayer funding along the way?

Is it too late to stop them? Nemaha County Commissioners have a moratorium in place until May to pause further wind negotiations. It will have been a year since that was executed with the intent to do comprehensive planning, which could lead to zoning regulations.

However, confidence in our Nemaha County Commissioners is at an all-time low after the disappointing and inadequate terms of the agreements were released.

And the wheels of a comprehensive plan have barely moved. Our elected officials have heard my so-called "minority" voice – but have they heard yours?

LETTER: Child's best interest should be state's top concern

Dear editor,

I listen, I read, I hear and I am in total wonderment as to what happens to the country in which I grew up.

Actually as I evaluate the past 45 years, little things that didn't appear to be of much importance has had a great deal of impact on my/our lives today.

I was young and raising a family, working hard and just naturally involved with family. So that every time the government created new regulations, policies and laws I thought that it really doesn't affect me so why should I be concerned.

That is a common response if we are law-abiding hard working individuals. What is wrong with that thinking and we should distinguish between thinking and feelings is this: when a regulation, policy or laws are made because of feelings, i.e. caring and compassion, then there may be unintended consequences to this action.

It is the feeling stuff that has us in trouble. As an example, when a child is removed from his/her home, federal and state law says that every effort must be to return that child to their home (caring and compassion). This home may have drug addicted, alcohol addicted parents or caretakers (you may devise your own scenario). This child will be in several foster homes, depending on age, even different schools along with attending court every so often.

This process will continue for at the very least two years because the federal government has a regulation that is called "Family Preservation." The unintended consequences are that this child has been deprived of a childhood; the school must have special education teachers to address the lack of continuity of developing a set of values, ethics, choices and responsibilities.

The judge goes home to dinner, the teacher goes home to dinner, the social worker goes home to dinner and the state agency closes at 5 p.m. Who is the loser?

When government portends to help, the ones receiving the help are hurt the most. Unintended consequences.

Is it at all possible that this state can develop programs that allow children, when possible, to have decisions made that are in the child's best interest? Marje Cochren Holton

Deck

James David Deck passed away on Jan. 27, 2020, following an inspiring and life-affirming 10-year battle against cancer. A devoted father and husband, a great and cherished friend, a man of style and many talents writer, director, actor, model, photographer, musician and teacher — Jim made the most of everything life offered and inspired those around him to do the same.

Growing up in Holton, Jim was the popular, notably handsome, star athlete in high school, playing basketball and tennis. But he was also interested in music and culture, particularly contemporary movies. It was here that his passion for film solidified into an ambition to direct.

In 1986, Jim moved to Los Angeles to pursue his dream. Initially he broke into the business through production, working for the likes of Merchant-Ivory, Wes Craven, Oliver Stone, and then as the first assistant director on "The Usual Suspects." In 1997 Jim wrote and directed his first movie, "Ravager." Three more directing gigs followed — "Two Shades of Blue" in 1991, "Pendulum" in 2001 and "Silent Partner' in 2005 — before his experience shooting in Moscow landed him a job running Sony Pictures' local filmmaking initiative for Russia and Eastern Europe. Later, Jim moved to Fox where he oversaw movie production in China, India and Japan.

Then in 2015, Jim was introduced to the Dodge College of Film at Chapman University and he embraced a new career, teaching filmmaking to undergraduates. Jim was a uniquely gifted professor, sharing both his

Buck's Grove

The recorded prelude played as Mary Ringel lighted the altar candles.

Pastor Charlotte Milroy welcomed everyone and after announcements led the congregation in call to worship, opening prayer and Psalm 121.

Wayne Rieschick read scripture from Genesis 12:1-4 and Romans 4:1-5, 13-17.

For Don and Jean Boling's special, the hymn "Put Your Hand In The Hand Of The Man" was sung Other hymns sung with Donna Ashcraft's assistance were "Jesus Calls Me," "Oh God Our Help in Ages Past" and "Faith Of Our Fathers." Pastor Charlotte read scripture from John 3:1-17 and titled her message "Watered Down Christianity." Have you ever felt life is stale and boring with the same old thing over and over again? This must have been how Nicodemus felt as he was just going through the motions of religion without the inner motivation of God. Nicodemus met with Jesus and opened up to Him. Jesus looked into Nicodemus' heart and said, "I know what your problem is. You need to be born again as you

Jim will be remembered by his family, his friends, his colleagues and his students as that rare individual who never held back from life, who gave wholly of himself, not because he expected some recognition or glory, but because he was made that way: curious, adventurous, irreverent, passionate, compassionate. Jim is survived by his sister Mary of Columbia, Mo.; and his wife Kim and their two children, Siena and Julian.

A memorial service was held in his honor at Harmonv Gold Theater on Sunday, March 1. Mercer Funeral Home will assist the family this spring for a gathering in Holton.

Boil order ends

A boil water advisory for the Lakeside Village Improvement District in Jefferson County has been rescinded by the Kansas Department of Health and Environment, it has been reported.

KDHE announced last Wednesday that Lakeside Village, an unincorporated community located about four miles southeast of Ozawkie near Lake Perry, was no longer subject to the advisory, which was issued in April of 2019 due to a loss of water pressure. The community was placed under a boil water order in February KDHE officials issued the order because of well flooding resulting in high turbidity and a loss of pressure in the system. Failure to maintain adequate pressure may result in a loss of chlorine residuals and bacterial contamination.

Laboratory testing samples collected from the Lakeside Village Improvement District indicated no evidence of contamination.

Jones added four more points and McClain and Madison Ontjes both scored two points. "Congratulations to Nickerson on earning a trip to the 4A state basketball tournament," said HHS head coach Kurt Haussler afterwards. "I am very proud of our girls for the way that we competed against a very tall and athletic Nickerson team in a physical championship game. We did not lose this game, Nickerson beat us. They were the better team.' "Nickerson's Ava Jones was tremendous as the dominant force in the game, especially in the first half with her senior teammate, Morgan Stout, who is going to Wichita State University to play volleyball," coach Haussler said. "Stout was out of the game with three fouls and we did not have an answer for her. Much of the first half was tight until Nickerson made a late push and extended a twopoint lead to 10 in four possessions. Their size, length and speed were difficult to attack in their matchup 2-3 zone. They cover so much space, close down gaps really well, stay connected to perimeter shooters, and have shot blockers near the rim that prevented us from being able to get much in the paint or free throw line." # Historic season for the RV boys ends with 1-point loss in sub-state title game

By Ali Holcomb

The St. Marys Bears won the Class 3A sub-state tournament hosted by Royal Valley in a narrow win over the Panthers 44-43 on Saturday. After a 63-49 win over Perry on Thursday night, the Panthers, the number one seed in the tournament, faced St. Marys on Saturday at Hoyt. The Bears, who were the number three seed in the tournament, upset Rock Creek, the two seed, on Thursday 68-57.

"I told them in the locker room that the loss hurts because we care, but that they would look back in the long run and see the historic season we had," said RV coach Trent Oliva. "We wish we could have kept it going, but it wasn't in the cards. I'm so proud of everything we've done."

Despite the loss, the Panthers did have an historic season with a 21-2 record, the best in school history. RV went 13-1 in the Big Seven League and won the eague title, another first for the district.

line," Coach Oliva said. "Every shot was a big shot in that close of a game. They had a couple of balls bounce their way and that's what happens. We did a good job playing and answering their runs.

St. Marys had eight threepointers during the game that kept the game close throughout. The Bears also scored a last second shot in the second quarter to tie the game 24-24 at the half. "It was literally a one possession at a time game and getting the stop defensively," Oliva said. "Their defense was ready to go. They were able to make just enough plays to win it." In the third frame, the Bears edged ahead slightly with 11 points over RV's 10 points.

With less than two minutes left in the game, St. Marys led 42-40. Senior Komesh Spoonhunter made one free throw, and after a timeout, sophomore Nahcs Wahwassuck made a layup to give RV a 43-42 lead.

After a Panther foul with nine seconds remaining, St. Marys made two free throws to bring about the final score 44-43. Wahwassuck attempted one final shot for RV in the final seconds but was unsuccessful.

Nickerson went on to win the sub-state title game 53-34 and qualify for the 4A state tourney.

Nickerson 6-2 freshman Ava Jones scored 10 of her team's 11 first-quarter points, along with four offensive rebounds, and finished with 23 total points. Jones made 11 of 16 field goals in the game and had 10 rebounds, seven on the offensive end.

First quarter scoring for Holton included a field goal and three-pointer by junior Saydee Tanking, a three-pointer by senior Danika Hickman and a field goal by sophomore Macy Patch. Patch and Hickman each had a rebound in the quarter also.

Holton went on a 6-2 run in the first quarter and early in the second quarter took the lead, 12-11, on a basket by Patch.

Holton's next scoring did not come until the 3:25 mark of the quarter when Holton 5-10 sophomore Taylor Moore made one of two free throws to extend the Lady Wildcats' lead to 13-11.

Nickerson's Jones closed out the quarter on a 12-1 run, with Jones scoring two field goals. Nickerson also made two, threepoint baskets and another field goal in the quarter to lead 23-13 at the half.

Wildcats give Andale all it can handle

4A boys sub-state

Bt David Powls The No. 15 seeded boys basketball team in the Class 4A west group of teams, Holton, gave the No. 2 seeded, Andale, team all it wanted last Wednesday night in the opening round of the substate competition.

The final score was 50-46 but with 2:25 left to play in the game, the visiting Wildcats trailed by just two points, 41-39, after a three-point basket by senior Trey Wright.

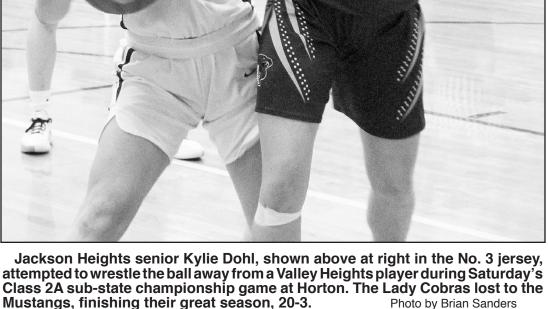

The game was close throughout the entire contest. Midway through the second quarter, the Wildcats led the taller Indian team 20-12.

Andale led 24-22 at halftime, and two three-point baskets by Holton junior Blake Mulroy midway through the third quarter kept the Wildcats in the game and trailing by just two points, 30-28.

With 1:33 left in the third quarter, Holton freshman Matthew Lierz made a three-point basket to put the Wildcats ahead 31 - 30.

From there, the lead went back and forth with Andale scoring on a layup at the end of the quarter at the buzzer to re-take a 34-33 lead.

Holton girls finish 12-10

"I am so proud of the progress this group made from day one back in November to one step from reaching their ultimate goal in Salina," Haussler said. "We played a very difficult schedule this season. We played Olathe North, Eudora, Chapman, Nemaha Central (two times), Jeff West (two times) and Nickerson and they all qualified for the state tournament and Sabetha (a team we played tow times) was state ranked No 3 in the state and worthy of a state tournament appearance if not for being placed in the same sub-state as Nemaha Central). Congratulations to all of these teams, especially Nemaha Central and Jeff West as they represent the Big 7 in the 3A state tournament this week in Hutchinson.'

Coach Haussler said the season was a great one for the Wildcats. "This season has been such an enjoy able journey in so many ways and it is hard to put into words just how thankful and grateful I am to be so blessed with great girls that work hard and love each other," he said. "I have a wonderful coaching staff that are great coaches but even better people and players that truly are all about the team.

"This is a special group of seniors -Faith Haussler, Danika Hickman, Olivia Yingst, Kinleigh Rhodd, Paige Crouch, Taygen Altenburg, Bailey Flewelling and manager Mary Pritchett have provided leadership, instilled toughness and rejuvenated our H3 (Hustle-Heart-Honor) values that we live by in our program. I will forever be appreciative and have a place deep in my heart for what they have given to Holton LadyCat Basketball throughout their lives and hope that we have had a positive impact on them moving forward into the next stage of their lives.

JH girls finish fantastic season with 20-3 record

By Brian Sanders The Jackson Heights Lady Cobras high school girls varsity basketball team's bid for a return to the Class 2A state championship came to a disheartening end on Saturday at the sub-state championship game at Horton, where the Valley Heights Mustangs took a 40-11 win and the sub-state title.

Lady Cobra Head Coach Dan Shupe said that going into Saturday's game, his team would "have to play very well and execute things at a high level." But in the end, the Mustangs brought a level of aggressiveness to the game that the Lady Cobras had a hard time matching.

"Nobody in our league plays with that type of physicality,' Coach Shupe said of the Mustangs. "We had a hard time adjusting to it, and it just threw us out of our rhythm.'

On the other hand, Shupe said he was pleased that the Northeast Kansas League champion Lady Cobras — finishing the season with an overall 20-3 record and the first league title in more than 20 years — were able to hold the Mustangs to only 40 points after they'd scored at least 65 points to beat their first two teams in the sub-state championship, McLouth and Horton.

"I thought the girls played fairly well on the defensive end, holding them to 40 points," Shupe said. "If you can do that to a good team, it gives you a chance.'

Offensively, it was a different story for the Lady Cobras, who had difficulty getting the buckets. "We just couldn't get anything in the flow of things on the offensive end to get things going," Shupe said. "Credit Valley Heights for the defense that they put on us to get us out of what we normally do.' Jackson Heights senior Kylie Dohl was limited to four points on the night, all of which came in the first half, and the Lady Cobras were limited to only three points in the second half, coming from a layup by senior Grace Roles with 30 seconds left in the third quarter and a free-throw by senior Jodi White in the fourth. "It's frustrating," Shupe said. "We'd have liked to have shown the crowd a two-point game with someone winning at the buzzer. It just wasn't in the cards." On Thursday, the Lady Cobras went up against NEK League foe Jefferson County North in the semi-final — the two teams' third meeting of the 2019-20 season after each team took a win in the regular season - and came away with a 44-32 win to clinch a championship berth. "We had a game plan and the kids executed it pretty well," Shupe said of the Lady Cobras' win against the Lady Chargers, who held the top spot in the league standings for most of the season. The Lady Cobras jumped out to a 12-7 first-quarter lead, led by senior Abby Brey offensively with eight points, including a pair of treys while the rest of the team forced the Lady Chargers into turnover after turnover eight in the quarter, compared to two for JHHS, which forced more JCN turnovers in the second quarter on the way to a 26-14 halftime lead. In the third quarter, however, the Lady Chargers came roaring back in a 13-5 run. JCN senior Josie Weishaar picked up most of her 19 points in the frame, including a buzzer-beating, halfcourt three-pointer that pulled JCN to within four. "That gave them some momentum going into the fourth," Shupe said of Weishaar's shot. "We just kept composed and did what we ### needed to do."

Jackson Heights stepped on the gas in the fourth quarter, scoring 13 points to JCN's five and earning the right to play in Saturday's championship game. The loss left JCN with a final 2019-20 record of 14-2 and second place in the NEKL and 19-3 overall.

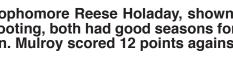

For the Lady Cobras, Brey led scoring with 15 points on Thursday, including the two first-quarter treys and another one later in the game, followed by junior Amaya Marlatt with 11. Defensively, senior MaKenzie Kennedy "really stepped up and defended one of their best players very well," Shupe said.

Despite Saturday's loss, Shupe said he and his team are proud of the accomplishments of the past season -20 wins, the first NEK League title in more than 20 years and the examples set by the departing seniors that he believes will keep the Lady Cobras a force to be reckoned with for years to come.

"This was an eye-opening experience for some of these younger kids — one that shows them that there is another level to get to, and I hope that motivates them," the coach said. "The girls' program is going to have success for several years to come, and it started with this group of seniors right here."

Shupe credited those seniors - Dohl, Brey, Kennedy, Roles and White — with playing a major role in turning the JHHS girls basketball program around.

"You look back before these

The Wildcats continued to battle in the fourth quarter. With 6:50 left to play, Holton senior Eli Prine made a three-point basket to tie the score at 36-36.

Holton's next score was Wright's three-point basket and after that the team's next score was a basket by junior Kale Pur-cell with 1:03 left in the game to bring the Wildcats back within three points, 46-43.

Andale sank four of four free throws after that, however, and was content to milk the clock as much as the team could.

With 23 seconds left, Holton's Mulroy scored a three-point basket to bring about the final score, 50-46.

Andale took second place in the Ark Valley-Chisholm Trail IV League with a 14-6 record. Wichita Collegiate won the league title with an 18-3 record. Other teams in the league were Clearwater (14-6), Rose Hill (10-10), Mulvane (9-11) and kids got into high school, when Jackson Heights girls were averaging six wins a season for the last 15 years," he said. "It's mostly the kids getting the kids started at a young age, and it's the kids you have. You could be the greatest coach in the world, but it takes having good enough kids to have success. And we were fortunate enough to have some great kids."

He's especially proud of Dohl's setting two team records this year in total points scored - 1,296 after Saturday's game - and total rebounds.

"Breaking those records is going to be hard to do," Shupe said. "It's going to take somebody special who will come in as a freshman and play at her level."

And with junior Amaya Marlatt and freshman Rebekah Hutfles — the latter a young player who Shupe said provided some offensive power" this season — the coach expects great things out of the team in the future.

"They'll be fighting for a league title over the next several years," he said. "The kids really put 100 percent into it. They really did... I couldn't ask for them to put out any more effort than they did."

Use common sense to protect from coronavirus

"If you're feeling panicked about the coronavirus – or not – go wash your hands," said Erin Yelland, a K-State Research and Extension specialist in adult development and aging. "That is truly one of the best preventative actions we can take."

• Wash hands often for 20 seconds with soap and water.

• Avoid touching your eyes, nose and mouth.

• Cover your mouth with your sleeve or a tissue when coughing or sneezing.

• Seek medical care for fever, cough or difficulty breathing. Also, experts are encouraging Americans to avoid close contact with people who are sick and to disinfect surfaces and objects that are touched frequently. Those who feel sick should stay home or seek medical care immediately.

Stray dogs topic at Delia meeting

By Melody Matyak Delia City Clerk

The March 2, 2020 meeting of the Delia City Council was called to order at 7 p.m. Present were Mayor Don Trimble and council members Evelyn Shibler, Zacary McCullough, Molly Robb and John Nitsch; council member Denise Meltz was absent. Also present were City Treasurer Nikki Dohrman, City Clerk Melody Matyak, City Attorney Scott Hess, Christie Hitch with Tri-County Waste and Nathan Bergman with Bartlett and West.

Matyak read the Feb. 3 city council meeting minutes. McCullough's motion to accept the minutes with a correction was seconded by Nitsch and approved.

Dohrman went over the city bills. Robb's motion to pay the current bills was seconded by Nitsch and approved.

Joyce Abernathy addressed the council regarding dogs running loose in Delia. This is an ongoing issue. There is currently a city ordinance that all dogs must be licensed and registered with the city.

Scott Hess discussed with the council some of their options in dealing with stray Christie Hitch, owner of Tri-County Waste, addressed the council on past and future rate increases. The council went into executive session with Hess for 10 minutes. Hitch said she would provide additional information for the council to review, and the issue was tabled until next month.

Bergman met with the council to discuss domestic water pipes, water flow options and doing some fact-finding. Chris Gordon provided maps and will work with Bergman. The issue was tabled until next month.

John Nitsch left the meeting at 8:12 p.m.

Robb brought up having a city wide clean-up and the possibility of the city renting a large dump container. The cost would be prohibitive. Chance Stum suggested that the city let customers know that they can take most items to the Jackson County Landfill at 10778 166th Rd, Mayetta.

Also discussed was the area around the lagoon, which Stum recently cleaned up. Someone has been illegally dumping items over the fence. McCullough said he would get "No Dumping Allowed" signs posted.

Robb brought up an issue about a piece of equipment for sale and whether the city might need it. Council members said did not feel they could use the equipment, and no motion was made.

Stum asked the council if the city would buy two loads of rock for the alley behind his house. He will haul and put the rock down if the city will pay for the rock. McCullough's motion to pay for the rock was seconded by Robb and approved.

The council discussed pot holes in the city, especially those near the Catholic church. Stum will work on them.

Shibler mentioned an issue with her water meter and the sidewalk. Stum and Trimble will work on fixing the issues.

Robb's motion to adjourn the meeting at 8:48 p.m was seconded by Shibler and approved. The next regular city council meeting will be held at 7 p.m. April 6. The meeting is open to the public.

Crops & Soils/Horticulture A c c o r d -ing to KSU Range Scientist Dr. Keith Harmoney, the old "take half and leave half' rule of grazing management "is probably the common most important rule of thumb for rangeland managers to follow." What does it really mean, though?

Years of grazing studies have shown that animal performance and vegetative production are both at near optimal levels when grazing removes approximately 50 percent of the growing season's top growth.

This is also the level of removal that can be sustained over long periods of time without causing detrimental animal or forage production issues. At this level, the animal is using 25 percent, with the other 25 percent disappearing as a consequence of trampling, weathering, etc.

What about the other 50 percent? That's the half that helps the stand remain sustainable. The remaining leaves are used for photosynthesis, resulting in new leaf material, increased root growth, and storage of carbohydrates for the dormant season so grasses kicked off the next growing season. Leave less than 50 percent, and you may well sacrifice the ability of the plant to fully "recover" as needed for long term sustainability of the stand. Don't think you can make the enterprise cash flow without making money? Research also shows that overgrazed pastures tend to produce lower net returns than pastures that are stocked at a moderate rate using the take half and leave half concept. It might seem like you are gaining some value from increased stocking rates on the front end, but the result is often a reduction in quality and quantity over time that isn't sustainable. We're not to turn out yet. Now is a great time to take one last look at stocking rates and even 'emergency" grazing management plans so adjustments can be made that results in long term forage stand health as opposed short term.

Leaching Houseplants Have you ever thought about consider repotting as well.

the water your houseplants are growing in? It might not be as great for them as you think.

Consider this: we like houseplants to grow well so we add fertilizer. Fertilizers are salts that build up in soil over time. That build-up can harm plant roots, leading to scorched leaves and unhealthy plants.

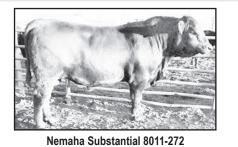

It tends to be worst in houseplants because they are grown in containers without that prevent roots from exploring additional soil area while holding fertilizers in that same limited area. Add in slower growth as a result of low light conditions in winter, and you can see real problems.

The solution to excessive houseplant salts is leaching. Leaching is the process of adding enough water to wash out excess salts. Simply take plants outside or put them in a bathtub or sink and then (slowly - so you don't overflow the rim of the pot) add the amount of water that would equal twice the volume of the pot. This will help push salts through the soil medium.

If salt has formed a crust on the soil surface soil, remove it. Just don't take more than one-quarter of an inch of the underlying media. It might be a good time to sorrow.

Just as God did His great est work through the suffering and even death of His Son, so He brings all under the cross that He may bring us to Christ and the life He gives us. It is in the actual experience of suffering and dying that God works to bring us to faith in Christ.

Luther writes, "This is by far the noblest thought which the saints have in their crosses and by which they are also sustained. The saints retain a good will toward God in their suffering and distress.

The psalmist has learned that we cannot obtain God's grace and mercy by doing what is in us – but only by accepting what is done to us, even by God Himself. Only when we are completely humbled and brought to nothing by God's alien work do we see how completely turned in on ourselves and confident in ourselves we really are. Only as we are stripped of all hope in ourselves will we turn to Christ as our only hope.

In the Lenten prayer, pardon was asked for all our sins and unrighteousness, and to enliven our hearts by the Holy Spirit; we pray that God the many who saw the signs that He was doing was a man named Nicodemus. This man came to Jesus by night and said to Him, "Rabbi, we know that you are a teacher come from God, for no one can do these signs that you do unless God is with Him.<sup>3</sup>

We wonder, what was Nicodemus' interest in Jesus? What did he want to learn and why? The fact that he came to Jesus by night probably means that he didn't want anyone else to see him associating with Him. John gives us a bit of background on Nicodemus - He was a Pharisee – a keeper of the law. The Pharisees tried to live according to the law as interpreted by the scribes in all its meticulous detail. Nicodemus is hoping that Jesus will either confirm or deny that He is a prophet.

Jesus tells him that he can neither see nor enter the Kingdom of God unless He is born again by water and the Spirit. Jesus explains that the rebirth that is He is talking about is not physical but spiritual. Jesus is talking about a kingdom that comes down from above. There is one more time that

Tips on how to clean toys

By Nancy Nelson Meadowlark Extension District Agent Family Life

F o r families with kids, the recent holiday s e a s o n brought a whole lotta joy and а whole lotta toys. As younger kids mature each year, they're ready for a new chest of playthings. The American Cleaning Institute's recommendation to parents is to donate the gently loved toys to local nonprofits or offer them up to families in the neighborhood who have younger children who will continue to love them.

As you get the goodies ready for their new homes, cleaning them is always appreciated. Here are some ways to get them ready for giving.

Use soap and water to clean small plastic items such as blocks and rattles.

Netawaka U.M.C.

By Mary E. Edwards "Leaning On The Everlasting Arms" was the recorded prelude as Marcia Robertson lighted the altar candles at Netawaka United Methodist Church on March 8.

Marilyn Worship leader Banaka gave the welcome and announcements. Fifth Sunday combined services (with Whiting and Horton) will be held on March 29 at Netawaka UMC. The time and details will be announced later.

It was a joy to have Pastor Young's wife, So-Jin, and baby son, Eden, at church on Sunday.

Prayer concerns were good wishes for Mary's neighbor, Irene Cowger, who has moved to Vintage Park; and Steve and Marilyn's neighbor, who had a heart attack. We pray for the tornado victims in Tennessee.

Hymns were "Victory In Je-sus," "God Will Take Care Of You," "Cares Chorus" and "Christ Beside Me." Verona Grannell was in charge of recorded music

Marilyn read the scripture lesson, Psalm 121, which begins, "I lift up my eyes to the hills, where does my help come from?" Pastor Young Won's sermon was "We Are Going Upward With God.'

Topekans arrested after traffic stop

Two Topekans were arrested here Saturday night on various charges following a traffic stop, according to Jackson County Sheriff Tim Morse.

At 11 p.m. that day, a Jackson County Sheriff's Office depu-ty stopped a 2005 Infiniti for an alleged equipment viola-tion near 134th Road and U.S. Highway 75.

The driver, Ryan Michael Fidler, 36, was arrested for driving while revoked and driving while declared a habitual violator.

The passenger, Samantha Louise Townsend, 36, was arrested on charges of possession of methamphetamine, marijuana and drug paraphernalia. Both were booked into the Jackson County Jail.

Arrest made after traffic accident

An Alma man was arrested on charges of driving under the influence after a two vehicle accident here Saturday evening, according to Jackson County Sheriff Tim Morse.

At 7:40 p.m. that day, the Jackson County Sheriff's Office received a report of a two-vehicle injury accident at 142nd Road and U.S. Highway 75.

A 2015 Chevy Suburban allegedly struck the back of a 2010 Toyota Tundra pulling a boat while both vehicles were headed northbound on the highway, Sheriff Morse said.

Both drivers refused medical treatment. The Kansas Highway Patrol investigated the accident while Jackson County Sheriff's deputies arrested the driver of the Suburban, Chad David Breiner, 44, of Alma on a charge of driving under the influence. Breiner was booked into the Jackson County Jail.

By Jeannie Arnold Mark and Carol Fenton served as greeters at the door for the 10 a.m. service on March 8. Lyle Alley gave the welcome and announcements and the opening prayers.

Music was provided by the praise team of Johnny Lynch, Max Lierz, David Allen, Annie Allen, Garrett Will, Shelly Will, Sue Davault and Lori Mellenbruch as they led the congregation in singing "Trust And Obey" and "Your Love Awakens Me" to open the service.

Following the communion hymn "There's Just Something About That Name," Lyle Alley gave the communion meditation. Communion servers were Larry Self Jr., Mark Fenton, Bill Dyer and Joe Brucken.

The praise team provided the music as communion was served. Paul Davault gave the prayer for the offering and David Allen gave the prayer for concerns and praises.

Luke Schreiber used text from Matthew 14:22-33 as he gave the morning sermon titled "Mistakes And Misunderstandings." His message brought out how sometimes Jesus is misunderstood as in the story where Jesus walks on water.

Following Jesus is not always easy. The disciples struggled but were obedient to Jesus. When they were out on the water, Jesus may have been absent but He was still present. Jesus helped them see who He really was and the disciples saw that Jesus was the son of God. We make mistakes and have misunderstandings when we feel like it is not always easy and peaceful to follow after Jesus.

Following the invitation hymn, "Turn Your Eyes Upon Jesus," Luke gave the closing prayer and the service closed by singing "I'll Fly Away."

On March 15, Kevin Ingram, president of MCC, will bring the morning message and there will be a potluck dinner that day following the service.

March 21 will be a men's breakfast at 8 a.m. at the church with Cody Witte as the guest speaker.

The second Sunday in Lent was observed on March 8 at Circleville United Methodist Church. Lay Pastor Charlotte Milroy extended a welcome and led the opening prayer and the psalter.

Barbara Hutchinson read the scripture lesson, Genesis 12:1-4a and Romans 4:1-5, 13-17.

The hymns were "Jesus Calls Us," O God, Our Help In Ages Past" and "Faith Of Our Fathers." David Allen was song leader, using the recorded accompaniment.

Charlotte's message was based on the gospel lesson, John 3:1-17. Nicodemus was a man going through the motions of religion without the inner motivation of God. He

Coronavirus...

Continued from Page 1 The epicenter of the global outbreak of COVID-19 has been traced to a large seafood and live animal market in Wuhan, a city of more than 11 million in eastern China in December of 2019, it was reported. The virus has since spread to more than 75 different countries, including the U.S., causing more than 93,000 cases of infection, including more than 3,200 deaths, around the world, so far.

Key symptoms of COVID-19 include fever, cough and shortness of breath, although more complicated - and rare - cases may lead to severe pneumonia, acute respiratory distress syndrome, septic shock and death. Symptoms may become apparent anywhere from two to 14 days after infection, it was reported.

In late January, the United States issued a public health emergency because of COVID-19, with Health and Human Services Secretary Alex Azar stating that it was likely that more cases would be seen in this country

Initially in Kansas, it was reported that a resident who had traveled to Wuhan at the time the outbreak was beginning had been isolated at a Lawrence hospital as a possible case but eventually tested negative for the virus.

On Wednesday, Gov. Kelly, along with KDHE Secretary Dr. Lee Norman and Kansas Adjutant General Lee Tafanelli, director of the Kansas Division of Emergency Management (KDEM), announced a preparedness plan for the state and said they were "working with federal, state and local partners to maintain awareness of national and international trends related to the virus," according to a press release.

"The health and safety of everv Kansan is our top priority, and we are utilizing every tool at our disposal to continue monitoring the situation and ensure that we are ready to respond, should that be necessary," Kelly said.

The governor continued to emphasize that the best method of protection against infection is "good hygiene practices" that are "simple, but effective," including hand washing, coughing into a sleeve, refraining from facial touching and staying home in case of illness.

The coronavirus preparedness plan was put into action this past Saturday after it was reported that a Johnson County resident was confirmed as having the virus. State officials said the resident had traveled to a region in the northeastern United States where others had tested positive for the virus, but after first noticing symptoms earlier this month, the resident took precautions not to infect others.

Kelly said the resident testing positive for the coronavirus should not be cause for panic in Kansas.

"Our state is well-prepared," the governor said. "I know there is heightened concern and worry about the virus. However, Kansas is still considered at low risk for spread of the virus."

Norman said the KDHE lab in Topeka, one of the first in the country to be certified by the CDC to test for the virus, allows state officials to "respond quickly and effectively" to suspected cases of the virus. Tafanellli added that KDEM is "ready to support county emergency managers for resources and technical assistance when needed... We stand ready to respond."

Locally, Davies said parents in the Holton school district have been asked to watch for flu-like symptoms and practice "social distancing" between those who are ill and those who are not. Parents of sick children are encouraged to keep children at home, and school staff are also encouraged to refrain from coming to work if they have flulike symptoms.

Davies also echoed Kelly's encouragement of good hygiene, encouraging students not to touch their faces with unwashed hands and to wash their Vacant lots and real property owned and operated by a notfor-profit are both assessed at 12 percent.

Commercial property's assessment rate is 25 percent of the total appraised value. All other rural and urban real property is assessed at 30 percent.

Real property is appraised at market value, which is the value set by the appraiser's office.

At the end of the year, the state will "grade" the appraiser's office on how accurate the office's sales ratio numbers are compared to the fair market value (actual sale price), Claycamp said.

"Our median sales ratio has to be between 90 and 110 percent," he said. "We try to stay on the low side."

The assessed valuation of all county property will be officially certified this June and used to set county and school budgets. Information on how much overall residential and commercial property values have changed in the county from the previous year will be available at that time.

The hemp plant - its stalk, seed, stem and flower - is used for a variety of purposes, including rope, clothing, insulation, cardboard, plastic, paper, fuel, solvents, soaps, shampoos and oils, and it's grown in 30 counties.

The 2018 Farm Bill authorized the USDA to develop a regulatory oversight program for hemp production for plans submitted by states and Native American tribes.

The plan must include THC testing procedures, how plants with excessive THC level would be disposed of and methods and policies for recordkeeping and enforcement.

The PBPN submitted its plan

Jackson County property owners who wish to appeal the value or classification of their property as stated on their valuation notice, must contact the Jackson County Appraiser's Office within the next 30 days to schedule an informal meeting to discuss the value.

The Jackson County Appraiser's Office is located in Room 202 of the Jackson County Courthouse and can be reached by phone at 364-2358.

If a resident does not appeal within the 30 days, they can still protest the value or classification of their property when they pay their taxes on or by Jan. 31 if their taxes are paid out of an escrow account or by a tax service.

Those paying under protest must fill out a form available at the county treasurer's office. An informal meeting with the appraiser's office will be scheduled shortly after the protest is filed, it was reported.

By law, residents cannot appeal both at the time of notice and when they pay their taxes for to the USDA in December, and the plan states that "all hemp growers, processors, handlers, applicants and agents within the jurisdiction of the Nation are bound to all Prairie Band Pottawatomi Nation Tribal laws, including ordinances, codes policies and procedures."

With the plan's approval, the PBPN will be able to issue hemp licenses to reservation landowners who meet specific requirements. An applicant will not be approved if they have a felony conviction relating to a controlled substance within the past 10 years, according to the plan.

The PBPN will use a registered lab to measure and test the THC levels of a hemp crop grown on the reservation within 15 days prior to an anticipated harvest date.

The licensee is required to pay a fee for sampling and must be present at the growing site when the sample is collected, according to the approved plan.

If a resident is still not satisfied with the results of the informal meeting, they can appeal those results to the board of tax appeals small claims division, it was reported.

Land and property owners are reminded that if their property value goes up, that does not necessarily mean they'll pay more taxes, it was reported.

Likewise, if property values go down, or does not change, that does not automatically mean residents will pay less or the same amount of taxes.

Licenses to grow, distribute and process hemp on property not located on the reservation are issued by the Kansas Department of Agriculture.

the establishment of a transmission line from Nemaha County to Leavenworth County. It was reported that the transmission line route would include areas in Jefferson, Liberty and Straight Creek townships in northern Jackson County.

The company has also offered to pay to have several Jackson County road intersections widened along the route to be used for hauling turbines and transmission poles through the county, it was reported.

Members of the commission said while they were relieved that their discussions with NextEra over the wind farm have concluded, those discussions have prompted them to start looking at development of a comprehensive land use plan for Nemaha County, it was reported.

The five agreements between Nemaha County and NextEra include:

A complaint resolution agreement that allows residents of the wind farm area to raise complaints or concerns about the wind project.

• A decommissioning agreement that requires NextEra to remove turbines and other equipment after the 30th anniversary of completion of construction unless the agreement between NextEra and the county is extended.
